The Prowlers had opened the warm afternoon with a lopsided 17-2 win at Climax in a game that found the Prowlers scoring 11 runs in the seventh inning.

Mike Dury picked up the win against the Vikings in his first mound duty of the season, with Bruce Engel pitching the final two innings.

Sophomore Randy Dallmann led the Prowler batters with a three for three performance at the plate, while Almquist, Hanson, Peterson, Cliff Shumway and Greg Sorenson all collected a pair of hits in the game.

The Prowlers found themselves snake-bitten Thursday night however, as they committed eight errors in a 13-12 loss to Red Lake Falls.

The Eagles grabbed a 5-0 lead in the first inning and stretched the margin to 6-0 before the Prowlers erupted for six runs in the third to tie the game 6-6. But the Eagles scored four times in their half of the third to take a 10-6 lead, only to have the Prowlers tie the game 10-10 in the top of the fifth.

Both teams scored a pair of runs in the sixth, but the Eagles scored the winning run with back to back singles by Cota and Roy with one out in the seventh for the win.

Almquist suffered the loss, after coming on in the relief of Dallmann.

Millions in Soviet prisons

The latest underground documents to reach the West from the Soviet Union tell a chilling story about the treatment of Russian Christians locked away in special mental institutions.

The commonest form of punishment is the use of mental drugs. The prisoner's mouth is forcefully opened with an expander and a drug named Aminazine is administered knocking prisoners unconscious for a whole month. Many never regain their senses. Another drug, Sulfazine, tortures the prisoner with terrible cramps compelling him to sign any demanded false confession.

A Russian Christian, Guenady Shimanov, describes how he expects to come out of such a prison only a feeble-minded, slobbering-mouthed, giggling individual.

In spite of tortures, Russian Christians give glorious examples of faith. Shimanov writes: "The Lord's will be done in everything! Whether they drive me mad, or not, I accept everything as a child does from the hands of its father."

Will the President visit the tortured or will he dine only with the torturers?

Thousands of Christian prisoners died in Russian Communist jails. A moving account of their courageous faith and stand for the Lord is contained in the book TORTURED FOR CHRIST, by Rev. Richard Wurmbrand. Rev. Richard Wurmbrand spent 14 years in communist prisons.

Advise Boaters On Proper Ventilation

Revised federal regulations calling for improved ventilating systems in most motorboats have resulted in a massive safety program focused on the hazards of volatile fuels in boats.

Three elements combine to cause a fire or explosion. They are oxygen, heat and fuel. Oxygen, of course, cannot be eliminated, it is essential for proper engine combustion. There may be many sources of ignition throughout the boat such as the distributor, battery, wiring and accessories, including pilot lights on gas appliances. Therefore, the elimination of fuel vapors is necessary to minimize the possibility of a fire or explosion.

All safety precautions must be used in handling volatile fuels. Fueling should be completed before dark except in emergencies. Whenever a boat is moored at a fueling dock, don't smoke, strike matches or throw switches; stop all engines, motors, fans and devices likely to produce sparks; put out all lights, galley fires and gas pilot lights.

Before starting to fuel see that the boat is moored securely and that the cabin area is securely closed to prevent vapors from collecting in it. Check the condition of the fuel tank vents, connections and flame screens, and ascertain definitely how much additional fuel and tank will hold. During fueling keep the nozzle of the fuel hose or can in contact with the fill opening to guard against possible static sparks. See that no spills get below, or inside the boat.

After fueling is completed close the fill openings; wipe up all spilled fuel; open all of the ports, windows, doors and hatches; permit the boat to ventilate for at least five minutes; and see that there is no odor of gasoline in the bilges or below deck spaces before starting machinery or lighting fores.

A safe fuel system installation is a must for protection against fire and explosions. Fill pipes should be firmly attached to tight deck plates outside of the hull and cockpit combing. Fill pipes should discharge to the open air outside of the hull away from all of the hull openings and have a means for preventing the intake of water.

Fuel lines should have as few connections as practicable and be protected from damage. Shut-off valves should be installed at the tank connection and at the engine end of the fuel lines to stop the flow when servicing the fuel system or in case of a break in the line. Flexible sections should be installed in the fuel line between the engine and where they are secured to hull members. This will prevent loose connections and broken fuel lines caused by engine vibration.

A good ventilation system is imperative for safety afloat. As a bare minimum a boat should have ducting fitted with a cowl (scoop), which will conduct fresh air into each fuel and engine compartment, and exhaust ducting fitted with a cowl or equivalent, for the removal of gases from the bilge to the open atmosphere. Size of openings and arrangement of venting should be in accordance with Coast Guard requirements.

Statistics collected by the Coast Guard over the past couple of years indicate that more than 60 per cent of the causes of fires and explosions, where the cause of the accident could be determined, were due to some fault of the operator. Proper safety precautions in the handling of explosive fuels is essential, and when gasoline vapors are present or detected, corrective action to eliminate the source is of the greatest urgency.

Accident Study Of Snowmobiles Is Announced

A sharp reduction in the number of snowmobile accidents related to mechanical failure and a slight decrease in lower leg injuries are among the findings indicated by results of an independent medical research study of snowmobile accidents conducted during the winter of 1971-72 in northwestern Minnesota and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

Dr. Larry J. Sell, a Manistique (Mich.) physician who served as principal investigator of the study funded by a grant from Arctic Enterprises, Inc., reported that less than three and one-half per cent of the 224 total injuries recorded in his current study were related to mechanical failures of the victim's snowmobile. In a similar study conducted by Dr. Sell the previous winter, about seven per cent of the injuries studied were related to mechanical failures.

In his most recent study, Dr. Sell found that 42 per cent of the cases studied involved injuries to feet and legs. In the previous study, 46 per cent of the victims treated sustained lower leg injuries.

Dr. Sell announced the results of his latest study at a press briefing held in conjunctinon with the Minneapolis snowmobile trade show which began Monday at the Minneapolis Auditorium. He explained that medical doctors, hospitals and law enforcement officials throughout the 14,500-square-mile study area cooperated in providing specific injury information for the year long research project.

Approximately 84 per cent of the cases studied involved injuries to the driver of the snowmobiles. Nearly 25 per cent of the injured parties required treatment for bone fractures.

Dr. Sell reported head, face and neck injuries accounted for 23 per cent of the total cases studied. About 56 per cent of the subjects wore protective helmets, compared to 60 per cent in the previous study.

The average snowmobile injury victim in Dr. Sell's current study was a male (77 per cent, 26 years of age, with three years of snowmobile experience. About 17 per cent of the victims had six or more years of snowmobiling experience).

The average injury-producing accident occured on Saturday or Sunday (more than 50 per cent between 2 and 6 p.m. About 43 per cent) of the injuries occurred during night hours.

No fatalities were reported in the test area covered by this research study. However, 30 fatalities were recorded in Michigan and 31 in Minnesota during the past winter. Dr. Sell said a review of the Michigan fatality rate indicates that fatalities increased about 17 per cent while snowmobile registration in the state increased nearly 45 per cent. He cited statistics showing that this amounts to approximately one fatality for every 11,700 snowmobiles in use in Michigan during the 1971-72 season, compared to one fatality for every 5,300 snowmobiles in use during the 1968-69 season.

$500 Reward Is Awarded To Bald Eagle Informer

An immature bald eagle has regained its freedom and a $500 reward for information leading to the conviction of a person for shooting the eagle has been given to a Wisconsin man by the National Wildlife Federation.

Gary Buss, of Colfax, Wisc., was awarded the money by the NWF after witnessing the October 1971 shooting of a young bald eagle near his home. After observing the defendant and informed him that he had shot an eagle. The defendant reportedly denied it, saying that "It was just a hawk." "After he had shot, however, he did not even look at the downed bird," Buss noted.

Buss then notified U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife authorities. The defendant was later fined $100 in a Madison, Wisc. federal court.

Unlike several other eagles that have been shot in the area in recent months, the fortunate eagle survived. The bird was immediately taken to nearby Chippewa Falls and its injured right wing was treated by Dr. Charles Kemper, an amateur ornithologist. Two months later, the healthy bird was released near the Necedah National Wildlife Refuge in Wisconsin.

The reward was the second to be given under a nationwide reward program started by the NWF in 1971. Although it has been against federal law to shoot bald eagles since 1940, the National Wildlife Federation reward program was started in 1971 as the result of the revealed mass slaughter of eagles in Wyoming. According to wildlife management experts, the future for the Nation's symbol is looking increasingly bleak. The total in the lower 48 states is estimated to be as few as three to four thousand birds and the use of hard pesticides and diminishing habitat continue to take their toll. The southern species of bald eagle found in the eastern half of the U.S. is already classified as an endangered species by the U. S. Interior Department.

The National Wildlife Federation continues to offer a $500 reward upon verification that the claimant's information was substantial assistance in obtaining a conviction for shooting a bald eagle. The claiment must request the reward in writing to the National Wildlife Federation, 1412 Sixteenth Street, N.W., Washington, D. C., 20036, within six months after conviction. If more than one bald eagle was shot by the convicted person, $500 will be awarded for the one bird representing the total number shot.

Water Pollution Fish Kills

The environmental protection agency of the United States has just published its annual report of fish kills caused by water pollution. This is for the year 1970. In major kills involving 100,000 fish or more Minnesota is not involved. Here is part of that report.

About 23 million fish were reported killed by water pollution in 1970 in 634 separate incidents in 45 states. Of the five states not reporting fish kills, Nevada and New Mexico advised that no known kills were caused by pollution in 1970 and Maryland, Mississippi and Ohio provided no information.

The number of fish kill reports increased 36 per cent in 1970 compared to 1969. This can be related to increased cooperation from state reporting officials, improved reporting practices and increased public awareness of pollution-caused fish kills.

With the exception of 1969, the reported number of fish kills in 1970 was 40 per cent greater than the number reported for any year since the annual census of fish kills began in 1960. In 1969, one kill of 26.5 million in Lake Thonotosassa at Plant City, Florida, accounted for 64.6 per cent of the total of 41 million fish killed.

Since 1961, a total of 161 million fish have been reported killed by pollution in 4,548 separate incidents. Information for 1960 was not included since data for these reports were collected from June to December, only. Data was gathered from visual sightings and do not include fish that could not be identified after death.

The annual fish kill report represents the combined efforts of private individuals, state fish and game officers and pollution officials directly aimed at protecting fish and water quality. Usually, a fish kill is first noticed by a fisherman, camper or other private citizen, who initiates the reporting process by contacting a state warden immediately or a conservation or health official in charge of the area. The state agency then sends trained technical investigators to investigate and identify the source and nature of the pollutant responsible for the fish kill. Information collected by the state is sent to the technical support division of the environmental protection agency for interpretation and publication.

There were 31 reported kills where the number of dead fish equaled or exceeded 100,000; five of these kills reached or exceed the million mark. Industrial pollution continued to be the most frequent cause of fish kills with 213 reports for 1970 accounting for more than 9.8 million fish killed. Municipal pollution was the second most frequent cause of fish kills with 119 reports for 1970 accounting for 6.6 million fish killed.

One million or more fish were killed in the Dog River in Alabama with 3,240,000 killed by discharges from sewerage systems; the San Jacinto River, Texas; with 2,700,000 killed by a combination of industrial pollutants; the Delta Mendota canal, California; with 2,500,000 killed by sewerage system wastes; Camille Creek-Lakes, Georgia, with 2,000,000 killed by sewerage system wastes; and Freeport Harbor, Texas with 1,000,000 fish killed by unidentified pollutants."

Minutes of the meetings of March 7, 24, 28 and April 11 were read and approved as read.

At 11:00 a.m. the Board proceeded to open bids on bituminous surfacing of CSAH 18 known as CP 7205; being 1 mile in length. The following bids were opened and read aloud:

All bids were tied to the 3 other bids called at this time except those submitted by Border States Paving and Elgin Loeffler.

Moved by Hanson seconded by Stenberg that the bid of Duininck and Gilchrist be accepted as the lowest and best bid received and the Chairman and Auditor be instructed to enter into contract with said low bidder. Motion carried.

Moved by Tasa seconded by Anderson that the bid of Duininck and Gilchrist be accepted as the lowest and best bid received and the Chairman and Auditor be instructed to enter into contract with said low bidder. Motion carried.

It was apparent that the specifications were not properly drawn allowing the bids to be other than what the Board desired. Moved by Anderson seconded by Hanson that the bids be rejected and the Engineer be instructed to obtain proposals for various tractors to allow the Board to buy competitively on proposals. Motion carried.

The Board then proceeded to open bids for a weed sprayer for the Highway Dept. The following bids were opened and read aloud:

Lyon Chemicals, Inc., St. Paul (Invert Sprayer skid mounted) $2,778.00. Lyon Chemicals, Inc., St. Paul, (Invert trailer mounted), $3,110.00. Lyon Chemicals, Inc., St. Paul, (Tires for trailer), $145.00.

The invert type sprayer appeared to be a controversial method of application and the Board determined that they should explore the matter further. Moved by Tasa seconded by Anderson that the bids be rejected. Motion carried.

Sheriff Richards appeared relative to continuing the discussion of Police protection for the Village of Goodridge as discussed at the last meeting. Sheriff Richards indicated that the Village of St. Hilaire had also approached him with the same problem. Both Villages had also indicated that they were willing and able to provide some funds for the protection. The Board asked that the Sheriff present some definite proposals as quickly as they could be worked out.

Moved by Tasa seconded by Hanson that the Road and Bridge Committee inspect roads, bridges and culverts at 9:00 a.m., May 23, 1972. Motion carried.

At 3:00 p.m. the Board proceeded to hear comments from interested parties relative to the Solid Waste Plan as indicated at the last meeting. The Village of St. Hilaire was represented by Donald Appel the only person to appear. Mr. Appel indicated that the Village of St. Hilaire has been controlling the use of the Village dump for some time and felt it could qualify for approval according to the State Pollution Control regulations. It was apparent that the rules of the Pollution Control Agency needed interpretation and clarification as they pertain to the local dumps.

The Board instructed the Auditor to advise the Solid Waste Planners, Clark and Enersen to contact the Village of St. Hilaire relative to their problems and to meet with the County Board at 11:00 a.m., June 6th to formulate the final Solid Waste Plan.

Lewis Carpenter appeared with a request that the County Board withdraw its restriction on sale of 3.2 beer on Sundays and allow the licensed establishments to conduct their businesses according to State Law. Mention was made that the surrounding Villages and Counties adhere to the State Law which allows Sunday afternoon sales. The matter was taken under advisement and the Board determined that they should discuss the matter with the City Council.

Dr. H. P. Wendt presented a letter of resignation which asked that the Board accept his request as of May 1, 1972. Moved by Stenberg seconded by Hanson that the resignation of Dr. Wendt be accepted effective May 1, 1972, and further that the Auditor advise Dr. Wendt that the Board has appreciated the many years of service as Health Officer. Motion carried.

Moved by Hanson seconded by Tasa that the sum of $200.00 be appropriated to the VFW Post 2793 and the sum of $25.00 be appropriated to the Goodridge Lions Club for assistance in providing proper observance of Memorial Day in the City of Thief River Falls, the Village of Goodridge and Pennington County. Motion carried.

Commissioner Anderson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED, That all lands which pursuant to Chapter 386, Laws of 1935, as amended, have been forfeited to the State of Minnesota for non-payment of taxes under any existing laws declaring the forfeiture of lands to the State for non-payment of taxes, shall be offered for sale to the highest bidders at the Office of the County Auditor in the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls in said County and State, commencing at 10:00 a.m., Friday, June 9, 1972, a list of said lands being on file in the office of the County Auditor of said County. Aspirin was first made in 1853, by a German chemist, von Gerhardt. But, its value as a medicine was not discovered until 46 years later, in 1899. According to the experts who make St. Joseph Aspirin, Americans consume a column of aspirin higher than the Empire State Building every three minutes around the clock. This means that approximately 16 billion aspirins or 8,000 tons of this pain-easing, fever-lowering medicine are taken each year.

12 From Area To Attend ALC District Meet

Twelve people from Thief River Falls and Goodridge Lutheran parishes are scheduled to attend the American Lutheran church Northern Minnesota district convention to be held at Bemidji June 9-11. They are James Dalager, Norman Midthun, Rev. Alex Stoffel and Rev. Lloyd Berger of Zion Lutheran church; Arnt Aune, William Penning, K. E. Gigstad and Rev. Harold Peterson of Trinity Lutheran church, and Robert Parnow, Maurice Newton, Dr. David Brown and Rev. Bruce Anderson of Goodridge Lutheran Parish.

The annual convention will include representatives of the 284 American Lutheran church (ALC) congregations located in the northern half of Minnesota.

Presiding at the convention will be Bishop Cecil M. Johnson of Moorhead. Delivering the president's report June 10 will be Rev. Dr. Kent S. Knutson of Minneapolis, national bishop of the ALC. He also will preach at 9 a.m. June 11 during a convention service in the Bemidji student center.

A key presentation for the district convention will relate to Indian concerns. Donald Bibeau, district consultant and coordinator for Indian concerns, is involved in planning that presentation.

He has announced that members of the National Lutheran Indian board executive committee will be present at the convention.

Among the resolutions to be voted on by convention delegates is one suggesting that the present district standing committees be eliminated and that the district carry out its support ministry through the conference councils.

The convention will consider membership in the Minnesota council of churches, particularly in the light of its present cooperation with the council in several endeavors.

At least three nominees, either lay or clergy, will be sought from the convention for the office of general secretary in the ALC. The slate of candidates to be presented to the general convention will come from the nominees submitted through the ALC's 18 districts.

Delegates to the district convention include the parish pastors of the district and at least one lay delegate from each congregation. Lay delegates are assigned to larger congregations on the basis of one delegate for each 500 members.

Although voting at the convention is restricted to delegates, observers and visitors are welcome at the sessions.

The Northern Minnesota district Luther League convention at Bemidji state college will be held simultaneously with the church convention. About 200 persons are expected at the league's gathering.

Meeting with the youth group will be Bishop Knutson, Bishop Johnson, and Raymond Johnson, national youth director for the ALC.

FFA Members Aid In Computerizing State's Rainfall

Several hundred Future Farmers of America (FFA) chapter climatologists were in attendance at a special workshop Monday at the University of Minnesota St. Paul campus gymnasium. The workshop was held in conjunction with the 43rd Minnesota FFA convention April 30, May 1 and 2.

About 1,200 high school age FFAers recorded rainfall last summer and reported the data to the state climatologist's office for computerizing. Over 3,600 rain recorders are expected this summer to report for a six-month period, May 1 to November 1. They will be using a wedge-type rain gauge until November at which time they will switch to an all-weather (cylindrical) guage to record snowfall.

In order to meet the goal of one recorder per township, 4-Hers, Boy Scouts and other youth group members and all adults are invited to get involved in sending precipitation data to the nearest high school FFA chapter climatologist.

The rainfall data will be used to help determine year-to-year patterns in the state for rainfall and other weather data.

"The 1971 Rain Gauge program last year was a success," said Kuehnast. "And it became a part of Minnesota weather history when FFA rain gauges recorded a 12-inch rainstorm in June in Renville county which had passed between the national weather service stations. The rainstorm was the heaviest 24-hour rainfall ever documented in Minnesota."

Kuehnast said the FFA data will not only be used to provide detail on 'where more precipitation occurs but also analyze why it occurs.

Consumer Goods Manufacturers Meet Japanese

Minnesota firms engaged in the manufacturing of consumer goods will have a chance to discuss new Japanese markets with 18 Japanese import executives on May 26 in Minneapolis.

The morning seminar is an effort by Japan's leading firms to educate U.S. companies on ways to sell consumer products, including familiarization with new, liberal, Japanese import actions designed to ease the task of exporting goods to that country.

Among the Japanese firms to be represented at the meeting are Mitsui ? Co.; Mitsubishi Corporation; Izumiya Co.; Marubeni Corporation; Moritani & Co.; C. Itoh & Co.; and Sumitomo Shoji Kaisha Ltd.; and a large number of department store chains and economic organizations. Individual appointments can be scheduled for the afternoon of May 26.

The seminar is being sponsored by the Minnesota Department of Economic Development, the U.S. Department of Commerce; the Upper Midwest Regional Export Expansion council, the Minnesota World Trade association, and the Minneapolis and St. Paul Chambers of Commerce.

Roger Baker, commissioner of the Department of Economic Development, emphasized the importance of Minnesota firms attending the meeting. "The demand for consumer goods in Japan is accelerating rapidly," he said, "and it would be a mistake to overlook that particular foreign market—especially when Japanese firms themselves are making a major effort to open that market to us."

The seminar starts at 9:30 a.m. in the fifth floor auditorium of the First National bank of Minneapolis. No registration fee is required but interested parties are asked to contact Bonnie Hassinger, world trade specialist for the Minnesota Department of Economic Development, at (612) 296-6461.

IN THE SHOP on their farm, Jim Gunstad and his dad, Robert Gunstad, reconditioned and painted this International pickup. The farm shop is shown in the background. The Gunstads operate a 320 acre farm about three miles east of St. Hilaire and Jim manages the farm's dairy herd as his FFA project.

Jim Gunstad Serves In State FFA Office

Four years ago Jim Gunstad of rural St. Hilaire joined the Thief River Falls Future Farmers of America chapter with a Hampshire-Duroc cross gilt as a project. Today he is vice president of the Minnesota FFA and manages the farm's entire Holstein dairy herd.

Youngest of three children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gunstad, Jim is the only one remaining on the 320-acre farm about three miles east of St. Hilaire. Attesting to his capability, Jim's parents took a 10-day trip out west last winter with the self-assurance that the farming operations would be in good hands. Jim didn't disappoint them.

Elected at the Minneson FFA convention in May, Gunstad was among 28 holders of the state farmer degree who applied for one of the six offices available. He was placed on the slate following a number of interviews with former state officers and elected by the delegates at the convention.

He is looking forward to an active year and is not likely to be disappointed. The officers meet nearly every month, attend other state FFA conventions and leadership camps, visit local chapters and regional meetings. As vice president he will be one of Minnesota's two official delegates to the national FFA convention in Kansas City, Mo., along with state president Pat Henneberry of Renville.

It was only several years ago that Richard Habedank of Thief River Falls was president of the state FFA organization. This year, Darrell Hursman, who just completed his year as chapter president here, was candidate for state sentinel. It was the first time that two members of the same chapter had been candidates for state office in the FFA organization in Minnesota.

Holding FFA office is not new to Jim Gunstad. He has been parliamentarian, sentinel and vice president of the Thief River Falls chapter and was elected Region One president in April. He won the regional soil and water conservation proficiency award and public speaking award and was on the third place parliamentary procedure team.

A member of the St. Hilaire 4-H club for eight years, he has been president for the past four years and received the Key award as a junior leader in 1971. For two years he has been president of the Luther league of Calvary Lutheran church in St. Hilaire.

He credits his FFA advisors and vocational agriculture instructors—Lawrence Helt and Edward Duke—with giving him "a lot of help" in this project work and his FFA leadership activities. He has had the same advisors for all four years of his FFA work.

When he sold the litter of nine pigs which his original project gilt produced, Jim bought two beef feeder cattle. His interest in livestock led into his management of the Holstein dairy herd which now includes 14 cows and a number of young stock. He looks optimistically to a herd of 30 cows and plans to enroll in the farm management course of the area vocational-technical institute next year. And he still harbors thoughts of

Price Support Rates Announced

Price support rates have been announced for 1972 crops in Pennington county. The wheat price support rate for 1972 is $1.36 per bushel for wheat grading No. 1 or better. Oats remains at .47 per bushel. The barley rate is .81 per bushel compared to .78 per bushel in 1971. The rye price support is .88 per bushel compared to .87 per bushel in 1971 and flax is $2.53 per bushel, the same as last year. All price support rates have a grade and discount schedule with them. Anyone interested in that information may contact the Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and conservation service (ASCS) in Thief River Falls.

The ASCS reminds farmers that mortgaged grain under loan to the Commodity Credit corporation may not be removed without prior county office approval. Price support regulations and notes, chattel mortgages and security agreements prohibit such removal.

Arctic Will Use Wankel Engine In Lawn Mowers

Arctic Enterprises, Inc., Thief River Falls, announced today it will become the first company to use the Wankel-type rotary combustion engine in power lawn mowers.

Arctic president Lowell T. Swenson said the company has signed a six-year agreement with Fichtel and Sachs AG, Schweinfurt, Germany, manufacutrer of the Wankel engine, for use of Sachs manufactured mower-type Wankel engines in the United States.

Swenson said Arctic will use a limited number of Wankel engines in its 1973 line of walk-behind mowers and riding mowers.

Arctic has used Wankel engines in its snowmobiles for over four years. "Approximately 20,000 Wankel-powered Arctic Cat snowmobiles are in use," Swenson said, "and the 1973 Arctic Cat snowmobile line will inlude a new, more compact, higher horsepower Wandel engine specifically designed for snowmobiles by Sachs.

The Wankel engine has been cited as the most significant development in combustion engine technology. Multi-million dollar Wankel development research projects underway by General Motors and Mercedes Benz have brought considerable public attention.

Named after its German inventor, Felix Wankel, the engine uses a rotary motion inside an airtight chamber to develop power which is transmitted directly to the driveshaft. It uses no cylinder, rods, valves or lifters.

In addition to lighter weight, advantages claimed for users of power vehicles and equipment include less vibration, low noise levels, a wide speed range, low-octane fuel capability and low maintenance.

While acknowledging the competitive advantage that the introduction of the Wankel gives his own company, Swenson said it would be "a step forward for the entire outdoor power products industry.

"Because of the stringent certification standards of the outdoor power equipment institute, garden equipment and power lawn mowers are much safer, dependable and quieter than they were a few years ago," Swenson said. "Success of this rotary engine marketing effort could substantially speed up progress in this area."

Girls Invited To Learn About Miss TRF Pageant

All girls between the ages of 18 and 28 who are interested in participation in the Miss Thief River Falls pageant are invited to a Pepsi party and make-up demonstration to be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Arctic Enterprises display building in Thief River Falls.

The Miss Thief River Falls pageant—an official Miss America preliminary pageant—will again be held as part of the annual Jaycee Aquacade. Pageant date is Saturday, August 5.

According to Mrs. Marvin (Gayle) Walter, co-chairman of Mrs. Jaycees participation in the Aquacade, Tuesday night's session will be designed to provide information. Official hostess will be Roxi Langlie, Miss Thief River Falls, who will soon enter the Miss Minnesota pageant.

Roxi will assist in discussion of the memorable events and responsibilities connected with pageant participation. Questions will be answered and there will be no obligation for any of the girls in attendance.

Mrs. Gelene Peltier will demonstrate use of make-up as a beauty aid, using Vivian Woodard cosmetics. "This demonstration will be of help to any of the potential candidates, whether they decide to enter competition or not," Mrs. Walter said.

Literal Wild Goose Chase

MOTHER GOOSE takes to the air as her nest site is approached in the annual Canada goose nest census at Agassiz national wildlife refuge. The nests are checked twice each spring, once to determine the use of artificial nesting sites and once after the hatch to determine percentage of hatch and reason for eggs failing to hatch. Nest robbing by predators, desertion by the goose or infertility can be reasons for hatch failure. The artificial structure shown here is one of the older type on the refuge.

Last Monday afternoon I was taken on a real wild goose chase. . . .and enjoyed every minute of it.

In the news business, trying to run down information sometimes becomes a mythical wild goose chase, but on Monday it was for real. Guide, boatman and fellow chaser was Thad Fuller, assistant manager of Agassiz national wildlife refuge.

The quarry was the wily Canada goose.

To be more accurate, our quarry was the not - so - wily Canada goose egg. Purpose of the chase was to check the use of artificial nesting sites on the refuge and determine number of eggs and stage of incubation when an inhabited nesting site was found.

Appropriately enough, this procedure is called the Canada goose nest census at Agassiz refuge. It involves checking each of the approximately 125 artificial nest structures on the refuge, plus incidental observation of Canada goose nests on natural sites. This is done once during incubation and once after hatching.

On the initial survey, the observer will fill out a survey sheet listing the date, time, location, type of nest site, condition of nest structure, distance to nearest emergent vegetation, water, upland and loafing site, height of Acceptance of bids on several items, hiring of three teachers including a head hockey coach, acceptance of four staff resignations and approval of several changes in the high school education pattern took place at the Thief River Falls board of education meeting Monday evening at Lincoln high school.

Resignations were accepted from Douglas Mihm, Franklin junior high school teacher; Paul B. Jacobs, vocational - technical institute teacher; Mrs. Kaye Marvin, teacher at Knox elementary school; and Rose Mary Ulrich, cook's helper at Franklin.

McGann will be the head hockey coach and was announced as selected for that position following a board caucus from which the public was excluded. A graduate of Duluth Central high school and holder of a BS degree from the University of Minnesota Duluth branch, he has a major in physical education and minors in health and history. Following college graduation in 1965 he accepted a position as assistant coach at Greenway of Coleraine and for the past six years has been head hockey coach at Proctor.

Bids in the electronics, drafting and metal-shop categories were rejected and the administration was authorized to obtain three closed quotations on items needed.

Also approved was a house remodeling project for the AVTI carpentry class with the carpentry advisory committee to submit a proposal for approval by the board.

Resolutions on changes in high school procedure included one to phase industrial arts, business education, home economics and agriculture into the Northwest vocational center school over a period of five years.

Mutnansky-Kassa United At Con-Celebrated Mass

Marriage vows of Miss Paulette Theresa Mutnansky and Timothy James Kassa were solemnized on Saturday, May 6, at 2 p.m. at a nuptial Con-celebrated wedding mass at St. Bernard's Catholic church in this city.

Con-celebrants at the double ring ceremony were Rev. Frank Reid, pastor of St. John's church at Akeley; Rev. Tim Noah, pastor of the Sacred Heart church at Roseau and Rev. James Bernauer, pastor of St. Bernard's church in this city.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. Mutnansky of Goodridge. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kassa, also of Goodridge.

Miss Brenda Burger of this city, a friend of the bride, was organist. She played "We've Only Just Begun," "Sound of Silence" and "A Time For Us" as the prelude; Bottazzo-Rossini's "Wedding March" for the processional and Roulers-Rossini's "Wedding March" for the recessional. Vocalists were friends of the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Maze Thompson of Fertile. Mrs. Thompson sang, "Wedding Prayer" and together with her husband sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Baskets of white gladioli and yellow mums with yellow satin bows graced the chancel. On either side of the altar, covered with linen and lace, were single tapers in tall, slender golden candlesticks. The pews were marked with lilies of the valley and yellow satin bows.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a floor-length, A-line gown of imported organza and Chantilly lace with English silk bodkin net over a silk satin underskirt. The gown featured an empire bodice with a high-fluted collar, and long, fitted sleeves. Wide Chantilly lace bordered the hemline of the skirt that swept back into a chapel-length train. Seed pearls and crystals were re-embroidered on the scalloped lace bodice and collar. Rows of tiny buttons fastened the sleeves at the wrists and trimmed the back of the gown. Her elbow length three-tiered, bouffant veil of English silk netting was held in place by a toque-cap of ruffled and crystals. An organza bow trimmed the headpiece. She carried a cascade creation of miniature white carnations, yellow rosebuds and babies' breath. A cluster of white rosebuds nestled in the top of the bouquet, complemented by yellow satin streamers.

Miss Jane Mutnansky, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Renae Anderson of Stephen, friend of the bride; Mary Mutnansky of Goodridge, sister of the bride; and Susan Neuschwander of Grygla, cousin of the bride. Serving as junior bridesmaid and flower girl were sisters of the bride: Diane and Jodi Mutnansky, respectively. All were attired in leaf green polyester crepe duette complemented by full length sleeves of matching Georgette, elasticized at the wrists to form self ruffles. White scalloped lace edged the tucks on the fitted bodice, sleeve ruffles and stand-up collars. All wore miniature leaf green bows, tied in their hair, styled in love curls. They carried colonial bouquets of yellow and white mums with babies' breath and yellow satin streamers.

All the gowns were designed and made by the bride as was the gown worn by the bride's sister, Paula Mutnansky, who served as miniature bride. She was attired in a gown and veil, styled similar to the bride's. She carried a miniature replica of the bride's bouquet. The bride's gift to the miniature bride and flower girl were tiny silver crosses. Her other attendants were given miniature pearl drop earrings.

The ring bearer and miniature groom were cousins of the bride, Billy and Bobby Neuschwander, respectively. They were attired like the men of the wedding party in black tuxedos with white shirts featuring jabots trimmed in black. The miniature groom, like the groom, wore a single yellow rosebud taken from the brides' bouquets. The ring bearer and other attendants wore yellow carnation boutonnieres.

Bruce Kassa of Huntsville, Ala., attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were John Wilson, Paul Troska, friends of the groom, and Alan Swanson, cousin of the groom. Junior groomsmen was Dean Kiesow, cousin of the bride. The ushers, who also distributed the wedding program, were James Mutnansky, brother of the bride; Kenneth Neuschwander, cousin of the bride, and John Lovly and Larry Grabowska, friends of the groom. All reside at Goodridge.

The mother of the bride was attired in a two piece ensemble of royal blue bonded orlon knit featuring a jacket over a matching A-line dress. The mother of the groom wore an A-line dress of yellow linen with a yellow lace overlay. Both wore black accessories and identical corsages of yellow sweetheart roses and white carnations.

Honor guests were Mr. and Mrs. Erick Kiesow of Goodridge, maternal grandparents of the bride; Mrs. Anna Swanson of Thief River Falls, maternal grandmother of the groom; Mrs. Lawrence Neuschwander of Grygla, Jerome Mutnansky of Goodridge, godparents of the bride; and Mr. and Mrs. Jerold Rude of East Grand Forks, godparents of the groom; and Miss Susan Geving of Thief River Falls, cousin of the groom, who served as the bride's personal attendant.

After the ceremony a ham dinner for 350 guests was hosted in the church parlors by the parents of the bride. Reception hosts and hostesses were uncles and aunts of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Swanson and Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Kiesow of Goodridge.

The wedding cake was a five tiered Lady Windemere cake featuring a center pillar between each tier. Forming the base were four round cakes on a rotating stand. Yellow roses with leaf green accents trimmed the cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom. Miniature angels graced the base. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Eugene Prestegord and was cut and served by Mrs. Ed Geving of Detroit Lakes, aunt of the groom, and Mrs. Ed Timm of Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Neeser of Willmar, brother-in-law and sister of the groom, presided at the guest book as Misses Dianne Schmidt of Moorhead and Carolyn Noyes of Erskine, friends of the bride, served the punch.

Cousins of the bride, Mary Lee and Kathy Neuschwander of Grygla, distributed the groom's cake, wrapped in yellow netting, tied with leaf green ribbon, to which was attached a spray of lily of the valley and a gratuity note. Both of the girls wore floor-length gowns of yellow bonded polyester crepe with sleeveless empire bodices trimmed with white lace surrounding the necklines. They carried the groom's cake in bamboo baskets accented by leaf green ribbon streamers.

Wearing similar attire were the gift carriers: Judy Kiesow, Linda Kiesow, cousins of the bride, and Joanie Wilson of Willmar, niece of the groom.

Waitresses at the head table were Mrs. Charles Kiesow of Goodridge and Mrs. John Pietela of Lake Park. Other waitresses were Patty and Bonnie Mutnansky, sisters of the bride, Marilyn Kiesow, cousin of the bride, Ann Sang of Karlstad, Lonna Pureringer and Vonnie Weiss of Red Lake Falls, Mrs. Robert Manderud and Mrs. Doug Cullen of Goodridge, Mrs. Dave Schmieder of Thief River Falls; Patricia Donarski of Argyle and Judy Stoe of Badger, friends of the bride.

For traveling on the wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride wore a pink double knit A-line dress with a hem-length vest of bonare lace. Her corsage was of white sweetheart roeses and pink carnations.

The parents of the groom hosted a groom's dinner following the wedding rehearsal. The event was held at the Thief River Falls golf club. For the dinner, the tables were graced with twisted yellow and leaf-green streamers. Guests were all the memebers of the bridal party.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Goodridge high school and a 1970 graudate of Northland State junior college, Thief River Falls, where she is now employed as college secretary. The groom, a 1968 graduate of Goodridge high school, served two years with the U. S. Army and is employed as security guard by Arctic Enterprises, Inc., in this city.

Hearings Slated In Washington On Health Act

Rep. Joe L. Evins (D-Tenn.), chairman of the House select committee on small business, this week informed 7th District Congressman Bob Bergland that the subcommittee on environmental problems affecting small business (on which Bergland serves) will hold hearings on the "Small Business and the Occupational Safety and Health act of 1970." The hearings are scheduled for June 20, 21 and 22 at 10 a.m., in Room 2359 of Rayburn House office building, Washington, D.C.

"There are reports that many small businessmen are experiencing problems in connection with enforcement of the occupational safety and health act of 1970. I want to commend Rep. Bergland for initiating these hearings which are both appropriate and timely," chairman Evins stated.

Bergland noted that the purpose of the hearings would be to identify the specific problems small businessmen are facing with the safety and health law.

"I feel that the intent and purpose of the law is commendable," he said, "but like with so many other good laws passed by Congress, the federal bureaucracy sometimes manages to complicate matters by establishing harsh and irrelevant rules and regulations with little attention given to the impact on small businesses."

Bergland also cited the lack of adequate information available to small businessmen as a major problem. "Big businesses usually have specialists who become well versed in the safety requirements, but most small businesses have neither the time nor the expertise to fully comprehend the law." Bergland said that the subcommittee had reports of small businesses being unable to learn whether their establishments — met the requirements of the law without incurring a stiff penalty and fine.

Minnkota Joins Other Utilities In Power Pool

Officials of Minnkota Power Cooperative, Inc., announce that the cooperative has entered into a formal electric power pooling agreement with 30 other utilities in eight upper-midwest states.

The agreement was filed with the Federal Power commission in Washington, D. C., and will supercede other area power pooling arrangements within this region.

The power pool, to be known as Mid-Continent area power pool (MAPP), is an outgrowth of the Mid-Continent area power planners— a group originally created in 1963 to provide regional planning and sharing of electric generating capacity and high voltage electric power transmission facilities.

Stated aim of the group at that time was to organize a formal regional power pool. Members of MAPP have built, to date, a 4,800 mile nework of high voltage transmission lines including the development of the 345,000 volt regional transmission network.

The new pool agreement accomplishes this aim and will provide a means for the members to further their efforts to provide reliable and economical electric service minimum effect of the environment.

The MAPP power suppliers serve customers in the states of Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska and Montana. In addition, the Manitoba hydro-electric board, a Canadian Crown corporation, is expected to enter the pool later this year after completion of filing with the Canadian energy board.

Pool membership includes 12 investor-owned utilities, eight rural electric generation and transmission cooperatives, two public power districts, eight municipal electric systems and the United states bureau of reclamation.

Headquarters for the pool is the MAPP coordination center located in the Farmers and Mechanics bank building in Minneapolis. A staff of 27 persons coordinates the operations of each member utility, formalizes operating requirements and assists in planning for reserve generating capacity to protect against large scale power outages.

In addition, the coordination center will coordinate planning of long range electric load forecasts and the scheduling of maintenance for generating plant and transmission line outages.

In recent years, development of a national power grid has been proposed as a possible solution to the problem of meeting growing power demands through out the country. This new MAPP pool, and others like it through out the country, eliminate the necessity of such a national grid.

Entirely voluntary in nature, MAPP is expected to provide the ultimate electric power consumer with increased reliability, better economy and regional planning to meet regional and local consumer needs.

Unemployment In State Rises To 5.8 Per Cent

Minnesota's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate for April increased to 5.8 per cent from 5.7 per cent in March, Commissioner Emmet J. Cushing of the Minnesota Department of Manpower Services announced recently. A year ago the unemployment rate was 5.3 per cent.

The national, seasonally adjusted unemployment rate, both in March and April, was 5.9 per cent, 0.2 of a percentage point less than a year ago.

The total number unemployed in Minnesota was 112,000. That is an increase of about 100 from March and up 11,300 from a year ago. The number of unemployed usually decreases during this time of year.

The total of 1,596,800 persons employed in Minnesota in April was 37,700 more than in March. The increase in total employment, however, was less than might be expected for April. Employment in April 1971 was 1,570,800.

Nonfarm wage and salary employment rose to 1,309,200 in April, a gain of 13,100 over March. The increase awas concentrated in nonmanufacturing industries. Manufacturing employment was also up.

Increases of 4,400 in construction and 3,600 in trade were responsible for most of the increase in nonmanufacturing employment. The gain in construction was less than the average March-April increase during the last 10 years. The increase in trade employment was primarily due to the opening of more drive-in restaurants for the 1972 season.

Manufacturing employment increased by 1,500 from March. The overall increase in Manufacturing employment from March was slightly less than the 10-year average March-April increase.

The gain in manufacturing from April 1971 was concentrated in the Durable goods sector, which was up 5,700. Other durable goods, production of scientific instruments, ordnance and miscellaneous items, increased by 2,400. Smaller increases were found in lumber and wood products and fabricated metals.

Large increases in nonmanufacturing employment from April 1971 were found in trade, government and services. Construction employment increased 1,300. A drop of 600 in highway and heavy construction employment was probably due to poor spring weather conditions.

Production workers in manufacturing industries earned an average of $162.51 per week in April compared with $159.99 in March and $148.00 in April 1971. Average hourly earnings rose to $4 in April, a three-cent increase from March. The average workweek also increased in April to 40.6 hours, 18 minutes more than the March workweek.

He was ordered to pay a fine of $300 for DWI or spend 60 days in jail. For the open bottle he was ordered to pay a fine of $50 or spend 10 days in jail. The $50 was suspended. For the license violation he was fined $25.

A decision on Rose's charge was stayed for one month. Providing they comply with conditions set by the court, $150 of Harold's fine was suspended and the charge against Rose would be dismissed.

15th Inventors Congress Set At Redwood Falls

Fifteenth annual Minnesota Inventors congress will be held June 9, 10 and 11 at the Redwood county fairgrounds in Redwood Falls. Up to 100 inventions have been on display in past years.

Other attractions at this year's inventors congress include the fastest stock car in the world, which has been clocked at well over 200 miles per hour! There'll also be a large hobby and craft show and a huge model railroad layout is also being planned for one of the exhibit buildings. There will be a Saturday night variety show at the grandstand and there are plenty of camping facilities available.

Mrs. Alex Yeschick of Watertown and Mrs. Walter Gibson of Hopkins were Friday night houseguests at the home of Mrs. Lydia Olsen. That evening, they, together with Mrs. Olsen, Mrs. Lloyd Olson and Kristie and Mrs. Earl Tripp visited at the Leland Nelson home.

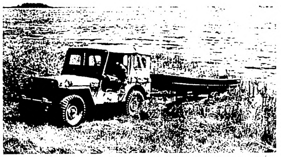
NESTLED IN DOWN plucked by the mother goose, this clutch of six eggs has been laid in one of the artificial nesting sites for Canada geese at the Agassiz national wildlife refuge. Part of the fiberglas form for the nesting site can be seen in the bottom and upper right hand corner of the photo. The clipboard material is used by refuge personnel to record data on the nest for future reference and study.



IMPROMPTU LAUNCHING site for the 14-foot flat bottom boat used in the Canada goose nest census at Agassiz national wildlife refuge was made possible due to the four-wheel drive vehicle. A number of the pools on the refuge have quite a large area of open water.

FERTILITY CHECK is given to goose eggs on an artificial nesting site at Agassiz national wildlife refuge by Thad Fuller, assistant manager at the refuge. By the size and slant of the air space in the large end of the egg, it is possible to judge the length of incubation and therefore the probable time of hatch. Incubation period is 28 days. Average clutch of eggs on the nesting sites is five, with the older birds tending to have the larger number of eggs.

Literal Wild Goose Chase Is Refuge Habit

nest above water, species, nest material, amount of down in nest, number of eggs in nest and stage of incubation.

On the second check, fate of the nest will be recorded and any unhatched eggs will be examined. The clutch of eggs may have hatched, been deserted or destroyed. Eggs unhatched may be sterile or contain a dead embryo. Information recorded is studied and used in research to improve nesting success of the refuge's Canada goose flock.

No Captive Flock

All of the refuge geese are free-flying birds. There has been no captive flock on the refuge for a number of years. But geese do return to the same location to nest year after year, and the Agassiz goose flock has characteristics all its own, developed over a period of years and adapted to the particular area.

"Research on other refuges does not necessarily apply here," Fuller said. His sentiments were echoed by Tom Atkins, also on the refuge staff and involved in the census. "Some places the gander will use an artificial loafing platform right next to the nest," he said. "Here they won't touch anything like that, but they will select a site several hundred yards from the nest."

The federal housing project for Canada geese isn't any random thing at Agassiz. Nest sites are selected for their potential use—based on information obtained in the nest census—and work begins in the fall rather than the spring.

During the fall refuge personnel use a brush cutter to cut and bundle cattail and Phragmites (tall reed-like grasses) for use as nesting material. During the winter they visit each of the artificial nest sites, replacing one-third to one-half of the nesting material with new material cut in the fall. Geese will not nest in the same nest bowl (the down-lined nest cavity where eggs are incubated) on successive years, therefore the change in material is necessary.

Several Nest Types

The artificial nest sites themselves are of several types. The older ones were simply a square framework of pipes or angle irons with a wire basket to hold the nesting material. They were placed on the ice of various pools in the winter and allowed to melt through in the spring, hopefully coming to rest in an upright position in the water.

Next came a nest designed by Herb Dill, former manager at the refuge. This had a Fiberglas bowl resembling an enlarged, somewhat flattened hard-hat, inverted on metal legs and looking not unlike a monstrous barbecue grill.

Current nests are somewhat modernized in appearance, resembling the end of a fuel storage tank placed in receptacle position. They are mounted on a single metal pipe which can be put in place in the winter simply by drilling one hole with an ice auger and driving the pipe into the bottom of the marsh. These are simpler and more predator-proof.

When the nests are placed and filled with new material for nesting, geese will select many of them for producing a family. Unused sites will occasionally be used by ducks, and one instance has even been recorded where a duck and goose occupied the same artificial structure for nesting.

Average clutch of eggs is five, with the range being from one to eight. In the nest with eight observed a year or so ago, all hatched. Incubation period is 28 days.

Geese Kidnap Goslings

"You can never determine brood size by the number of goslings with a goose and gander," Fuller said. "Mature pairs will adopt (perhaps kidnap is a better word) goslings from other broods and I have seen up to 22 goslings with one pair of geese."

Stage of incubation can be determined quite accurately by comparing the size and slant of the air space in the large end of the egg. This is done in an impromptu candling procedure which calls for rolling up a magazine, peering through one end at the egg held against the other and matching the silhouette with a pre-established pattern. Occasionally the formation of the embryo can be seen, and one egg we saw Monday displayed a visible heartbeat, almost like coffee perking.

This year the Agassiz refuge flock is the largest it has ever been on record with approximately 500 birds. This includes breeding pairs and younger birds which do not usually produce offspring until the third year of life.

Statistics Given

For those who like statistics, it can be noted that in the 1965 through 1970 period, the artificial nesting sites received 32 per cent use. In 1971 the use rate increased to 48 per cent. The census had not been completed for 1972 when our information for this article was obtained.

Of the structure nests checked in the 1971 survey, 85 per cent hatched, four per cent were destroyed by predators (Thad found a mother raccoon with five young in one of the structures), and 11 per cent were deserted.

Of natural nests found on the ground, 86 per cent hatched, seven per cent were destroyed and seven per cent were deserted.

Research in the goose census is paying off in production of geese at the refuge. Amount of down pulled by the goose for her nest is found to be directly related to the coarseness of the nesting material. Preference for cattail over Phragmites has been shown by the goose flock and the refuge personnel are content to give the geese what they want.

Producing geese for the guns of hunters doesn't bother Thad and Tom any more than it bothers a farmer to produce cattle, hogs, turkeys, chickens or sheep for the dinner table. It's all in the job, but they do develop a sort of attachment to particular biards.

One goose is back for her third season of nesting at the refuge. She is wearing a collar placed on her neck for identification in 1965.

X-9 Didn't Return

Another goose, wearing a collar with X-9 identification, had nested at the refuge in 1970 and 1971. "Old X-9 didn't make it this year," Fuller said. "I think she probably got shot."

Then he closed his clipboard, started the small outboard, backed the 14 foot johnboat out of the cattails and we continued our wild goose chase. Ducks flushed and flew overhead as we crossed the pool and coasted up to another nest site.

We were only a few yards away when mother goose rose from the nest and flapped laboriously away. Thad filled out the information sheet, covered the eggs with down (the goose normally does this herself when leaving of her own accord to feed) and we moved on to check another structure.

Regardless of what grammarians may say, it was a fun day.

Serious Damage Noted In City's Accident Report

Significant complaints handled by Thief River Falls police during the past week were more serious than usual in the dollar value of losses. Two of the three accidents listed resulted in more than $1,000 in damage and a vandalism complaint followed an estimated $800 loss.

On May 16 a 14-year-old boy was apprehended for shoplifting. He was released to his parents.

About 8 p.m. Saturday, Monica Loeffler of Pembina, N.D., was driving south on highway 59 and attempted to turn left into Gibson's parking lot, colliding with a motorcycle operated by Ronald Kalinoski of Thief River Falls who was traveling north on highway 59. There was about $200 in damage to the car and about $70 to the motorcycle. The driver and a passenger on the motorcycle both received cuts on their legs.

Monday a report was received from Main Avenue Texaco stating that someone had damaged a gas pump. The vandalism resulted in about $800 damage.

About 4:10 p.m. Monday, Thomas Ferris of Winnipeg was driving west on Fourth street when his vehicle was struck by one driven by Richard E. Jorgenson of Thief River Falls who was traveling north on LaBree avenue. The Ferris vehicle was pushed into the front of a car driven by Roberta Looker of Thief River Falls which was stopped, facing south on LaBree, at the yield sign. Damage to Ferris' car was estimated at $3,000. Damage to the Jorgenson vehicle was about $300 and there was none to Looker's. Ferris and Ray Krause, a passenger in the Ferris vehicle, sustained facial injuries. Two women in the same vehicle received bruises. No one else reported receiving any injuries in that accident.

About 10:45 p.m. Monday, John Johnson of Goodridge was driving east on Third street when his car was struck in the right side by a train as he crossed the Soo Line tracks. John Stromberg of Thief River Falls was the engineer. Johnson's vehicle became entangled with the train and was dragged about 70 feet along the tracks before the train stopped. The car received about $1,500 in damage. There was no damage to the train. Johnson was treated for lacerations on his right arm, chin and mouth.

In addition to handling complaints, police held their annual bicycle safety and licensing program.

Written bicycle safety tests were administered to 1,050 students in grades three through six who said they had bicycles. Test materials were provided by Darrell Bakke of Modern Woodmen.

Satuday, bicycle performance tests were held and licenses were issued. About 200 young peole attended. Personnel at the police department have commented that this number is considerably lower than the number anticipated. Apparently a large percentage of children with bicycles have not licensed them.

Reflective tape was provided by Modern Woodmen and VFW Post 2793. Seven men from the VFW also assisted Saturday.

U of M Students To Pay Increase In Fall Tuition

Students at the University of Minnesota will pay increases in tuition ranging from $10 to $48 when they return to school in the fall.

The tuition hikes, which were built into the 1971 legislative appropriations bills, were approved by the board of regents Friday in the adoption of the university's budget principles.

Tuition will increase $10 per quarter for undergraduate students from Minnesota in liberal arts, university college, home economics, general college, the college of education and the campuses at Duluth and Morris. Students in the same fields from other states will pay $33 more each quarter.

Currently, a fulltime resident student in these areas pays $158, so his tuition goes up to $168 a quarter. A non-resident will pay $470.

Undergraduate resident students in forestry, agriculture and biological sciences will pay $12 more than their current fee of $161 per quarter. Non-residents in these fields will add $37 to their current quarterly fee of $443.

Resident students in the college of business administration and the paramedical programs in the college of medical sciences will pay $12 more per quarter than their current tuition of $169. Non-residents will pay $37 more than their current $443.

Graduate students from Minnesota will pay $16 more than their current $184 quarterly fee. Non-residents graduate and professional students will add $48 to their current quarterly fee of $457.

Tuition for resident undergraduates in the institute of technology will increase from $165 to $177 per quarter. Non-resident tuition will jump from $443 to $480.

Summer-school tuition, however, will be lowered beginning with the 1972 summer session. Tuition cost per credit-hour will be reduced from $14 to $12.50 because of a special legislative appropriation for summer sessions.

Says Snowmobiles Can Help Ecology

Scientific evidence indicating that use of snowmobiles can enhance ecological development was revealed recently by a well known Michigan biologist.

Countering the generally accepted attitude that snowmobiles are inflicting damage on the terrain, Dr. Gale Gleason, biologist at Lake Superior state college, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., told a U.S. Forest Service hearing held in St. Paul to consider regulation of off road vehicles on federal lands, that the attack on snowmobiles by "would-be environmentalists" is being waged "with very little in the way of scientific observations or research."

Dr. Gleason said he has learned from investigation done by scientists in Michigan and Ontario that "compaction of residual annual accumulations of plant materials" caused by snowmobiles results in two highly beneficial conditions. First, the compaction speeds decomposition during winter months, providing a more ready source of nutrients for the annuals which predominate in the snowbelt region."

"A second feature resulting from this compaction and related to the nutrient release is an early spring emergence of these annuals, primarily the grasses," Dr. Gleason explained. "These form early 'greenbelts' providing the first spring nutrition for rough grouse, white-tailed deer and many of the smaller rodents."

These developments are direct results of the existence of the snowmobile, he stresses.

"This is a particularly important consideration at this time of year, because the spring and early summer are the best seasons for construction of badly-needed snowmobile trails", according to Robert H. Rygg, executive director of Snowmobile & Leisure Equipment Distributors, Inc. (SLED), who also addressed the Forestry Service hearing.

In another ecological area, Dr. Gleason pointed to the beneficial impact of snowmobile trails over ice surfaces. "Compaction of snow on lake ice greatly increases the amount of sunlight transmission through the ice," he said. "This increase in light transmission could help alleviate the 'winter kill' that is so common to the smaller eutrophic lake systems. . ."

Still another factor in favor of snowmobile trails, according to Dr. Gleason, is that they help to maintain predator-prey relationships between various forms of wildlife including white-tailed deer, moose, Coyotes and wolves.

He pointed to his study of the Sault Ste. Marie area during the early months of 1972 when 164 inches of snow fell in that area without any extended thaw. "The snow depth resulted in serious confinement of deer and moose and the threat of over population in those confined areas," he said. "Where snowmobiles had entered these areas, the deer were capable of escaping the continued harassment by coyotes and wild dogs."

The snowmobile has also aided predator control in Quebec, according to Dr. Gleason.

Calling for "objective, factural and non-emotional decisions" Rygg pointed to the economic impact of the snowmobile industry on northern states.

"The Arrowhead region of Minnesota alone now has over 140 resorts that stay open in the winter," he stressed. "In Minnesota there are now a million snowmobilers riding approximately 400,000 machines. Last winter, expenditures by snowmobilers in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan totalled an estimated $212,180,000.

"However, we would like to point out that we do not intend to advance this evidence of the economic importance of snowmobiles as an excuse for any misuse of the ecology," Rygg added. "But we do feel that the economic impact of snowmobiling does provide substance for a request for establishment of compatible trail systems."

notes from the governor

Late last fall Jeans Inc., a snowmobile distributor, broke ground for a 22,500-square-foot warehouse in Forest Lake, Minn.

The facility is designed to employ 15 workers. It was financed by a $350,000 municipal revenue bond issued, the first of its kind issued in Minnesota.

The use of such bonds is authorized under the Industrial Revenue Bond act of 1967.

Under provisions of the act, a community can sell tax-free revenue bonds and use the funds to acquire land, construct buildings and lease them to private firms.

As a legal question over the constitutionality of this type of financing was resolved less than one year ago, experience with municipal revenue bonds is necessarily limited.

One knowledgeable spokesman for the Minnesota Department of Economic Development has described the law's potential as an economic stimulator as "fantastic."

The record to date bears out his assessment. As of May 11, 21 municipal revenue bond issues totalling $25.4 million for new industrial construction in Minnesota had been approved by Roger L. Baker, state economic development commissioner.

These projects involve 17 firms. More importantly, they will create 2,411 jobs.

New jobs are what economic development is all about, whether it is in the metropolitan area or outstate Minnesota.

When the Industrial Revenue Bond act was proposed, many people had reservations as to whether it would accomplish its stated purpose.

A strong and balanced state economy, of necessity, must be based primarioy on such factors as a vigorous and productive labor force, healthy business climate, sound transporation system and ready access to markets.

The Industrial Revenue Bond act is, however, a promising new tool. The governor's office and the Department of Economic Development are doing everything possible to encourage its widespread use throughout the state.

TIMOTHY MILLER, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Miller of Ada and winner of the 1972 Minnesota poster contest on the health hazards of smoking, is congratulated by Mrs. Jim Kaat, wife of the Twins left hander, during an awards presentation ceremony held in Minneapolis Thursday. Timothy also received a camera. The contest is sponsored by the Minnesota division of the American Cancer society. His poster, judged best among 3,875 submitted, carried the question, "Why?" and consisted of drawings of lighted cigarettes placed on black cardboard and underlined with a cigarette and skull and crossbones.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor

For a long time, I have thought we should restore the beautiful old globe street lights that line the boulevard on highway 59 East (third street) through our city. Last night as I drove down the boulevard the beauty of it touched me and I was prompted to write this letter.

The large trees are eye catching green. The flowery trees on the median are in full bloom. There in the middle of all this stand these globe street lights looking like the last rose of summer. Most of the globes are broken or removed. The poles are bent in every direction. Some have been modified to provide curent for a larger light. You take a drive down the boulevard and you will see what I mean.

I understand the city council gives serveral reasons for not restoring or properly maintaining these lights. They indicated that this type of globe can no longer be purchased and that this type of lamp does not give adequate light. Although I have not looked into the matter in depth, I find this hard to believe. I have seen such globes (if not the same, very similar) in many different locations. Disneyworld has hundreds of them. They obviously are new and have been purchased from somewhere. As to the "light power" argument, this does not seem like an area that would need a great deal of light. It seems to me that some supplemental light could be installed in the center of the intersection if there is such a need.

I urge the city council to seriously consider restoring these globe lamps to their original condition or as close thereto as possible. If others have the same interest, I wish they would join with me. If the city council is unable or unwilling to do so, perhaps some civic group could do so with the councils cooperation.

We truly have a beautiful city. If you take a drive down this boulevard at dusk, you will see that these lights could add to that beauty.

Neil A. McEwen

To The Editor:

I am deeply angered by the continuing fact that people are being involuntarily committed to mental institutions. The American Medical Association is losing members and money and public confidence in physicians and psychiatrists is dropping. Could this be one of the reasons?

In criminal law one is innocent until proven guilty, but a person undergoing a commitment hearing is a "patient" until proven healthy. What's happening to a being's right to his own self-determinism, and who are these omniscient psychiatrists anyway?

One of the best definitions of psychiatric research I have seen comes from a veteran medical resident of California's Tangley Porter Neuropsychiatric Institute: "The careful scientific study of the unmeasurable by the clinically inept for the purpose of constructing inapplicable theories for use in a myriad of impractical ways."

Are we going to submit to being controlled by this?

How's Your Health

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Association.)

Most of us have heard of bronchitis, but how many of us have heard of peanut bronchitis?

Peanut bronchitis is a real disorder. It afflicts the lungs of young children who gulp peanuts into the windpipe instead of swallowing them properly. Peanuts may slip down the "wrong pipe" when the flap at the top of the windpipe leading to the lungs does not close properly. Often the child is laughing, talking or coughing while he is eating.

In general, parents should always be alert to swallowing difficulties when their youngsters are eating. Peanuts, however, pose a special threat. Parents should not serve peanuts to children before their teens. Here is why:

Like most smooth objects, peanuts easily slide down the wrong way. And, once in the windpipe or lung, the peanut may cause bronchitis which could develop into pneumonia or an abscess.

Peanuts contain an acid. In contact with the delicate tissue of the lung, the acid causes the inflammation.

Severe symptoms of peanut bronchitis may not appear for several days after the child inhales the peanuts. In the meantime, parents may notice a slight wheeze when the child exhales. It is caused by the partially blocked windpipe. He may also note a slight occasional coughing. Three or four days later the child may begin to run a fever and become very ill.

Do not ignore wheezing or a slight cough if your child chokes on peanuts or any foreign object. Your physician may easily remove it. Better yet, do not flirt with danger. Do not serve peanuts to children.

Like it or not, the drug problem is real. What was once of concern primarily to medical, pharmaceutical and legal interests has become a familiar subject for many of us. Drug abuse goes far beyond the individuals directly involved. It touches everyone's life.

What is drug abuse? What is drug dependence? What are the most common drugs which lead to dependence?

Drugs are chemicals that act upon the body's chemistry, says the Minnesota state medical association. They can promote and preserve good health when taken upon the advice of a physician or according to directions on a label. They can injure vital parts of the body, such as the liver, the kidneys, the heart, and the brain when abused.

Drug abuse is taking drugs without professional advice or direction. Abuse of certain drugs can also lead to drug dependence—psychological, physical or both.

Drug dependence can cripple its victims in mind and body—sometimes permanently. It results from taking certain drugs regularly; often in increasing amounts and at shorter intervals. Drugs most often abused fall into four major categories: 1) the narcotics, such as heroin, codeine and morphine; 2) the sedatives, such as barbiturates, tranquilizers and alcohol; 3) the stimulants, such as amphetamines; 4) the hallucinogens, such as LSD and marihuana.

Drug abuse does not always result in dependence. When it does, the roots of dependence lie in a person's psychological makeup. In turn, drugs feed the roots.

There is no such thing as a "hypertensive personality" although for years he has been characterized as an anxious individual, probably an executive.

Actually, the hypertensive patient may be tense or relaxed, forceful or subservient, active or inactive.

No one knows exactly how prevalent high blood pressure or hypertension is although many authorities estimate that more than 10 million Americans have hypertension. It is a universal disease, found in nearly all societies. And, although it occurs most frequently after age 35, no age group is spared entirely.

Hypertension occurs when blood pressure against artery walls rises too high and stays that way. It may be caused by another disease which can be diagnosed and treated bringing an end to hypertension. Or, the cause may remain elusive, in which case the physician must treat the symptoms and control blood pressure elevation.

Blood pressure elevation may go undetected for years because it often occurs without noticeable symptoms and sufferers do not seek medical assistance. When symptoms appear, they most likely are fatigue, headaches and dizziness.

Unchecked high blood pressure may lead to damage to the heart, kidneys and other organs. It increases the risk of heart attack, stroke and kidney failure. When it is combined with obesity, high blood cholesterol levels or diabetes, the chances of heart attack, stroke or kidney failure are multiplied several times.

Only a physician can determine if you have high blood pressure. It is just one reason for a yearly physical examination.

Putting on a hearing aid may be a little like wearing stilts for the first time, accoring to the Minnesota State Medical Association.

You have to learn how to do a lot of basic, simple things all over again. For example, you may have become accustomed to speech with silences in place of sounds and soft murmurs in place of P's and t's. With the hearing aid, plain English may be as foreign as Morse Code.

Aware of this, many people are reluctant to try a hearing aid, or, after trying it, are reluctant to use it. This is unfortunate; the proper hearing aid could benefit thousands of hard-of-hearing persons.

A hearing aid is an amplifying device that makes sounds louder. No one hearing aid is good for everyone. If the wrong sound frequency is intensified, for example, the results will be anything but ideal. A suitable hearing aid should fill in the gaps and not magnify sounds that already are loud enough.

Do not purchase a hearing aid until a physician recommends you do so. A proper hearing evaluation by a physician is the only way to determine why a person is hard-of-hearing. After a complete ear, nose and throat examination, he will determine what treatment is best for you. If he decides that a hearing aid will benefit you, he will help you in its selection and assist you until it is working properly.

If you suspect that your hearing is fading, see your physician. It may be that the combination of an appropriate hearing aid, and your physician's assistance may re-open a wonderful world of sound for you.

If you happened to witness a choking accident in your favorite restaurant, would you know how to help the victim? Here are some suggestions from the Minnesota state medical association.

The most important factor in a choking accident is time. Remember if there is no doctor present at the scene or if the accident occurs at home, there will be no time to wait for medical assistance. You must immediately remove the hunk of food that is causing the problem.

Reach far back into the victim's throat keeping the finger well to the side and try to flip out the food by hooking it with your finger. Be extremely careful not to push the food farther down into the throat. If the food is too far back to be reached by a finger, a long-handled spoon or salad tongs might be tried.

As a last resort, you may try two different approaches. For example, strike the victim on his back between his shoulder blades to get him to cough up the obstruction. Bear in mind, however, that this traditional method may make him gasp and inhale the obstructing food even further into the windpipe. You must whack him very hard. If death is imminent, press quickly and hard on the victim's diaphragm in an attempt to expel the food by bellows action of the lungs.

If you succeed in removing the food, carefully check the victim to see that he is breathing normally. If he is not or if you were unable to remove the food, you will need to administer mouth-to-mouth artificial resuscitation. If he is, there is no need for resuscitation. Cover him and keep him warm. Calm his fears and get medical aid immediately.

Sniffing Novelty Warning Issued To All Parents

A warning about a potentially hazardous and apparently misrepresented "sniffing" novelty aimed at the juvenile market has been issued to Minnesota parents today by Agriculture Commissioner Jon Wefald.

The product is "Cokesnuff," sold in novelty stores and packaged in display cartons with a come-on message to "Turn on with Cokesnuff—Sniff It."

Commissioner Wefald said Wisconsin agriculture authorities alerted him to the new problem after a recent incident in which two young Madison girls became ill after sniffing the product. Federal authorities also have been alerted.

Analysis in the Wisconsin department of agriculture laboratory revealed "Cokesnuff" to contain a finely ground powered tobacco, although the product is not labeled as tobacco.

District 31 Track Meet Scheduled Saturday

Thief River Falls and Crookston are expected to wage an extremely tight two-team battle for the district 31 track title Saturday when the Prowlers will try to defend their 1971 crown in the University of North Dakota's Memorial stadium.

The morning session will begin at 10 o'clock with the discus, shot put and pole vault competition continuing through to the finals, and the preliminary running events. The afternoon finals will start at 1 o'clock.

In head to head competition throughout the 1972 season the Prowlers have fared a little better than the Pirates but a recent rash of injuries could slow the Prowler attack.

Rob Swenson, the defending district and region 100-yard dash champion, will definitely be missing from the Prowler line-up Saturday due to a hamstring pull suffered during the Dragon Outdoor meet May 16. Junior hurdler John Wangberg and sophomore sprinter Scott Olson will be trying to make their first appearance on the track in two weeks after recovering from a hamstring and hip pointer injury respectively.

The Prowlers may still rank as the pre-meet favorite based on an outstanding regular season in which they captured first place trophies in four meets, including the Pirate Indoor, Prowler Jaycee, Park Rapids Invitational and the Northwest Conference meet.

"It should be a battle to the wire," is the way head coach Jim Sims sees the district meet, "but we'll sure be in it all the way. Crookston has to be considered a real strong contender, so it will take a complete effort on our part to win it."

The probable Prowler line-up for the district meet will find senior Doug Aaseby and either Wangberg or freshman Jerry Sandahl in the hurdle events; junior Markoe Hanson and senior Steve Beich in the 100; Hanson and sophomore Gerald Trickle in the 220; senior Mike Fitzgerald and Olson in the 440; seniors Paul Battleson and Steve Phelps in the 880; senior Greg Bulger and sophomore Lonnie Olson in the mile; juniors Bruce Johnson and Dave Wold in the two-mile; junior Mark Kaushagen and either senior Perry Omdahl or junior Gary Halvorson in the pole vault; juniors Kent Smith and Jeff Rhoden in the high jump; Kent and senior Rande Smith in the long jump; junior Van Sillerud and Rande Smith in the discus and junior Russ Larson along with Rande Smith in the shot put.

The Prowler relay team line-ups will find Hanson, Beich, Kent Smith and junior Jon Markstrom running in the 880 event; Beich, Markstrom, Fitzgerald and senior Don Reierson in the sprint medley; and Rande Smith, junior Mark Hamerlinck, Reierson and Battleson in the mile relay.

Habitat Needs Viewed By DNR And Legislators

Members of legislative house subcommittee on game and fish habitat toured southwestern Minnesota May 10 with Department of Natural Resource officials.

DNR wildlife management areas and wildlife habitat improvement work on state and private lands were viewed by the legislators, who are evaluating wildlife needs in that part of the state.

Examples of drainage projects that have destroyed important game habitat areas were examined along with other areas that have been preserved or restored by the Department during recent years.

They emphasized the pheasants and waterfowl cannot survive without wetlands and other cover areas.

MIKE RASCH, Northland state junior college shot putter, will enter the NJCAA national track meet in Phoenix, Arizona, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 25-27. Northland state junior college placed sixth in the MJCAA state track and field meet Saturday at Anoka-Ramsey.

The three mainstays of the Northland team, Tim Olson (TRF), Tony Burke (Bemidji) and Mike Rasch (TRF) all came through with what coach Chet Engelman described as "outstanding performances" to account for Northland's ten points in the meet.

Reasch and Burke opened the morning events by placing second and fourth respectively in that shot put competition. The event was won by John Brown of Worthington with a record toss of 50-4¾, with Rasch throwing 44-6¼ and Burke 42-7.

Burke followed his shot put performance with a fourth place finish in the discus with a new school record throw of 132-8. Brown also won the discus with another record toss of 146-9.

Fast Pitch Loop Opens Season

VFW opened the 1972 fast-pitch softball season with a 16-3 shellacking of Falls Diesel Monday night on the Thief River Falls softball diamond.

The winners opened with four runs in the first inning, added a single score in the third and then erupted for six runs in the fifth and five more in the sixth, capped by Scott Kleven's home run. Nine Falls Diesel errors contributed to their downfall.

Falls diesel scored two runs in the sixth and one in the seventh after two double plays by VFW stopped early scoring threats by the losers.

Harlie Drees struck out three and walked one in his winning performance on the mound, while Earl Graham suffered the loss.

Prowler Nine Enters Sub District 31 Tournament

Ralph Skay's Lincoln high school baseball squad will open its tournament competition later this week with a sub district 31 game.

The Prowler head coach will be attending a district meeting tonight (Wednesday) at Warren to determine the pairing and playing sities for the sub district and district games.

The Prowlers could play as early as tomorrow night, or as late as Saturday.

The winners of the sub district game will advance into the district 31 tournament to be held at Red Lake Falls next week. The region eight tournament will also be held at Red Lake Falls Monday and Tuesday, June 5 and 6.

Skay indicated he would use senior right hander Mike Hamilton on the mound in the Prowlers' first sub-district start. Hamilton compiled a 3-2 won-lost record during the regular season, beating Fertile 9-1, Warren 11-4 and Oslo 7-1, but losing to Warroad 5-4 and Bemidji 7-6. His last pitching assignment was against Oslo May 17.

The Prowler infield was bolstered by the return of junior shortstop Kim Johnson this week, after Johnson missed several games because of a motorcycle mishap. But at the same time, the Prowler pitching staff was trimmed with the loss of sophomore right hander Randy Dallmann due to an injury.

The probable Prowler starting line-up, with their regular season batting averages in parenthesis, will be as follows:

The Prowlers finished the regular season with a 12-4 won-lost record, the most wins during a regular season since 1966 when the squad went 13-1.

YOUNG Mike Kloety was one of the lucky fishermen during the weekend when he landed this 9¼ pound walleye off Long Point on Lake of the Woods. Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Macland Kloety, Thief River Falls.

Lincoln Netmen End Regular Season 12-5

Thief River Falls blanked Fertile 5-0 in high school tennis action Tuesday afternoon on the local courts to end the Prowlers' regular season with an overall 12-5 dual meet won-lost record.

Next on the agenda will be the district 31 tournament Friday at East Grand Forks. Thief River Falls, Crookston and "East Side" will take part in the district meet, beginning at 1p.m.

Tennis coach Whitey Olson indicated his line-up for the district will probably find senior Mark Liden in the first singles, sophomore Tim Engelstad in the second singles, and junior Jeff Wendt, along with senior Scott Lund in the doubles competition.

During the regular season Liden compiled a 16-1 record, losing only to Crookston's Brent Richardt in the Northwest Conference meet, a loss Liden avenged in their next meeting. The Prowler team captain won 212 games and lost just 63 during the season.

Engelstad has played both singles and doubles this season, finishing with a 9-1 singles record and 14-5 overall. Engelstad won 208 games while losing 118.

In the doubles competition, Wendt posted a 7-4 record with various partners while registering a 5-2 mark in singles action. Wendt won 186 and lost 126 games during the year. Lund finished 1-1 in singles competition and 9-6 with different doubles partners. Lund won 183 and lost 121 games this year.

Crookston will enter Friday's competition as the district favorite, although Thief River Falls has been the only district 31 tennis champion since the sport began on a district level. The Pirates beat Thief River Falls 3-2 twice during the regular season.

Against Fertile Monday, Liden beat Terry Nordheim 6-1 and 6-0, Engelstad stopped Paul Carlson 6-0, 2-6 and 6-4 and Dave Forney beat Tim Bolstad 6-0 and 6-0 in singles action. Went and Ross Gutterud defeated Paul Remark and Larry Olson 8-6 and 6-2 in doubles play.

Rescued Fawn Is Doing Nicely

A fawn, taken from its dead mother a year ago by Caesarean section, has survived the winter at Bear Head Lake state park near Tower, the department of natural Resources reported today.

The doe had been struck by an auto last spring but Howard Wagoner, district forester at Tower, arrived on the scene in time to save the fawn.

Wagoner bottle fed the young deer and when it could browse on natural food it was taken to the park and turned loose.

By the first snowfall last winter, she was well able to shift for herself. She ranged throughout the park in search of food and would be gone from the headquarters area for days at a time; however, she always returned to pay regular visits to her new friend, the park manager.

The fawn became familiar with the sound and sight of snowmobiles, heard the nightly howls of traveling wolf packs and became accustomed to having grouse flush from beneath the snow at her feet.

Park personnel are hopeful that the young deer will find a mate in the area this fall.

Red River Fish Contain A High Mercury Level

Results of a two year study by several state and federal agencies shows that mercury levels in Minnesota fish are below established safe limits, except for portions of three rivers.

Health officials continue to recommend that fish from these three areas be eaten no more than once a week. They are:

The Mississippi River between Grand Rapids and Anoka; the St. Louis River below Clouquet; and the Red River of the north.

Elsewhere, no restrictions are thought to be necessary.

Plans are to continue monitoring mercury levels in fish from the three rivers. The U. S. Food and Drug administration has set a maximum limit of .5 parts per million on fish intended for human consumption.

According to the Minnesota department of natural resources, mercury concentration in fish from lakes in the southern half of the state tend to be lower than levels in fish from lakes in the northeast.

It was also found that fish from highly fertile lakes that commonly have algal blooms in the summer contained especially low levels.

A report of the study is available from the DNR, technical services section, third floor Centennial building, St. Paul. The study was done by a committee comprised of representatives from the DNR, Minnesota Department of Health, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, State Pollution Control Agency, Federal Food and Drug Administration, and the University of Minnesota.

Advice Given On What To Do If Accident Happens

An auto accident doesn't always happen to the "other guy." It can happen to anyone driving a car. Because it is a traumatic experience, cool heads do not always prevail following an accident.

The Minnesota AAA says that being prepared for a traffic emergency before it happens can pay high dividends in the prevention of human suffering, financial loss, and legal complications. The motoring organization has come up with a seven-point checklist for every driver to follow in case he or she is involved in an accident.

(1) Stop. As the driver, you must stop your car immediately at or near the accident scene without obstructing traffic more than necessary. All states impose severe penalties for hit and run drivers.

(2) Assist the injured. In case of serious injury, get a doctor or call an ambulance, but don't move him unless absolutely necessary.

(3) Control the traffic scene. This will help prevent an accident from turning into a multiple one. Stationing someone at a safe spot to warn approaching drivers is a good idea. Use of flares is helpful if they are available.

(4) Notify the police. If the accident results in personal injury, death or property damage beyond a specified amount, a call should be made directly to the law enforcement agency with jurisdiction over the accident area. This is required by law, but it's a wise move anyway—if an officer investigates an accident promptly, his report will be of help if a liability claim is made.

(5) Know what to say. Don't argue, accuse, admit fault or sign any statement other than those required by police. Opinions about the cause of the accident do not have to be given at the accident scene, at police headquartes or elsewhere. Before making any statement, you have the right to consult a lawyer.

Do exchange data with other drivers—names, addresses, vehicle registration numbers, drivers' license numbers and names of insurance companies. Also, try to make written notes and diagrams at the scene, vertifying the information with police. This will be helpful in completing state and insurance accident reports. Items to include are condition of each person involved, road and weather conditions and a description of the accident. Photos also can be helpful if you have a camera handy.

(6) Know when to leave. Unless you are injured, not until taking the previous five measures.

(7) To reduce any legal or financial confusion, complete formal accident reports promptly. If in doubt as to whether to report an accident, report it. If you're tardy in your report to your insurance company, your insurance may be voided. Accident reports must be filed within a specified number of days and hours, so check with police or motor vehicle departments for the forms and fill them out within the time limit.

AAA also reminds motorists to take the following measures if their car should strike an unattended vehicle: Leave name, address and telephone number attached to the struck vehicle, copy its license plate in case you have to trace the owner, and report the accident to the appropriate law enforcement authorities.

See Tax Increases As Growth Threat

Growing concern for Minnesota's ability to retain existing businesses and industries, or to attract new ones, was voiced this week by Charles P. Stone, executive director of the Minnesota Taxpayers association, after reviewing transcripts of testimony at the April 28 meeting of the Minnesota tax study commission.

"The hearing concerned itself principally with expert testimony as to the impact of the 1971 state tax law changes on corporations now doing business in Minnesota," Stone said. "Witnesses represented companies whose payrolls provide jobs for many thousands of men and women and whose annual state and local tax liabilities amount to millions of dollars.

"Their testimony shed new and alarming light on the threat to Minnesota's general economy posed by the drastic 1971 increases in corporation and individual income taxes."

Among revealing excerpts from the transcripts of testimony are these:

Sandy Navin, tax counsel for General Mills, Inc.:

". . .I believe we have reached and probably exceeded the limits in taxing the income and property of both Minnesota corporations and individuals. The high level of taxes on corporations makes it difficult for business to open new facilities in Minnesota or to expand existing facilities in the state. The high level of taxes on individuals makes it equally difficult for business to attract competent labor into the State."

John Clark, controller of Ford Motor company's, Twin Cities assembly plant, stated that Ford employment in the Twin Cities area in 1971 was more than 2,500, with a payroll in excess of $28,000,000. Comparing Minnesota tax costs with those of a comparable Ford assembly plant at Norfolk, Va., he said:

". . .our total tax burden in the state of Minnesota ($2,548,000) is about three times that in the state of Virginia on roughly identical operations."

Declaring that ". . .It appears to us that the tax climate (in Minnesota) has become increasingly more hostile," James A. Abbott, vice president and general counsel for Northwest Airlines, said:

". . .With the expansion of our routes and services throughout the United States and the world, other choices (for the headquarters and main overhaul base) became available for these facilities. In some respects our continued presence in Minnesota is anomalous. Both weather and taxes dictate against our continued presence here. . . ."

Abbott went on to state that Minnesota's "top of the heap" ranking among the fifty states in corporate income tax rate ". . .will cause some businesses to leave the state, will prevent other businesses from entering the state and will inhibit expansion of existing facilities in the state."

Paul P. Senio, director of taxation for Gamble - Skogmo Inc., said that the company's three subsidiary corporations—Gambles, Red Owl and Snyder Drug stores—which operate and are headquartered in Minnesota ". . .as a group will pay 78 per cent of their total state income tax liabilities to Minnesota, whereas the group only does 38 per cent of business in Minnesota."

R. W. Brust, executive director of taxes, 3M company, estimated that the 1971 tax law changes will cost 3M $2 in additional new taxes for each dollar of tax relief, and that "In 3M's case, this is measured in the millions of dollars."

George T. Holden, vice president for corporate development, Holden Industries, Inc., a major Minneapolis printing firm, told the tax study commission:

"Our new (graphic arts) plant (involving a total investment of over $2,000,000) will be located outside Minnesota and taxes are a major reason for this."

Wiring Problems Most Perplexing For Motorists

Electrical problems probably perplex motorists more than any other cause of vehicle breakdowns, according to one of the nation's major auto manufacturers.

However, most operating troubles encountered with today's cars are minor. Loose battery connections are more likely to cause start-up problems than a battery failure. If any engine cranks but won't start, a loose ignition wire is more often the culprit than a faulty distributor or ignition component.

Consequently, the average driver often can avoid a lot of trouble with just a little knowledge about his car's electrical system. The company offers some of the following tips:

LOOSE WIRING—Research indicates that loose or disconnected wires cause most of the electrical failures on late model vehicles. If your car's engine won't crank in the morning or suddenly stalls on the highway, check under the hood for a loose wire. . .any wire. Make sure the cables that attach to the terminals on top of your battery are connected tightly. (In winter, moisture can freeze and separate loosely connected battery cables or other wiring.) A quick visual inspection doesn't require a master mechanic's skill and often solves the problem.

CORROSION—Battery corrosion can cut off electricity to key engine components. Look for a crusty mold around the battery terminals. It can be scraped off easily with a penknife (a baking soda solution will do a thorough cleaning job). If your engine still won't crank, you may have a corroded starter switch. Turning the starter on and off several times may clean the contact points enough to start the engine, but you should take your car in for service to prevent recurrence of the problem.

POWER LOSS—If your headlamps gradually go dim or brightness varies with engine speed, your car's battery probably is not being recharged properly. If spot checks for corrosion or loose wiring haven't turned up the problem, and you've heard a squealing or chirping sound in the engine compartment, inspect the alternator belt. It may be loose or worn and require adjustment or replacement. If you still haven't found the trouble, a qualified technician may have to check your car's voltage regulator and alternator.

IGNITION TROUBLE—If your car's engine pings, has become more and more difficult to start, or has choppy or sluggish pickup, you probably need an engine tuneup. A gradual drop in gasoline mileage is another indication of ignition trouble. Failure to follow the manufacturer's periodic service recommendations or to note significant performance changes could eventually leave you stranded with a stalled engine or one that refuses to start on cold mornings.

SHORT CIRCUITS—Electrical systems critical to driver safety are protected by circuit breakers rather than fuses in most late model cars. If your headlights begin to flash off and on at regular intervals or your windshield wipers go off and on, a circuit breaker is warning you of a short-circuit or electrical overload that should be checked.

Other electrical components such as radios, cigar lighters, dome lights or heater-defrosters are protected by fuses usually located in a fuse panel under the dashboard.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of Sharon Mae Mack who passed away May 26, 1969.
There's one with ringlets of sunny gold and eyes the reflection of heaven's own blue.
She's gone from our home and a place is vacant today.
And the little girl that we loved so well seems so far away.
But we're trying to live just day by day, while many silent tears are shed.
Sadly missed by the family, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mack and family. 1t42p

In Memoriam
Seven years have passed since that morning in May
When God ended your suffering and called you away—
No more to hear your dear laughter ring. . .
Nor your sunny warm smile which was—everything!
Still. . .we do not question God's many ways
Tho we have lived through many lonely days—
Your beautiful memories we'll always share
Kept deep in our hearts,
Till we meet you—up there!
Reprinted by permission of the author. In memory of our dearest son and brother Monti who passed away May 24, 1965. Sadly missed by his dad and mom, Bennie and DeLores Miramonte, sisters DaniLe, Monica and Anita, and brothers, Vince and Paul. 1t42p

1,499 Passengers Use Service Of Airline At TRF

North Central airlines recently announced operating statistics for April. Thief River Falls airport handled 1,499 passengers compared with 1,382 for April 1971. There were 769 passengers boarding and 730 arriving.

Three hundred thirty one pounds of airmail was loaded and 4,150 lbs. received. That is compared with 357 lbs. sent and 3,787 lbs. received in April 1971. North Central in Thief River Falls handled 8,674 lbs. of surface mail in April 1972 and 6,676 lbs. in April 1971.

A large percentage increase was noted in freight loaded. In 1971 1,955 lbs. of freight was sent out and in April 1972 it was up to 5,518 lbs. Freight received dropped slightly, from 18,622 lbs. in April 1971 to 17,461 lbs.

Air express handled increased from 1,715 lbs. to 2,072 lbs. in April 1972.

Total operations for North Central showed a first quarter revenue increase of 15 per cent to a record $25,763,000 and the company achieved a $1,274,000 operating improvement over 1971, according to Hal N. Carr, chairman of the board and chief executive officer.

Carr said a modest profit was also earned, although the company historically has substantial losses from January through March because weather conditions raise operating costs and passenger traffic is at its lowest level.

While a stronger, general economy helped revenues increase 15 per cent to $25,763,000, North Central cost control programs held operating expenses at $24,213,000, up only nine per cent. The resulting $550,000 operating profit is a $1,274,000 improvement over the operating loss of $724,000 in 1971. Non-operating expenses decreased 29 per cent from $1,138,000 last year to $805,000.

A new profit of $8,000 was realized after a tax credit of $263,000 ($87,700 for the first quarter of 1972 and $175,300 as an out-of-period adjustment). This compares with a net loss of $1,266,000 in 1971, after a tax credit of $596,000.

According to Carr, financial results are expected to be improved by the Civil Aeronautics board's new class rate, retroactive to July 1, 1971, for determining public service revenues paid to regional airlines. The board has recognized the rising cost of providing service to smaller cities which do not generate enough traffic to support scheduled air transportation. The company's public service revenues for the first quarter are based on an estimate of the new rate, but do not include the amount which may be paid for the last half of 1971.

With the strongest revenue-producing months still ahead and a favorable first quarter completed, Carr predicted that "1972 should be the most profitable in the airlines's history."

WATER BALLET routines will be performed by Thief River Falls swimming students on Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Franklin junior high school swimming pool. Students in the photo above are Joy Grant and Jane Amundgaard in the foreground, Jody Dallmann, Kim Wigness and Jean Grant in the center row and Christie Irvine and Roberta Reopelle in the back. Oopen to the public, the swimming program is directed by Mrs. Diane Lillevold with Wayne Martinson in charge of lighting and music.

SBA Loans Are Said To Create 187 New Jobs

New jobs numbering 187 will reportedly be created in Minnesota as a result of 51 loans disbursed in the state by banks and guaranteed by the Small business administration during April. These loans, according to Paul W. Jansen, district director of the Minneapolis office of the SBA, amounted to $3,540,600.

Small business firms wishing to apply for SBA loans can do so by contacting their local bank or the Small Business administration.

Informational loan booklets are available from the Minneapolis office located at 12 South Sixth street, Minneapolis 55402.

Women's Events At Greenbush For Sheep Days

There will be a spinning demonstration by Mrs. Heifort of Glyndon and a fashion show featuring wool garments that were entered in the "Make it Yourself with Wool" contest last fall.

The program starts at 12:30 p.m. with the spinning demonstration, followed by the fashion show at 1:30 p.m. and the sewing presentation about 2 p.m.

Wool Producers Get Poor Price For 1971 Crop

Consumers may be looking for lower prices on wool products such as clothing, carpets, upholstered furniture and fabrics, Agriculture Commissioner Jon Wefald suggested today, reporting prices Minnesota Farmers received for raw wool in 1971 were the lowest since 1925.

"Last year was one of the worst in history for our wool growers. The 22 cents a pound they averaged was 12 cents or a whopping 35 per cent slash from the 1970 price average," Commissioner Wefald said.

Combined with the lowest volume of wool production since 1925, a total of 3,468,000 pounds, the low price cut the gross value of Minnesota's 1971 wool crop to $763,000, or $476,000 less than the 1970 wool crop.

According to records of the State-Federal Crop and Livestock Reporting Service of the Minnesota Department of Agriculture, the value of the shorn wool per sheep in 1971 dropped to $1.78, compared to the $2.85 average for 1970.

Commissioner Wefald noted that out of that average $1.78 per fleece the wool grower must pay 50 cents to $1 for the commericial shearing service, on top of his other production costs.

Minnesota producers sheared wool from 428,000 sheep in 1971. That was 20,000 sheep fewer than contributed to the 1970 wool crop.

Nationally, Minnesota ranked 14th among all states in the number of sheep shorn and in total wool production. U. S. wool production for 1971 was down three per cent from 1970, compared to Minnesota's five per cent cutback. The national wool crop value was estimated at $31.2-million, down 45 per cent from the previous year.

Standardization On Motorcycles

U.S. department of transportation (DOT) is moving toward standardization of controls on motorcycles in order to minimize the danger of driver error when using unfamiliar vehicles, according to a bulletin received by the Minnesota department of public safety.

Because under the proposed new standard some foreign manufacturers will have to change their controls completely, DOT is giving them until Sept. 1, 1974, to comply.

A basic requirement of the new standard is that all controls mounted on the handlebars must be operable without removal of the operator's hands from the handgrips. Another requirement is a supplemental engine control stop which can be operated by the right hand in an emergency. Supplemental brake controls will be located on the left handlebar.

Illumination of the neutral position on the gear shift is to be required, as is illumination of the speedometer when the headlamp is on.

Greenbush shipping association sent 113 to South St. Paul and 400 to West Fargo; Lancaster shipping assiciation sent 239 head to South St. Paul; Roseau Cooperative shipping association sent 649 head to South St. Paul and 411 to West Fargo; and the cooperative shipping association at Warren consigned 116 head to South St. Paul and eight to West Fargo.

Harvested Ice Could Be Danger In Beverages

Any ice used as part of food or beverage should be made from water of drinking water quality, advises the Minnesota department of health for the vacation and camping season when people may encounter ice harvested from Minnesota's lakes and rivers.

According to Charles Schneider, chief of the department's section of hotels, resorts and restaurants, harvested ice should be used only as a coolant for food or drink, never as a part of them. For instance, havested ice could be put around soft drink bottles but should not be put into a glass containing a beverage. There would be no danger in using harvested ice to keep fish cold when they are to be cooked before eating.

Schneider urges people to ask about the source when they obtain ice. He points out that bacteria and viruses are not killed when frozen; they are just dormant. Consequently, ice made with water contaminated by disease-causing organisms could cause health problems.

Navy Seaman Alan A. Krause, husband of Suzanne M. Krause of Thief River Falls is aboard the light guided missile cruiser USS Little Rock of Norfolk, Va., participating in a training exercise in the Camp Lejeune, N. C. area and waters off shore.

The amphibious training exercise involves forces of the Navy, Marines, Coast Guard, Army, and Air Force, for a total of 50,000 active and supporting personnel.

Mrs. McEwen was one of 21 state vice presidents installed to serve on the executive council for the coming year.

Invite Inventors To Exhibit At State Congress

Minnesota inventors congress is putting out a last call to al inventors interested in participating in the 15th annual event June 9, 10 and 11 at the Redwood county fairgrounds in Redwood Falls.

Last year over 85 inventions were displayed and this year MIC officials are expecting about a hundred. There is no real deadline for entries and applications will be accepted as long as display space is available.

The Minnesoa inventors congress invites anyone who had a new invention to exhibit. There will be people present to answer inventors' questions. Anyone who would like more information about exhibiting should write to MIC, P. O. Box 71, Redwood Falls, Minn. 56283.

Minnesota 38th State Certified Hog Cholera Free

Minnesota has become the 38th state to reach "hog cholera free" status according to a recent announcement by the Minnesota livestock sanitary board and is the culmination of an effort that began in 1962.

Use of all hog cholera vaccines was prohibited in Minnesoa in 1969 as a prerequisite for entry into the last stage of the national hog cholera eradication program of the veterinary services of the animal and plant health service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

It is expected that elimination of hog cholera in the United States would save the swine industry about 52 million dollars per year.

Southerly Winds Increase Threat Of Aster Yellows

Hot southerly winds that stimulated plant growth statewide this month also brought Minnesota the most serious threat of cop damage by aster yellows disease in 15 years, Agriculture Commissioner Jon Wefald warned today.

Surveys by Minnesota department of agriculture and University of Minnesota entomology specialists have revealed significantly high populations of aster leafhoppers, carrier of the economic disease, in the southeastern quarter of Minnesota.

State inspectors found as high as 250 of the leafhoppers per 100 sweeps in rye and winter wheat fields in Dakota, Goodhue, Rice and Carver counties. Infestations were found as far north as St. Cloud. Cooperative tests by Dr. Allen Peterson of the university revealed that four per cent of the leafhoppers are carriers of the disease.

Robert Flaskerd, Minnesota department of agriculture plant disease and insect control sepecialist, said the populations and rate of disease carriers are the highest for this early in the growing season since 1957 when aster yellows disease swept much of the state, destroying flax, potato and garden crops as far north as the Red River valley. He said the potential for rapid population buildup and massive spread of the disease is very high.

Primarily a problem in states south of Minnesota the aster leafhopper migrates mainly along the Mississippi River valley. Wedge shaped and only about one-eighth inch in size, it easily travels long distances on prevailing winds.

While flax and potatoes are primary targets for damage by the disease carried by the aster leafhoppers, the disease also affects yields of carrots, onions, lettuce and other truck garden crops as well as many varieties of flowers.

Flaskerd said proper control measures are important at the first evidence of infestation. Field boundaries and grassy areas infested by leaf hoppers should be treated to limit migration from field to field. Recommended controls may be obtained from county agents, agricultural inspectors or the Minnesota department of agriculture.

Safety List Is Suggested For Users Of Mowers

Gasoline is a highly effective source of power. When you use it in your power mower, be sure to respect its other qualities. Proper respect could spare you a fire or explosion. This is the advice of State Fire Marshal E. L. Weber.

"Remember that gasoline can produce explosions outside the mower engine. And it can cause some destructive fires, too." He offered these safety rules:

(1) Keep the gasoline in a tightly closed properly labelled metal can. Never use a broakable container, such as a glass jar.

(2) Shut the engine off and let it cool before refueling.

(3) Always refuel out of doors, where there is no danger of an accumulation of explosive fumes.

(4) No smoking when handling gasoline.

(5) Wipe up any spilled fuel before starting the motor and dispose of the wiping cloth safely, preferably in a metal container.

Summer, the time when most people enjoy waters sports, also is the time when they are most susceptible to ear infections, such as "swimmer's ear". Ear infections deserve the attention of a medical ear specialist, and should not be treated by self-prescribed medications.

Railroad Industry Speaks In Defense Of Service Changes

Spokesmen for the Minnesota railroad industry stated today they firmly intend to stay in the railroad business and will not arbitrarily or unilaterally desert rural communities that have sufficient traffic to justify railway service.

Railroad spokesmen, appearing before the subcommittee on transportation of the House committee on regulated industries, reported that the railroads have no "master plan" to abandon service in rural Minnesota. . .but, on the contrary, have a program of building a revitalizing railroad transportation to meet today's actual requirements. The railroads said shippers should not be required to subsidize, through higher freight rates, uneconomic operations.

Repesentatives of the railroad industry—including the Minnesota Railroads association, Burlington Northern, Inc. and the Chicago and North Western Railway company—all appearing today, indicated that branch lines are maintained on the basis of present productivity and future potential.

Only when it is hopeless to retain them in service, in fairness to all the users of rail service, are individual lines petitioned for abandonment, they said.

Speaking for the railroad association, Gordon Forbes, St. Paul, pointed out that railroads, both nationally and in the state, face a crisis which could lead many railroads to the brink of financial disaster.

Forbes pointed out that it is the railroad shippers—which include both farmers and business in Minnesota—that have to pay through freight charges for nonproductive expenditures by the railroads. He indicated that, compared with water and highway transportation, railroads have to build and maintain their own right-of-way without subsidy. Provision by the taxpayers of super-highways and channels in the rivers give a great economic advantage to the railroads' competitors.

Forbes stated that Land O'Lakes, Inc. (agricultural services division) has done a disservice by distributing erroneous maps indicating a subsantial state-wide curtailment of railroad service in Minnesota by 1980. Forbes said he was "distressed that Land O'Lakes, without checking with the railroad industry, has issued incorrect information to the public causing great concern among rural communities of Minnesota."

He reported that one of the problems causing service changes in the railroad industry has been the shifting of traffic from rail to other forms of transportation, and pointed out that many of the smaller communities and farm organizations have consistently supported legislation for larger trucks in Minnesota without paying any attention to the long-range effect upon the railroads. He stated that after years of "benign neglect" the rails now find "new friends" who are suddenly concerned for their future.

Forbes stated that Minnesota has one of the highest taxes on railroads in the nation and that high taxes affect the ability of the rails to provide service and modernized equipment. He pointed out that the gross earnings tax is a tax on gross sales and receipts, with no credits . . .no deductions or exemptions. . .and that the gross earnings tax is collected from a company which does not show a net income as well as one that does.

He reported that, on approximately equal gross revenues, some trucking companies in Minnesota are paying taxes at only about 10 per cent of the amount paid by the railroads for support of government, as well as having their right-of-way maintained at taxpayer expense.

Forbes reviewed the land grant myth, pointing out that the railroads have paid back to the federal government 10 times the original value of the land grants given, and he further stated that land grants only accounted for about 10 per cent of the track mileage in the United States.

Forbes indicated that a further imbalance in taxation of railroads and further regulatory restrictions can only lead to a further curtailment of railroad service and hamper the opportunity for industrial growth and jobs in Minnesota.

UND Will Offer Ten Workshops

Ten workshops and institutes covering subjects ranging from driving safety to linguistics will be offered at the University of North Dakota during its 1972 summer session, which begins June 19.

Descriptions of these programs and listings of their directors are included in the current summer session catalog, according to Dr. John Penn, summer session director. Information about the university, fees, housing and food service is also available.

Highway Access Is Important To State's Industry

Rural residents know that their prosperity relies heavily on adequate highways. This is particularly true when firms consider building or reloacting in out-state areas like Thief River Falls and surrounding communities.

A survey was recently conducted of the nation's 700 largest corporations. It disclosed that every one of those firms attaches continuing or increasing importance to highway access when they consider selecting new plant sites.

Interpretation of the poll's results indicated that highway transportation is considered vital in consumer industries where quick access to the important Interstate highway complex may mean that a product can reach from half to two-thirds of the U. S. population market overnight by truck.

Harry Heltzer, chairman and chief executive of the 3M company, said that it is his firm's policy to locate plants in rural communities, but that good transportation was the "basic requirement to make such plant location workable."

According to a recent report of the Upper Great Lakes regional commission, charged with devising plans and programs to bring prosperity to northern regions of the U.S., the development of new and improved highway systems is regarded as the cornerstone of its mandate to stimulate economic growth.

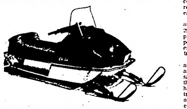
Although the interest of smaller communities centers upon the employment that a new industry can provide, there are also far-reaching benefits, not so readily apparent. A new industry attracts new, smaller businesses to the community, providing still more jobs and income. It dilutes the individual's share of the community tax burden, and becomes a source of new revenue for civic improvements and services. More often than not, a new industry brings in its train pension plans, discount privileges, and recreation programs of interest and benefit to the community as a whole.

Minnesota is the home of fourteen of the naton's 500 largest corporations and two of the country's largest banking organizations. Minnesota's highway systems can be credited with much of that including attracting the interest of corporations from foreign countries. At the ground breaking coromony for the Swedish Vademecum plant in Jonathan, Minn. not too long ago, Ruben Nielsen, the firm's engineer in charge of international technical operations, cited the reasons for selecting Minnesota as the site of the first Vademecum investment in the U.S. He said "Highways are important to a firm that trans ports products. We like what we see (here) and what we know of your construction plans."

Figures published by the state Department of Economic Development last year revealed that rural areas outside of the seven county, Twin Cities metropolitan area were the beneficiaries of seventy per cent of investments made in new plant facilities, and of over eighty per cent of the investment made in expanded plant facilities in Minnesota. It is estimated that this unprecedented investment in rural economic growth, dependent in no small measure on efficient highway transportation, created about 7,000 jobs, to say nothing of the less apparent benefits accompanying them.

While the ultimate goal of the state highway department is to provide all 854 communities on the trunk highway system with a nine-ton, all-weather, non-restricted highway link to better markets, half of the $100 million needed to finish current programmed improvements is presently unavailable.

PANTHER for 1973 includes such features as full-view instrumentation, a shock-valve mounted suspension system and a sleek, air flow hood. Panther is the top machine in the 1973 Arctic line.



CHEETAH for 1973 has functional styling changes including a sculptured air-flow hood and structural "V" belly pan, as well as shock-valve mounted suspension system and riveted aluminum chassis. Cheetah is Arctic's intermediate model.

Tire Council In Accord With DOT On Tire Registry

Chairman of the tire industry safety council today urged all motorists to make sure their names and addresses are properly recorded when they buy new tires, as recommended in a recent public advisory by the government.

"We urge all motorists to follow the advice given them by the national highway traffic safety administration on the new tire identification and record-keeping system," said Ross R. Ormsby, chairman of the council.

NHTSA administrator Douglas W. Toms recently cautioned each tire buyer to make sure that the seller's records are completed "for his own protection."

Federal regulations now require tire sellers to record the identification number of all tires made after May 22, 1972, together with the name and address of the purchaser, and return the information to the manufacturer or his record-keeper. If a safety defect is discovered later, within a group of tires carrying certain identification numbers, purchasers of tires with similar numbers are notified by certified mail.

"The tire manufacturers are doing their part to make the system work," Ormsby declared, "but we must have the cooperation of tire purchasers, retailers and everybody else in the chain of distribution.

The new type identification number, molded into the sidewall of the tire, identifies the manufacturing plant, the tire size, type and the week of manufacture. It might look like this: DOT CKL9 ABC152.

"DOT" means the tire meets or exceeds department of transportation safety standards. "CK" is the code number assigned by DOT to the manufacturing plant. "L9" is the tire size, in this case G78-14. "ABC" is a group of up to four symbols, optional with the manufacturer, to identify the brand, construction, design or other significant characteristics of the tire. "152" means the tire was made during the fifteenth week of 1972.

Record keeping is not required by law for tires manufactured before May 22, 1971. Many of those tires are still being sold.

"If the tire you buy has a new style identification number, make sure the seller writes down your name and address, and the identification number, on the registration form supplied to him and returns it to the manufacturer," Ormsby said.

"In the unlikely event that a safety defect is discovered later in that batch of tires, the manufacturer will notify you by certified mail," he explained.

Under the law, the registration forms must be filled out everywhere tires are sold, including service stations and department stores as well as tire stores.

State Helps To Bring Ambulance Service To Date

Efforts of the state of Minnesota have helped to bring modern ambulance services which meet federal standards to more than 100 communities, commissioner of public safety W. R. Hoaglund pointed out today. There are now 110 such ambulances serving Minnesota communities. The ambulances, in the $8,200 to $12,500 price range, are purchased by the communities, with federal reimbursement of up to $6,000 each.

"These and approved private ambulance services now number 290 in the state and operate approved vehicles, staffed by personnel who have received emergency medical services training.

"The purchase of ambulances and emergency medical training are part of the federal highway safety program administered by the Minnesota department of health. The department of transporation recognized at the outset that prompt, expert emergency service is an important factor in reducing highway deaths."

Hoaglund noted that a Michigan study had concluded that improved emergency service would have saved the lives of one out of five of the victims studied.

"The ambulance program in Minnesota began in 1968. It had the effect not only of placing new ambulances with trained personnel in many rural centers, but also of stimulating improvement of other existing ambulance services. There is reason to believe that we are beginning to feel the effects of this in our rural highway death rate, though it is too early to measure them accurately.

"The state health department is now engaged in two projects to make the ambulance services more effective. The first is improved communications. About 75 per cent of the new ambulances are radio-equipped for communication with the local sheriff or police department. The aim is to increase this type of communication and to establish radio communication between the ambulance and the hospital. About 40 hospitals now have such communication with ambulances, permitting consultations between staff doctors and ambulance personnel on difficult problems, and alerting of staff members to emergencies.

"The second objective is the establishment of emergency services in hospitals at strategic locations throughout the state, so that accident victims can be taken quickly to emergency rooms where doctors are always on duty or on quick call. The goal is to have about 70 to 75 such emergency centers, which in some areas would materially improve an accident victim's chances of survival."

Hoaglund pointed to a recent report on the state of ambulance services nationally which called trauma a "neglected epidemic," and charged that in some states only half the ambulance attendants have had any first aid training whatever. "Evidently Minnesota is ahead of most states in meeting and solving this and other emergency services problems," he commented. "All of our ambulance personnel are trained, and the training program is on a continuing basis aimed at upgrading the personnel."

HIS FEET ARE ON THE GROUND!

This man can see for many, many miles, but he's not up in the clouds; his feet are on the ground!

The Church gives man stability too—a broader vision. It lifts up his eyes to see God and the eternal values of love, truth, justice and service which God inspires. It gives him a divine perspective from which to view his job, his family, his country—his life!

But the Church always keeps that man's feet on the ground! It accepts him for what he is—regardless of the clothes he wears or the job he holds. It looks evil in the face and sees it for what it is—a devilish cancer which only God can cure. It keeps a man's feet on the ground while it lifts up his eyes to see beyond the horizon.

And this is what the Church can do for you! It can give you greater vision. But it's not up in the clouds. It keeps your feet on the ground!

"Though I am much against too much spending, yet I do think it best to enjoy some degree of pleasure now that we have health, money and opportunity, rather than to leave pleasures to old age and poverty, when we cannot have them so properly." —Samuel Pepys

Another Good Show

Although we were personally unable to witness the presentation of "Li'l Abner" by the junior high school music department, all reports we have heard indicate that it was a fine production. We did see some of the art work required for the background and meet some of the characters when taking publicity photos.

Commendation is due to John Hustad and Anthony Ricci for their work in organizing, coaching and directing the production and to the students who sacrificed much personal time and devoted much individual effort to producing an enjoyable musical.

Although students seem to get younger and younger each year (as we grow increasingly older), they display exceptional maturity in the almost professional way in which they exhibit their talents. With such a high caliber of talent at the junior high school level, we can look forward to well-done senior high school musicals in future years.

Parole Abuses

In his budget testimony to the House sub-committee on appropriations March 2, J. Edgar Hoover expressed concern over abuses of probation and parole procedures. The late Mr. Hoover, as head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), cited a number of cases where repeated violators had been set free to prey upon other victims.

"An increasingly impatient public, suffering progressively more as victims of crime either indirectly as taxpayers or directly as personal victims," he said, "continues to ask the critical question of when responsible officials will adopt more realistic attitudes in dealing with the unreformed, unrehabilitated, repeating criminal offender.

"Overwhelmed by horrifying daily examples of abused parole, violated probation and ridiculed bail privileges, the law-abiding citizen understandably questions why we continue to permit the chronic law violator to perversely exploit every legal technicality and loophole to evade the fair administration of justice.

"Unless a realistic approach is soon adopted on a broad scale by everyone entrusted with the crucial responsibility of fairly, fully and impartially administering the whole gamut of leniency procedures, there will be increasing examples of impatient and enraged citizens tempted to take the law into their own hands, a development which will only add to the erosion of our cherished goal of peace in the streets and security in the home."

Later in his presentation, as he listed details of case after case, Hoover commented:

"A good reason why the public should be rightfully concerned over the ignoble character of many prematurely released repeating offenders to whom consummate violence appears to be a basic way of life, was exemplified in May 1971 by a Philadelphia hoodlum and narcotics addict free on bail in connection with charges of heroin and liquor violations. He not only used a gun stolen in a burglary to shoot an arresting police officer, but also attempted to use his own two-year old son as a human shield during a shootout with police."

Hoover also noted that "the generosity so often lavished upon repeating criminal offenders is not infrequently responded to with utter contempt" and cited a case in California where a 40 - year - old parolee said to be a "model prisoner" brutally murdered the man and woman who had welcomed him into their home.

A man who was free on $1,000 bond in Detroit while awaiting trial on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon shot and killed a Detroit policeman. The man had 14 previous convictions including one of manslaughter wherein he beat his common-law wife to death with his fists and a shoe and dumped her nude body into a bathtub. In spite of this, he was the frequent recipient of parole, probation and low-bail privileges.

"In another Michigan case," Hoover testified, "a perhaps typical criminal viewpoint was expressed by a Detroit holdup man who was arrested in January 1971 and reportedly admitted a dozen armed robberies in the Detroit area during the previous two years. This was a period when he was free on bond pending trial for another armed robbery which had been committed while he was serving a five-year probationary sentence for yet another holdup.

"The legendary 'dumb crook' designation obviously didn't apply to this veteran criminal, who reputedly confided to police who arrested him on the latest charge that he recognized he finally might go to jail and had committed a series of robberies while free on bond so that he could build up a 'nest egg' for his family before he was sent away."

Futility felt by law enforcement officials can be typified by an FBI officer in Washington, D.C., who apprehended two alleged bank robbers shortly after the robbery, recovering the suspected bank loot and two guns. He promptly delivered his prisoners for arraignment on the bank robbery charge.

Not many minutes later he saw the two men stride jauntily out of the courthouse—free on their own recognizance—while he was still engaged in filling out the necessary official papers recording the apprehension.

"Engulfed by such disgusting examples of misguided leniency and unsuccessful rehabilitation efforts, it is little wonder that clouds of fear shroud our communities and terrorize our citizens," he said.

We are sorry that death has silenced a most eloquent spokesman for law and order.

Decency Day

Hank Elhard of the Northome Record suggests a national Decency day and lists the following things that could be done to commemorate it:

Militants would declare a 24-hour moratorium on hurling obscenities and foul language at the police, or at anyone else who disagreed with them. Meaningful dialogue could take the place of acts of violence.

On Decency day no one would tell a dirty story—even for a laugh at a men's smoker or at a service club.

Bosses would not cuss out their employees, and employees would not mutter under their breath at employers.

Producers of suggestive, sexy motion pictures would close up for the day and go fishing. Purveyors of pornography could stay home and read a good book.

Everyone would respect the other fellow's property—not throw rocks through windshields or steal car stereos.

Mothers would refrain from screaming at their youngsters and fathers would cease knocking their children around.

Talk would center upon some creative things we could do in the name of decency; matters relating to housing, jobs and pay for those existing on the poverty level; to bettering our schools; to achieving a decent environment for everybody.

On Decency day everybody would be honest—no pilfering from stores, no cheating, and an easing off of lying—to expect it to stop completely may be too much to ask.

We would go into our churches or to some other quiet place and take at least five minutes to ask the good Lord to help keep us decent.

How refreshing it would be to have the winds of decency blow away, even for 24 hours, the polluted mental atmosphere that surrounds us!

Repaying The Debt

The following down - to - earth analysis of the relations existing between community and each individual in the community deserves careful thought and consideration. It is reprinted from the Pope County Tribune:

How many times have you heard someone make the statement that he or she doesn't owe his community a thing?

I take issue with anyone who makes such a statement. Just as we owe our nation something for the priviledge of living in a free society, so we also have an obligation to our community. Sometime ago, someone wrote these words and they apply to everyone:

"My community owes me nothing.

"If accounts were balanced at this date, I would be a debtor.

"All these years I have lived within the limits of the community and share in all its benefits. I have had the use of its library, park and public places; I have had the protection of its fire, police and health departments; its people, during all this time, have been gathering for me, from the four corners of the earth, food for my table, clothing for my body and material for my home.

"This community has furnished the patronage by which I have been successful in my business. It has furnished the best friends of my life, whose ideals have been my inspiration, whose kind words have been my cheer and whose helpfulness has carried me over the greatest difficulties.

"What shall I give in return? Not simply taxes; I want to give more; enough that I can rightfully say, 'This is my community'; so that I can take deserved pride in its prosperity, in the honors which come to its citizens and all that makes it greater and better.

"I can do this only by becoming a part of the community; by giving of myself. In that way only can I repay the debt I owe to my community."

The sparkling white sand beach is the number one attraction on "America's Riviera". Relax in the sun, sail from its shores, play in Gulf waters, fish in the surf, breathe deep the clean, fresh air.

In addition to every seashore resort attraction, the Mississippi Gulf Coast offers visitors 300 years of history dating back to the eras of the French explorers, Indians and pirates.

Lake City, the sparkling community of 4,000 perched on the shores of beautiful Lake Pepin, will celebrate two important events on Sunday, July 2.

One is the fact that Lake City is 100 years old this year; the other is the 50th anniversary of the birth of water skiing, a sport which Ralph Samuelson introduced on Lake Pepin in 1922. His exploits were described in an earlier segment of this series.

Starting the festivities will be the arrival of 200 canoes from a two-day excursion on the picturesque Cannon River. After that comes a parade and a spectacular water ski show honoring the founding—and the founder—of water skiing.

Lake City is the only Minnesota city on the shores of Lake Pepin which, with its mighty bluffs, competes with the Hudson's palisades and the Rhine Valley for top honors as a scenic wonder.

And from its crude beginnings as a muddy river landing, Lake City has developed into a beautiful community of fine homes, schools, churches, and an attractive retail shopping area comprising more than a dozen city blocks.

It is also the home for scores of pleasure boats—from small fishing craft and canoes to elaborate yachts—for which the town has provided a lovely, safe harbor.

As the geographical center of the famed Hiawatha Valley, Lake City is 70 miles southeast of the Twin Cities and 80 miles from LaCrosse, Wisconsin at the south end of the valley. Its huge marina and fishing dock attract anglers by the thousand each year, who seek the northerns, walleye, bass and panfish which abound in Lake Pepin.

In short, Lake City is a pleasant place to visit any time, but on July 2nd, it will be particularly exciting as history comes alive to entertain young and old alike.

HIPPY MADNESS STRIKES IN GAME DEPARTMENT

The game is called SWIVEL. The hottest, nuttiest body action game since Twister.

Four players pair off in teams. Then square off to shake and shimmy up a storm.

Six bowling-type pins set out on the vinyl game mat serve as the object to be swivelled at. Players buckle up to the striker cord, position the pendulum-striker in the center. And start to move.

Each team tries to knock over the other team's pins while protecting their own as best they can. Teamwork does it. If you can stay on your feet, and not fall down laughing.

New SWIVEL is a sure winner. Bound to shake up dull parties. Put more fun in family picnics. And move in to fill a gap in the informal, fun side of American social life.

Got hips? Get hip. SWIVEL!

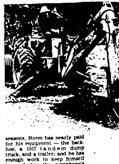
From Backhoe To Bach



RACINE, WISCONSIN — Can the nimble fingers of a violin virtuoso find peace and prosperity in the operation of a non-esthetic but very practical construction machine? Before you shake your head, consider Norm Gudmundson of Milwaukee, Wis.

Five years ago, Norm moved to Milwaukee from Waukegan, Ill. to take a job as a violinist with the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra. But since the position included employment for only 42 weeks of the year, with an average of about 20 hours of practice and performance per week, Norm also wanted part time work to utilize his free time as well as supplement his income. And for the extra dollars he needed, he turned to construction.

Construction? Right. And now with over four years of experience as an owner operator, Norm has developed his virtuosity on a Case Construction King model 530 backhoe/loader, a tractor designed to handle trenching, backfilling and loading.

Initially, he requested financial and operational instruction from Engine Power, Inc., the Case dealer in the area. After several months of close dealer contact, Norm was ready to go to work. But jobs came slowly and his patience was stretched. Again, Engine Power helped out with several job leads and, with the establishment of his reputation, Norm began to pick up the referral business so vital to the success of any owner-operator type firm.

After months of trial and error, Norm reached the point where his machine — and his newly developed ability — enabled him to not only make the payments on the Construction King but also to provide the additional income needed by a member of a metropolitan symphony orchestra.

Now, after four construction seasons, Norm has nearly paid for his equipment — the backhoe, a 1957 tandem dump truck, and a trailer; and he has enough work to keep himself busy during the symphony's off-season. He specializes in swimming pools, foundation excavations and open trenching. Working with several remodeling contractors and some residential builders, Norm finds these prime contractors to be the mainstay of his business.

Before Norm Gudmundson expanded his interests from Bach and Beethoven to the backhoe, his was a long 36 year love affair with classical music. Beginning as a violin student at the age of eight, he played in any orchestra and string group that would have him. His abilities are borne out by his engagements with the Chicago Civic Orchestra for two years, a four year sojourn with the Denver Philharmonic Orchestra, ten years as concert master at Waukegan, and now five years with the Milwaukee Symphony.

While Norm still maintains and improves his musical abilities, he also enjoys the excavating business. He explains that it gives him a refreshing and profitable sideline and keeps him alert and active. Since no two jobs are alike, boredom is no problem. Norm especially likes the operation of the backhoe and its hydraulic controls. In fact, he notes that his need for concentrating on his music is enhanced by the development of his powers of concentration on the Construction King.

Operating a backhoe can help with your performance as a fiddler? Sure, just ask Norm Gudmundson.

How's Your Health

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Association.)

Carelessness with the barbed hook causes most fishing accidents, but most of them can be avoided by a few simple safety measures.

Do not leave lures and hooks unprotected. Be extremely careful when baiting your hook or removing a fish. Train yourself to look for spectators or fellow fishermen before you cast to make certain no one is in your way.

Lures and hooks left lying unprotected on a dock or in the bottom of the boat are particularly threatening. The wise fisherman guards against hook accidents by shielding the hook. Stick a small cork over the barb. Store your lures in the tackle box until needed and always promptly return them to the box when they are not in use.

Get a firm grip before dislodging a hook from a fish. Hold the fish firmly under the gills so that its head cannot flop or wiggle.

"Sidewinders" who cast with a side arm motion rather than overhead, are responsible for many hook accidents to their fellow fishermen. Watch out for persons near you when you cast and learn to cast overhead.

If a hook becomes imbedded in your skin despite precautions, don't try to pull it out. See your physician. He will snip off the shank and push it through causing less further damage to already torn flesh. If necessary, he will administer antibiotics and tetanus toxoid. Hook wounds often lead to infection.

Fishing is good for body and spirit, says the Minnesota state medical association. It gets you out in the fresh air and sunshine, clears the cobwebs from the mind and helps you recoup from a hard week at the office. Do not let an accident spoil your day.

Questions and Answers

Internal Revenue Service

Q— How do price commission regulations control a business's profit margin?

A— A firm may not increase prices if it would result in an increase in its profit margin over the average profit margin which prevailed during the firm's best two out of the past three fiscal years ended prior to Aug. 15, 1971. This is true even if the firm had allowable cost increases that would otherwise justify a price increase.

Q— Do pay board regulations treat merit plans written into union contracts any differently from those plans not covered by collective bargaining agreements?

A— No. Similar treatment is afforded each group. Under new pay board regulations merit plans in existing contracts and certain non-union merit programs may continue to operate without regard to the 5.5 per cent standard—subject to challenge—until they expire. To qualify for this treatment, the contract or merit program had to have been in effect on Nov. 13, 1971. In the non-contract case the total sum to be expended for merit raises must have been finally determined prior to Nov. 14, 1971 and communicated to management personnel charged with implementing the pay adjustments or the employees affected. These conditions must be adequately documented.

The new regulations also provide for a special exception for certain qualified merit plans which permits increases up to seven per cent. This exception relates to merit plans which are carried over in successor labor contracts or pay practices. In either case, to qualify for the seven per cent exception, the contract or pay practice must have been in writing on Nov. 13, 1971 and must meet several other conditions. Increases through merit plans which do not qualify for special treatment under Pay Board regulations are subject to the 5.5 per cent general wage and salary standard.

Q— Do you have any publications describing what controls have been placed on construction industry pay increases?

A—Yes. Write your IRS district office and ask for a free copy of IRS Publication S-3012, "Construction Industry Pay and Price Controls."

Q—Must a department store with a candy department post the prices of all its candy?

A— Yes. Candy is a food product and a department store, even though not a food retailer, must post the prices of all such items.

Q— Is there any requirement for a minimum amount of money in controversy in order to get into Federal district court to file a treble damage suit for a price or rent overcharge?

A— No. Under the Economic Stabilization Act, any person who has been victimized by an intentional violation of price or rent regulations may sue in the appropriate U.S. district court regardless of the amount of money in controversy. For more information on legal actions under the Economic Stabilization Act by private citizens, see IRS Publication S-3008, "Enforcement Provisions of Economic Stabilization." It's available free by dropping a postcard to your IRS district office.

Q— Is the charge made by a bank to depositors for checks drawn on accounts with insufficient funds a price and thus subject to the Economic Stabilization Regulations?

A— Yes. Price is defined as any compensation for the sale of any service and includes fees, charges, etc., regardless of form. The charge in question is the price which a bank charges its customer for the additional service provided when the check of a depositor is presented and there are insufficient funds in his account.

Experiments carried out in 1943 showed that nerve messages travel at a maximum speed of 265 miles an hour and are slowed up by only 15% with advancing age.

Cash Livestock Receipts Total All-Time Record

Cash receipts from marketing of meat animals by Minnesota livestock producers in 1971 were an all-time high record $[illegible], reports Agriculture Commissioner Jon Wefald. That topped the old mark set in 1970 by $71,659,000.

Commissioner Wefald said that is just one of several records revealed for the state's livestock industry by the State Federal Crop and Livestock Reporting Service of the Minnesota Department of Agriculture for 1971.

Minnesota farmers marketed a record 2,191,544,000 pounds of cattle and calves, live weight, besting the old high set in 1965, and received record cash receipts totaling $592,154,000, topping the 1970 record by nearly $100 million.

The average price farmers received last year for live calves, $40.60 per 100 pound also is an all-time high since detailed record keeping began in 1924.

A reverse record, the low since 1941, was the $11,589,000 gross cash receipts from marketing of sheep and lambs. The 49,786,000 pounds live weight marketed was the lowest volume since 1929.

Pork producers collected $244,376,000 in cash receipts, the lowest since 1968 although the combined live weight of hogs and pigs sold, 1,396,382,000 pounds, was the biggest volume since 1964.

Commissioner Wefald said the average cattle price paid Minnesota producers last year was $26.80 per 1000 pounds live weight, up $1.30 from 1970 but still $1.40 less than the all-time high of $28.80 the state's beef producers received 20 years earlier. Hog prices during 1971 averaged $17.50 per 100 pounds live weight, $4.70 below the previous year and the lowest average since 1964.

Sheep prices last year were $5.90 per 100 pounds live, lowest average since 1961 and the $25.80 average for lambs was the lowest since 1968.

In national ranking of all states for 1971 meat animal production Minnesota was 8th in cattle, 23rd in calves marketed, 8th in total tonnage of cattle and calves, 9th in cash receipts from cattle and calves; 10th in sheep, lambs and pounds marketed; 9th in cash receipts from sheep and lambs; 6th in numbers marketed, gross weight and cash receipts from marketing of hogs and pigs.

Minnesota Has High Percentage Of Grain Stocks

Minnesota had 12.6 per cent of the nation's total stocks of seven major grains and 15.2 per cent of the nation's stocks of three principal feed grains on April 1, according to the state-federal crop and livestock reporting service of the Minnesota department of agriculture.

The quarterly report shows Minnesota had the nation's biggest inventories of total stocks of oats, flaxseed and rye, and that for on-farm storage Minnesota led all states in stocks of oats.

Minnesota's April 1 stocks represented 36.5 per cent of the flaxseed, 29.8 per cent of the oats, 27.4 per cent of the rye, 21.5 per cent of the barley, 11.4 per cent of the corn, 7.5 per cent of the soybeans and 4.6 per cent of the wheat, in all positions in the nation.

Totaling 781,826,000 bushels, Minnesota's grain stocks this April 1 were 15.6 per cent greater than a year ago. Stocks of feed grains—corn, oats and barley—were 18.7 per cent higher than last year totaling 661,205,000 bushels.

Bushel quantities of Minnesota's grain stocks April 1, in the combined storage facilities of farmers, country elevators, federal bin sites, country processors and in Minneapolis, St Paul and Duluth terminals were:

Corn [illegible], up 76,218,000 from 1971; wheat, 55,855,000, up 21,807,000 from 1971; oats, 218,101,000 up 20,443,000 from 1971; barley, 61,011,000, up 2,541,000 from 1971; rye 13,400,000 up 1,366,000 from 1971; soybeans, 41,095,000 down 24,110,000 from 1971 and flax seed 10,202,000 down 1,515,000 from 1971.

Consider Zipper Most Cherished Of Conveniences

Next to the wheel, zippers might be considered one of the most cherished conveniences of technology. A professional appearance can be given to zipper application, says Sarah Cox, University of Minnesota clothing teacher.

Although a wide variety of colors, weights, sizes and even types of zippers are on the market, the seamstress needs to select the one most appropriate for her garment. In addition, she needs a zipper foot attachment and possibly one with two tunnels for hidden application.

The zipper should be preshrunk in lukewarm water and dried before inserting, says Miss Cox. Following the printed instructions on the zipper folder, either the slot or lapped method of application is used. Stitching in the slot method is an equal distance from each side. In the lapped method, stitching is close to the zipper's teeth on one side. The other seam completely covers the zipper application.

When sewing on wool or a high fashion fabric, the zipper is frequently finished by hand. The tiny pick stitches on the right side of the fabric are less conspicuous than machine stitching.

The technique is a small back stitch. In heavy materials, the stitches might be ¼ inch apart. In lightweight materials it is necessary to place them closer together. Napped or pile fabrics hide the stitches.

Except for the final outside stitching, follow the directions on the zipper package. Usually a matching thread, one shade deeper is preferred over lighter thread. If there is a choice, heavy duty mercerized thread will add strength. Regular weight thread can be strengthened with beeswax. On a wool, silk buttonhole twist is appropriate.

The hand stitching gives a custom finish and more flexibility to the zipper. Many dress designers use the hand stitching technique on fine wools, velvet, corduroy and fake fur. It also works well on luxurious fabrics of taffeta, crepe, silk and lace.

Board & Teachers In Final Agreement

HONOR SOCIETY students in the 1972 graduating class at Goodridge high school were announced recently by Dr. David Brown, superintendent of schools. Clockwise from upper left are Aldon Hyland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hyland of Goodridge; Kenneth Hovet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Obert Hovet of Goodridge; Mary Ann Walberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Walberg of Grygla; and Michael Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hanson of Goodridge. Kenneth Hovet was selected from the National Honor society students to give the commencement address for the class at graduation exercises on Friday.

Following authorization by a majority vote of the Thief River Falls school faculty and the board of education Wednesday afternoon and evening, financial settlement of teacher negotiations for the next two years has been reached in the Thief River Falls district.

Under terms of the agreement, total increase for salary and benefits will be $99,651.18 (4.5 per cent) for the 1972-73 school year and $120,334.34 (5.2 per cent compounded) for the 1973-74 school year. The dollar increases are obtained by applying the percentage to the present total of salaries and fringe benefits of $2,214,470.85.

The $2,214,470 total includes $1,930,000 in salaries for 198 teachers including seven non-degree teachers; $31,076 in extra-curricular salaries; $99,975.67 in extended contracts (beyond 185 days); $26,201 for vocational center (supplementary); $33,719 for summer school; $9,172 for summer school Title I; $11,955 for swimming; $2,389.50 for homebound; $14,403.80 for driver education; and $55,577.64 for health insurance.

Under terms of the agreement, base salary will increase from $7,120 this year to $7,200 in 1972-73 and $7,500 in 1973-74. Analysis of the present teaching staff shows 15 teachers on the BA lane with no previous experience and 18 in their second year of teaching. In the seven salary lanes there is a total of 62 teachers who have reached the maxiumum salary in the respective lanes. These include the following: BA (11), BA+15 (12), BA+30 (14), BA +45 (17), MA (2), MA+15 (3) and MA +30 (3).

Resolutions presented by the teachers' negotiating council on Wednesday indicated that a meeting was held at 4 p.m., with 125 of 149 teachers voting being in favor of accepting the salary proposals and 25 opposed. The faculty negotiating team was also authorized by the teachers to complete and finalize negotiations for the remainder of the master contract, and the negotiating chairman and co-chairman (Donald Hejlik and Walter Redinger) were authorized to sign the master contract when final agreement was reached as to its terms, but not prior to July 1.

The board approved a memorandum of understanding". . . .to authorize the president of the board and the clerk of the board to enter into a binding agreement on behalf of the board of education that the total amount of salary and benefit increases do not exceed $99,651.18 for 1972-73 and $120,334.34 for 1973-74."

Board Statement

"The main change in negotiations this year was the approach of a reasonable, negotiated percentage incrase on behalf of both the teachers and the board," stated Maynard Wedul, board president. "Both groups negotiated in good faith and a principle policy for future negotiations has been established.

"Because of the procedure of getting the salary schedule settled for a two-year period, we as a board feel that the teaching

Men Arrested For Smuggling Bogus $20 Bills

Canadian customs officials arrested a former Thief River Falls resident, Rocky J. Zitzow, and William E. Gray, both of East Grand Forks, Wednesday for attempting to smuggle nearly $13,000 in counterfeit American money into Canada.

Authorities at Emerson, Man. said that they apprehended the 19 year old youth after Zitzow apparently dropped $7,000 in bogus American twenty dollar bills.

Customs officials summoned Royal Canadian Mounted Police who searched the young men's car and found another $5,740 and a .22 caliber revolver, a weapon restricted in Canada.

A total of 637 bills was recovered and was believed to have been printed using a photographic process in an East Grand Forks print shop where Zitzow was employed.

Authorities have speculated that the young men intended to convert the counterfeit money to Canadian currency which they would take back to the U. S.

Arraignment was held in Provincial Magistrate's court in Morris, Man., for introducing counterfeit currency into Canada and possession of a restricted weapon. Both men were ordered held in custody. According to the RCMP, both are in jail in Winnipeg and no hearing to set bail has been held.

Frank D. Shockleys To Live In Thief River Falls

Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Shockley are at home in this city following their recent wedding at St. Joseph's Catholic church in Middle River.

The bride, the former Shirley A. Nelson, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nelson of Middle River. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Shockley, Sr., of Petersburg, Va.

Rev. John Dullea officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar graced with baskets of yellow and green carnations, accented by white gladioli and pompons, and yellow bows. Miss Theresa Morrissey was the organist. She played the traditional nuptial selections and accompanied the assembled guests as they sang the congregational hymn.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor-length, empire fashioned gown of white organza over taffeta. The gown featured a portrait neckline and long sleeves that tapered to a point at the wrists. Delicate lace, re-embroidered with seed pearls, graced the front of the bodice. Matching appliques were scattered across the front of her A-line skirt. Her chapel-length veil of nylon tulle, edged with matching lace, was held by a double satin bow trimmed with lace. She carried a cascade arrangement of white camellia and pompons with yellow carnations.

Miss Beverly Nelson, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She was attired in a floor-length gown of yellow satinette with a yellow ribbon marking the raised waistline. To complete her attire, she wore a yellow bow head piece and carried an arm styled bouquet consisting of a yellow carnation with a pale green bow and streamers. Wearing similar attire, only in mint green, were the other attendants: Renae Nelson, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Gene Engen of Gatzke, a close friend. Each carried a long-stemmed mint green carnation with yellow bows and ribbon streamers.

Attired like the bridesmaids and carrying a basket of flowers was Anne Marie Adamski of Strandquist, a cousin of the bride, who was flower girl. The rings were carried on a lace trimmed satin pillow by Brent Peterson, a cousin of the bride.

Kenneth Nelson, a brother of the bride, was best man. Groomsmen were Joseph Stahl of Goodridge, friend of the groom, and Jerry Nelson, brother of the bride. The ushers were Harley Lambert of Thief River Falls, a friend of the groom, and Ronnie Nelson, brother of the bride. The men of the wedding party wore black tuxedos with yellow carnation boutonnieres. The groom's boutonniere was a white carnation.

The mother of the bride was attired in an apricot A-line dress with a matching corsage of double cymbidium orchids and white ribbon bows.

The mother of the groom was unable to attend the ceremony. Special guests were Mrs. Emma Nelson, grandmother of the bride, who was presented with a corsage similar to the one worn by the bride's mother, and Mrs. Bonnie Folden, the bride's personal attendant.

Following the ceremony, the parents of the bride hosted a reception in the church parlors. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, served as host and hostess. Lila Jensen, aunt of the bride, registered the guests.

Mrs. Ernest Peterson and Mrs. George Kuznia cut and served the three-tiered wedding cake decorated with yellow roses and topped by a miniature bride and groom. Pouring were Mrs. Steve Adamski and Mrs. Morris Moen. All are aunts of the bride.

Tracey and Paula Nelson, nieces of the bride, distributed the groom's cake, as Helen Kuznia, cousin of the bride, and Jeanie Nelson, niece of the bride, served the punch. Waitresses were Susan Adamski, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Larry Korpi, friend of the couple. Serving the head table were Celka Pulczniski and Mrs. Bob Hanson. Mrs. Chester Camp, a friend, and Sharon Moen, a cousin of the bride, arranged the gifts.

The bride is a graduate of the Middle River Community high school and the Thief River Falls area vocational - technical school. Prior to her marriage, she was employed by Blue Shield of Minneapolis. The groom is a graduate of the high school at Petersburg, Va., and has served four years in the U.S. Navy. He is presently employed by Arctic Enterprises, Inc., in this city.

Joyce Dalzell Has Scholarship

Joyce Dalzell, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Floyd Dalzell of Thief River Falls, was recently selected as recipient of the Trinity Alumni scholarhsip awarded at the honors convocation of Trinity college, Deerfield, Ill.

The scholarship is awarded to a returning student who, in the opinion of the student body and the faculty, has been outstanding spiritually, academically and in campus activities.

The percentage of their disposable income American families spend on food is expected to drop this year (1972) from the 1971 rate of 16 per cent to around 15.5 per cent, according to the U.S.D.A.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

Mrs. Frank Hobbs
Cando, N.D.

A broken fingernail and the search through a cluttered purse for a fingernail file led to today's recipe for Kitchen Karnival.

"Ofta" as the Swede would say, that purse was a mess. With more compartments than most, it was filled with everything from countless grocery slips, expired coupons, clippings, recipes and letters to pieces of string and swatches of fabrics to be matched. Numerous compartments may be a selling point when shopping for a purse, but they are a definite downfall for a woman with the same instincts as a packrat. Tucked safely in a seldom used section, so as not to bend the picture, was a personal letter from Mrs. Frank (Blanche) Hobbs, a former Thief River Falls resident now living at Cando, N.D. She was announcing the adoption of Lee Soon Hee of Seoul, Korea.

The Hobbs family lived in this city for a number of years while Mr. Hobbs served as Pennington County Agent. While living here, they had three children, James, Jerome and Janelle. After moving to North Dakota, a son, Kelly, was born. With James and Janelle married and Jerome working away from home, the Hobbs decided to share their home with someone less fortunate.

Lee Soon, now Kim Lee, arrived in Minneapolis on December 30, with 15 other orphans. Catholic sisters served as escorts. Dressed only in indoor clothing, and in below zero weather, Kelly loaned Kim his jacket until she was fitted with proper winter clothing. Although she was very frightened at first, she has adjusted very rapidly, according to Mrs. Hobbs. She is attending special education classes and her teacher informed the Hobbs that they think she will be able to do fourth grade work next year. Although she is nine years old, Kim Lee is a small girl and wears size 6X dresses.

Mrs. Hobbs enclosed a photo of their newly adopted daughter, but due to the type of coloring, the picture wasn't suitable for printing. Anyone interested may see the picture at the Times. Kitchen Karnival extends best wishes to the Hobbs family and welcomes little Kim Lee into this country.

Mrs. Hobbs' recipe is one she gave me while living in this city.

To Study Women As "Minority" In "U" Program

Women as a "minority" in today's society will be studied in a two week workshop offered in June by the department of women's programs at the University of Minnesota.

Registration is under way for "Status and Role of Women," an interdisciplinary course for teachers and counselors which may interest others as well. Offered in cooperation with the college of education, the program has been designed to deal with the current concern for the status, roles and functions of women in contemporary society.

The couse will run from 9:30 a.m. to noon, Monday through Friday, from June 19 through June 30.

Professor Clarke A. Chambers, chairman of the department of history at the U of M, is coordinating instructors from the fields of education, history, psychology, sociology, American studies and others. Chambers himself will lead the session dealing with the history of women. A panel of women representing different life styles is expected to be a highlight of the course.

Professor Lorraine (Sunny) Hansen, of counseling and student personnel psychology, will head three sessions dealing with counseling of women June 27, 28 and 29.

Tuition is $45, and the course may be audited or taken for three credits in education. It will be held in room 225 of the food science and industries building on the St. Paul campus.

For registration or further information, contact the Department of Women's Programs, 220 Wesbrook Hall, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, 55455; or phone 612-373-9743.

Dandelion Is Bane To Lawns, Blessing To Bees

Lawn manicurists and beekeepers will have divided attitudes on a forecast by the Minnesota department of agriculture that the belated blooming of dandelions should happen this week, more than two weeks later than usual. Farmers also were warned to prepare for three major insect problems.

While it signals the beginning of the annual weed and insect war for farmers and gardeners the traditional harbinger of spring—the dandelion—will help end a serious food supply and economic problem for Minnesota's important honey industry.

Director Clare Floyd of the plant industry division of the Minnesota department of agriculture, issuing the initial state pest report of the season, reported overwinter bee losses have been excessive due to weather and plant conditions last fall and the unusual delay this spring in plant life rejuvenation.

"Losses of 25 to 45 per cent of the bees in many of the commercial honey production colonies are common this spring. Most losses occurred in February and March due to starvation. Prolonged cold, moist weather this spring forced many beekeepers into a feeding program," director Floyd said.

U of M Students Will Live In Eskimo Village

An expedition of University of Minnesota students will spend six weeks this summer at a primitive Eskimo village near the Arctic circle.

Co-sponsored by "Modern Medicine" magazine and the Bell museum of Pathology, the Alaskan trip will be led by museum conservator Dr. Stacy B. Day.

The multidisciplinary group including three medical school freshmen, an institute of technology sophomore, and a biology senior, will leave July 1 for Anak Tu Vak pass in the Brooks mountain range, 200 miles southeast of Barrow.

They will be taking $5,000 worth of goods donated by Minnesota firms as a gift for the 200 Eskimos living in what has been called the last primitive enclave of traditional Eskimo life.

Jeff Sudeith, IT sophomore will be the base radio operator. Connie Stieger, biology senior will be studying the soil ecology of the area; and the medical students (Mark Bonnell, Renner Anderson and Paul Bubak) will be conducting physiological and psychological tests on themselves as they attempt to live by Minneapolis time during 20-hour periods of sunlight. One of the students, hopefully, will be able to live with an Eskimo family and share their diet and lifestyle.

University Will Offer Choice Of Grading System

A new grading system which eliminates "F" grades will go into effect this fall at the University of Minnesota.

Under the new system, the student's official transcript will record only the work the student has completed satisfactorily and for which he has received credit.

An N grade, which means "no credit," replaces both the traditional F and other grades whih indicated incomplete work, such as I for incomplete, W for "withdrawn from the course," and others.

These non-passing grades will be kept by the university on an internal record which will be sent to the student and his college office, but they will be erased when the student graduates.

Under the new system, a student has a choice of two grading systems. Under one, he registers for traditional A-B-C-D-N grades; under the other, the earns only an S indicating "satisfactory" or an N.

The S-N system, similar to the old "pass-no pass" grading, is to encourage students to enter new fields without the pressure of grades. Colleges may regulate the number and kind of courses a student may take under S-N.

The keeping of an official transcript and an internal record will be phased in over the next three years as the transcripts become computerized.

The new grading system was approved April 27 by the Twin Cities campus assembly of students and faculty members. During assembly debate on the proposal, Toni McNaron, associate professor of English and a member of the committee which proposed the grading system, said:

"Potential employers are more interested in a student's achievement than they are in symbols which are not relevant to work the student has completed."

Goodridge High School class of 1972

GOODRIDGE HIGH SCHOOL class of 1972 will receive diplomas at annual commencement exercises to be held Friday, June 2, at the Goodridge high school gymnasium. Kenneth Hovet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Obert Hovet of Goodridge, has been selected from National Honor society students to give the class address at the graduation exercises.

RETIRING after nearly 54 years with the Soo Line railroad, Eddie Clauson, 69, stands on the catwalk of one of the engines he has been responsible for maintaining as locomotive and car foreman in Thief River Falls where he has lived for the past 12 years. He started by working part time replacing men on section crews at Fordville, N.D., and now believes that he has been with the company longer than anyone presently employed. When asked what he intends to do now, Clauson cheerfully tells about the glads he recently planted and the gardening he is planning for the summer.

"Are You Putting Me On?" Is Seat Belt Slogan

Memorial day weekend will mark the beginning of a statewide campaign by the Minnesota state Automobile association(AAA) to encourage motorists to use seat belts. The slogan for their efforts will be "Are You Putting Me On?"

Ignoring seat belts is no laughing matter yet AAA has received some droll excuses from motorists who don't buckle up.

AAA asked a number of motorists who are hardened non-users of the belts what they had against them.

Sifted from the more commonplace excuses ("They're uncomfortable". . ."They're too much trouble", etc. were these replies:

From a high-fashion lady: "They wrinkle my dresses. . . and in a cape, they're just impossible!"

From a hypochondriac: "Well, I used to wear them but I developed this rash around my waist and I just know. . ."

From a chain-smoker: "I can't reach the ash-tray."

From a fatalist: "I've got a wife and seven kids and only two seat belts and I figure if they're all going to get killed I might as well get killed too."

It appears that motorists are mounting a defensive assault on seat belts.

A recent wire service story found evidence that new car owners are asking their dealers for instructions on how to disconnect seat belt warning devices required by the U.S. government on cars made after Jan. 1, 1972.

AAA says this is an ironic turn of events in light of the growing statistics that show seat belt users are far more likely to walk away from a car crash than non-users.

Data on actual crashes analyzed by researchers at the University of North Carolina's highway safety research center reportedly reveal that lap belts reduce serious and fatal injuries by 32 per cent in front-end crashes and 43 per cent in all types of accidents.

In a Swedish study some years ago, it was found that in 28,000 road accidents no fatalities occurred in crashes of less than 60 miles an hour when the occupant was wearing lap and shoulder belt combinations.

Even some officials at the National Highway Traffic Safety administration, which wants to replace seat belts with passive restraints—(protective devices requiring no action by an occupant), acknowledge that this move wouldn't be necessary if the nation's motorists would make a habit of using seat belts, according to AAA.

Garment Linings Add Smoothness

Struggle with a child over wearing a scratchy garment and you know the value of linings. They make clothes more conformable to wear and easier to slipon, says Sarah Cox. From a fashion standpoint, a contrasting lining in coats and suits can add excitement to apparel.

Linings are a quality factor. They lengthen the life of the garment and imporve the inside appearance. By concealing construction seams, a lining gives a smooth finish.

The University of Minnesota clothing teacher uses a lining to protect a garment from shape changing stresses and wear. It also can serve as a perspiration shield.

Lining and fashion fabrics should have the same care characteristics. Usually a lining which is lighter in weight and tightly woven for wear is selected. It should be opaque so construction doesn't show through.

Lining pieces are cut the same as the main garment, only one inch shorter in the skirt. Slippery fabrics can be pinned to tissue paper for easier cutting. Curves are staystitched and seams stitched with a loosened machine tension to prevent puckering. If the fashion fabric is bulky, darts can be stitched and pressed in the opposite direction.

The lining can be handled just as the garment, remembering that the finished lining is a reversal of the garment. The right and left sides will be opposite those of the garment, since the finished side of the lining faces the body.

Seams are matched and lining hand stitched along the zipper teeth, to keep it frm being caught. The lining is machine basted to the waistband allowance and waistband applied later.

For a dress lining, the garment is attached to the lining with machine basting at the neckline and armhole seams. Facings and the collar are applied as usual.

The lining should hang free from the finished garment at the hem. If the fabric isn't bulky, the lining raw edge is turned and machine stitched.

license for a Pizza Hut to be built near Barnick Furniture and Gibson's was referred to the chief of police for investigation.

The council heard a request for payment of more than $5,000 which Thief River Falls has owed to the Red Lake Watershed district since 1965. The council voted to pay the money and became the last group to meet its obligation.

The second reading was heard and approved of an ordinance to permit issuing licenses for the sale of 3.2 beer to establishments which have set-up licenses.

Donald L. Olson was present and stated that the county board of commissioners has received requests to permit sale of beer on Sunday. He wanted to know the position the council would take on the issue. He was told that the council was not in favor of Sunday beer sales.

It was mentioned during the meeting that the Kar-Basher will not be in Thief River Falls in May as previously announced.

A letter was received from Dr. Corliss, superintendent of schools, requesting that someone represent the city on a school district community contact committee. Bob Carlson, council president, appointed Mayor A. E. Jacobson to the position.

The council accepted an offer from Northland state junior college to use a student from August through November under a program at the junior college. The program permits students to work at a business or office to gain experience while earning college credit.

No date has been set for a meeting with city employees living outside the city limits.

VA Specialists To Visit NW Counties

A team of Veterans administration specialists will visit Pennington, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Roseau, Marshall and Red Lake counties the week of June 5 in a campaign to assist employers in developing GI bill on-the-job opportunities for returning servicemen.

The four-man team from the VA center at Fort Snelling will survey prospective on the job training employers in these counties. The VA is working closely with veterans employment representatives for the Minnesota department of manpower services and county service officers to help reverse the unemployment situation among young ex-GIs.

E. E. Lampe, adjudication officer for the VA, said that special help is available to any business establishment wishing to participate in the on-the-job training program but lacking the expertise in developing such programs. He said the VA people will survey training possibilities in these counties and help set up acceptable training situations.

At the same time, Lampe said steps are being taken to simplify the procedures for employers to follow in setting up veterans training programs.

Under approved programs, veterans are paid subsistence allowances while they are in training. The salary paid by the employer goes up as the trainee develops skills useful to the employer. When they begin job-training, veterans receive from their employer at last one-half of the normal salary for the jobs for which they are being trained.

In addition, the VA pays veterans with no dependents $108 per month the first six months of training, $81 the second six months, $54 the third, and $27 for the balance of the training period. Veterans with dependents receive higher payments from the VA.

Lampe said that prospective on the job training employers in Pennington, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Roseau, Marshall and Red Lake counties can get additional information or make contact with a member of the VA survey team by contacting the Minnesota veterans employment representative in Thief River Falls. The representative is Charles Josephson, telephone 218-681-1100.

Other contacts established for this campaign are the following county service officers:

Lewis R. Hill, Pennington county service officer, located in the court house in Thief River Falls, telephone 218-681-3550;

Harvey Nielsen, Kittson county service officer, located in the court house in Hallock, telephone 218-843-6531;

Expect Increase In Prices For Hogs And Pork

Price of hogs on the live market and the price of pork in the supermarket are expected to stay strong or increase slightly this summer, according to Kenneth E. Egertson, University of Minnesota extension marketing economist.

There was quite a drop in live and retail market prices from early February, when a high of $27 a hundredweight for hogs and 83 cents a pound for pork was reached, as compared to mid-May prices—about $24 a hundredweight for hogs and 76 cents a pound for pork.

Some price upturn has occurred and is expected to continue this summer due to total consumer demand for meat, which is running strong, and the supply of pork, which is lower than it was a year ago, Egertson reported.

Also, beef prices, continuing high through the summer, and consumer demand, remaining strong due to increased incomes, will tend to pull the demand for pork up quite a bit. Hog prices at the farm level could rise $1 to $2 a hundredweight from now until they peak in August, he added.

With high hog prices, some expansion in the supply of hogs can be expected. The supply of hogs in early 1973 likely will be more than the '72 level. "Some pressure on the price of hogs into 1973 can be expected unless producers hold the line on expansion and try not to increase production in response to the good prices we have been having," the marketing economist said.

Rail Official Says Tax Burden Is Too Heavy

A charge that Minnesota railroads are subsidized by a low tax rate "shows a surprising lack of understanding of the heavy state tax burden actually carried by the railroads," according to Louis W. Menk, chairman of Burlington Northern.

State Rep. and House majority leader Ernest Lindstrom at a meeting in Moorhead claimed that railroads are given "favored treatment" under a state consitution provision which taxes them at a fixed rate of five per cent on their gross earnings. He proposed repeal of the provision.

"Rather than being too low, Minnesota's tax on gross earnings is one of the highest in the nation," Menk said.

"The railroads this year will pay over $14 million to Minnesota. Burlington Northern alone will pay $6.2 million in gross receipts taxes, and an additional one million dollars in ad valorem and other taxes; a total of $7.2 million.

"In other states served by Burlington Northern," he said, "The average state tax is 3.35 per cent, as against five per cent in Minnesota. This high tax is applied on revenues of all cars loaded or unloaded here, and on those just passing through the state.

"It is a tax which must be paid in good times or bad without regard for the ability of the railroad to pay it. In addition to its low costs of collection to the state the tax has a built-in escalation factor, for as inflation forces up railroad costs, freight rates must be increased to meet them. Higher rates produce higher gross receipts, which in turn produce higher taxes for the state," Menk said.

By way of illustration, Menk said that in 1938, all of Minnesota's railroads paid $4.5 million in gross receipts taxes. In 1971 they'll pay over $14 million, an increase of 211 per cent.

Menk said that a 1956 survey made for the Minnesota tax study committee by the Minnesota railroads showed taxes per mile of railroad owned in various Midwest states to be:

Iowa, $742; North Dakota, $953; South Dakota, $417; Wisconsin, $823; and Minnesota, $1,496.

Board, Teachers Reach Financial Agreement Wed.

staff will be much more settled and this will make an ideal climate for the learning process and for the instructors.

"Another major principle is that the settlement is within the established guidelines of the state financing and federal guidelines.

"The entire board is very happy with the way negotiations were handled," the chairman added.

Faculty Statement

"Agreement of teachers and board as to salaries has been reached," stated Don Hejlik, chairman of the negotiating committee. "While salary figures are lower than teachers would have liked them to be, we are also aware of the problems of the board and community and feel that the compromise agreed upon is one which imposes no real hardships upon either teachers or community.

"Both board and teachers are concerned with the problem that this contract is for two years, and financial decisions reached now cannot be changed until 1974. For this reason, both board and teachers have proceeded quite cautiously and will probably continue to do so.

"Superintendent Corliss had been instrumental in making certain that actions were based on adequate and accurate data. His advice and assistance is greatly appreciated.

"Many other issues remain to be decided, and it is to be hoped that agreement on them can be reached with the same professional approach that was evident during the salary discussions. We appreciate the board's attitude of good faith as it has been evidenced thus far," he concluded.

185,725 Given Food Assistance In Minnesota

An estimated 185,725 low-income persons in Minnesota received food assistance during March from the U.S. department of agriculture in cooperation with the state departments of public welfare and public education, according to Dennis M. Doyle, Midwest regional administrator of USDA's food and nutrition service. This was a decrease of 275 persons from February.

The March total included an estimated 168,106 persons in 68 food stamp program areas. Minnesota participants paid $2,117,667 for food stamps valued at $4,028,197. The difference of $1,910,530 or bonus value of the coupons is USDA's contribution to the program. The bonus averaged $11.37 per person, compared with $11.49 in February.

In the food distribution program, 17,484 persons in 20 counties received nearly 483,000 pounds of some 21 nutritious foods free from USDA.

Pollution Control Agency To Identify Farmers' Feedlots

Minnesota pollution control agency (MPCA) will begin immediately a series of procedures aimed at identifying and registering all agricultural feedlot operations in Minnesota constituting potential pollution problems.

The MPCA board of directors voted May 22 to move ahead with public hearings throughout the state to determine the registration procedure to be used. It will take about three months to develop the conditions requiring registration, issue notice of hearings, conduct the hearings, evaluate testimony and then complete registration procedures.

The solid waste division of the MPCA staff, which administers the state's feedlot laws, estimates that about 19,000 feedlots exist in Minnesota. But division officials say that there may be more feedlot operations on the state's estimated 125,000 farms.

The registration program is designed to give the division an idea of how many of the 125,000 farms are potential polluters as a result of feedlot operations.

The registration may be set up on a county by county basis, by watersheds, size of operation or other methods, to be determined by the hearings.

State feedlot regulations became law in April, 1971, but compliance up to now has been primarily voluntary or a result of complaints. The registration program should be completed by Jan. 1, 1978, and most feedlots should be in compliance with agency regulations by 1980.

The agency board also has awarded a $14,000 regional contract to the Iron Range Resources & Rehabilitation Commission, Hibbing, to conduct a 7-county inventory of "junk cars" and other scrap metal over 1,000 pounds as a first step toward the ultimate collection and recycling of such scrap. The IRRRC is a state commission and has received approval from the seven northern counties involved to proceed with the inventory work and to obtain releases of the abandoned motor vehicles and other scrap so that it may eventually be collected and recycled.

The board also has given discretionary authority to Grant Merritt, MPCA executive director, to recommend legal action by Mower county against the city of Austin because of a sulfuric acid spill May 14 from the city power plant into the Red Cedar river which killed 461 fish and a duck.

About 3,600 gallons of the acid escaped from a tank valve into the river. Austin city officials blamed vandals, but MPCA regulations require that dikes or other containment devices must be constructed around such tanks. The agency staff has also notified Austin officials to proceed immediately to provide adequate safeguards to prevent a similar occurrence.

The agency board has also authorized expenditure of about $20,000 to conduct a feasibility study to determine whether automatic monitoring systems for sewage and industrial waste effluent should be set up statewide. Such a monitoring system would provide the agency staff with continuous data on effluent quality and would help determine compliance with established water and effluent quality standards. The feasibility study should be completed by next September 1.

The agency has also reached a compromise agreement with Northern States Power company (NSP) establishing a monitoring system for liquid and gaseous radioactive discharges from the NSP nuclear power generating plant at Monticello.

The system will link the Monticello plant with agency headquarters and will be programmed to set off a buzzer at the agency whenever radioactive levels reach a point requiring further inquiry by the agency. The company agreed to allow the agency to set its own level of concern which will trigger the alarm system.

Agency board member Harold Field Jr., emphasized that the agency's "level of concern" might not agree with NSP's, but that the company did agree to share fully any information with the agency whenever the agency so desired as a result of the alarm going off.

Merritt called the agreement a compromise, "but an important first step toward a complete electronic monitoring system."

Controlled Rent Units Subject To Authority

All questions on rental units controlled by the federal, state and local governments will be answered by the controlling government authority, according to George Lethert, IRS district director.

Rent on controlled residential housing can be raised above the base rent when authorized by a government rent control authority that is recognized by the price commission.

The laws, regulations and procedures of that particular government authority will govern the rent controlled units under its jurisdiction. All inquiries, requests for interpretations, and complaints regarding such rent controlled units, should be made directly with the appropriate government authority.

IRS will not be able to deal with this type of inquiry since it may not have sufficient information to correctly respond to the problems of citizens living in such units. Where assistance is requested IRS will work in direct cooperation with the government authority.

In Minnesota, the controlling government authority is the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). Its offices are located in the Griggs-Midway building, 1821 University avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota 55104. All questions on controlled rental units should be referred directly to the HUD office. The telephone number to call is (612) 725-4801.

The workshop last year attracted over 100 girls from 35 schools in the upper midwest and is geared for even more participation this year.

Professional cheerleading faculty will be supplied to the workshop by ICF of Kansas City, Missiouri and the workshop will explore new cheers, routines, planning of cheerleading skits, new ideas, chants, pep rallies, stunts and gymnastic routines.

All sessions will be conducted by teachers registered and trained by the ICF and a special feature of the workshop this year will be closed circuit video taping equipment that allows participants to see instant replays of their cheers.

The cheerleading workshop is held in conjunction with the BSC summer music clinic and director Dr. Theodore Thorson notes that the workshop can be beneficial to entire cheerleading squads. Cheerleading advisors are urged to encourage participation in the workshop, and some schools do assist girls financially to attend the workshop.

A typical day at the workshop would include instruction in tumbling and calisthenics from 8:30-11:30 a.m.; lunch; pom pon routines, cheers, tumbling and calisthenics from 1:30-4 p.m.; free time from 4-7 p.m.; pep rally planning, mass cheers and small group work 7-8:30 p.m. and clinic activities, dances, stunt nights, or concerts during the remainder of the evening.

Housing and food services are included in a $57 cost, with college personnel supervising most non-classroom activities. Cost of the workshop excluding housing and food is $27 for those who wish to commute. Further information is available from Dr. Thorson at BSC music department, 56601, (218-755-2915).

Lab Technicians Adapt Skills To Missile Repair

Dental laboratory technicians of the 123rd Medical Detachment clinic in Wurzburg, Germany, have adapted their skills in making false teeth to repair of hawk missile radar parts. In the process, they have also saved the army thousands of dollars.

When electrical insulators crack or break the circuit is shorted and the system is out of order. The situation is complicated by the fact that the insulators can not be reqpired by radar repairmen. Ordering the new part is not only expensive, costing about a thousand dollars, but time consuming and may take as long as a month or more to obtain the necessary item.

Four times during the past two years, dental technicians have bonded cracked insulators so they could be reused.

Some of the dental technicians in Wurzburg plan to use their skills learned in the army to open their own dental laboratories when they are discharged.

Army dental technicians are trained at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., in an intensive 16-week program qualifying them to make dentures, artificial teeth, crowns and bridges, formerly made only by dentists.

Anyone interested in this or similar training programs may obtain more information at 209 East Third Street in Thief River Falls from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. or by calling 681-1154 or 1161.

"Success in your work, in finding a better method, the better understanding that insures the better performing is hat and coat, is food and wine, is fire and horse and health and holiday. At least, I find that success in my work has the effect on my spirits of all these."
Ralph Waldo Emerson

Memorial Day

Our hat is off this week to the Veterans of Foreign Warrs post 2793 and particularly Paul Halvorson for the effort exerted to organize this year's Memorial Day program at the city auditorium. We know that attendance will be small and can appreciate what Paul went through in trying to get commitments from people to be on the program.

We will be among the many who will not attend the services, yielding to the lure of the long weekend and packing up the family for a trip out of town. It must be people like us that make the efforts of people like Paul so extremely frustrating.

Attend the services if you can. They are at 11 a.m. today (Monday) at the Thief River Falls city auditorium. But if you can't or won't attend, at least take a couple of moments to meditate about the sacrifices that have been made to give you that freedom of choice. Consider the men who have given their lives to preserve personal freedom for their countrymen.

There was a time not so long ago when the spirit of patriotism stirred more deeply in the people of the country. America is slow to remember and quick to forget. That is not the way it should be but the way it is. Our hope is that the reawakening does not come too late. We can help keep the spirit stirring by observing Memorial Day in some form or another.

Educated Man

"Educated modern man has 'enlightened' himself right into a nasty corner," states a promotional article for an American religious body.

"He was trained to think that the way to achieve intellectual freedom is to reject all certainties; that the less you're sure of, the smarter you are.

"And now he is discovering that doubt is a state of mind that's impossible to live with. So he clutches at every new cult idea that comes along—scientism, psychologism, existentialism, social action—in a futile effort to recover his lost serenity."

The article is entirely right. When man first establishes the things in which he doesn't bleieve, it is difficult to convert belief to other things. Doubt becomes a natural reaction and a life of doubt isn't much of a life at all.

"Are you very sure of what you don't believe and not at all sure of what you do believe?" the article continues. The question can be asked of ourselves by each one of us. The title of the article is a searching question: "If you're so enlightened, why aren't you happy?"

Home Grown Athletes

University of Minnesota publication from the athletic department contains a listing of university sports and the number of Minnesota athletes and out-of-state athletes in each.

"A frequent implication by detractors is that the rosters are dominated by out-of-state students at the expense of Minnesota boys," the article states. "Such is far from the case as proved by this summary of the 11 intercollegiate sports rosters for the 1971-72 year."

The listing then includes the following totals, with Minnesota athletes listed first and out-of-state athletes in parentheses: Football, 47 (23); basketball, 3 (10); hockey, 27 (2); baseball, 26(5); track, 26 (6); golf, 18(0); tennis, 9 (1); cross country, 15 (2); gymnastics, 26 (0); wrestling, 18 (1); and swimming, 37 (2).

Totals show that 252 athletes at the university or 83 per cent are Minnesota products and 52 are from out-of-state.

Emphasis is made by the article that "Minnesota is third in the Big Ten for 1971 season behind only Illinois and Ohio State in percentage of 'homegrowns' with 67 per cent. Eight of 11 Gopher starters on offense and seven of 11 starters on defense were from Minnesota."

A quick look at the list shows that golf, tennis, cross country, gymnastics, wrestling and swimming are dominated by Minnesota athletes. There are 123 Minnesotans and only six out-of-staters in these sports. Football, basketball, hockey, baseball and track have 129 Minnesotans and 46 out-of-state players on the roster.

To narrow down the situation even further, football and basketball have 50 Minnesota athletes and 33 out-of-state athletes. Which of Minnesota's intercollegiate sports have been the biggest trouble spots? Football attendance has been going down hill almost to the point of endangering the entire athletic program. The basketball brawl last year gave the university and the state a black mark throughout the country.

Minnesota has capable football players and adequate basketball players. Many of them are playing on teams which the University of Minnesota faces year after year, and they make their presence felt in those encounters.

Perhaps the point in question should be scholarship availability. Do players come to Minnesota from Illinois and Indiana and New York and Pennesylvania and other points in the United States and Canada on their own and decide to play a little ball while they are here? Or are they scouted and watched and recruited and offered financial assistance to wear the maroon and gold?

The answer is obvious. Out-of-state schools do the same thing when they woo top Minnesota athletes. But Minnesota has its share of non-residents in university athletics, and most of them aren't there by accident.

Revolutionary Idea?

Following editorial is from the Walsh County Record at Grafton, N.D.:

As we've pointed out before—and will continue to in the future—our national Capitol is awash with swarms of human locusts who keep themselves fat and sleek by extracting money—your money—from the federal bankroll. And there seems to be no end to the ways and means devised to drain dollars from your pocket.

Now comes a "National Commission on Venereal Disease" with proposals to "cure" VD. How? With your money, of course. And their brilliant proposals? More money in the millions of dollars for free government VD clinics and state laws which would prohibit parents from knowing that their under-age children have been infected and treated for VD.

If we may be permitted to interject a revolutionary idea: How about the people infected with VD paying their own bills for treatment? After all, no one gets VD accidently. Of all the diseases of mankind, this is unquestionably the easiest one to avoid. Why should those who choose not to expose themselves to the risk of VD be expected to pick up the financial tab for those who choose otherwise?

As for laws permitting physicians to conspire with under-age children not to inform parents of VD infection and treatment you, the taxpayer, will "secretly" pay for the doctor's bill and for medication. Does anyone really believe that such a measure will "cure" VD? Or is it not much more likely that such a measure would promote more promiscuous activity, cause more alienation between parents and children, and increase the rate of VD?

Get a pen, paper, envelope and stamp. Write to your Congressman.

Twisted Psalm

Whether the purported facts surrounding the discovery are real or not, the re-wording of the 23rd Psalm reportedly found in a closed car alongside a dead 23-year-old female heroin addict at Readsville, N. C., is appropriate warning to all would-be drug abusers. It was read into the Congressional Record by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina:

"King Heroin is my shepherd. I shall always want. He maketh me to lie down in the gutters.

"He leadeth me beside the troubled waters. He destroyeth my soul.

"He leadeth me in the paths of wickedness.

"Yea, I shall walk thru the valley of poverty and will fear no evil for thou, Heroin, are with me.

"Thy Needle and Capsule comfort me... Thou strippest the table of groceries in the presence of my family. Thou robbed my head of reason.

"My cup of sorrow runneth over. Surely heroin addiction shall stalk me all the days of my life and I will dwell in the House of the Damned forever."

Also found in the car with the dead woman was this written message:

"Jail didn't cure me. Nor did hospitalization help me for long. The doctor told my family it would have been better, and indeed kinder, if the person who got me hooked on dope had taken a gun and blown my brains out. And I wish to God he had. My God, how I wish it."

Borrowed Nonsense

A man says that this is a woman's world. When a man is born, they ask how the mother is feeling; when he gets married, they say the bride looks lovely; and when he dies, they ask how much he left her.

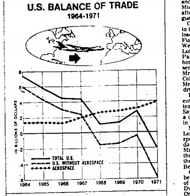
U.S. BALANCE OF TRADE
1964-1971



What does high-technology industry contribute to the United States?

The record of the U.S. aerospace industry indicates what the development and sale of aircraft, missiles, spacecraft and associated components and equipment have meant to the U.S. from a trade standpoint.

The United States closed 1971 with a foreign trade deficit of more than $2 billion. It was the first calendar year deficit since 1888. It it hadn't been for increasing aerospace sales we would have registered an annual deficit beginning in 1968.

NO ONE CAN SAY that Pennington county had a one-horse highway department in 1924. The above photo is proof that there were at least three horses involved in road work at that time. The picture is from a post card which was found during an inspection of the photo files of the Minnesota department of highways. There was no identification on the photo, according to Lloyd V. Gustafson, information officer for the state highway department. Anyone having positive identification is encouraged to call the Times office with that information, as well as the location where the picture was taken.

LHS Golf & Tennis Teams Win District 31 Titles

Lincoln high school athletes went two for two Friday afternoon as the Prowlers captured two district 31 tournaments.

Thief River Falls kept its record of never having lost a district tennis tournament intact as Whitey Olson's netmen tied heavily favored Crookston for the 1972 tennis title on the East Grand Forks courts, while Jack Boyer's golf squad edged runner-up Crookston for the district 31 golf crown on the Thief River Falls Golf Club course.

The Prowlers and Pirates each finished the tennis tournament with 12 points while host school East Grand Forks managed to score just one point.

Thief River Falls finished the 18-hole golf tournament with a low score of 224, with Crookston placing second at 228, followed by Red Lake Falls 238, East Grand Forks 242 and Warren 264.

Prowler senior Jay Moum was the district 31 medalist with a 70, finishing four strokes ahead of runner-up Len Gumlia of Crookston with a 74.

The Prowlers' four low scores were recorded by Moum with a 36-39-78. The other Prowler scores were turned in by Mark Metusalem, 42-39-81; and Jeff Bottem, 41-40-81.

Moem, Sorensen, Carlson and Penning will advance to the region eight meet at Bemidji, along with Gumlia (74) and John Kalin (76) of Crookston; Jeff Matt (75), East Grand Forks; and Charlie Keifenheim (76), Red Lake Falls.

Stellar Prowler tennis performer Mark Liden supplied Thief River Falls with an individual champion in the singles action as he easily swept by two Crookston opponents. The Prowler team captain avenged his only loss of the 1972 season by clobbering Brent Reichert 6-1 and 6-0 in the finals after drubbing Mike Wilkens 6-1 and 6-3 in the second round. Liden drew a first round bye after being seeded number one.

Tim Engelstad edged Wilkens 6-4 and 6-3 in a crucial showdown for third place in the singles competition as Engelstad scored the tieing 12th point in the final match of the tournament.

Engelstad advanced into the singles semi-finals with a 6-2 and 6-3 win over Bob Lagerway of East Grand Forks before losing to Reichert 6-1 and 6-2.

Other singles results found Wilkens beating Brad Chalmers of East Grand Forks 6-1 and 6-3 in the first round while Reichert drew a bye into the semi-finals. East Grand Forks scored its only point of the meet when teammates Lagerway and Chalmers faced each other for the fifth place spot, with Lagerway winning 6-4, 3-6 and 6-2.

Crookston's Pat Shannahan and Mark LePlante edged the Prowlers' Scott Lund and Jeff Wendt 6-4, 3-6 and 6-3 for the doubles crown.

Lund and Wendt advanced into the finals with a 6-3 and 6-1 triumph over Dave Gorman and Dave Roby of East Grand Forks in the first round. Crookston received a first round bye in the doubles action.

Thief River Falls will send its entire district squad to the region eight meet Friday, June 2, on the Bemidji state college courts while Crookston sends Reichert and its doubles squad.

Thief River Falls Fast Pitch Softball League Ends 1st Week

Standings in the Thief River Falls fast pitch softball league through Thursday night's action found VFW and Melvie tied for first with 1-0 records, while Grain Belt and Falls Diesel were 1-1 and Arctic Cat, along with Schmidts 0-1. Hartz was scheduled to play its first game of the season Friday evening against Arctic Cat.

Scores during the week found VFW drubbing Falls Diesel 16-3, Grain Belt stopped Arctic Cat 6-2, Melvie edged Schmidts 6-5 and Falls Diesel came back to defeat Grain Belt 6-4.

Lee Christianson struck out the final two batters with the tieing and winning runs on base in the seventh inning Wednesday to preserve Melvie's 6-5 win over Schmidts.

Melvie scored three runs in the top of the first, but Schmidts quickly tied the game with three runs in their half of the first. Larry Coltom's two-out home run in the last of the second gave Schmidts a 4-3 lead until Melvie pushed across three runs in the sixth with the aid of a double, an error, a walk, a hit batter and Mike Schmitz' two-run double for a 6-4 lead.

Schmidts offered a serious challenge in the seventh on Gene Halvorson's lead-off home run for a 6-5 contest. A walk and an error put two Schmidt runners on base before Christianson retired the side to pick up his first win of the year.

Coltom turned in an outstanding defensive game for the losers as he threw out a Melvie runner at the plate from his centerfield position and later made a circus catch to rob Steve Daley of a base hit in the top of the seventh.

Grain Belt stopped Arctic Cat 6-2 Tuesday night with both pitchers displaying amazing control for early season duty. Dalager picked up the win for Grain Belt while Shetler suffered the setback, although each hurler issued just one walk.

Randy Gaven's first inning homer started the scoring for Grain Belt as they scored two runs in the first and four more in the third inning. Arctic Cat scored single runs in the fourth and sixth innings.

Falls Diesel slipped by Grain Belt 6-4 Thursday as Earl Graham belted a game winning two-run homer in the bottom of the sixth inning.

The winners opened the scoring with a single run in the bottom of the second, but Grain Belt came right back with two runs in the top of the fourth to grab a 2-1 lead. Falls Diesel took another turn with the lead with two runs in the fourth for a 3-2 advantage, only to have Grain Belt move back in front 4-3 with two runs in the sixth, setting the stage for Graham's shot. Falls Diesel added an insurance run in the seventh to finish the scoring.

Graham was the winning pitcher, going the distance, while Holmes and Dalager split the Grain Belt hurling chores, with Dalager being tagged for the loss.

The next scheduled action will be Tuesday night when Arctic Cat takes on VFW, and Wednesday evening when Melvie will face Falls Diesel.

Prowlers Rip Goodridge 24-0 In Sub District

Thief River Falls romped to a lopsided 24-0 opening round north sub district baseball triumph over Goodridge Thursday night to earn a spot in the district 31 tournament, beginning tonight (Monday) at Red Lake Falls.

First round games tonight will send Thief River Falls against Red Lake Falls at 6 o'clock, while Crookston and Oslo tangle at 8 p.m. on the Red Lake Falls diamond. The district 31 championship game will be played Tuesday evening, starting at 7:30.

The Prowlers had little trouble scoring against the out-manned Huskies Thursday as they opened up an 11-0 gap before pushing across 13 runs in the last inning of the shortened five-inning affair.

Meanwhile, Prowler pitchers Mike Hamilton and Pete Sullivan combined to hurl a one-hitter against the Huskies, with Harlen Iverson's second-inning double spoiling the Prowler no-hit bid. Hamilton, senior right hander, picked up the win as he hurled the first three innings, striking out six and walking just one batter. The left-handed Sullivan pitched the fourth and fifth innings, walking one and striking out one, as Prowler head coach Ralph Skay offered both pitchers an opportunity to sharpen their repertoire for the district meet.

The Prowlers pounded out 15 hits off Goodridge pitchers Tom Bendickson and Fred Parnow, with Bendickson suffering the loss. Second baseman Tom Hanson and catcher Ordean Peterson each enjoyed a perfect game at the plate for the Prowlers as Hanson went four for four and Peterson three for three. Sullivan was the only other Prowler batter with more than one hit as he collected a pair of hits in four at bats.

Thief River Falls opened the game's scoring in the first inning after two were out, when Hanson singled, Peterson doubled and both runners scored on Hamilton's single to left field.

Five runs crossed the plate in the Prowler third inning when Rick Johnson reached base on an error and scored on a sacrifice fly by Hamilton; Hanson singled and scored on a wild pitch; Peterson and Sullivan each singled and scored on an error; and sophomore shortstop Cliff Shumway reached base on an error and scored on a passed ball.

The Prowlers scored four more times in the fourth when Hanson singled, stole second and scored, along with Peterson who had walked, on Shumway's single. Third baseman Jon Jensen walked and scored, along with Shumway, on Mike Dury's base hit.

A total of 17 Prowler batters stepped to the plate in the elongated fifth inning as Thief River Falls scored 13 runs on six hits, seven walks and an error.

The Prowlers led off the fith with three straight base hits by Johnson, Hanson and Peterson before Hamilton reached on an error and Sullivan doubled. A pair of walks to Jensen and Shumway was finally followed by the first out of the inning, a strike out. Two more walks to pinch hitters Jon Peterson and Duane Dicken preceded a second strike out before walks were issued to Mike Goulet and Jeff Tunberg. A double by Bruce Engel, a single by Jensen and a walk to Shumway closed out the wild inning.

In Thursday night's first north sub district game, Oslo outlasted Alvarado 4-3 in 12 innings when left fielder Jim Gowan was hit by a pitch and scored on a second baseman Tony Solem's double with one out.

Oslo had tied the game 3-3 in the seventh inning when Mark Mondry reached base on a fielder's choice and scored on a pair of errors.

The Bobcats grabbed a 1-0 first inning lead when Dave Gowan walked and scored on Dan Johnson's single, but Alvarado erupted for three runs in the third on an error, singles by Ken Dagoberg and Ron Farder and a double by Dwight Wahlin.

Oslo trimmed the difference to just 3-2 in the fifth when Jim Gowan walked and later scored on Mondry's single.

In a special play-off game Thursday afternoon Goodridge dumped Warren 11-8 to determine the final draw in the north sub district tournament.

Warren opened a 1-0 first inning lead on singles by Kelly Forester and Tim Howard, but Goodridge quickly took a 2-1 advantage in the second behind singles by Iverson, Don Graboroski and Joe Dahlen.

The Huskies added two more runs in the third when Arden Hyland walked and scored on Bendickson's single. Bendickson scored the fourth Goodridge run on a single by Iverson.

Goodridge stretched its lead to 8-0 in the fifth when Terry Wiseth reached base on an error, Howard Vigen walked, Iverson singled, Parnow walked and Graboroski doubled.

Warren scored three runs in the bottom of the fifth on an error, a wild pitch and a double by Bob Quanrud.

The Huskies added three more runs in the seventh when Parnow and Rick Easthouse each walked and scored via an error and Dahlen singled before scoring on a wild pitch.

Warren ended the game with four runs in the last of the seventh with the benefit of just one hit, single by Howard.

Red Lakes Could Yield More Fish, Scientists Say

Red Lakes Indian fishing enterprise, which harvests an average of 350,000 pounds of perch annually, could boost that take by one-third and increase the annual walleye catch by using new fishing techniques.

Such a change would give an economic boost to the Indian community there that ships the fish to Chicago, the Twin Cities, Duluth and Canadian markets, according to a recently completed study by two University of Minnesota fisheries specialists, Eugene Heyerdahl and Lloyd Smith Jr.

The present drawback in fishing techniques at Red Lakes is the single sized gill net used to harvest both perch and walleye. The mesh of the net has to be small enough to catch the smaller species—perch—so the consequence is that small walleyes are caught that haven't reached optimum size and the perch caught are larger than the most desirable harvest size.

Use of two different nets is recommended by the scientists: one gill net with larger mesh than presently used to harvest the large walleye and another entrapment net to harvest the perch at a smaller size.

Both changes would require investment and reorganization in the seasonal pattern of fishing. Several fishermen might have to join forces to purchase and operate the new gear.

The scientists do not look for changes in the Indians' traditional fishing techniques at Red Lakes to take place quickly. The average Indian fisherman just doesn't have the money to buy the new gear. Also, the Indians have traditionally fished in family groups; there might be trouble in combining the groups to purchase or operate the gear. And the Indians hesitate to change their fishing techniques until thoroughly convinced of the advantages of such a change.

The recently published study was based on field collections made at Red Lakes from 1949 through 1966, the scientists reported.

First Two Weeks Of Sioux Cage Clinics Filled

Enrollments for the first two one-week sessions of the third annual University of North Dakota baskbetball school have been filled and now enrollments will be accepted only for the third week of the school, according to Dave Gunther, UND head basketball coach and director of the school.

"We've had a tremendous response to the school by young players from all over the upper midwest and have been forced to close enrollments for the first two one-week sessions in order to insure proper instruction," Gunther said.

The two one-week sessions now closed are June 4-10 and June 11-17. Gunther said enrollment for the June 18-23 session will be accepted.

The UND cage school is open to boys entering grades seven through twelve this fall. "Our School has been approved by the high school state athletic associations in North Dakota, Minnesota, South Dakota, several Canadian provinces and other states," Gunther reported.

Total cost of a one-week session is $65 of which $35 must accompany application and balance paid at registration. Local youths commuting will pay $30.

All sessions will be conducted on the UND campus, with housing and meals in University facilities.

A staff of 17 upper midwest college and high school basketball coaches, including Lee Swanson of Lincoln high school, was named earlier by Gunther.

"The Newspaper Skills Course gave me my start in a very rewarding career!"

The young fellow above is Bob Francis, the new co-publisher of The Trimont Progress and Ceylon Herald, a weekly newspaper in southern Minnesota.

Bob is a 1970 graduate of the Newspaper Skills Course at Anoka Technical Education Center. Each summer a group of selected students spends eight weeks of hard work at this course, learning the skills of newspaper writing, editing, advertising and photography. Bob is the first of the course's 36 graduates to own his own newspaper.

"I had absolutely no newspaper experience when I entered the course," he says. "But after two months I found that I was able to write news stories, take news photos (develop and print them, too), make up ads, compose pages for printing, and perform many other intricacies of newspaper work.

"To my amazement, that was only the beginning. After learning the basic elements of newspapering in the Skills Course, I have been able confidently to branch out, enhance the skills I learned, and ultimately to manage my own newspaper."

If you have a high school diploma, can type, have a "feeling for words," and — this is the most important — have a deep interest in going into newspaper work, you may be accepted as one of the 20 students in the 1972 Newspaper Skills Course. NW Bell Adopts Action Program For Employees

Northwestern Bell telephone company has adopted a new affirmative action program designed to improve the status of women and minority people in the organization, according to Bruce G. Schwartz, vice president and chief executive officer of the firm's Minnesota operations.

"We have a good record in the employment of women and minorities," he said. "We also recognize that there is work to be done. This new affirmative plan provides an excellent guide for the future."

The company, which serves a five state area, adopted the new affirmative action program in compliance with federal regulations requiring government contractors to prepare such plans, and to establish within them definite goals and timetables for progress in equal opportunity."

The company filed the plan with the federal communications commission, under a separate requirement of that body.

Schwartz emphasized that the company was complying with the regulations both in "letter and spirit."

He said that Northwestern Bell already employs a slightly higher percentage of minority people than are in the population of Minnesota and that 691 women employed by the company in Minnesota are in management, but that "we are putting particular emphasis now on upward mobility for both of these groups."

The ultimate goal, Schwartz said, is to achieve a balance within Northwestern Bell's employee body which approximates that of the available labor supply in the areas in which it operates.

Schwartz said the telephone-using public would be "hearing more and more male operators, and seeing more women installers" in the future. "We have no male or female jobs," he went on, "just jobs. We're going to fill them with qualified people, whatever their sex or color."

NRA Executive Gives Statement On Gun Control

"Wave of hysteria following the senseless assassination attempt of Governor George Wallace last Monday has again created a demand among some for additional controls on firearms," States Gen Maxwell E. Rich, executive vice president of the National Rifle association.

"Certain well-meaning, but misguided, individuals suggest that additional gun laws are the cure-all for attempted assassinations and crime. This thinking is a fallacy. The man charged with the shooting of Governor Wallace was in violation of local and state (Wisconsin and Maryland) firearms control laws before he fired.

"As the NRA, and many thoughtful leaders, have constantly stressed—let us rigidly enforce those laws now on the books and invoke mandatory penalties for the criminal use of a firearm, such as those now part of the federal gun control act of 1968 and those called for by many bills presently before the Congress. For example, legislation introduced by Rep. Bob Casey (D.-Texas) calls for a sentence of not less than 10 years (first offense) and 25 years for the second offense and subsequent offenses for the criminal use of a firearm.

"On Wednesday, May 17, the Senate judiciary subcommittee on juvenile delinquency reported favorably on the so-called 'Saturday Night Special' bill introduced last year by Senator Birch Bayh. Last October, I testified before the subcommittee and stated at that time that the NRA and all shooter-sportsmen support in principle this bill which would prohibit the sale or delivery of crudely made and unsafe handguns not suited for sporting purposes. We still support this bill in principle, but there still remains the problem of extablishing criteria for what constitutes a sporting arm and what constitutes a so-called 'Saturday Night Special'.

"The million members of the NRA and all shooter-sportsmen are abhorred at this most recent tragedy. We call for swift and stringent punishment of the criminal, and we will support any legislation which is meaningful in the fight against crime but which also protects the rights and privileges of the law-abiding.

Merger Of Blue Cross And Blue Shield Is Noted

Minnesota Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Minnesota have merged into one corporation to be called Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Minnesota. Dr. O. D. Beich of Thief River Falls is chairman of the board of trustees for the merged corporation.

The merger was made official by a vote of the corporate bodies of each corporation May 17. The corporate members met in Rochester and the merger will go into effect June 1.

The merger proposal had been previously approved by Berton W. Heaton, Minnesota insurance commissioner. The new corporation will be run by the board of trustees which will include a one-third public (consumer) representation.

Minnesota Blue Cross assumed management of Blue Shield of Minnesota in April of 1970 through an operating agreement, at the request of the insurance commissioner and the attorney general of the state of Minnesota. Blue Shield had been suffering from severe financial difficulties.

Although a $7.5 million Blue Shield deficit still exists as of Dec. 31, 1971, last year was the first year in four years that Blue Shield did not lose money in its operations. Blue Shield finished 1971 with a financial gain of approximately $200,000, according to a report filed with the insurance commissioner on March 31. The $29 million dollar Blue Cross reserve has been reduced by the Blue Shield deficit to form the reserve for the new company.

"The absorption of Blue Shield deficit means that the new corporation will need to increase its reserve position," deficit will fall on the Blue Cross subscribers.

"We believe the deficit position can be repaired by Blue Shield rates through sound underwriting practices, without any substantial rate increases for that purpose. The financial audit for 1971 shows that we are making encouraging progress."

Beich said that the combined Blue—Cross and Blue Shield financial situation looks very encouraging. "Blue Cross has for years been known as one of the most fiscally sound Blue Cross plans in the country," he said.

"The combining of the two companies will completely assure that all Blue Shield subscribers are protected and will allow the two companies to achieve economies through joint efforts.

"We very strongly feel that this merger is in the best interest of the people in the state of Minnesota, and specifically of the one and one-half million Minnesotans covered by Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

"I personally feel that the Blue Cross member hospitals and the Blue Shield participating physicians are showing great concern for the dedication to the public good in agreeing to this merger. Both are cooperating to the utmost in making this merger a success."

SAFETY AWARD for outstanding achievement in traffic safety education and enforcement was presented to Pennington county at the recent Governor's conference of the Minnesota Safety council in St. Paul. Pennington was one of four counties in the state to receive such an award. Robert Carlson, right, chairman of the Thief River Falls city council, was in attendance at the conference and accepted the plaque in behalf of the county from Lt. Gov. Rudy Perpich

FFA Cited For Minnesota Aid To Handicapped

A highlight of the state FFA convention was when the FFA boys received outstanding service awards for helping the handicapped, according to W. J. Kortesmaki, state FFA Secretary. The convention was held at the University of Minnesota St. Paul campus May 1, and the awards were presented by W.B. Schoenbohm, executive director of the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc. (MISCCA). A number of chapters received more than one award.

Minnesota Future Farmers voted to use the proceeds from the 1971 corn drives for Camp Courage (and other benefits) to provide a number of camperships to send handicapped persons to Camp Courage, Maple Lake, Minnesota's only residential camp for the physically handicapped, blind and speech and hearing handicapped, which is owned and operated by MISCCA.

They also have earmarked the rest of the proceeds to help with the handiham radio camp to be held at Camp Courage travel camp and to finance the installation of a much-needed elevator in the two-story FFA speech and hearing building at Camp Courage. The elevator, which has already been installed, has been a great boon to the wheelchair basketball teams which have held week-end games and tournaments at the camp, as well as to other winter groups, and it will be a valuable aid to the camping program each year to come.

The Glencoe chapter received the award for the highest total amount raised of all participating chapters.

Highest total proceeds-per-member awards went to the Norwood-Young America, Jeffers, Freeborn and Winthrop chapters.

Chapters that received awards for an accumulative total of $5,000 or more were Glencoe, Stillwater and Glenville.

Old Mill Park Open For Season

Old Mill state park at Argyle is now open for camping, picnicking, hiking and swimming for the 1972 summer season.

Park hours are from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. All vehicles must display a state park vehicle permit in the lower right hand corner of the windshield. Permits may be obtained at the park and cost three dollars for an annual permit which is valid in all Minnesota state parks during the year or one dollar for two days. Camping is two dollars per night and scout camping is 25 cents per person nightly.

The dining hall will be open from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sundays and holidays and 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays.

Life guards will be on duty during the same hours as the dining hall. People will not be allowed to swim in street clothes or in the river. Air mattresses, inner-tubes, and floats are also not allowed.

All pets must be kept off of the beach, out of the water and on leashes not longer than six feet.

No one will be allowed to cut branches or twigs for roasting sticks or firewood.

In addition to the rules listed, visitors are asked to read and obey all posted regulations.

Moos Supports Troop Withdrawal From Vietnam

University of Minnesota President Malcolm Moos has supported a Congressional resolution calling for the withdrawal of American forces from Vietnam by October 1.

"The distintegrating forces at work in our land, combined with the disillusionment of youth, outweigh the risks of prompt withdrawal from the war," Moos said.

Moos' statement on "the continuing impact of the war on the younger generation" was made in testimony Tuesday (May 23) before the House foreign affairs committee. Moos and Robert F. Goheen, president of Princeton university, talked on internal consequences of the war.

The University of Minnesota was the scene of student-police clashes two weeks ago.

Moos said that as a result of the war a "disbelieving generation" has emerged with "a growing conviction that the will of the people has been manipulate or, still worse, simply ignored by those who conduct the nation's foreign policy."

Moos said that earlier massive campus demonstrations were based on a belief that the nation's leadership would respond to protest.

But he said, the "quieter mood" of today is "something that hovers over us like a deadly mist.

"What we are witnessing is a generation moving into adulthood, poisoned by the most profound skepticism and cynicism about our institutions and their legitimacy," Moos said. "Credibility and faith in our institutions, including our great universitites, is being dismantled daily, and is threatened with collapse."

Moos said the manner in which the nation entered the war was an evasion of constitutional procedures.

He added the theory of American government calls for legislative review of presidential authority and that the manner in which the United States was taken into war was an evasion of constitutional procedures.

"To its latest action," Moos said, "the present administration has made it abundantly clear that it has neither the intention to seek legislative approval for measures that might ultimately lead to a major power confrontation, nor the inclination of accord any deference to a review of these measures by the Legislature.

"It is not my purpose to assign blame," Moos said. "There is more than enough for us all. I simply urge as directly as I can that Congress at long last reassert its proper responsibility in foreign relations.

"Act to terminate the hostilities in Indochina. For if you do not, the fissure in our national life, opened by the inconsistency between what citizens expect and believe their government will do and what in fact it does, will widen and rupture."

'Something For Everyone' Theme Of Summer School

"Something For Everyone" is the theme of the annual summer school program for School District 564 this year, according to Frank Hamerlinck, director of instruction. Enrichment, remedial and make-up courses are again offered on the elementary and secondary levels and new programs have also been added.

Four school-community activities added to the regular summer school include creative dramatics, open gymnasium, creative workshop and supervised recreation and conditioning.

Summer school classes will begin on Monday, June 19, and continue daily Monday through Friday through July 31. No classes will be held on July 4. All classes will be held at Lincoln senior high school and Washington elementary school.

Class sessions for high school students, with the exception of typing, will be four hours in length from 8 a.m. to 12 noon. Typing will be a two-hour course, as will all elementary courses which are scheduled from 8 to 10 a.m. or 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Tuition is free for resident students of the district, although a one dollar matriculation fee will be charged. Non-resident students may attend on a tuition basis with cost set at $40. Courses which have insufficient registration will be canceled and tuition and fees refunded.

Bus transportation will be arranged for all rural and cross-town students who attend both two-hour sessions. (Bus students from the elementary grades should take two class offerings because they will be at school for four hours.)

Registration for the summer school classes will remain open until Friday, June 9, and is on a first-come, first-served basis until sections are filled.

New Course Offerings

The creative dramatics course will be for children in grades four, five and six (ages nine to 12). It will be offered at Knox school gymnasium on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 1 to 3 p.m.

Supervised recreation and conditioning will be offered at the Lincoln high school gymnasium on Tuesday and Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m., starting June 20 and ending August 17. This program will be supervised by school district coaches and is open to anyone interested in working out and conditioning. Registration will be at the first session.

She is the only member of the 226-student graduating class to have maintained perfect attendance through 12 years of school here. "I had the flu during Christmas vacation, mumps in the summer and measles before I started school," Catherine said, "and I never had chicken pox although I was exposed to them dozens of times."

New Brighton Man Killed In Accident Here

Bradford P. Walbridge of New Brighton died and Rodney Taggart, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Taggart of Thief River Falls, was hospitalized as a result of an accident Sunday evening on highway 1, west of its intersection with highway 59 west of Thief River Falls.

Taggart was driving east on highway 1, about 9:10 p.m., and collided head-on with a vehicle driven by Walbridge, who was traveling west on the same road.

Taggart was taken to Northwestern hospital and treated for facial and ankle injuries before being transferred to St. Michael's hospital in Grand Forks. A current report is not available on his condition, but following the accident it was described as "fair".

Walbridge was dead at the scene. Both drivers were alone in their cars at the time of the accident. Both vehicles were extensively damaged.

James Evenson Identified As Grader Operator

Identification has been made of the person driving the three-horse hitch on a road grader as it appeared in the Monday edition of the Times. The picture was from a post card found in Minnesota highway department files and was marked as being a road patrol in Pennington county in 1924.

Wallace Evenson of Thief River Falls identified the driver as his father, James Evenson, an employee of the county highway department for a number of years. The picture was taken about two and one-half miles east of highway 59 on the River Valley bridge road and the house in the background was owned by T. S. Iverson and is now occupied by Seymore Iverson.

Because the three-horse hitch (the horses were named Topsy, Daisy and Nellie) was too wide to permit traffic to pass on the narrow roads, Evenson sold them and purchased a team of larger horses. The grader was used until motor graders came into use and is now owned by Goodwin Wilson.

Mrs. Orville Feragen of Thief River Falls, a daughter of James Evenson, first identified her father in the photo and contacted her brother to call his attention to it.

River Closed To Boat Traffic

Due to dredging operations by the city of Thief River Falls, the Red Lake river will be closed to boat traffic at Narverud's point until further notice.

Stark, executive secretary of the educational research and development council of the metropolitan area, will give the commencement address on the theme "On Rising To The Occasion."

Selected from among the top 10 scholastic honor students to give the welcome from the class was Janice Buroker. "Prayers of Steel" and "Lincoln Alma Mater" will be sung by the Lincoln concert choir under the direction of David Morken.

James Solsten will conduct the high school orchestra in playing the "Pomp and Circumstance" processional and recessional and "Air for Orchestra" by Frank Erickson.

Dr. William Corliss, superintendent of schools, will introduce the speaker and special honors will be cited for several students. Robert Ostazeski, principal, will present the class and Maynard Wedul, chairman of the board of education, will award the diplomas.

A list of candidates for graduation was published in the Monday edition of the Times.

DuChamp - Myhre Vows Exchanged At Plummer

Miss Charlene DuChamp and Rodney Myhre exchanged marriage vows at Immanuel Lutheran church in Plummer on Saturday, April 15, with 185 guests attending.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace DuChamp of Plummer. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Myhre of Brooks.

Rev. M. J. Sheldahl officiated at the candlelight ceremony before an altar graced with red roses. Green foliage and white bows trimmed the candelabra. Similar accents graced the hurricane lamps along the bridal aisle.

Diane Delage, friend of the couple, served as organist. She played, "A Time For Us" for the processional and Rossini's "Wedding March" for the recessional. Ronalie Vatthauer, a friend of the bride, was the soloist, singing, "For All We Know", before the ceremony, and "O Perfect Love" as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a white floor-length gown of chiffon over taffeta, styled with a high stand-up collar and long, sheer Elizabethan sleeves with lace cuffs. Panels of double scalloped lace extended down the front of the bodice and A-line skirt. Matching lace completely encircled her cathedral-length mantilla and formed her profile headpiece. Both the gown and mantilla were fashioned by the bride's mother. To complete her attire, the bride carried a white Bible topped with red roses, babies' breath and ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Lee Johnson of Fairmont served as her sister's personal attendant.

Debra DuChamp of Plummer, also a sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of purple chiffon over purple taffeta. The gown, fashioned with an empire waistline, stand-up collar and short puffy sleeves, was complemented by a purple floppy brim Swiss braid hat with white satin streamers. She carried a white garden basket filled with mixed spring flowers.

Wearing similar gowns and accessories, only in light purple, were the bridesmaids: Miss Roberta DuChamp of Thief River Falls, cousin of the bride, and Julie Carpenter of Aurora, niece of the groom.

Tiffany Blofield of Burnsville and Tari Johnson of Fairmont, nieces of the bride, were flower girls. Their gowns and headpieces were styled similar to the bride's and each carried a white garden basket filled with red rose buds.

S. Duane Myhre of Red Lake Falls, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were James DuChamp of Plummer, cousin of the bride, and David Myhre of Brooks, brother of the groom. The men of the wedding party wore black, double breasted tuxedos with white ruffled shirts trimmed in black. The groom's boutonniere was a red rose and the groomsmen's were lavender lace carnations.

Ushers were Wesley Myhre of Brooks, brother of the groom, and Roger Konickson of Plummer, friend of the groom.

The mother of the bride was attired in an aqua chiffon dress with long puffed sleeves. Topping the dress was a scalloped lace vest. The mother of the groom wore a beige brocade, long sleeved knit dress. Both wore identical corsages of mixed spring flowers.

Honored guests were Mrs. Agnes DuChamp of Thief River Falls, Mrs. Anna Berg of Plummer, grandmothers of the bride, and Mrs. Anette Olson of Bellingham, Wash., grandmother of the groom. All were presented with corsages of lavender lace carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Plummer hall with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse DuChamp, godparents of the bride, as host and hostess. To correspond with the bride's chosen colors, the reception hall was decorated with white wedding bells and orchid and white streamers. Centering the serving table was a three-tiered wedding cake, iced in white and trimmed with lavender flowers. White satin bells topped the cake.

Mrs. Herald Carpenter, sister of the groom, and Mrs. LeRoy Engesether, friend of the bride, cut and served the cake. Pouring were Mrs. Camille DuChamp, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Luella Larson, godmother of the groom.

Mrs. Ken Blofield, sister of the bride, presided at the guest book. The punch was served by Madonna Schumacher and Bonnie Seibel, friends of the couple. Waitresses were Penny Pahlen and Carol Konickson, friends of the couple, and Candy DuChamp, cousin of the bride. Linda and Kathi Jaeger and Melody Carpenter, friends of the couple, arranged the gifts. The groom's cake was served by Robin and Jody Myhre, nieces of the groom, as Cathy DuChamp, cousin of the bride, distributed the rice packets.

He reportedly landed on his head and shoulders.

Over the past two decades the agricultural population of the United States has declined by six per cent each year. The report concludes that should the decline in manpower continue at the current pace, a leveling-off point may occur where this nation's demand for food could surpass agriculture's ability to provide.

Set-Aside Checks Will Be Issued Early In July

Set-aside payments will begin promptly with the beginning of the fiscal year on July 1 for farm program participants who have made early certification of compliance in the 1973 feed grain and wheat set-aside programs.

Farm program payments are, dependent upon producer certification according to Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee. Early certification means an early payment. However, no one should make certification until he knows he is in compliance.

When a fearmer certifies compliance, he reports the exact acreage of his set-aside land and program crops and designates the location of his set-aside acreage on a photocopy of his farmland. He also certifies that he has complied and will continue to comply with all program regulations. Certification is made at the ASCS County Office.

As soon as a farmer certifies, ASCS begins processing for his program payments. Payments cannot be made before July 1 but the law provides they must be made as soon as possible thereafter.

Also, as soon as a farmer certifies, his farm is subject to spot-check for compliance. A number of farms in the county are chosen at random each year for spot-checking.

While commenting that early certification means early payment, the ASC committee chairman also said that accurate certification is essential. Once a farmer has made his final certification, he may not change his mind nor make acreage adjustments and a mistake can mean loss of some or all of his program payment.

Final certification date in Minnesota is July 15. Some county farm program participants have already certified.

Set-Aside Farm Programs Allow Planting Change

Because of weather, some farmers are having problems in getting crops seeded this spring, according to Winton Knutson, chairman of the Pennington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee.

"The wheat and feed grain programs for 1972 are flexible enough to alleviate some of these problems as far as program participation is concerned," Winton Knutson said.

If a producer is prevented from planting wheat or feed grains, he may apply to his ASC county committee for prevented planting credit in order to protect his allotment or feed grain base. Or a producer may also apply to plant the wheat or feed grain on another farm in which he has an interest. Such acreage would be attributed to the farm from which the allotment or base was transferred.

"Application should be made at the ASCS county office and approved before the crops are planted," Knutson stated.

"Then there is the provision for substitution," Knutson pointed out. "For instance, if a farmer couldn't get his wheat planted, he may substitute corn, grain sorghum, barley or soybeans and still protect his wheat allotment."

The ASCS committee chairman said that with these flexible provisions it would be a very rare case in which a producer would suffer loss of allotment or base because of weather conditions.

He urged any producer who has questions about program provisions to visit the ASCS county office.

Fire Resistance Is Consideration In New Clothes

In providing lighter spring clothing for children, give attention to the fact that clothing can burn, and some fabrics are more flammable than others, advises Minnesota department of public safety commissioner W. R. Hoaglund.

"Clothing fires, in addition to being very painful and frequently disfiguring, are a major cause of fire deaths in the United States. Some fabrics can be set off by a mere spark or contact with an electric heater," he said.

"During the warm months, when outdoor cooking is popular, the type of play clothing children wear becomes a safety factor. Sturdy play clothes, without flounces, loose sleeves and the like, are indicated. In buying new clothing, examine the labels for guarantees of flame resistance.

"Remember that the chief victims of clothing fires are the very young and the very old. Help your child to understand the dangers as well as the uses of fire—the importance of great caution in using matches, in tending a fireplace or outdoor cooker, or in playing close to a source of intense heat."

Prompt Action Saves Life Of Former Resident

Prompt action of a National Guard team is credited with saving the life of a former Thief River Falls man who suffered a heart attack while on a weekend training session recently.

Command Sgt.-Major Wayne B. Levorson of Cottage Grove, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Levorson of Thief River Falls, was stricken with a heart attack while conducting a simulated search and rescue training session at the Rosemount training field May 20.

Captain Bernard Parker, Medic E-4 Alvin DeRuyter and E-4 Douglas Martin gave mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and administered cardiac massage.

With the assistance of other guardsmen, he was lifted into a helicopter which had been warmed up for the training exercise and was standing by for take-off. Within 10 minutes from the time he collapsed, Sgt.-Major Levorson was receiving emergency treatment at St. Paul Ramsey hospital.

Dr. Kelly, attending physician at St. Paul Ramsey, told Mrs. M. R. Levorson that her son likely would not have survived the severe attack if it had not been for the immediate attention he received from the National Guard personnel. At latest report his condition is improving.

Command Sgt.-Major Levorson is a member of the 47th Aviation Battalion stationed at the Downtown airport in the Twin Cities. He participated in the first landing of a helicopter at the heliport at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls last year, as it was conducted as part of a National Guard training exercise.

Col. Harley B. Davis complimented his men on their promptness and efficiency in the emergency affecting one of their fellow guardsmen.

Bill Passed To Help Car Owners On Repair Costs

U.S. House of Represntatives last week passed and sent to the President legislation to help reduce an estimated $10 to $12 billion wasted annually by American car owners in the repair and purchase of automobiles, according to 7th District Congressman Bob Bergland, a supporter of the bill.

The motor vehicle information and cost savings act, as it is called, gives the department of transportation authority to set standards for the automobile industry which would discourage expensive model changes and require cars that can avoid costly damages during minor accidents.

"The industry has emphasized yearly model changes which totally ignore features to minimize damage," Bergland explained. "We all know how costly it is to repair the smallest dent and most of us have seen how even a minor accident can crumple the entire front or rear of a car," he continued.

"This bill intends to cut back the $5.3 billion paid for crash repairs each year by insurance companies and an estimated $600 million paid by motorists in deductibles," he said. "The bill would also encourage the American auto industry to adopt methods to detect mechanical problems before they become more costly and serious. This section of the bill is aimed at reducing the $5 billion paid annually for unnecessary or incorrect repairs."

Another section of the bill, according to Bergland, would prevent dealers from turning back odometers on used cars.

Trucks And Buses Involved In 43 Highway Deaths

During the first four months of this year, trucks and buses were involved in crashes which accounted for 43 highway fatalities, according to a report from the Minnesota department of public safety.

Automobile crashes took 115 lives, motorcycles, three; motor vehicle-train, 12; and motor vehicle-snowmobile, 10.

Total fatalities for the first four months were 186, compared with 235 for the same period in 1971. As of mid-May, traffic deaths were down 73 from a year ago.

Commissioner W. R. Hoaglund warned, however, that the highest fatality months are yet to come, normally during July, August and September. Historically, fatals are low during the winter months and start to increase in May, hitting their peak in July and August.

The month of April, with 57 deaths, was the lowest April since 1965, when 40 were recorded.

Buffalo Teacher Complains About Discrimination

Polly Myer, Buffalo high school business teacher, has filed a complaint with the state human rights commission against the Buffalo school board. She charges that she was not retained in her position as business teacher because she was a woman. The district claims her position was abolished.

"Enrollment for the business department was down but enrollment in each of my five classes of business English, shorthand 112, clerical skills and office machines has actually quadrupled for next year," she said. She has the support of the Minnesota Federation of Teachers in her efforts to resolve the dispute.

Flora Rogge, M.F.T. president, related that "woman teachers are subject to a great deal of discrimination by Minnesota school boards in particular in areas of administrative promotions and maternity leaves."

She said the "case is a not too uncommon example of discrimination against women. Sex discrimination has been allowed to manifest itself too long in school board policies in hiring, administrative assignments and maternity leaves. The concept that women work only to subsidize their husband's income is absurd and detracts from the integrity of women as individuals. Employers have for too long used this concept to pay women less for significant jobs or to displace them."

She said she is encouraged by Polly Myer's willingness to challenge this concept.

Failure To Use Turn Signals Is Inviting Trouble

Drivers who fail to use turn signals or who use them improperly create traffic hazards and are also guilty of discourtesy to other drivers, Minnesota department of public safety commissioner W. R. Hoaglund warned today.

"The law requires that a left or right turn must be signaled for not less than 100 feet before the turn is made. Yet a great many drivers wait until they begin their turns before signaling, sometimes placing following drivers in dangerous situations. Many also wait, at stop lights, until the green light comes on before signaling. This is a discourtesy to following drivers, who are sometimes unnecessarily delayed by this failure to communicate.

"Dangerous situations are also created by drivers who fail to signal lane changes on the freeway, as well as by those who fail to heed such signals. The law provides that no driver may change lanes until the movement can be made with reasonable safety, and then only after signaling to any other vehicle that may be affected by the movement. It is then up to the other driver to respond to the signal. If, as sometimes happens, he attempts to block the lane change by speeding up, he risks a side-swipe collision.

"Turn signals are the most important and effective means of communication we have between drivers, and they should be in good operating condition at all times. If, for any reason, the turn signals are defective or not working, it is the responsibility of the driver to use hand signals."

30 May 1972

Members of the Community

This letter is to inform you as members of the community about the large decrease in curriculum at Northland State Junior College. President Victor Charles and his administration are bringing about by dropping or cutting several classes in the curriculum. Northland is beginning to offer less than a high school. We are in desperate need of a good basic curriculum or Northland is going to fall apart.

President Charles recently fired two teachers. These two teachers are Miss Marlene Maher, English, and Mr. Joseph Boyle, art and philosophy teacher at the college. When Mr. Boyle came to Northland four years ago, the art department was nothing. Now after building the department into something respectable, without the support of Victor Charles, the president and his administration want to get rid of such a good teacher. Mr. Boyle helped the department by having his own art shows which his classes and community could participate in.

Northland is one of the three junior colleges in Minnesota to have philosophy and now after the department has been built up after two years, it is probably going to be dropped from the curriculum. The art department is going to be dropped to a part-time subject next year. This as everybody knows, is wrong because art is a subject that is very much involved in the American culture.

For these reasons and many more, the students of the college were very concerned about the dismissal of Maher and Boyle and the drop in curriculum, and set out to find the reasons. The Student Association went to President Charles and got no response. So there was a petition drawn up and was signed by over two-hundred students and brought to Charles and he still gave no response. So then the students sent a letter and the petition to the Chancellor in St. Paul and still didn't get any response.

The students called two meetings to discuss the problems of the college and both meetings President Charles was unable to attend because he went out of town on some business that was more important than the future of the two teachers and the college. Some members of the community and some parents wrote and went to see Charles and they also got no response.

Some teachers and many students are very angry with this and are contacting members in Congress about the way Northland is being run. We students would very much appreciate support from the community so we could do something about the decrease in curriculum at Northland because then maybe Charles and the administration would listen. Your own children can be hurt in the future. They may not want to attend Northalnd because of lack of courses and they may not be able to afford another college. Is this what you members of the community want?

Sincerely,
A Concerned Student

A— Yes. Reimbursement, not to exceed $250, also is authorized for the deaths of veterans of the Spanish-American war, Mexican Border period, World War I, Korean Conflict period, Vietnam era and veterans of certain peacetime service.

Q— Does the $12,500 or 60 per cent GI home loan guaranty limit the amount I can pay for a home?

A— No. But if you pay more than the appraised value of the home, the amount in excess of the appraised value must be paid in cash from your own resources without any borrowing. A GI loan may not exceed the appraised value of the home.

Farmfest-USA Features World Plowing Contest

Governor Wendell R. Anderson officially opened advance ticket sales for "Farmfest—U.S.A." when he purchased the first book from Minnesota FFA president Pat Hennebery.

"U.S.A.," an international salute to farmers and agriculture, runs September 11-17 and is sponsored by Agricultural Promotions, Inc., a non-profit organization of businessmen and farmers from the southern Minnesota area.

Bert Hanson's Shady Brook farm in Vernon Center is the site of the event. Just 19 miles south of Mankato, Vernon Center boasts some of the most fertile land in the world with four inches of rich topsoil.

Selling advance tickets is the official Future Farmers of America project for 1972.

High school FFA chapters are selling tickets for $1.50 per day and $5 for four days. General admission at the gates, starting September 11, will be $2 per day.

In addition to money received from ticket sales, each FFA chapter selling over five books per person receives free admission.

The world ploughing contest, with an anticipated 48 contestants from 24 countries, is the highlight event. Farmfest will also feature 65 acres of exhibits, 500 acres of crop field demonstrations, and the $20,000 grand national tractor pull.

Entertainment for young and old alike promises to make "Farmfest—U.S.A." an all-family event. It will have both foreign and American implement displays and demonstrations, a women's tent featuring fashion shows, flower arranging classes and home appliance displays, and top-name entertainment in the stage show.

According to Nick Topitzes, executive director, this may be the last time the world ploughing contest is held in the U.S. for 25 years.

Waterbank Plan Goes Into Effect In 10 Counties

Farmers in 10 Minnesota counties began enrolling wetland areas in the new federal "Waterbank" program on May 22, with the sign up to continue through June 9.

Dave Vesall, assistant state game and fish director, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, and member of the national waterbank advisory board, said the program is being handled locally by the U.S. agricultural stabilization and conservation service (ASCS) with technical assistance from the soil conservation service.

Under the program, farmers received payments from the federal government for a 10-year period during which they agree not to drain, fill, graze or harvest a crop from the lands and waters they enroll in the program.

Purpose of the program is to preserve and restore wetlands so as to conserve surface waters, preserve waterfowl habitat, prevent soil and wind erosion, and reduce run off and flood effects.

Only permanent type wetlands are eligible for the program, and from one to four acres of upland must be included for each acre of marsh. A farmer must have had continuous control of the wetland for at least two years prior to the sign up—with certain exceptions.

Uplands must contain good legume-grass cover which can be used by wildlife as nesting and brood areas.

The counties where the program is being implemented are Big Stone, Jackson, Kandiyohi, Lacqui Parle, Meeker, East Polk, Mahnomen, West Otter Tail, Douglas and Stevens.

Vesall said state game managers and U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife personnel may be called on to provide advice on selection of areas and management procedures.

Highest priority will be given to wetlands that are in the greatest danger of being drained, Vesall said.

MPCA Sues Two State Villages As Polluters

Minnesota pollution control agency (MPCA) has sued two Minnesota villages for violation of state water quality standards.

Action was taken against Browns Valley in Traverse county and Kimball in Stearns county for failure to improve the quality of its municipal sewage effluent and against Kimball (Stearns county) for the same reason.

Agency officials said the Browns Valley effluent is affecting the quality of the Little Minnesota river and Big Stone lake. The Kimball effluent, they said, is harming Lake Betsy and the Clearwater river.

Browns Valley was first issued orders on June 14, 1971, to upgrade its secondary treatment facilities to include adequate disinfection and phosphorus removal equipment. That order was initiated after monthly effluent reports from the village consistently demonstrated violation of state effluent standards. The legal action ensured after the village missed several deadlines set by the agency for corrective procedures.

Kimball was ordered by the agency on Sept. 15, 1971, to proceed with expansion of its treatment works to include phosphorus reduction and improvements to its sanitary sewer system. Kimball also missed several agency deadlines for submission of progress reports.

At its May 22 meeting, the MPCA board of directors voted unanimously to give agency director Grant J. Merritt discretionary authority to take legal action against Cottonwood of Lyon county, Two Harbors of Lake county, Warroad of Roseau county and the Hennepin Paper company, Little Falls, for violation of state water quality standards.

Agency officials said Cottonwood, Two Harbors and Warroad have missed deadlines for submission of plans to achieve phosphorus reduction from their sewage effluent.

Officials of Hennepin Paper company have said that engineeers are now working on an alternate waste treatment method which will allow the company to meet state effluent standards and remain competitive. The company asked for and received agency approval to change the date of submission of final engineering and construction plans from May 1, 1972, to July 15, 1972. If the July date is missed, the agency may take legal action.

PENNINGTON ASCS ACTIVITIES

— by —
WALLACE SPARBY
Executive Director

Pennington County will again this year determine compliance by the Producer certification method.

Under this method every farmer must file an accurate report of their wheat, feed grain and set-aside acreages at the county ASCS office. They must also furnish estimated acreages of oats, rye, flax, planted and other non-conserving crops. These certifications must be made at the county office no later than July 15, 1972, however, for anyone thtat wishes to receive their program payments as soon after July 1st as possible, should complete their certification promptly after planting and before June 16th. This way it will give us an opportunity to mail the forms into New Orleans data processing center for processing and for them to have the opportunity to write the draft and mail them back to the county office by July 1st.

A letter and the leaflet concerning the certification has been mailed to all the farmers in Pennington county. It is important that you read this over carefully and follow the instructions therein and come to the county office to certify your program acres for 1972.

The photo copy which was supplied to each farmer at sign-up time, should have the fields drawn in of wheat, corn or barley and the set-aside fields. The set-aside is the idle acres that you have to set-aside in order to participate in the program. Also, any acreage that is devoted to alternate crops such as sunflowers, must be identified and reported separately from your other set-aside acres. We would like to have you draw those in on the map and also the names of the crops or set-aside and the estimated number of acres in each field.

It will speed it up considerably if you would bring this photo copy with that information on with you to the county office when you certify.

We have had some requests concerning individuals who will not be able to plant their wheat or feed grains due to the weather conditions and if this be the case on your farm, where you are prevented from planting wheat or feed grains due to the weather conditions, you may apply to the ASC county committee for prevented planting credit in order to protect your allotment or feed grain base.

I am sure that many farmers will be trying to complete their seeding upon till probably the middle of June, however, if it goes beyond that time, we would welcome you coming to the County Office and filing this prevented planting provision form.

We would also like to point out that there is the substitution provision. For instance, if you can't get the wheat planted on your farm, you may substitute barley or corn, grain sorghum or soybeans to protect the wheat allotment on your farm. This could also be turned around whereby if you cannot get the barley planted or the corn planted, you can plant wheat to protect the base.

If you have any questions in regard to these situations, please feel free to contact the office and we will explain them to you in more detail.

Jesus Festival Slated Saturday

People from approximately 25 communities have been invited to attend the first area Jesus festival to be held Saturday at the City auditorium in Thief River Falls, according to local people making arrangements for the event.

The festival is scheduled for 7 p.m. at the city auditorium and will be preceded by a coffee time from 5 to 7 p.m. People of all ages are welcome to attend the festival and informal dress is encouraged.

According to the sponsoring Jesus People of Thief River Falls, the festival is designed to be a "testimony in song and word of God's reality and love through His Son Jesus, lifting praises to Him."

Because of the informal nature of the festival, there is no ordered service to be followed. Ollie Urdahl of McIntosh will open the festival at 7 p.m.

The American Conscience

by Dr. RUDY SKOGERBOE

An interesting opinion from the chief of HUD (Housing and Urban Development) indicated his dissatisfaction with urban renewal projects. Mr. George Romney, the Secretary of HUD, has denounced the very plan his agency administers.

In testimony (I now quote from a Washington, D.C. based newspaper) just released by the House HUD Appropriations subcommittee, Romney told Congressmen in April, "I think it is absolutely necessary to recognize that the way in which we are currently spending money in these central cities is not a prudent thing. The way we are spending money is creating false values, false price levels that are not justified by the economic and social conditions that exist in these central cities ... we need a new approach."

He also stated that it was costing 20 per cent more for the government to build low cost housing than it would cost private builders. Now I wonder what kind of economy that is supposed to be. A government that is carrying on its operations with deficit financing so our dollar inflates should not feel compelled to build houses at 20 per cent over the going rate.

What the new approach will turn out to be is not known. It could even mean more delay for urban renewal throughout the county. This points out the need to think about fundamentals again. This is true of all other fields such as sports, science, religion and it should be true in government as well.

"First governement is never a source of goods. Everything produced is produced by the people, and everything that government gives to the people, it must first take from the people.

In our modern exchange economy, all payroll and employment comes from customers, and the only worthwhile job security is customer security. This applies to small business as well. If there are not enough customers, there will not be a market for an urban renewal project. If this is true, money will be wasted." By the opposite reasoning, if there are enough customers, it would be economically good to borrow capital and invest in private urban renewal because it would have no problem staying solvent.

Mr. Romney said that the cost of 54 low income town houses under construction in the Shaw neighborhood of Washington, D.C., was $76,000 per unit. This is not what I would call low cost housing.

Personally, I am glad Mr. Romney wants a new approach. A government that is operating on a deficit can ill afford to build "low cost" housing this way. How much better it would be for the government to work for a more balanced budget so the dollar would be worth something. It would then just be possible that those on so called low incomes could build their own houses.

(Quote from Foundation for Economic Education, Inc. Irvington-on-Hudson, NY).

Prowler Thinclads Capture Fifth Straight District 31 Track Title

Thief River Falls won seven of 16 events Saturday to easily win its fifth straight district 31 track title at Memorial stadium on the University of North Dakota campus in Grand Forks.

Jim Sims' Prowler thinclads finished the record breaking afternoon with 94 points, 12 ahead of runner up Crookston with 82, while East Grand Forks scored 44, Warren 16, Red Lake Falls 6 and Climax 4.

A near perfect track, under bright sunny skies, paved the way for eight new district records, with the Prowlers' three well drilled relay squads all setting new meet standards.

One of the most impressive record setting performances of the meet came in the final event of the day when the Prowler mile relay squad of Don Reierson, Rande Smith, Paul Battleson and Mike Fitzgerald shattered the old mark of 3:36 with an impressive 3:30.6 clocking. Saturday's performance also broke the Lincoln school record of 3:35.3 set in 1968 by Kim Brandt, Bill Norman, Gary Jordet and Dave Reese, the same squad that held the district standard.

The Prowler 880 crew, with Steve Beich, Jon Markstrom, Kent Smith and Markoe Hanson, set a new 1:34.8 record Saturday, breaking the 1:35.1 mark set in 1965 by Crookston.

Beich, Markstrom, Reierson and Mark Hamerlinck made up the Prowler sprint medley relay squad that ran a record 3:47.9, topping the old mark set by Thief River Falls in 1970.

The Prowlers jumped out to a surprising nine-point lead following the completion of the morning events where senior Rande Smith paced the way to the early lead with a record 139-9 toss in the discus competition, and junior Mark Kaushagen surprised many onlookers with an 11-6 first place performance in the pole vault.

The Prowlers also received early morning points from Smith with a second place in the shot put as his 45-8½ toss placed behind Crookston's outstanding Len Devos who set a new meet standard with a toss of 51-0 3-4; from sophomore Tony Dorn with a second place toss at 129-6 in the discus; and from junior Gary Halvorson with a third place 11-0 jump in the pole vault.

Thief River Falls went into the afternoon finals with 23 points, leading East Grand Forks with 14 and Crookston with 9. The Prowlers were never seriously challenged in the afternoon session they sprinted to a bulging 60-37 lead over the Pirates after eight events were completed.

Junior Markoe Hanson ran the 100 in 10.3 and sophomore Scott Olson ran a 52.2 in the 440 to supply the Prowlers with two more first place ribbons in the afternoon.

Gary Wagner flashed some of the brilliance that earned him "Athlete of the Year" honors at Crookston with first place performances in the 180-yard low hurdles (21.1), long jump (21-10½) and and 120-yard high hurdles (15.1). Wagner's long jump established a new record while the high hurdle time tied the existing mark.

Crookston also received first place showings by Doug Laniel in the mile (4:42.7), Todd Peterson with a record run in the 880 (2:00.6) and by sophomore John Burkhardt who surprised the rest of the field with a 23.3 in the 220.

In the only events not won by a Prowler or Pirate athlete, Steve Wald of East Grand Forks went 5-8 in the high jump and Scott Charboneau of Warren ran a record-setting 10:29.4 two mile.

Other second place performances by the Prowlers came from Greg Bulger in the mile (4:44.4), Fitzgerald in the 440 (52.3), Doug Aaseby in the lows (21.4), Battleson in the 880 (2:03.1), Hanson in the 220 (23.5) and Bruce Johnson in the two mile (10:31).

Third place ribbons won by the Prowlers included Halvorson in the pole vault, Aaseby in the highs (16.3), Steve Beich in the 100 (10.4), Jerry Sandahl in the lows (21.8) Steve Phelps in the 880 (2:10.1) and Kent Smith, along with Jeff Rhoden who tied at 5-4 in the high jump.

Fourth place finishes by the Prowlers included Rhoden in the highs (17.4), Lonnie Olson in the mile (5:00.9), Rande Smith in the long jump (19.0), Gerald Trickle in the 220 (24.5) and Tim Wold in the two mile (10:56.0).

Hartz Tops Arctic In Fast Pitch Play

L. B. Hartz and Arctic Cat ended the Thief River Falls fast pitch softball league's first week of action on a wild note Friday as Hartz slipped by Arctic 13-12.

Arctic began the high scoring affair in the third inning when they broke a scoreless duel with six runs without the benefit of a base hit. Six walks, two hit batters and a wild pitch contributed to their uprising as ten men stepped to the plate.

However, Hartz came right back in the top of the fourth as 15 batters paraded to the plate. Hartz grabbed the lead with a ten-run outburst in the inning on six hits, three errors and three walks.

Arctic Cat pulled to within two, 10-8, with two runs of their own in the bottom of the fourth, but a single run in the sixth and a two-run homer by Marv Walter in the top of the seventh for Hartz proved to be too much for Arctic to overcome, but the losers did score four runs in the final half inning.

Warren Hanestad picked up the win in relief although he hurled just a third of an inning. Shetler suffered the loss as he went the distance for Arctic.

Eagles Surprise Prowlers 5-2 In District 31 Play

Red Lake Falls put an abrupt end to the Lincoln high school baseball season Monday night with a surprising 5-2 district 31 semi-final win on the Red Lake Falls diamond.

Thief River Falls stranded 13 baserunners in the frustrating season-ending loss to the Eagles. The Prowlers managed only five hits off Eagle hurler Dan Derouin, but nine walks issued to the Lincoln club found Prowler runners on base every inning. Five times the Prowlers had runners as far as second base and twice advanced men to third without scoring against the Eagles.

Red Lake Falls jumped out to an early 3-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning on Dick Harren's bases-loaded triple following game opening walks to Mike Cota and Ben Roy and a short fly ball single to center by Tim Schmitz.

The Eagles opened a 4-0 gap off Prowler right hander Mike Hamilton in the second when right fielder Jeff LaCoursiere singled, went to second on a passed ball and scored on Cota's single to centerfield.

Red Lake Falls stretched its lead to 5-0 in the third inning on Derouin's solo home run before junior left hander Pete Sullivan shut off the Eagle scoring the rest of the way in relief.

The Prowlers picked up a single run in the third inning when left fielder Mike Drury singled, went to third ahead of a pair of walks issued to Rob Almquist and Tom Hanson and scored on a sacrifice fly to left field by Ordean Peterson.

The final Prowler run crossed the plate in the last of the seventh when Hanson doubled and later scored on a single to right-center by Hamilton for the final 5-2 count.

The Eagles pounded out nine hits off Prowler pitching, collecting two hits in each of the first three innings. Cota turned in a two for three performance at the plate for the Eagles while Schmitz and Derouin each collected a pair of hits in four trips to the plate. No Prowler batter got more than one hit off Derouin.

The loss ended the Prowler season with a 13-5 won-lost record, including a regular season series split against the Eagles. The Prowlers won the first meeting 15-7 before losing a wild 13-12 affair at Red Lake Falls.

Pearson's No-hitter Stops RLF 1-0 In District Final

Senior right hander Kyle Pearson's no-hitter paved the way for Crookston's narrow 1-0 triumph over Red Lake Falls Tuesday night as the Pirates successfully defended their district 31 baseball crown on the Red Lake Falls diamond.

Pearson employed an overpowering fast ball to mow down 14 Red Lake Falls batters on strike outs as the Eagles managed just three baserunners the entire game—on two walks and an error—but the Pirates never permitted an Eagle runner past first base.

Pearson's outstanding performance overshadowed Dick Harren's one-hit hurling, but the key blow of the game was supplied by Pearson himself in the bottom of the first inning when his booming line drive to deep left-center went for a stand up double with two outs. Third baseman Scott Youngquist immediately followed with a seeing-eye grounder that bounced over the shortstop's outstretched glove, that the official scorer judged to be an error, scoring Pearson with the only run of the game.

While Pearson's no-hitter seemed effortless, Harren struggled with the Pirate line-up, with four errors and a pair of walks keeping the Pirate base paths in use.

Crookston missed an excellent scoring opportunity in the third inning when centerfielder Scott Wheelhouse reached third base with just one down, but was stranded on two easy outs. Wheelhouse reached base on a hard grounder to deep short that was knocked down on the outfield grass, but again the scorer decided it was an error instead of a hit. The Pirate outfielder stole second and raced toward third when the ball slid by the Eagle second baseman. Wheelhouse was an easy out at third, but his hard slide knocked the ball out of the third baseman's glove to present the scoring threat.

Pearson displayed an abundance of emotion in the top of the seventh as he threw nothing but strikes across the plate. The Pirate senior struck out Harren on three straight pitches before Dan Derouin's high fly ball stopped everyone's breathing for a moment as Wheelhouse backpeddled to the centerfield fence for the second out. Pearson ended the game the way he started it, by striking out an Eagle batter.

Crookston will now advance into the region eight tournament at Red Lake Falls June 5 and 6. In the region's first round games, district 29 will face district 30 at 6 p.m. June 5, while Crookston plays the winner of the district 32 tournament at 8 o'clock the first night.

QUENTIN JONES, retiring Lincoln high school track coach, will be honored with an open house Saturday, June 3, from 3:30-5:30 at the Washington elementary school. The event will be open to the public, with coffee and cookies being served. A presentation will be made to Jones at 4:15. Quent will retire after the 1972 track season after serving as Prowler coach since 1942. Jones has also coached football, basketball and baseball in Thief River Falls. He is also the elementary athletic supervisor for school district 564.

Ditch Decision Is Breakthrough In Wildlife Law

Attorney General Warren Spannaus and Commissioner of Natural Resources Robert L. Herbst announced last week that New Ulm district judge Noah S. Rosenbloom has issued an order halting the construction of a drainage ditch near New Ulm. The ditch proposed to drain nine duck ponds into the Minnesota river.

The order was sought by members of Spannaus' staff on behalf of the Department of Natural Resources. Spannaus termed the decision a "breakthrough" in wildlife management law.

Commissioner of Natural Resources Robert L. Herbst said, "The ditch would have destroyed some good waterfowl habitat and caused a good deal of erosion and siltation into the Minnesota river. The court's decision was a positive step for safeguarding the environment."

Attorney General Warren Spannaus noted that "this is the first case of which we have record in which a district court overturned the construction of a drainage ditch based solely on environmental considerations. This is a real breakthrough decision in the field of law protecting Minnesota's wildlife."

The case was tried in St. Peter last fall by special assistant Attorney General William G. Peterson together with A. R. Mueller, an attorney from New Ulm who represented local landowners in the case.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Volume 61 Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota Wednesday, May 31, 1972 Number 44

RETIRING recently after 24 years of service at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls were Miss Anne Hamre, center, who has administered anesthesia to between 12,000 and 14,000 patients while employed here. She is shown with Dr. Jerome Bray, surgeon, and Mrs. Mary Washnesky, operating room supervisor. A graduate of St. Luke's school of nursing in Duluth in 1932, she was employed as a general duty nurse at St. Luke's hospital there and as floor supervisor at Bethesda hospital in Crookston until 1942 when she took a post graduate course in anesthesia at Grace hospital in Detroit, Mich. Upon completion of her training she was employed in the department of anesthesia at St. Barnabas hospital in Minneapolis and the Virginia municipal hospital until November of 1948 when she started her employment at Northwestern hospital here. She will spend the summer at the family farm near Fosston and return to Thief River Falls during the winter months.

Air Conditioning Problem Varies From Heating

With 200 million rooms in the United States lacking air conditioning and the temperature rising, air conditioner dealers must be anticipating the sweet sound of ringing cash registers.

Occupants of these 200 million rooms probably are deciding whether they should purchase an air conditioner—if so, what kind and what size?—or find some other means to regain their demeanor.

"How much cooling does one need?" asks Richard C. Jordan, head of the department of mechanical engineering at the University of Minnesota.

Cooling is not the same as heating, he explains. If you remain in a structure for a period of time, you will want it cooler than if you are in and out of the structure. Cooling to 80 degrees may be satisfactory for most people who wish to avoid the "thermal shock" that may result upon entering a too-cool room from a hot outside climate. Often 10 degrees of cooling is acceptable, but it is difficult to determine what size air conditioner to install, Jordan adds.

A decision on an air conditioning unit may be at hand for many families. Early bird specials for room air conditioners—the ones that fit into the window or wall rather than the central units—start when the snow is on the ground in Minnesota. Advertising promotions pick up as the mercury rises.

Some consumers may rely on a dealer or their local utility company to determine what size unit they should buy. Others may wish to make a somewhat rough estimate themselves of the size unit they need. A cooling load estimate form for room air conditioners is published by Consumers Union in the 1972 buying guide issue of "Consumer Reports."

In most cases it's not possible to get a room air conditioner to match the amount of cooling and de-humidifying that is desired in a given room, Jordan says. The unit required for optimum cooling may be too big for the house's electrical system and the family's budget. And the next smaller size unit will not provide optimum cooling, but is better than nothing.

It is not necessary to cool to the same temperature as you heat the house in the winter, which is 70 degrees in Minnesota. In fact, it may be undesirable. People don't want cooling to 70 degrees in the summer, Jordan says.

The temperature may rise extremely high only two or three days during the summer, so you may not need the larger unit. The larger unit may have more cooling capacity than is needed. People can live comfortably at 80 to 85 degrees, but at 50 degrees it is difficult, he adds.

If you are thinking about installing a large unit, have an electrician check your electrical system first. Many local electrical codes require a separate, single-outlet circuit for 115-volt models using more than 7½ amps. Special wiring must be installed for 230-volt and 208-volt units, unless the structures already are wired with these circuits.

The power required to run air conditioners is a concern, particularly where summer brownouts and blackouts from power overloads are not uncommon. A "Watt Saver" promotion program is planned for New York City where residents are expected to add 200,000 new air conditioners this summer. New Yorkers will be encouraged to purchase more efficient air conditioners to save on electricity.

Room air conditioners are noisier than well designed central systems, but the association of home appliances manufacturers maintains that design improvements have resulted in units that operate very quietly.

It's not enough to install a unit and flip the switch to "on." University extension housing and equipment specialists say good management and family cooperation is needed, including:

—Routine, pre-season cleaning and servicing.

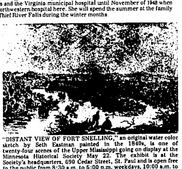
—Screen-out and black-out direct sun rays from glassy areas.

—Keep doors and windows firmly closed.

—Exhaust moist hot air quickly from kitchen, laundry and bathing areas.

—Cook outdoors whenever possible to reduce heat infiltration in the house.

—Keep the filters clean; check them weekly.



"DISTANT VIEW OF FORT SNELLING," an original water color sketch by Seth Eastman painted in the 1840s, is one of twenty-four scenes of the Upper Mississippi going on display at the Minnesota Historical Society May 22. The exhibit is at the Society's headquarters, 690 Cedar Street, St. Paul and is open free to the public from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. weekdays, 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on Saturdays, and 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. on Sundays.

VOCATIONAL CENTER school students from Roseau visited recently at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls. The 35 members of the health occupation class viewed various hospital departments and heard about the vocational LPN program offered by the Thief River Falls area vocational - technical institute. They also heard about the day-night unit which is part of the local hospital program. Mrs. Barbara Carlson and Mrs. Gladys Provance were instructors for the Roseau group. Local arrangements were made by Mrs. M. Torfin, in-service director, and Miss R. Bloom, nursing service director.

Yellow Used In New Markings For Pavement

In converting to the new national system of pavement markings, striping of Minnesota highways is underway with more yellow being used to delineate driving lanes.

The old centerline of dashed white stripes is being changed to dashed yellow on two-lane routes, including trunk highways through Minnesota municipalities.

Yellow, the color standard for "warning", will delineate a separation of traffic flow in opposing directions. The centerline on two-way roadways will be dashed yellow to differentiate from the dashed white lines used on multilane one-way roadways.

"This will warn drivers who leave one-way roadways that traffic will be opposing them to the left of the yellow line," Frank W. Kuhfeld, state highway department maintenance operations engineer, explained.

Other uses of yellow will include occasional left edge lines on divided highways where traffic cannot pull entirely off the roadway and for making of obstructions and islands which must be passed on the right.

Under the new paint striping system, some pavement markings will keep their familiar markings. It will still be unlawful to pass when a solid yellow line is in the motorist's lane. A double yellow line will mean "no passing" in either direction.

Kuhfeld said that in some areas, particularly in the early summer, motorists will find stretches of both the dashed white and the dashed yellow centerline on two-way roads. Most of the new striping will be completed by this fall, depending on the weather.

The dashed yellow centerline striping will be applied on approximately 10,500 route miles of highway in Minnesota.

"I'm never going to open another book again!" sighed Pete as he collapsed in my chair following his high school commencement.

But three months later, Pete had changed his tune and was ready for college.

Since then, he's had other graduations—from college, from medical school. Each time Pete has discovered that it isn't all over when you graduate. Something is just beginning.

Some people want to "graduate" from church at a certain age or time. They're just like Pete was when he left high school. They think they've outgrown the Church.

How empty Pete's life would be now if he had stopped at that first graduation. How empty your life would be without the Church.

Maybe it isn't all over for you! The church doors are always open.

"I have three precious things, which I hold fast and prize. The first is gentleness; the second is frugality; the third is humility, which keeps me from putting myself before others. Be gentle and you can be bold; be frugal, and you can be liberal; avoid putting yourself before others and you can become a leader among men." —Lao-tse

Long Walk—Short Step

Another school year has sped rapidly past and another senior class is about to receive its diplomas. Those youngsters who were only a few short years ago toddlers in diapers festooned with safety pins are now leaving the sheltered world of public high school.

We hope you are ready, graduates. As you seek employment, enter military service or continue your education in technical schools, trade schools, colleges or universities, we hope that our education program has prepared you for what is to come. We trust you will take pride enough in yourselves and your country to do your best in whatever course you choose to follow.

Many are the times when you will glance back at those high school years with fond recollection, no matter how glad you may be to have them end now.

In the spaciousness of the Thief River Falls sports arena Friday evening you will be alone with your thoughts as the commencement ceremony proceeds. Whether you want to or not, you will reflect on some of the events which are memorable in your high school career, and you will wonder about the days ahead.

During your school days you have been largely the recipient of what society has given you. Now you will be in a greater position to return some of this gratuity, and you will help to mold the society of which you are becoming a more vital part. Learn from our weaknesses and profit from our mistakes. Build a firmer future and a brighter tomorrow.

The long walk to receive your diploma Friday may seem to be an eternal march, but it is only a short step into a new world. We wish you well.

Most Evil Man?

Some people would have you believe that the businessman is the evil person in the United States. Here are a few notes on the evil which the businessman created in only one short year.

He found a quarter of a million "unemployables" who never could hold steady jobs.

He trained them and put them into work that pays money they never dreamed of earning before.

He's a business man.

For poor kids who couldn't otherwise go to college, he took three hundred and fifty million and saw to it that those who earned them got scholarships.

He gave eight hundred million to non-profit organizations for medical research, to help stamp out cancer and heart disease and a hundred other dread diseases of the world.

To build new housing for the poor and middle-incomes in U.S. cities, he put up one billion and a quarter dollars, so more people can live in decency.

Sure, he's been a polluter as has everyone from the U.S. government to ordinary citizens. But last year he scraped up two and one half billion to fight pollution of air and water and nature. This year he plans to get up four billion more to keep up the battle.

After that, he put up fifteen billion dollars in Social Security taxes to help provide support and medical care for senior citizens. And he added forty-one billion dollars in the income taxes to help pay the bills of the U.S.A.

And all the while, he was contributing millions of hours of personal and business time to virtually every humanitarian cause you've ever heard of.

He's a business man. The most evil man in the U.S.A.

Isn't it time somebody had a good word for this evil man who happens to do so much good for so many people?

We think so.

Mess Of Reports

Following editorial is from the Morris Sun:

A recent article in U.S. News and World Report calls attention to the rising tide of government paper work which is swamping business. Hardest hit are the owners of small business enterprises who must find the time to do the voluminous reports themselves or use their quite often limited resources to seek professional assistance from the outside.

The article quotes Senator Thomas J. McIntyre, chairman of the senate subcommittee on government regulations, as saying: "It's getting so bad that we have to do something. I call it federal-form pollution, because it is strangling small businessmen all across the country."

According to Senator McIntyre, the price tag on federal paper work alone is 36 billion dollars a year. Half of that total is the cost to the businessman in either professional fees or in time spent away from regular work. The other 18 billion dollars is what it costs the federal government to print forms, review them and store them.

The amount of paper flowing into federal hands each year fills 4½ million cubic feet of space. Storage alone is estimated to cost 8 billion dollars annually.

All told, according to the Office of Management and Budget, the federal government at the end of fiscal year 1971 had about 6,400 different forms—not counting tax and banking forms. They estimate that filling out these forms takes individuals and business firms 130 million hours of work per year.

On top of all this are all kinds of state and local government forms. While no estimate of the number of such forms is available, it is reasonable to believe that the cost of such forms in time required for preparation and filing, receipt and storage equals or exceeds the cost of forms for the federal government.

This blizzard of paper work is inundating small business and could well paralyze its capacity to remain healthy. To add insult to injury, small businessmen who have found it virtually impossible to keep informed on a mass of new reporting requirements can and are being subjected to severe penalties because they failed to file some obscure report or hang up some government poster.

Unless the trend is stopped, small business undoubtedly will be legislated out of existence.

Standing Orders

Rules of warfare may have changed in the last couple of hundred years, but the rules of survival may be much the same. Doug Hirsch of the Detroit Lakes Newspapers recently reprinted a list of 19 standing orders purported to have been issued by James Robert Rogers to Rogers Rangers during the French and Indian wars in 1759. They provide an interesting bit of nostalgia.

1. Don't forget nothing.
2. Have your musket clean as a whistle, hatchet scoured, sixty rounds, powder and ball, and be ready to march at a minute's warning.
3. When you're on the march, act the way you would if you was sneaking up on a deer. See the enemy first.
4. Tell the truth about what you see and what you do. There is an army depending on us for correct information. You can lie all you please when you tell other folks about the Rangers, but don't never lie to a Ranger or officer.
5. Don't never take a chance you don't have to.
6. When we're on the march, we march single file, enough apart so one shot can't go through two men.
7. If we strike swamps, or soft ground, we spread out abreast so it's hard to track us.
8. When we march, we keep moving until dark, so as to give the enemy the least possible chance at us.
9. When at camp, half the party stays awake while the other half sleeps.
10. If we take prisoners, we keep 'em separate til we have had time to examine them, so they can't cook up a story between 'em.
11. Don't ever march home the same way. Take a different route so you won't be ambushed.
12. No matter whether we travel in big parties, or little ones, each party has to keep a scout 20 yards ahead, 20 yards on each flank and 20 yards in the rear, so the main body can't be surprised and wiped out.
13. Every night you'll be told where to meet if surrounded by a superior force.
14. Don't sit down to eat without posting sentries.
15. Don't sleep beyond dawn. Dawn's when the enemy attacks.
16. Don't cross a river by a regular ford.
17. If somebody's trailing you, make a circle, come back onto your own tracks and ambush the folks that aim to ambush you.
18. Don't stand up when the enemy's coming against you. Kneel down, lie down, hide behind a tree.
19. Let the enemy come till he's almost close enough to touch. Then let him have it and jump out and finish him up with your hachet.

Interesting Opinions

"I love idleness. I love to busy myself about trifles, to begin a hundred things and not finish one of them, to come and go as my fancy bids me, to change my plan every moment, to follow a fly in all its circlings, to try and uproot a rock to see what is underneath, eagerly to begin on a ten-years' task and to give it up after ten minutes; in short, to fritter away the whole day inconsequentially and incoherently, and to follow nothing but the whim of the moment." —Rousseau

"We never really feel older than other people but only different, to our advantage or disadvantage, in some particular; whereas we always do feel definitely younger than other people."

Organize To Make Housework Easy

Handy vinyl labels (left) and iron-on or sew-on cloth labels (right) are part of a new system for home organization being introduced this spring.

Have you ever had a fuse blow while your husband was away and had to do without electricity for a while because you didn't know how to replace it? Have you ever opened your freezer door to take out a special cut of meat and found yourself confronted by eight or ten look-alike lumps of frosty tinfoil? No matter how good your method of organizing your household may be, there are countless possible problems such as these that can make the already considerable job of home management a time-consuming and frustrating experience.

Dymo Products Company, Berkeley, California, which has already developed a system of signs and labels to meet the organizational demands of large businesses, is introducing a new household organization system for the home manager.

The system includes a new home labelmaker for embossing raised white characters on 3/8" and 1/4" vinyl colored tape (it also includes a new script lettering wheel for labels with a personalized flair), and, for the first time, a cloth marking tape for labels that can be ironed or sewn onto any fabric.

The vinyl labels have myriad uses around the home—including identification of foil-wrapped foods and posting instructions for changing fuses on fuseboxes. Organizing your kitchen recipe file and spice rack, the hall linen closet or hobby workshop is an easy task with these decor-matching labels. It's also the best way to place emergency numbers on your telephone.

Cloth labels can keep children's (and adults') garments from getting lost. They're also a good way to keep socks and underwear in order and keep track of the sleeping bags, swim suits and other camping items that invariably end up going home with somebody else.

Since every home has its special organizational needs, you will find limitless uses for a labeling system of your own. The time and money you will save will make your job of home management less demanding.

HARWOOD RETURNS!

If you were old enough to drink back in the late 40's, chances are you remember Harwood with respect, if not affection. A fine rich Canadian with its own ideas about quality. But just about the time you began to enjoy it, we disappeared. We apologize. You see, our production at that time was limited, so reluctantly we decided to keep most of it at home.

Since we went away, more Americans have developed a taste for Canadians, today's Canadians, the lighter ones. And we have developed a way to supply them with one we can truly call Harwood. Lighter, yes. Lesser, no. Now that we are returning to America, with all due modesty, we trust America will return to us.

Especially as Harwood costs no more than those Canadians-come-lately.

The Canadian You Remember

"You can tell a Harwood man, but you can't tell him much."

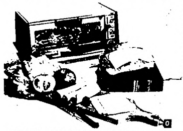
Tempting Toasted Cheesewiches



With a little imagination and a couple of extra minutes, a plain-Jane cheese sandwich can be transformed into a warming, taste-tempting dish designed to please any palate.

It used to be that a toasted cheesewich was too much trouble. It meant washing an extra pan, or waiting for the oven or broiler to heat up and constant watching to make sure nothing burned. But those are excuses of the past, thanks to those handy versatile General Electric Toast-R-Oven Toasters which are really three appliances in one—an automatic toaster, top browner and oven.

General Electric's Toast-R-Oven toasters are great for preparing toasted cheese sandwiches. First, put the unit on the "top brown" setting, insert the oven tray and one to four slices of bread. When the bread is toasted, turn it over, top with cheese, another slice of bread, and toast again. The result: two toasted cheese sandwiches in GE's original Toast-R-Oven, or up to four in GE's new, king-size unit. (which accommodates four slices of most breads, six English muffin halves or a full three course frozen dinner.) And with the Toast-R-Ovens' "top brown" setting it's a snap to do a variety of open-face sandwiches.

To be a little imaginative, try a Baked Cheese Hoagie. It's simple. Lightly toast split Italian rolls (your Toast-R-Oven will toast most sizes of bread), brush cut sides of rolls with Italian dressing and layer on American cheese, ham, tomatoes, lettuce, bologna and cheese again. Top with roll half and wrap in foil sealed with a double fold. Bake in Toast-R-Oven for 25 minutes at 350°.

To prove the point that toasted cheesewiches of all varieties are easier than ever—as well as hundreds of other nourishing cheese dishes—you can get coupons redeemable for five different packages of Borden Cheese food products with either General Electric Toast-R-Oven purchased through June, 1972.

Economic Stabilization Questions and Answers

Internal Revenue Service

Q— My landlord raised rent without giving me proper notice as required by the rent regulations. After talking with the IRS he agreed to issue a correct notice of rent increase. Will the IRS still issue him a Notice of Violation?

A— Yes. The IRS will issue a Notice of Violation to a landlord in every instance in which his notice of rent increase to a tenant is deemed inadequate, even though the landlord agrees to issue a correct notice. If the landlord does not request a conference within two days (excluding Saturday, Sunday and holidays) of receiving the Notice of Violation, the case will be sent to the Assistant U.S. Attorney.

Q— If a tenant believes he was evicted in retaliation for complaining to the IRS about a rent increase, does he have the burden of proving the eviction was retaliatory in a subsequent IRS investigation?

A— No. The burden of proof is upon the landlord to show that his action was not retaliatory.

Q— When seeking to raise prices, does a storekeeper have to apply his customary initial percentage mark-up to each item of his merchandise or can he apply the percentage mark-up to an product line or category?

A— The percentage mark-up must be applied to the cost of each item a storekeeper sells, rather than to a product line or category unless the storekeeper can demonstrate that he has historically, as a customary business practice, applied his mark-ups to product line or category. For more information on Phase II price controls, see IRS Publication S-3011, Legal Price Increases Under Economic Stabilization. It's available free by dropping a postcard to your IRS district office.

Q— If the cost of a particular item of merchandise increases, can an item-by-item pricer increase the price of other items to recover that increased cost?

A— No. An item-by-item pricer may increase the price of any item only as a result of increased costs of that item or to achieve a mark-up on that item which is the top mark-up in the range of mark-ups applied to that item during its last fiscal year ending before Aug. 15, 1971, or its last customary initial percentage mark-up before Nov. 14, 1971.

Q— I know that longevity increases in contracts and pay practices in effect on Nov. 13, 1971 do not have to be included in the Pay Board's 5.5 per cent general wage and salary standard. Are there any restrictions on what constitutes a longevity increase?

A— To be excluded from the 5.5 per cent standard, longevity increases must be solely related to the employee's length of service and must operate without significant affirmative exercise of employer discreation or subjective evaluation of the employee's work performance. The only conditions which can attach to the increase are satisfactory work performance and length of service. If it is an established practice that once an individual's work performance for a certain length of time is determined to be satisfactory and the amount of the increase as determined in advance is not subject to any discretionary adjustment, the increase is due to longevity.

Q— What prices must a retail liquor store operator post?

A— Retailers must post base prices for all of their food products. An alcoholic beverage has been defined as a food product. Therefore, a retail liquor store operator must post the base prices for each alcoholic beverage that he offers for sale, assuming of course, that he is not otherwise exempt from controls.

Many Vehicles Reportedly Use Illegal Lights

Many Minnesota vehicle owners are using alternating red lights and red and amber rotating beacons unlawfully, Commissioner of Public Safety W. R. Hoaglund warned today.

"Generally, use of the alternating red light or red rotating beacon is limited to authorized emergency vehicles, such as police and fire department vehicles, ambulances, volunteer rescue squad vehicles equipped with sirens and responding to emergency calls. The red beacons can also be used by wreckers when stopped at the scene of an accident. However, a wrecker is defined by law as a vehicle of 8,000 pounds or more gross weight, equipped with a crane and winch, and equipped to control the movement of a towed vehicle. A wrecker can never employ a rotating red light while in motion.

Other emergency service and maintenance vehicles, including road maintenance equipment, are authorized to use rotating beacons which are amber, never red.

"Confusion over the legal definition of a wrecker and over the limitations on the use of the lights has given rise to frequent violations. A great many of the trouble and service trucks employed by garages and service stations do not qualify under the law as wreckers and therefore cannot legally use the alternating flashing red and yellow lights and rotating beacons under any circumstances. Those that do meet the legal definition can use the light only while on duty and stopped at the scene of an accident.

"Any owner who is in doubt about his vehicle should consult with the highway patrol concerning his legal status. Any owner contemplating installation of such a light should also consult with the highway patrol.

United States honey production was down last year. At 206,326,000 lbs., it was 11 per cent below the 1970 output. U.S.D.A. points to a decline in the number of bee colonies, plus a lower yield of honey per colony, as the factors contributing to the lower production.

Dairy Day Is Big Event For State Holstein Girl

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Winner of a multitude of top awards at Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls, Kathy Boman of Twin Valley will compete here this year as the reigning Minnesota State Holstein girl. This year, however, she will be in the Northwest Dairy Princess contest as a representative of Norman county instead of in the show ring seeking to add more trophies and ribbons to her collection.

"Dairy day has always been a big event for me," Kathy said in an interview at the Boman farm nine miles southeast of Twin Valley. "It is the first show of the season every year and you get a chance to see a lot of the kids again. Sure it's a lot of work getting ready, but showing is a lot of fun, too."

In the four years from 1967 through 1970 Kathy made a shambles of the top awards at Dairy day.

In 1967 she showed her grade Holstein "Nancy" to the grade championship of the show and the over-all show championship, winning a purebred Holstein dairy calf for the top grade placing. That calf, from the Sheldon Erickson herd at Badger, produced twin heifer calves two years ago and a heifer calf last year. All are in the Boman herd now.

In 1968 Kathy showed her purebred Holstein "Barbie" to the show purebred championship and the over-all show championship. "Barbie" is the second calf from a purebred Holstein awarded as a calf by Land O'Lakes to Kathy's older brother Steve as a Norman county dairy champion.

In 1969 Kathy completed a Dairy day "grand slam" when she won the showmanship competition. And just to prove her previous winnings were no accident, she copped the showmanship award again in 1970 and added the overall grade championship of the show as well.

Although Kathy will not be in the show ring with her cattle this year because of the dairy princess event, she will be represented there. Arrangements have been made for her brother Steve to show her three-year-old registered Holstein for her. This has been done under similar circumstances for other girls in previous years.

The title of Minnesota State Holstein girl was bestowed upon Kathy at Hutchinson in March at a banquet of the Minnesota Holstein-Friesian association. To win, she had entered the required forms and information on her cattle (she now owns 14 registered and 10 grade animals) and supplementary information on her awards and activities. The entry weighed four pounds!

Recently the entry was judged among the top five in the nation by the American Holstein-Friesian association. She was also elected at Hutchinson to the board of the state junior Holstein association.

In addition to her Northwest Dairy day accomplishments, Kathy has made her presence known in other dairy events. She has had the diary champion at the Norman county fair in Ada every year since 1967 except for 1968. She has shown in 4-H club competition at the Minnesota state fair a number of times, entered open class competition at other area fairs, showed "Barbie" at the International Dairy Cattle congress in Waterloo, Ia., and the Central National Dairy exposition at Madison, Wis.

She is active in management of the Boman dairy herd which includes a total of more than 100 head, with 44 milking. The herd is on DHIA test and last year Kathy's first Dairy day champion, "Nancy", produced 768 pounds of butterfat as a seven-year-old. Frequently Kathy handles all of the milking duties herself when other members of the family are involved in haying, harvest or other farming operations. She knows well that there is another end to the cow that doesn't wear a show halter.

As much as she likes dairy cattle and as well as she has done in dairy activities, Kathy does not confine her activities to that field. She participated in debate and declamation at Twin Valley high school, winning the sub-district declam contetst in 1971. She was secretary-treasurer of the library club, editor of the school annual, member of the pep club

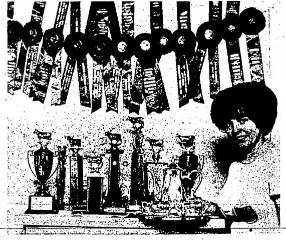
NORTHWEST DAIRY DAY has been an important annual event for Kathy Boman of Twin Valley, recently selected by the Minnesota Holstein Friesian association as Minnesota State Holstein girl. Winner of almost all of the top individual awards at Dairy Day at one time or another since 1967, Kathy won't be able to exhibit in the cattle show this year—she will be competing in the Northwest Dairy Princess contest instead as a representative of Norman county. Her three-year-old grade Holstein named Bonnie (with Kathy in the above photo), will be shown by Kathy's older brother Steve.



STATE HOLSTEIN GIRL, Kathy Boman of Twin Valley, is no stranger to winning awards in connection with dairy cattle. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Boman of Twin Valley, Kathy has won many top awards at Northwest Dairy day in Thief River Falls and the Norman county fair. For winning the state Holstein girl award, Kathy was awarded the silver service shown above. She also placed among four runners-up to the National Holstein girl selected by the American Holstein-Friesian association.

Brooks Senior Citizens Homes, Inc., of Red Lake county recently received approval of a $21,000 loan from the Farmers Home administration. Narcisse Robidoux of Brooks is president of the senior citizens housing group.

Funds will enable the association to complete the final stages of construction of a rural rental housing project for senior citizens and low-to-moderate income families in the village of Brooks. This loan will finance one duplex, the last of seven for the project.

Repayable in 50 years at 7¼ per cent interest, the loan is financed under the rural housing program of the Farmers Home administration, a department of agriculture rural credit service.

$345,000 Value Placed On April Building Permits

Twenty-two building permits valued at $345,000 were issued in Thief River Falls in April. That is a numerical increase from 14 permits in 1971. The valuation, however, decreased slightly from $346,000.

The number of non-residential permits issued in the first four months of 1972 is 24 with a value of more than $1 million. That is about four times the valuation on permits issued during the same months in 1971.

The total valuation on permits issued for residential construction during the first four months of the year is $339,000. That is about three and a half times the 1971 valuation for the same time period.

The statistics for Minnesota show that the state is down in both the number of permits issued during the month and the dollar valuation of those permits. The decrease was primarily in non-residential construction. Residential permits increased in numbers but decreased in value. Totals for the first four months of the year, however, are still substantially ahead of 1971.

In Clearwater county the election will be held at 8 p.m. in the elementary school cafeteria in Bagley. The position to be filled is now held by Elmer J. Erickson who is no longer eligible because of term limitations.

A LARGE NUMBER of long-time friends attended the open house held Saturday at Washington school honoring retiring Lincoln high school track coach and elementary athletic supervisor Quent Jones and his wife Elizabeth. Ralph Skay, on behalf of the entire athletic department, gave a short resume of Quent's long-time sports activities and presented him with a canoe as a display of appreciation for the work he has done for the young people of Thief River Falls since 1942. Other gifts were also given by individual friends of the Jones'.

May Weather Warmer Than Five-Year Average

Ed Brezney of Thief River Falls came to the Times office last week with evidence of the beneficial effect of the recent warm weather. He brought with him a tomato which had ripened in his garden and was picked May 26. He admitted that he had started the plants inside and set them out earlier in the month. He also said he had several more which were almost ready to be picked.

Such occurrences were to be expected considering that 10 days in May were in the 80's. In fact, May of 1972 was the warmest May in recent years for the Thief River Falls area. The mean for the month was 58.89 degrees compared with 51.4 degrees for the past five years. Average daily high for the month was 72.22 degrees compared with 63.64 degrees for the past five years. The week of May 18 through 24 averaged 81.57 degrees for a high temperature.

May 18 and 19 were the warmest days of the month with highs of 89. May 19 also recorded the warmest overnight temperature with 62. Low of the month was May 7 with an overnight reading of 27. The coolest day was May 14 when the temperature only reached 57.

In addition to being warm, the month was dry, receiving only slightly more than half of its normal precipitation. Rainfall totaled 1.44 inches for the month with a five year average of 2.65 inches.

Ellen Peterson, Retiring Teacher Feted At Parties

Mrs. Ellen Peterson, third grade teacher in the Washington elementary school who is retiring this year, was honored this spring at three third grade parties, and together with other retiring teachers, at a lawn party and at a dinner at the American Legion club rooms.

The first event was a Teacher Appreciation day party given just before Easter vacation by her pupils. For the party the room was decorated with streamers and balloons. On her desk was a cake, baked and decorated by Cindy Liden, one of her pupils, and a gift of money which was used in buying a necklace. On the blackboard, written in large letters, was "We Love You a Lot, Mrs. Peterson." Following the playing of games, lunch was served by the pupils.

The second event was a surprise party given for Mrs. Peterson and her pupils by the other third grade at Washington school and their teacher Cheryl Hinschberger. They, too, had a cake. After playing a game of kick ball and singing the selections that were to be rendered at the Spring Musical, cookies and nectar were served. Their gift to Mrs. Peterson was a charm in the for of a report card, engraved with "Room 8."

The following Friday, Mrs. Peterson's home room also gave a party and presented her with a charm. This charm, in the shape of a heart, was engraved with "Room 7", her name and the year. This party featured cake, cookies and candy for refreshments. Entertainment consisted of races at a nearby park with candy given as prizes.

Together with Quentin Jones, who is also retiring from teaching this year, Mrs. Peterson was honored at a pot luck lawn supper at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ness. Hosts were the teachers of the Washington school. Mrs. Peterson was presented with a Lazy Susan and a pearl handle cake server, engraved with "Washington Faculty, 1971-72." Jones was given a leather billfold and key holder. Jarts, horseshoe and cards formed the evening's entertainment.

Mrs. Peterson was also among the seven retiring teachers honored at a dinner at the American Legion club rooms. Others honored were Mrs. Vienna Grondahl, Mrs. Viola Koglin, Miss Gladys Johnson, Mrs. Martha Nubson, Mrs. Tom Waale, and Quentin Jones. Each was presented with an engraved silver tray from the Thief River Falls faculty. About 150 teachers attended, including Dr. William Corliss and members of the school board. The program included reminiscence by Martha Nubson, Gladys Johnson, Ellen Peterson and Quentin Jones, of their years of experience, showing some of the changes that have taken place.

Sleeves Often Problem Among Home Sewers

Sleeves are the real bugaboo of home sewers. Sarah Cox, clothing teacher at the University of Minnesota, gives some tips to take the pucker out of application.

Use a double row of machine basting between notches, stitch on the seam line and ¼-inch in on seam allowance. Adjust the ease, working from the sleeve side. Concentrate the ease (fullness) at the most bias areas of the sleeve. There will be little or no ease at the shoulder and underarm seams.

Before stitching the sleeve, check the fit and hang. Baste the sleeve in place and try the garment on. If the crosswise grainline is not parallel to the floor, shift the sleeve in the armhole until it does hang properly.

After the armhole seam is stitched, trim the underarm seam to ¼ or ⅜ inch. The cap of the sleeve will be trimmed only slightly, if at all.

For a well-rounded sleeve, make a sleeve roll. The roll is actually a bias piece of fabric, six inches long and three inches wide. Place the strip on the cap seamline with two inches toward the sleeve, one inch toward the garment. Stich by hand and overlap the fabric toward the sleeve. The fabric shapes the sleeve cap and keeps it through many wearings and cleanings. Use cotton flannel or soft interfacing fabric for the strip.

Never clip the seams in the armeye area. This will only weaken the seam.

Four Receive NDSU Degrees

In the May 29 issue of the Times an article stated that four residents of the Thief River Falls area received degrees from the University of North Dakota. That was not correct. Scott O. Sundrud of Oklee, Elton G. Solseng of Thief River Falls and Thomas L. Melin and Merle D. Plante of Red Lake Falls received their degrees from North Dakota state university in Fargo.

Lawn Mower Safety

It's time to dust off your power mower again. But before you start work review the safety rules and avoid accidents. 1) Clear the lawn of sticks, stones, wires and debris — they could be thrown by the blade. 2) Don't lend your machine to anyone who doesn't know how to operate it. 3) Never let children use a power mower or any power tool. 4) Don't operate the engine where carbon monoxide fumes can collect (i.e., the garage). 5) Have further questions? Contact your local power mower retailer — he's Mr. Lawn Mower Safety in your neighborhood, and will give you a free copy of the safety rules.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

Mrs. Emma Olson
Goodridge

After a battle of 49 years, the women of this nation have succeeded in winning the passage of the Equal Rights Bill. After ratification by two-thirds or 39 states, the bill will become a law. What affect its ratification will have on mankind remains to be seen. Will victory turn into tragedy? After being treated on the same basis as men, will women lose their most precious asset, their femininity?

Althouth I'm in favor of equal pay for equal work, I'm not a follower of the Women's Lib movement. Some of the issues advocated by Women's Lib are as ridiculous as a witness in a court trial having to answer a question with a limited yes or no. Equal pay for equal work is understandable. If a person is qualified for certain work, that position should pay the same amount of compensation regardless of who does the work, man or woman, be he or she black, yellow, brown or white.

Having been raised by "square" parents and instructed by equally "square" teachers, I'm "square". I believe a female should look like a woman, act like a lady and be treated as such, from the time she wears that first pink ribbon in her hair, that first little ruffly dress, the dress selected with care for her first date, and her dreamy wedding gown, to the countless other attire, worn in her role as businesswoman, homemaker, mother or in her career, always remembering "male and female created He them". (EMS)

Today's recipes come from Mrs. Emma Olson of Goodridge, one of the nurses' aids at Northwestern hospital. One of the nice things about being hospitalized was beoming acquainted with many of dedicated people working there. These two cookie recipes are Mrs. Olson's favorite.

White Cookies

- 1 cup shortening
- ½ cup white sugar
- ½ cup brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons cream of tartar
- 1 teaspoon soda

Method: Mix in order given. Roll dough into small balls. Dip top into sugar and flatten with fork. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 10 to 12 minutes, or until done.

New Orleans Drop Cookies

- ¾ cup shortening
- ¾ cup mild molasses, not black strap
- 2 eggs
- 2¼ cups flour
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon soda
- ½ cup sweet milk
- ½ cup raisins
- ½ cup chopped walnuts

Method: Mix in order given and bake in a 350 degree oven for 12 to 15 minutes. Dip in powdered sugar or ice with a powdered sugar frosting. Note: This recipe contains no sugar.

Mrs. Olson has been employed at Northwestern hospital as a nurses' aid for about 10 years. She lives at Goodridge and has one daughter, Brenda, who has been teaching for the past three years. They are members of the Faith Lutheran church at Goodridge. Mrs. Olson stated that she enjoys cooking and baking but since her husband's death, she doesn't do as much of it now as before.

Warroad Voters Approve System For Natural Gas

Voters in Warroad Tuesday approved construction of a municipal natural gas system for the village.

Two questions appeared on the ballot. The first question asked, "Shall the Village of Warroad establish, acquire and construct a municipal gas system?" There were 79 yes votes and 43 no votes on this question. The second question was, "Shall the Village of Warroad borrow money by issuing general obligation gas revenue bonds in the amount of $265,000 for construction for this gas system?" There were 75 yes votes and 45 no votes on this question.

Specifications and plans are being prepared for advertising for bids for the project and it is expected that the new natural gas system will be in operation by this fall.

Guardsmen Are Entitled To Time Off For Duty

Employers in Minnesota are remained by the U.S. Department of Labor that reservists and National guardsmen are jobs to perform active duty for training.

Upon their return from training, reservists and national guardsmen have a legal right to be restored to their positions with the same seniority, status, pay and vacation rights as they previously held.

The law also prohibits any kind of employment discrimination against a reservist or guardsman because of his participation in the program.

Military training duty for guardsmen and reservists normally occurs during the summer months and most of them will be absent from employment for two or three weeks of training during this period.

Reservists and guardsmen were also cautioned to notify their employers before leaving for training and to report back to their jobs immediately upon completion of their tours or they may forfeit their statutory reemployment protection.

How's Your Health

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Association.)

There are two principal forms of venereal disease—syphilis and gonorrhea.—Syphilis is more destructive but gonorrhea is by far more prevalent.

Gonorrhea can cause lifelong misery. It may cause prostate trouble, sterility, arthritis and heart disease. On the other hand, it can be quickly arrested with antibiotics if treated early by a physician, says the Minnesota State Medical Association.

Then why aren't people being treated? Why is gonorrhea spreading at such an explosive rate?

One of the reasons is ignorance. Another is complacency. But partly, too, is that gonorrhea remains hidden in women. Often times, women do not know they have gonorrhea, nor, of course, that they are passing it to their male partners.

In the male, the infection usually is quite apparent. Any time up to two weeks after being infected, he begins having trouble: Urination is burning and painful and he begins discharging yellow pus.

In women, the infection is less evident. Nine out of ten infected women have no symptoms. Women must be tested.

VD will not cure itself. Only a physician's treatment will cure VD. If you suspect you may have come in contact with the disease, see your physician or public health VD clinic today.

Venereal disease is America's number one enemy among communicable diseases and the problem is getting worse, says the Minnesota state medical association. Here are 12 facts everyone should know about venereal disease, gonorrhea and syphilis.

1) A person can get VD at any age.

2) VD is found in all areas, among all classes.

3) A person can contract syphilis and gonorrhea at the same time.

4) So far, no vaccine has been discovered to give a person immunity.

5) People contract VD through sexual intercourse.

6) People do not catch VD from toilet seats, dishes, door knobs or heavy lifting.

7) Personal cleanliness will not prevent VD infection.

8) Gonorrhea symptoms are evident in men: burning when urinating and a yellow discharge. Nine out of 10 infected women have no symptoms.

9) A chancre sore appears 10 to 90 days after infection by syphilis. In 45 days to six months, the infected person feels ill with fever, sore throat, chancre sores, rash and falling hair and sores at moist spots.

10) The only way to be sure you have or do not have VD is to be examined by a physician.

11) VD can be cured, but damage to tissues cannot be repaired.

12) Once in the body, VD germs will continue to do damage until overcome by suitable treatment.

Know the facts about VD. If you suspect you have been infected, see your physician or public health VD clinic at once.

Check Your Car

Planning a car trip? Get the lead out and follow these safety rules suggested by American Oil Company: 1) Have the brake linings inspected. 2) Check wheel alignment to prevent tire wear and blowouts. 3) Replace worn or cracked wiper blades. 4) Test headlights, taillights and turn signals. 5) Guard against air pollution by having an engine tuneup, including a test of the pollution control (PCV) system. 6) Remember that lead-free gasoline also helps to clear the air.

Open Schooling To Be Subject Of Conference

Breaking the traditional walls of American education will be discussed during a two-day conference on open schooling June 15 and 16 at the Diamond Path school in Rosemount.

The conference will consist primarily of small workshops on issues in open schooling including goals of elementary and secondary education, community involvement, school design, teacher training, curriculum design, instructional strategies, research and administration.

A questionnaire is being sent to all who register asking what they believe openness means in a school. The conference's first session will take up the results of that questionnaire so each participant will understand the variety of opinion on the question and where he stands within that spread.

This information, hopefully, will stimulate discussion of questions such as whether open schooling means special staff training or carpeting, changing the ways teachers deal with students or the way classes are scheduled and architectural or psychological openness. In addition to theories or elements of openness, the conference will discuss ways of implementing them and the problem of evaluating their effectiveness.

Wayne Jennings, director of a public open school in St. Paul; Vito Perrone, director of the new school at the University of North Dakota and Vince Rogers, education professor of the University of Connecticut are among the educators on the program.

Other faculty members will include university faculty from Minnesota and Wisconsin, staff members of the Minnesota Department of Educaton and others who have worked in open schools.

Cost of the meeting is $30. More information or reservations may be obtained from the director of the department of conferences and institutes at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis. The zip code is 55455.

A survey of American theatre buildings conducted in 1878 showed that one in four burned down before it was four years old, and that the average life of a theatre in those gas-lit days was only 12 years!

Non-Retention Appealed By Two BSC Professors

Dr. Daljit Singh and Dr. Thomas R. Linscheid of the Bemidji state college faculty have appealed their non-retention cases to the Minnesota state college board, according to word received from the MSCB office this week.

Dr. Singh, an associate professor of political science, was notified of his non-retention by reason of an overstaffing of his department in May of 1971. He is the only person in the department without tenure. This is his fourth year at BSC.

Dr. Linscheid, an assistant professor of psychology and non-tenured faculty member, was notified of his non-retention in December of 1971. This is his second year at BSC. These recommendations for non-retention were made by the academic affairs office.

Dr. Linscheid was hired to replace an analytical psychologist who had signified his intention to resign. When this person, who had tenure, did not resign it gave the department two analytical psychologists. BSC administrators say that enrollment figures indicate that only one is needed. These same administrators say that the department is directed toward applied psychology and enrollment trends indicate that this direction is steady.

Dr. Singh and Dr. Linscheid were two of four BSC faculty members to take their non-retention cases before the faculty senate Rights and Hearing committee.

This committee transmitted a favorable recommendation in their cases to Dr. R. D. Decker, BSC president.

After making a careful review of their cases, studying the enrollment projects of the respective departments, studying projected budgets for the entire college and studying the changing enrollment patterns of the college, he upheld the non-retention recommendation of the academic affairs office.

Dr. Decker emphasizes that the letters of non-retention were based strictly on economic and staffing reasons and in no way are a reflection on the personal or professional behavior of Dr. Singh or Dr. Linscheid.

The BSC president said that the two faculty members had full benefit of the new MSCB Rules and Regulations on the BSC campus and it is their privilege to appeal his decision if they wish.

No date has been set for the MSCB appeal of Dr. Singh and Dr. Linscheid.

Good News For Brunettes

Who says blondes have more fun? Things are looking up for brunettes, too, with the debut of new hair coloring chemistry that helps prevent brassy highlights and reddish overtones.

The new breed of True Brunette shampoos in color that resists the fading and brassiness caused by exposure and by normal scalp perspiration.

Clairol colorists, who've been working with the new formula in research salons, see it as a boon to women who want hair "make-up" without looking made-up. With most of us having "hair color" hair, the color range — running from deep brunette to light ash browns — is just right for picking up color without a drastic change.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor

There has been considerable discussion in the community and at Northland state junior college regarding action taken by the college and the President in temporarily eliminating some of the courses from the curriculum.

The community should be informed that one of the courses temporarily eliminated is English literature. Two sections of American literature will be offered as in the past. Also temporarily eliminated from the curriculum is the series in beginning German and intermediate German which will be offered provided there is sufficient student demand for the subjects.

Some misunderstanding has arisen regarding the art curriculum at Northland state junior college for the coming school year. It should be noted that there will be no change in the number of art classes offered at Northland state junior college in the 1972-73 school year. In addition, there will be some new courses added to the curriculum in the areas of sociology, science, social studies, physical education, music and law enforcement in accordance with our policy to continually widen the curriculum at Northland for the benefit of the students and the community.

There has been only one couple from our service area which has come to my office to discuss the curriculum for NSJC. I would, however, welcome any comments from members of our community that have concern regarding the art curriculum or any other aspect of the curriculum at Northland state junior college.

Very truly yours,
Victor Charles

To the Editor:

I wish all those enlightened proponents of a lagoon system as a means of sewage disposal, would have been in Grand Forks last week. With the northwest breeze it was like being right in a sewer. The old excuse that "its just because of the potatoes being processed" certainly doesn't hold true at this time of year.

Any governing body that would choose this type of system should include enough funds in the budget to build a meeting room on the south shore of such a lagoon and have a few noon lunch meetings there.

Sincerely,
H. J. Pluth

To Chancellor Philip C. Helland, members of the state junior college board, members of the advisory committee and all other concerned citizens:

I am being represented by the letters being circulated around the college and community as someone not supporting our President.

This is not true.

I have been and am now supporting him because he has supported me and several other students. I respect President Charles as a person and as our President.

The letters being distributed lead you to understand that they represent the entire student body at NSJC. This is not the case.

Many students feel that President Charles' actions have been wise and in the best interest of the students and the future of this college.

The students that disagree with his actions are trying to sway the emotions of all that feel differently.

Endorsed by a very concerned student

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—What must a veteran or serviceman do to get a Veterans Administration mobile home loan?

A—Four things: Get a Certificate of Eligibility from the nearest VA regional office. Find a mobile home he likes which meets VA standards. Arrange for rental or purchase of a mobile home lot. Apply to a private lender for a loan.

Q—I am in school under the GI Bill. Am I allowed to change my program of studies?

A—Yes. The Veterans Administration allows each veteran one change of program. One additional change may be approved if it is found through VA counseling that the proposed change is more suitable to the veteran's aptitudes, interests and abilities.

Q—What can I do about my Veterans Administration compensation check since I plan to travel this summer and will not have a forwarding address?

A—The VA will send your check to your bank for deposit if you submit a VA change of address form or a letter over your signature. You should also obtain two power of attorney forms from the VA. One should be given to your bank as evidence of its right to receive and deposit the checks to your account, and the other should be retained by you.

Q—I am a veteran with an ordinary life national service life insurance policy. May I surrender it for paid up insurance and still draw dividends?

A—Yes, but your dividends will be smaller.

Q—I am 100 per cent disabled from service-connected injuries, and wonder if the Veterans administration will treat me for a disability I suffered after leaving the service?

A—Yes. Veterans permanently and totally disabled from service-connected causes can be treated at VA outpatient clinics for nonservice - connected disabilities. You should apply for treatment at the nearest VA office.

Q—I draw 80 per cent disability compensation from the Veterans Administration. Does this make my dependents eligible for special educational benefits available to disabled veterans?

A—No. Only children of veterans rated by the Veterans Administration as totally and permanently disabled from service-connected causes are entitled to this benefit.

Q—I just heard I might be eligible for a Veterans Administration burial allowance for my husband who died 14 months ago. Is this true?

A—Yes, provided your husband received an other than dishonorable discharge. Claim for a maximum $250 burial allowance may be filed within two years of permanent burial or cremation.

Q—May a married female veteran drawing disability compensation or pension claim her husband as a dependent?

A—Yes, if the husband is incapable of self maintenance and is permanently incapable of self-support due to physical or mental disability, and is otherwise eligible. The same criteria would apply in event of the female veteran's death.

Riding Space Needed For 100 Million Cyclists

There are some 73 million cyclists on the road today, and even the most conservative estimates of cycling's soaring popularity indicate that by 1980—or possibly much earlier, that number will climb to 100 million.

100 million cyclists? Where are they coming from? From all walks of life, apparently. Of course, there are the youngsters; and bikes have been the heritage of the young for nearly 100 years, taking them to school, ballgame, park, beach, friend's house or paper route.

Increasingly, however, they are coming from the ranks of adulthood...doctors, clerks, housewives, businessmen and civic officials; cycling for fun, physical fitness, outdoor recreation and for economical transportation. Informed industry sources estimate that as much as 50% of the estimated 10 million bikes sold in 1972 will be bought by people from 16 to 65.

So the problem is not where are they coming from, but where are they going to ride?

A ride around the block or through the neighborhood may be sufficient for youngsters whose limited experience dictates that they should stick pretty close to home. But it is not what an adult wants when he rides a bike.

And with the nation's roads already glutted with auto traffic, the most obvious answer seems to be special cycling facilities.

There are already more than 15,000 miles of marked Bikeways in 187 American cities, with nearly 200 more on the drawing board. From New York to San Francisco, from Seattle to Miami, the familiar green and white Bikeway sign marks miles and miles of secondary roads as being less heavily trafficked routes to get from one place to another on a bike.

Too, federal, state and local governments have set aside special funds for the construction of bike paths in parks and recreation areas across the country.

But a new phenomenon is sweeping the country. Cyclists are demanding and getting special consideration in their need for safe cycling facilities.

The states of Oregon and Washington have passed legislation which diverts a percentage of state highway trust funds for special bike facilities construction. Both houses of the California legislature passed similar legislation, but it was vetoed by Governor Reagan.

The greatest potential bonanza for new and safe cycling facilities is in federal legislation now pending. Introduced by Congressman Edward Koch of New York, H.R. 9369 would set aside 1% of the $5 BILLION annual highway trust fund for new bike paths construction. The bill's supporters, including the Bicycle Institute of America, believe this is only fair, since cyclists share road space with cars, and special facilities must be provided for this popular non-polluting form of transportation.

The new bike facilities are coming because America's cyclists are demanding them and the politicians are listening.

As Congressman Koch said recently, "How can any politician stand up against the nation's 73 million cyclists...there are too many of them." (NP Features)

In everyone's life there's a SUMMER OF '42

A Robert Mulligan Richard A. Roth Production
Written by HERMAN RAUCHER

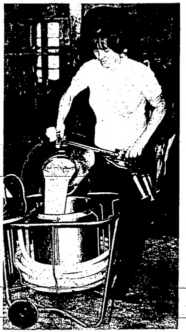
FETCHING THE CATTLE in from pasture isn't the job it once was, thanks to two-wheeled motorized transportation. The Roy Boman farm at Twin Valley has a large acreage of pasture with lots of trees, and just finding the cattle when they are wanted can be a problem—particularly in the dark of early morning. Cathy Boman, Minnesota State Holstein girl, is shown with some of the young stock in the Boman herd—including some of her own animals.

"ALL DAIRY" is the term used to describe this three-year-old grade Holstein which will be entered by Kathy Boman of Twin Valley, Minnesota State Holstein girl, at Northwest Dairy day in Thief River Falls next Tuesday, June 13. The cow will be shown by Kathy's older brother Steve, since Kathy will be competing in the Northwest Dairy Princess contest that day.



NO STRANGER to the task of milking cows is Kathy Boman of Twin Valley, Minnesota State Holstein girl. Frequently she is entirely responsible for milking the Boman herd of 44 Holstein cattle when the rest of the family is involved in other farm duties. A portable milk transfer system has eliminated much of the carrying formerly required between barn and milk house. While Kathy has given a good accounting of herself while showing cattle, she also knows the ins and outs of dairy production from practical experience.

Motorists Saved "By The Belt", Report Indicates

"Often, while studying traffic accident reports, we find that death or serious injury was avoided when the driver and all passengers were buckled up," according to Minnesota department of public safety commissioner W. R. Hoaglund.

"A case in point was a one-car rollover which occurred on a dusty, Minnesota highway in April. The vehicle involved was a mini-bus carrying the driver and five passengers.

"After the vehicle went out of control and rolled over, all occupants were still firmly belted. Two escaped with no injuries, and the other four suffered minor cuts and bruises. Three of the passengers were elderly, from 67 to 75 in age.

"This is just another example of the value of wearing safety belts at all times. There is no doubt in the investigating officer's mind that death or serious injuries would have been suffered had the occupants not been buckled up.

"Real-life incidents such as this should be ample proof that the best and cheapest insurance motorists have is a buckled up safety belt.

"With the high-travel season fast approaching, I strongly urge all motorists to remember the slogan, "Are You Putting Me On?" every time they enter a motor vehicle—even for short shopping trips.

"According to validated statistics based on actual studies, at least 300 lives could have been saved in Minnesota last year if all persons involved in fatal crashes had been buckled up."

Dairy Day Big Event For State Holstein Girl

and National Honor society. Thursday night she graduated as valedictorian of the 1972 graduating class.

A state winner in an essay contest sponsored by Pepsi-Cola last year, she won a trip to Washington, D.C., for four days, leaving the morning after Dairy day here. Writing on "Why I've Got a Lot to Live", Kathy emphasized that a person has only one life to live and how he or she should make the most of it. The state championship also carried with it a $1,000 savings bond for herself and one for her school.

Last fall she was runner-up in the "Youth for Environment" contest sponsored by Otter Tail Power company. This fall she plans to enroll at St. Luke's school of nursing at Fargo in the two-year program to become a registered nurse.

Although Kathy won't be in the show ring at Dairy day this year, the Boman family will be well represented. Fifteen - year - old David, in his sixth year of showing, will show a purebred aged cow. Diane, 13, will show a purebred calf in her fourth year of showing and Eric, 11, will enter a grade senior yearling in his second trip to the show.

When the Roy Boman children (and there are two girls presently too young to compete) become of 4-H club dairy project age, they are given their pick of the Boman herd's calves. Those calves become the property of the youngsters, and they exchange farm work for their animals and feed.

Kathy has had some set backs in her dairy experience. One of her first calves died of an apparent bloat while confined in the barn. More recently she lost a springing two-year-old which died of an apparent heart attack at a farm stock pond.

Northwest Dairy day can feel it has played a vital role in the lives of a number of young people, not the least of which is Kathy Boman, Minnesota State Holstein girl for 1972.

PENNINGTON ASCS ACTIVITIES

— by —
WALLACE SPARBY
Executive Director

With all the wet weather this spring the furthest thought from your mind may be new storage facilities for this fall. However, if you are thinking of obtaining a loan on some new farm storage facilities, there are a few reminders we would like to give you.

This year for the first time it will be possible to include any type of grain auger or elevator to fill a structure. The structure to be filled does not have to be one that was financed through the Commodity Credit corporation, and the elevator does not have to be a permanently stationary structure as in previous years. It would be advisable to check at your ASCS office about this, however, as the county committeemen will decide if it is permissible in their county or not.

As in previous years loans will be available on wooden, steel or cement-type structures, including filling and unloading equipment of the type normally used with wet and silo-type structures, including pipes and blowers.

Loans cannot be made on any used equipment unless purchased from Commodity Credit corporation, nor to repair, maintain or remodel any existing storage structures or drying equipment.

To be eligible for a granary loan you must be able to show that there will be a need on your farm for additional storage facilities, and that you are a landowner, landlord, tenant or sharecropper, producing one or more of the following eligible commodities on the farm or farms to which the loan application relates: wheat, oats, rye, barley, corn, flax, soybeans, rice or sunflower seed.

The interest rate on storage facility and elevator, auger loans this year is 5½ per cent. Loans are available on 85 per cent of the net cost of the applicant's needed storage which shall not result in an aggregate outstanding balance in excess of $35,000, subject to county and state committee approval. There are certain security agreements required on all loans, and loans shall be repaid in four equal annual installments over a five-year period.

The loan may include the actual cost of the facility or structure to the applicant, including sales tax, cost of delivery, erection or installation (including foundation, concrete work and electrical wiring) but not discounts, rebates or costs for labor performed by the applicant or other employed on the applicant's farm.

You must apply for a loan within 30 days of delivery of any materials to your farm. To be on the safe side you should bring your estimates to the office and discuss your intentions with us before any purchase is made as there is always the possibility that your loan may not be eligible for approval.

If you are interested in a loan and have any questions please feel free to contact our office.

"I tell the truth, not as much as I would but as much as I dare—and I dare more and more as I grow older." —Montaigne

Too Thin-Skinned?

We must agree with the Cottonwood County Citizen and its comments on what is perhaps too much sensitivity in regard to race and background. The paper commented editorially as follows:

The Fargo Forum, North Dakota's largest daily newspaper, will no longer use nicknames of sports teams which refer to the American Indian.

Team names such as the legendary "Sioux" of the University of North Dakota and the Grand Forks High School "Redskins" will no longer be printed in the Forum.

The Forum contends that "a minority group is being unjustly persecuted through the careless use of the English language."

Persecuted?

Come again.

Being a native of North Dakota, we remember the name "Sioux" as having a great connotation. It meant bravery, a fighting spirit and an honest effort in sports, or anywhere else. The term "Sioux" exalted the Indian race when it might otherwise have been forgotten.

It seems like everyone is getting too thinskinned, including a few editors.

It won't be long before all races will deny their heritage, if the present trend continues.

Maybe the day will come when there are no proud Irishmen, Frenchmen, Norwegians, Englishmen, Chinese, etc. Could it be that the term "American" will be eliminated because it denotes a hodgepodge of races and it is found to be offensive?

When that day comes, we'll be just one big gob of "happy" people with no identities, no heritage. And people without a past or those who deny their past-usually don't have much of a future either.

Off On Wrong Foot?

Comment on the initial actions of Patrick Gray as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, succeeding the late J. Edgar Hoover, was made by the editor of the Walsh County Record at Grafton, N.D., as follows:

The new director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation—Patrick Gray—delighted newsmen and other critics of the FBI and the late J. Edgar Hoover by announcing he was considering establishing a committee of outsiders to provide a fresh outlook on the bureau.

He also made a pitch to women's lib elements when he told reporters he might use women as undercover agents, that their duties would not be limited.

To these sounds the long voracious critics of the FBI shouted approval—and some childish news stories reflected their self satisfaction.

Gray takes over a marvelous law enforcement operation in the FBI, uncorrupted and generally nonpolitical.

His best course is to learn silently the operation and seek to continue its excellent record if he can. Cheap political or popularity sops to the press and public should not be his concern and his first official utterances are therefore keenly disappointing.

Trade Affects All

Any person who purchases goods of almost any kind is affected by world trade, and generally gets the benefit of such a system. Last year a problem developed in that the United States had its first trade deficit since 1893—we purchased more foreign goods than we exported goods to other countries.

Imported goods flood the stores of our nation and are purchased avidly by consumers across the land. On the basic premise of international trade the flow of foreign goods is desirable. But it is good only if there is a reverse flow of American goods to other nations on at least an equitable basis.

Important quotas and tariffs may seem necessary in particular cases, but they do serve to alienate other nations and could well curtail our export volume. Let it be understood, however, that other nations which we do business have quotas and tariffs of their own which protect certain phases of their business and industry from United States competition.

Purchase of foreign goods does stimulate employment in the United States. Over three million jobs belong to people making goods for export in the United States. Our exports totaled $45 billion in 1971. If we did not purchase foreign goods, foreign countries would be unable to buy our exports.

The U.S. department of commerce estimates that it would take 2.5 million workers to make in the United States the things we now buy from foreign countries. But if we did not buy anything from other countries and so could not sell them anything, we would lose the three million jobs required to make exports. Net result would be a loss of 500,000 jobs, not including those of transporting, selling or servicing the foreign imports after they got here.

Supplying the industries which do export is also big business. One major exporter estimates that one-third of its volume is sold overseas. If the foreign market was lost, the company would be one-third smaller. It would employ 17,000 fewer workers and would purchase only 500,000 tons of American steel instead of 750,000 tons.

It is also worthy of note that a foreign automobile manufacturer buys American steel, American-made steering wheels, American tires, American-made seatbelts and American window glass. In 1970 it bought $50 million in U.S. components, including American computers, and $8 million in American-made stamping presses.

Opportunity to buy goods at lower prices is an overall economic advantage of world trade. Foreign manufacturers provide competition which helps to keep manufacturers efficient. They produce goods not otherwise available in the United States. This country imports many natural materials not available here. An American automobile uses some 30 raw materials from foreign lands and a typical American jet fighter plane uses over 50,000 pounds of imported raw materials.

There are many ways to argue the merits of world trade, but it seems reasonable to assume that as free trade as possible is the best method to follow. Each country should make what it can make best and sell most economically, and that may require some reordering of priorities. But it is the best way to have the most people get what they want and need for the lowest cost.

Where Does It End?

Following editorial is from the Mahnomen Pioneer:

Try this on for size!

In the last decade, Americans killed 470,000 people in traffic accidents.

Last year alone the toll was 55,000.

Today, about 150 people will die tragic, needless deaths. Another 5,400 will suffer disabling injuries.

Who are these people being killed and maimed? They are your relatives, friends and neighbors—and perhaps more tragically—too many of them are the young, whose promising lives are snuffed out before they even have a chance to make their mark. Yes, the accent today is on youth!

The leading cause of death to people in the 15 to 25 year old age group is motor vehicle accidents. More young people are killing themselves with a 3,000-pound licensed weapon than with loaded guns or loaded hypodermic needles. In 1970, 1,500 in this age group died from drugs—another 3,394 were murder victims—and, 4,204 died in the Vietnam War. But nearly twice that combined total - 17,360—were killed in traffic accidents.

The young represent 21 per cent of the driving population and yet are involved in 34 per cent of the fatal accidents. Where does it end?

A Big Bite

The tax bite on the average American this year is more than just a mouthful—it's over one-third of his earnings, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States says.

The average wage earner worked from January 1 to May 10 this year just to earn the equivalent of all the taxes he must pay his federal, state and local governments, National Chamber tax experts calculate.

In an eight hour day, this means workers whose jobs begin at 9:00 a.m. must labor until 11:51 a.m.—two hours and 51 minutes—every working day before they have earned what they must pay in taxes.

Despite this tremendous burden, politicians rarely suggest that government ought to cut taxes by ending unneeded, ineffective spending programs, the business federation states. Instead, the politicians usually suggest more spending and newer tax sources.

It's time to be pragmatic about taxes and government's increasing appetite for such income, the Chamber declares. It's time to shift emphasis away from more taxes, and concentrate on why we need government programs that require such a large chunk of our earnings.

It's time to make sure that what government takes from us in taxes is being returned for services efficiently managed and necessary to meet the needs of all Americans.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor

Fortunately for the property taxpayers of Minnesota, your editorial of May 22, 1972, was in error.

There is widespread misunderstanding of the relationship between an increase in assessment by a local assessor and property taxes. Contrary to popular belief, there is no direct connection.

To clarify the above point, let me briefly describe how the process works.

Local governmental units develop their budgets in dollar terms. This budget and other similar local budgets are then presented to the county auditor, who levies the taxes necessary to finance the various budgets.

Keep in mind that the local budgets—not the assessor—determine the overall dollar amount that must be raised.

The new spending limits imposed on schools and local governments in 1971 restrict the number of dollars that the local governments can ask the county auditor to levy as taxes.

Thus, even if a local assessor doubles the valuation of a given local taxing district through revaluation, that local government will receive no extra dollars in taxes. The revaluation simply means that the mill rate must be cut in half.

Confusion on this point is very understandable, since in past years many local governments have increased their budgets at the same time assessments were increased.

A second point must also be understood. Property taxes cannot be fair unless assessments are fair.

For instance, if Taxpayer A's $20,000 home is correctly valued by the assessor at $20,000, then the assessor should not place an $18,000 value on the $20,000 home of Taxpayer B. In this case, A pays too much and B pays too little.

If the assessment on Taxpayer B's home is raised to its proper amount of $20,000, then Taxpayer B must pay more in taxes.

However, the new spending limits also mean that Taxpayer A—because of the increase in tax revenue from B's home—will pay less.

Sincerely,
John E. Haynes

and School Finance

Minnesotans love to hold celebrations. Any historical date, incident, harvest, sport or whim can—and usually does—provide the inspiration for a festival. Whether it's Cheese Days in Elgin or a frog-jumping contest in Pequot Lakes, you can be sure that somewhere in Minnesota there's going to be a party.

Nationalities and life-styles provide a host of themes. Just a few are Voyageur day in Crane Lake; Indian days in Sauk Rapids (not to mention Pioneer-Indian days in Good Thunder); and Lumberjack days in Stillwater.

Furthermore, there is an All-Slav day in Eveleth, and a Norway day in Minneapolis. And if you can say it out loud, there is Juhannus Juhla—the Finnish midsummer festival in New York Mills.

Minnesota produce is well-represented with the Owatonna Pumpkin festival; Montogomery's Kolacky day; Watermelon days in Sanborn and the Hopkins raspberry festival. Both LeSueur and Ogilvie celebrate corn-on-the-curb days while Henderson has its sauerkraut festival and Badger has a flax day.

When they talk about Soybean days in Clara City, we understand, but you'll have to go to Pequot Lakes to see what bean hole day has in store.

Animals play a big part in the fun. Rochester will hold its first festival of the geese later this year; Nevis has its annual Muskie days; Dan Patch is honored in Savage; and Worthington celebrates king turkey day.

And if you've never heard of it before, be sure to be on hand in Viola for the gopher count.

Karl Oskar days are celebrated in Linstrom; steamboat days provide fun in Winona, and Tracy even has box car days. Meanwhile, Hackensack pays special tribute to Diana Kensack on its Paul Bunyan's sweetheart day.

Then there is always Foley, which doesn't even need an excuse to celebrate. They simply have fun days.

These are just a few of the many, many events that make Minnesota fun in the summer. If you don't believe us, write to: DISCOVERY, Department of Economic Development, 51 East 8th Street, St. Paul 55101, and receive a free calendar of all the fun.

notes from the governor

In the next several months all departments, boards and agencies of state government will be heavily involved in a very critical task—the preparation of budget requests for the 1973-74 biennium.

The process is critical because these requests, as reviewed and revised by myself and my staff in departmental budget hearings this fall, will form the heart of the budget I submit to the legislature next January.

To insure the delivery of maximum service at the least possible cost, I have directed that several changes be made in the budget-preparation process.

Perhaps the most important is our "activity analysis" program, the most comprehensive fiscal self-analysis ever undertaken by the state. A first step in this program was the identification for the first time of all state activities (there are more than 1,000) and the compilation of data on the purpose, clientele served, and the resources expended, both in terms of dollars and personnel, for each activity.

A preliminary report on conclusions from the activity analysis was distributed to department heads late last week. We believe the program, which employs a variation of the much-discussed "zero-base" budgeting technique, will prove to be an invaluable tool in the development of our 1973-74 budget recommendations.

I have also laid down several policy guidelines for department heads to follow in the preparation of their own budgets.

Top priority was assigned to reliance on projected anticipated growth "for any new funding that is proposed."

In other words, they have been advised to develop budget requests that will require "no increases in sales or income taxes."

In a memorandum to the department heads, I noted that "on a number of occasions members of my staff and I have spoken of the need to place budget planning for 1973-75 in a context of living within the resources now available to us. . .

"We expect departments to support proposed new services largely from the economies achieved by careful implementation of administrative and program changes within and between departments that seem to be indicated by the results of activity analysis."

The emphasis we are placing on formulation of our budget recommendations for the next two years, then, is indeed great. We are convinced it will pay off.

When completed, the national system of interstate and defense highways will carry 20 per cent of all traffic although it will include only about one per cent of the nation's total road and street mileage.

In Our Time

In 1765, before the American Revolution, the first metal service warehouse was set up in New York... it was known as Abeel Steel, Inc., metal distributors.

Today, 1600 metal service centers serve as the keystone in the bridge of our industrialized economy. Just as driving of the golden spike at Promontory, Utah, in 1869, linked the east and west coasts of our nation in a single communicative entity, with rails of steel, so service centers provide our nation with a strong marketing arm for metal supplies, beneficial to all...

Third row, assistant coach Marv Walter, head coach Jim Sims, student manager John Nelson, Kent Smith, Tony Dorn and Scott Olson.

Prowler Runners Win Second Straight Region 8 Track Title

Thief River Falls won six events, twice as many individual titles than any other team, to capture its second straight region eight track crown Friday on the Bagley fairgrounds track.

The Prowlers finished the all-day affair with 54 points, well ahead of second place Crookston with 39½. Mahnomen was third with 27, followed by Walker 22, Bemidji 21, Park Rapids 20, Fertile 14½, East Grand Forks 12, Fosston 9, Bagley and Warroad 8, Clearbrook and Roseau 5, Halstad 4, Ada 3 and Borup 1.

Junior sprinter Markoe Hanson paced the Prowler championship performance with a pair of first place finishes in the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Hanson came within a tenth of a second from the school record in the 100 with an outstanding 10.2 performance, and came back with a speedy 22.9 first place time in the 220.

Senior weightman Rande Smith established a new region eight discus record with a heave of 144-4½ to add another six points to the Prowler effort, while senior team captain Mike Fitzgerald ran a 51.7 in the 440, just two tenths of a second off his own school standard.

The Prowler 880 and mile relay teams also won their events with the 880 squad of Steve Beich, Jon Markstrom, Kent Smith and Hanson running a 1:34.5 and the mile crew of Don Reierson, Rande Smith, Kent Smith and Fitzgerald turning in a 3:35.5 performance.

The three individual winners, Hanson, Fitzgerald and Rande Smith, along with each member of the 880 and mile relay squads, will represent Thief River Falls in the state meet Friday and Saturday at Macalester college in Minneapolis.

The Prowler sprint medley squad of Beich, Markstrom, Mark Hamerlinck and Reierson supplied second place points for Thief River Falls with a 3:49.8 clocking trailing Fertile's 3:48.0 performance.

Turning in third place efforts for the Prowlers were Mark Kaushagen in the pole vault where his 11-0 performance placed behind Fertile's Ross Johnson with an 11-6; Doug Aaseby with a 20.9 in the 180-yard low hurdles, finishing behind Crookston's Gary Wagner with a 20.1; and Scott Olson with a 53.0 in the 440. Aaseby's low hurdle time matched that of second place Jay Aakhus of Bemidji, but the Lumberjack runner was given a slight nod at the finishing line to earn the state meet trip.

Fourth place's were earned by Greg Bulger with a 4:50.6 mile, with Pat Hanlon of Bagley winning the event in 4:37.8; and by Rande Smith with a toss of 45-10½ in the shot put competition won by Mahnomen's Jim Willie with a heave of 51-11½.

Only two new records were added to the already impressive region eight standards, with Crookston's Todd Peterson running a 1:58.9 in the 880, breaking the one-year-old mark of 1:59.4 set by Les Bly of McIntosh; and Smith's 144-4½ performance in the discus, breaking the 144-2 mark set by Jim Stadum of Ada in 1966.

Hanson and Wagner were the only double winners in the meet with Hanson winning the 100 and 220 sprints and Wagner capturing the 180-yard lows and 120-yard high hurdles—winning the highs in a time of 15.2.

Other first place winners included Steve Wald of East Grand Forks with a 5-10 high jump; Lloyd Maydole of Mahnomen with a 21-2 long jump; and John Wubbels of Bemidji with a 10:03.0 two-mile.

Thief River Falls and Crookston waged a tight two-team battle through-out most of the meet before the Pirates ran out of competitors with two events still remaining.

The two district 31 rivals were tied 17-all after five events were completed, with Crookston jumping out to a 22½ to 19 advantage with the completion of the mile run and the high jump. But, Thief River Falls' first place 880 relay performance pushed the Prowler back on top 25 to 22½ at the meet's half-way mark.

The Pirates and Prowlers then traded the lead after every event, with Crookston holding a 37½ to 37 lead with just four events remaining. Thief River Falls' second place showing in the sprint medley relay put the Prowlers in front to stay 41 to 37½, with the Pirates' last entry in the 220, Jon Burkhardt placing fourth behind Hanson.

Local Boys To Participate In Ski-O-Rama

John Froehle and Brian Kuznia of Thief River Falls will be guests of the Minneapolis Tribune and Minneapolis Star on a trip to Minneapolis for Ski-O-Rama, an event organized by those papers for their carrier salesmen, featuring water skiing, speedboat riding, houseboating and swimming.

A number of Ski-O-Rama outings will be conducted this summer on Lake Minnetonka, to reward qualified carriers throughout the Upper Midwest for extra sales effort.

The boys will also spend several hours at Excelsior amusement park where they will receive free tickets for rides and amusements. They will stay two nights in a motel in downtown Minneapolis. They also will have a chance to ride water bikes, play miniature golf and sightsee. Supervisors will operate a houseboat for lake cruises. Siz speedboats will provide rides and pull water skiers.

It is expected that more than 1,250 carriers from Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and western Wisconsin will learn to water ski in this year's program.

Study Reveals Drug Response

A five-year study of adults with acute leukemia at the University of Minnesota has given further evidence of the effectiveness of the drug Daunorubicine and also indicated what type of patients will most likely respond favorably to treatment.

Reporting to the American association for cancer research in Boston, Mass., Dr. Clara Bloomfield stressed the importance of early diagnosis and treatment, saying the more leukemic cells in the blood at the onset of treatment, the less chance for improvement.

Twelve of the 45 patients treated with a combination of prednisone and Daunorubicine experienced a complete remission of leukemic cells—meaning the leukemia could not be detected by normal blood testing. The average (median) remission lasted approximately seven months but some had a complete remission for up to three years.

Dr. Bloomfield, an instructor in the department of medicine, also reported the best results were in adult women of any age and in younger men. Reasons for the differences are not yet known.

She emphasized the improved results in treatment were aided by improved support techniques including the use of a continuous flow cell spearator to provide transfusions of normal white blood cells to combat infection and normal platelets to prevent hemorrhage.

Other team members include Dr. Athanasios Theologides, associate professor of medicine; Dr. Richard Brunning, associate professor of laboratory medicine; and Dr. B. J. Kennedy, professor of medicine and director of medical oncology.

PROWLER SPRINTER Markoe Hanson stretches the finishing string as he edges Mike Gardner of Walker in the 220-yard dash Friday afternoon in the region eight track meet at Bagley. Both runners were clocked at 22.9, but Hanson claimed the firstplace medal as he broke the string.

PROWLER SHOT PUTTER Rande Smith placed fourth in the region eight meet with this toss of 45-10½ at Bagley Friday afternoon. However, Smith won the discus competition with a record toss of 144-4½ to earn a spot in the state meet Friday and Saturday at Macalester college in Minneapolis.

In the shot put preliminaries Rasch had a toss of 44-9¾ which established a new NSJC school record. However, the distance placed him 15th in the nation and only the top 12 qualified for the finals. Osmund Brown of Florida J.C. won the event and John Brown of Worthington J.C. of Minnesota finished second.

MiSCCA affiliates provided on-the-job training and employment for 1,259 disabled Minnesotans. Another 304 homebound individuals were given craft training and marketed products through MiSCCA's Minnesota homecrafters program. About 3,500 persons received physical restorative services through Curative Workshop and five affiliated rehabilitation centers throughout the state.

Minnesota Outdoors

by Stu and Dee Mann

Opening Slow To Good

Minnestoa fishing season opened with some wet weather and slow fishing with a few exceptions. At the governor's fishing party at Ruttgers Bay Lake lodge at Deerwood the visiting outdoor writers had the choice of fishing on 11 lakes with only two producing good catches. Big Sandy north of McGregor was the lake fished by Bernie Lusk, sports director of KROC radio and TV of Rochester. He and his party came up with 29 walleyes and one northern.

The two biggest walleyes were taken from Lake Roosevelt at Outing. Jim Wrotsted of "Fishing Facts" magazine of Milwaukee caught a walleye weighing 7 pounds 4 ounces.

Bob Gilsvik, a free-lance writer from Minneapolis, caught a 5 pound 4 ounce walleye in Roosevelt.

Wally Wettschreck of the Department of Natural Resources got his limit of crappies in Bay Lake, which by the way, is one of the best bass lakes in Minnesota.

This was one of the best Governor's fishing parties we have attended. Jack Ruttger and his committees did a great job of entertaining.

Other Fishing Reports

Bob Karbowski of the Four Seasons Resort at Bena on Big Winnie reports that after a slow start most of the fishermen were filling their limits. Bob adds, "Average size was the best we've seen in some time."

At cool ridge on Big Sand Lake on the dorset road at Park Rapids new owner Arvid Olson tells us that Bob Robertson of Shakopee caught a walleye weighing 8 pounds 12 ounces using a Little Joe Spinner with minnow.

Dusty Rhodes at Nevis writes that Gary Kockler of St. Cloud caught four walleye on East Crooked Lake. They weighed 6 pounds, 2 ounces; 5 pounds, 12 ounces; 4 pounds 12 ounces and 4 pounds, 11 ounces.

Maryland Resort on Lake Mary at Alexandria reports good walleye fishing. Mrs. Cleve Sletto tells us that Marvin Dumdei of Minneapolis had a walleye weighing 6 pounds 5 ounces. Tom Pumper of Shakopee caught a 4 pounder. Several limits of 3-4-5 and 6 pounders were reported. Clarence North was one of the successful fishermen.

Poorly Applied Collar Spoils Look Of Garment

A poorly applied collar gives the telltail sign of "homemadeness" to a garment. There are several tips for adding that professional touch, says Sarah Cox, University of Minnesota.

A collar interfacing should be lighter in weight than the fashion fabric and have the same care requirements. Either a matching or lighter color is preferable. After applying the interfacing to the wrong side of the upper collar, trim away interfacing corners to reduce bulk.

The clothing teacher indicates that stitching, grading seams and clipping are critical to the collar's appearance. The curved side of the collar pieces should be staystitched starting at center back.

Stitch the under to upper collar, again starting at center back. In this manner, stitching is with the grain. About one-half inch on either side of the corner, shorten the machine stitch to 25 stitches per inch. These small stitches make it possible to trim closer to the seam. Two diagonal stitches across the corner will provide a smoother corner point on the collar. A sharp point is difficult to turn.

Trim the under collar seam to about one-eighth inch, the upper collar to one-fourth inch. The interfacing can be trimmed as close as possible. After the collar is turned, press the seams on the outer edge toward the under collar. Stitch close to the seam line.

Since the garment neckline has been staystitched, clip to this stitching before pinning on the collar. After machine stitching the collar to the garment, grade the seams to eliminate bulk. Clip a convex curve and remove wedges to fabric on a concave curve. The wedge eliminates overlapping fabric.

Tips On Summer Tire Care Given By Tire Council

Motorists' chances of truly enjoying the lyrical "lazy, hazy, crazy days of summer" are a lot better if they bone up on warm weather tire care, advises the tire industry safety council.

The council offers these maintenance and safety tips to drivers preparing for summer vacation trips or, traditionally, just more time on the open road:

Make sure you have enough tread on your tires to last on long trips. If you're near the minimum safe tread depth of one-sixteenth inch in two or more grooves you may want to make replacements before you take off for isolated areas.

If you buy any new tires remember the law requires the seller to register them if they were made after May 22, 1971. In the event a recall is necessary because of possible safety defects, the manufacturer will notify you directly.

Check for proper inflation when tires are "cold" before starting out. Follow the car manufacturer's recommendations in your owner's manual, or posted in the glove compartment or affixed to a door pillar. Add up to four pounds of air per tire for long periods of highway driving at high speeds, but never exceed the maximum pounds per square inch (example: 32 p.s.i. max.) marked on the sidewalls.

Use your own air pressure guage if possible. Studies have shown station air towers are often inaccurate up to plus or minus four pounds per square inch.

Vacation trips often mean heavy loads. Make sure the weight is distributed as evenly as possible, including weight in any towed vehicle. Check your owner's manual or a tire dealer for the maximum load limits of your tires.

Driving on snow tires for any prolonged period in warm weather is poor economy. Abnormally high heat buildup in these thicker tires can wear down the tread faster than in regular tires. It may also cause sudden disablement.

When the rain comes, beware of skidding on "summer ice." Water mixes with oil and gas films already on the road to form a slick surface. The risk of losing control is five to 10 times more likely on wet pavement.

Check front-end alignment frequently, especially if you notice uneven tread wear or "pulling" to one side while driving. Back roads or a few solid bumps on any surface can throw alignment out, even if it was recently adjusted.

Check for debris such as stones and glass embedded in the tread and in the grooves before starting out.

Rotate your tires according to the recommendations in the owner's manual. If you notice abnormal tread wear or seem to be getting a bad ride, this is a good time to have your tires balanced.

In any case, check your tires for proper inflation, cuts or other damage at least once a month in warm weather.

The tire industry safety council has available a free "Consumer Tire Guide" containing detailed safety and maintenance information and inflation-load limit tables. The guide may be ordered by writing Tire Safety, Box 726, New York, N. Y. 10010. A similar guide for recreational vehicle tires may be ordered by writing Recreation at the same address.

The council also offers a tire safety and mileage kit for either passenger cars or recreational vehicles. They include the guide, a personal air pressure gauge, a tread depth guage and a spare set of four valve caps.

Both may be ordered from the same New York addressess as the guides. The car kit costs $1.50. The RV kit, containing a heavier, metal air pressure gauge and metal valve caps costs $3.50.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—Is there a deadline for veterans to apply for Veterans Administration hospital care?

A—No. There is no deadline if a veteran is eligible, needs it, and a bed is available. Beds are always available at VA hospitals for veterans with service - connected disabilities.

Q—I receive $25 monthly Veterans Administration compensation for a 10 per cent service - connected disability, while my brother receives $20 monthly for his 10 per cent disability. Why?

A—You receive the $25 monthly compensation because your disability was incurred during wartime. Apparently, your brother's compensation is for a peacetime disability, which is 80 per cent of the wartime rate or, in his case, $20.

Q—How long will I be covered by my Servicemen's Group Life Insurance if I was separated from service for total disability on November 1, 1971?

A—Your coverage under SGLI will continue while you remain totally disabled, but not beyond one year. Within a year of the date the Veterans Administration notifies you that your disability has been rated as service - connected, you can apply for a $10,000 low cost RH policy from the agency. Also within the year, you may convert your SGLI (maximum $15,000) to an individual policy at standard rates with any company participating in the SGLI program.

Q— Will the Veterans administration pay educational allowances for veterans to attend any school or pursue any educational program?

A— The course or program must not be barred by law and it must lead to a recognized educational, vocational or professional objective. Also, schools must be approved by their respective state-approving agencies.

Q— Am I still eligible for a GI home loan based on the death of my husband in service in 1946?

A— Yes. The veterans housing act of 1970 restored unused, expired loan benefits to World War II and Korean conflict veterans and their unremarried widows.

Q— My father, a World War II veteran, draw a Veterans administration pension because he is unable to work. Can he be treated in a VA hospital if his condition is not related to his military service?

A— Yes, if a VA examination confirms he needs hospitalization and a bed is available. Since he is on pension, it is not necessary for him to sign a statement of inability to pay.

Q— May I withdraw my insurance dividends which I left on deposit with the Veterans administration?

A— Yes. You may withdraw all or any part of your dividends at any time.

Q— I am married, have two stepchildren who live with my wife and me, and I attend school full-time under the GI bill. Will I have to adopt the children to draw additional allowances for them from the Veterans administration?

A— No. But to qualify for the additional allowances, you should submit to the VA the birth certificates for the children showing names of the parents, and proof of your marriage to the mother of the children.

Q— Does the Veterans administration pay dividends on paid-up life insurance?

A— Yes. However, when a policy is surrendered for reduced paid-up insurance, dividends will be based on the reduced amount. When limited payment policies such as 20-payment life have all premiums paid up, they continue to draw dividends.

Q— I would like to apply for a certificate of eligibility for a GI loan, but I lost my DD-214 Armed Forces Report of Transfer or Discharge. What should I do?

A— The Veterans administration will accept a legible copy of an original discharge or release from active duty. If a copy is not available, any VA office will supply an application form for requesting a replacement from your military department.

Q— Will the army furnish a memorial marker to be put in a private cemetery for my son who was lost at sea during World Warr II military service?

A— Yes. Application forms for memorial markers are available at all Veterans administration offices, and should be mailed to the Office of the Chief Support Services, Department of the Army, Washington, D.C.

Q—My husband, a veteran, is in a nursing home for a condition not related to military service. Will the Veterans administration pay for his nursing home care?

A— No. The VA is permitted to provide nursing home care only for a limited time for such veterans who have received maximum benefits from VA hospitalization. There is no time limit for veterans who were hospitalized primarily for service-connected conditions.

Balance of Nature?

Dr. Norman E. Borlaug, who won the Nobel Peace Prize for his wheat breeding program to feed under-developed countries, talked about the so called "Balance of Nature" while in New York recently. He said he had never observed nature being in balance with anything. He felt that nature deals in one excess after another. Too much rain, too little rain, drought, forest fires, volcanic eruptions, disease, starvation and other violent actions by nature which Dr. Borlaug has observed have convinced him that "Balance" on the part of nature is simply another fairy tale. The Nobel Prize winner feels man must use ingenuity — in the form of pesticides — to make the balance of nature a reality.

Wage And Hour Division Has Toll-Free Number

Starting June 1, the public will be able to telephone toll free from anyplace in Minnesota and receive information about the wage and hour laws administered by the U. S. department of labor.

The toll free number, which can be used anytime, day or night, is 800-522-1221, according to Phillip A. Granquist, area director of the labor department's wage and hour division.

The wage and hour division enforces the fair labor standards act, which requires payment of a minimum wage of $1.60 an hour and overtime rates of time and one-half an employee's regular pay after 40 hours a week. The act also restricts child labor.

In addition, the division enforces a number of other laws, including the equal pay act, which requires that men and women doing the same work at the same place receive the same wages; the age discrimination in employment act; wage garnishment provisions under the consumer credit protection act, and wage and hour and child labor requirements of the Walsh Healey public contracts act, among others.

From 5 p.m. to 8:30 a.m., a recording device will take the caller's name and telephone number. A compliance officer will call back the next day, or at a time convenient for the caller.

"This new service is designed to help both employers and employees understand the laws we administer so that violations will be eliminated. It is part of our continuing effort to bring about the fullest possible voluntary compliance with these laws," Granquist said.

Granquist's office is in Room 396, Federal Building, 110 South Fourth Street, Minneapolis. He and his compliance officers can also be reached in the Twin Cities free dialing area by phoning 725-2594.

Marijuana Among Drugs Causing Traffic Problem

Whether or not marijuana smoking in private should be legalized as a national commission has advised Congress, it definitely should not be legalized for drivers of automobiles. This is the warning of the Minnesota department of public safety, on the basis of experience with marijuana-smoking drivers.

"There are strong indications that drug-impaired drivers are more of a highway hazard than we have supposed," commissioner of public safety W. R. Hoaglund said today. "Marijuana is prominent among the drugs that cause driver impairment. The problem is currently the subject of a large number of studies, and we expect to learn a great deal more about it in the near future.

"The argument that this drug is not habit-forming and does not develop dependency in the user is irrelevant so far as driving is concerned. What is relevant is that this is a mind-altering drug which produces a false sense of self-confidence, and which can produce hallucinations.

"The idea of being in traffic with a hallucinating driver who is unable to comprehend the realities of the traffic pattern around him is a terrifying one. Last year, the Minnesota highway patrol arrested a significant number of drivers who were impaired by drugs, and many of them were impaired by marijuana. Marijuana was involved in at least two traffic fatalities last year," he said.

"A recent department of transportation study warned that subjective symptoms of marijuana users which are of particular concern to driving behavior include reported distortions of space and time, a feeling of well-being or euphoria, and possible hallucinations from high dosages, prolonged use or a high content of the active ingredient THC (tetrahydracannabinol.)"

EGF Pair Held Pending Legal Defense Action

One former Thief River Falls resident and another young man from East Grand Forks, charged with introducing counterfeit currency into Canada and possession of a restricted weapon, have been arraigned in magistrate's court in Morris, Man.

The 19 year old pair, Rocky Zitzow and Elton Gray, were arrested in the Emerson, Man., customs station after about $7,000 in bogus American twenty dollar bills dropped from the pockets on one of them. Another $5,740 and a .22 caliber revolver were found in their car.

The magistrate, Robert E. Trudel, remanded both of them without plea until June 7 when both of them will appear again. The action was taken when Zitzow asked that his brother act as his attorney. Trudel urged Zitzow to obtain counsel from Manitoba's free Legal Aid service and noted that the offense with which they are charged carries a maximum sentence of 14 years.

A spokesman for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said that the delay will give the pair more time to seek legal aid and to prepare for their defense.

Both of them were returned to jail near Winnipeg after their court appearance.

Gray and Zitzow reportedly told officials that they planned to convert the nearly $13,000 in counterfeit money into Canadian currency in Winnipeg and return to the United States.

Of the 849 offenders known to have been involved in the murder of police officers during the period of 1961-19770, 71 per cent had been arrested on some criminal charge before becoming involved in the killings. Thirty-eight per cent of the offenders had been previously arrested for a violent crime such as murder, forcible rape, robbery, assault with intent to kill, etc. Fifty-seven per cent of the 849 offenders involved in police killings had prior convictions on criminal charges. Sixty-seven per cent of those convicted had been granted leniency in the form of parole or probation.

SUCCESSFUL CHEESE COOKERY

When cooking cheese, always keep the heat low. Cheese needs just enough heat to melt and blend with other ingredients. High heat or long cooking makes cheese tough and stringy. Dry heat, prolonged baking or high temperatures will produce leathery texture.

Add cheese to other ingredients in small pieces; it spreads more evenly and cooks in a shorter time. When making a cheese sauce, add the cheese just at the last minute and cook only until it melts. If cheese is to be grated or shredded, the job is easier if you work with cold cheese taken directly from the refrigerator.

Except for soft, unripened cheeses such as cottage cheese or cream cheese, all cheese tastes better served unchilled. This usually requires from 20 minutes to an hour at room temperature to bring out its distinctive flavor and texture. Cut off and set out just what you'll use; wrap and return the rest to the refrigerator.

Today's Farmer Efficient Toiler, Big Customer

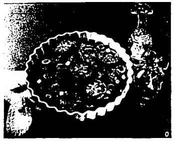
Today's farmer is a mighty efficient man. His productivity has been climbing more than five percent per year, "roughly twice the rate for industry," as Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin has pointed out. In 1969, U.S. farmers produced over 20 percent more products on six percent fewer acres than in 1957-59.

In terms of persons supplied by one farmworker, the man who produced enough for himself and six others at the turn of the century was producing enough for himself and 42 others by 1968 — with the aid of supply and marketing industries.

Marketing farm food and fiber alone provides about 5 million non-farm jobs for which payroll and fringe benefits are $25 billion. Thirty percent of jobs in private employment are agriculture-related.

Besides being a major supplier to the U.S. economy, agriculture is a $50 billion customer. Among the purchases: 6.5 million tons of steel in the form of tractors, other motor vehicles, machinery and equipment; more petroleum than any other single industry — and more electricity than Chicago, Detroit, Boston, Baltimore and Washington, D.C.!

Spanish Olive Saladry for Summer



Give the summer salad season a flavor lift by adding pimiento-stuffed olives to your salad bowl. Whatever your salad pleasure, the versatile Spanish olive will give it a subtle tang and attractive color. Here's a delicious new version of an old favorite: combine sliced green olives with sliced tomatoes and marinate them in a spicy oil and vinegar dressing. Serve the tomato and olive salad with barbecued chicken, steak or hamburgers, or even with franks and beans.

MARINATED TOMATO OLIVE SALAD
(Makes 6 servings)

- 4 large tomatoes, peeled and cut into thick slices
- ⅓ cup sliced pimiento-stuffed olives
- 2 tablespoons chopped yellow or green onion
- ⅓ cup olive or salad oil
- ¼ cup vinegar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon basil leaves
- ¼ teaspoon ground thyme
- 1 clove garlic, crushed

Arrange tomato slices in shallow serving dish; sprinkle with olives and onion. Blend remaining ingredients and pour over tomatoes. Cover and chill several hours before serving.

Smile And Say Cheese

Cheese? Yes, all kinds of dogs love cheese, and the 300 dogs that make up the unique Ken-L Ration taste panel spent many months proving it. The result is a new cheese flavored dog food.

The taste panel members, who live on a country estate near Barrington, Illinois, are responsible for tasting proposed new dog food formulations, and indicating their responses to new flavors, textures, and forms.

When the idea of a cheese flavored dog food was recently proposed, the canine tasters went into action.

The first step in developing this food was an initial test by the taste panel: the dogs were fed food flavored with cheese to see whether or not the flavor appealed to them. The analysis of test results showed that the flavor does, indeed, have high appeal.

Human researchers and nutritionists then developed the many possible formulations for the new food; each was analyzed for the necessary vitamins and minerals.

Once the nutritional formulations checked out perfectly in the laboratory, they were prepared in carefully measured amounts for the taste panel to sample. Over a period of time, the data indicated that the dogs responded very favorably to cheddar and blue cheese.

The development of the new Ken-L Ration Cheese Flavored Burger, with the well liked cheddar and blue cheese, took several years. Work on the product—and on all new dog food products—continues until researchers and veterinarians and the members of the canine taste panel — are confident that the pet food is the most nutritious and appealing product available.

Sandwichery for the Grill

Frankfurters, cheese and foil are a winning combination for picnics. Mix the zesty filling and stuff franks ahead of time. Then wrap in foil and refrigerate. At departure hour, pop them into a cooler, pick up and go.

The sandwiches should be kept refrigerator-cold until you're ready to grill them.

Cheesy Franks make an easy picnic main course.

CHEESY FRANKS

- 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
- ⅓ cup chili sauce
- ¼ cup pickle relish
- ⅛ teaspoon leaf oregano
- 8 frankfurters
- 8 hot dog rolls

In a bowl combine cheese, chili sauce, relish and oregano. Slit franks lengthwise, but do not cut through. Fill with cheese mixture, placing about 3 tablespoons in each. Place frankfurters in rolls. Place sandwiches on rectangles of aluminum foil. Seal carefully and twist ends. Heat in preheated 400° oven or on grill 15-20 minutes. Yield: 8. Note: Sandwiches may be prepared ahead, wrapped in foil and kept refrigerated until baked in oven or on grill. Serve them piping hot.

Galley Cooking's Easy With These Timely Tips

Going on a cruise? Make a list of unperishable foods already on board. Then plan menus for each day aboard and prepare a shopping list of all ingredients needed. Shop for groceries two days before the big cruise and stow everything that doesn't need refrigeration in the galley. Prepare as much of the first day's food as you can ahead of time and freeze or store. When it's time to lift anchor, you'll be calm, cool and collected.

Hamburgers are always welcome. Make up patties ahead of time, sprinkle with seasoned salt, lemon pepper and a pat of butter. Wrap in foil and freeze. Keep frozen on board until needed then just place the individually wrapped patties in a frying pan, cook 10 minutes, turn, slit foil at top and cook for another 10 minutes. This keeps the patties moist and there's no cleanup mess.

Mix maple syrup or honey with a stick of butter to make a frosting-like topping for pancakes, waffles, muffins, toast, bread. Saves time. Tastes great.

Instant nonfat dry milk and equal amounts of any liquid can be beaten stiffly for dessert toppings. A bit of lemon juice will stabilize the whip and accent the flavor.

Add a small piece of butter to water when cooking spaghetti, rice or noodles. This prevents boiling over and keeps pasta and rice grains from sticking together.

Only about 10 million pounds of butter are churned on today's dairy farms, compared with nearly a billion pounds churned on U.S. farms in 1909. Most dairymen buy their butter at the store, just like everybody else!

American Cheese What Is It?

"American Cheese" has English ancestry. It's really Cheddar, first made in this country soon after 1620 by the Pilgrims. The English called it Yankee Cheddar to differentiate between it and their homemade variety.

American cheese has also been called, among other names, yellow cheese, store cheese, Herkimer County Cheese and — most American of all—apple pie cheese. (Incidentally, the town of Cheddar in England no longer produces cheese.)

Serve a Salad That Doubles as Dessert

Cranberry-orange relish is a traditional brightener of holiday menus, a delicious accompaniment for the festive bird. But no law makes this favorite poultry partner a winter-only treat. Right now, summer meals featuring barbecued or fried chicken or grilled turkey will taste even better for a cranberry-orange accent.

Especially if you serve Cranberry Ice Cream Salads — tart, fruity, yet creamy thanks to the ice cream addition which helps make these individually molded salads lush enough to double as dessert!

CRANBERRY ICE CREAM SALADS

- 1 can (1 lb.) whole cranberry sauce
- 2 teaspoons orange peel
- 2 large oranges
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 package (3 oz.) orange flavor gelatin
- 1 pint vanilla ice cream
- Salad greens

Break apart cranberry sauce and drain; reserve liquid. Peel orange and dice sections, reserving juice. Combine cranberry liquid, orange and lemon juices and enough water to give 1 cup. Heat liquid to boiling and pour over gelatin until dissolved. Add ice cream, mixing until well blended. Chill until jelly-like in consistency (this will take only a short time due to the rapid cooling of ice cream). Fold in orange peel, diced oranges, and cranberry sauce; turn into 8 individual salad molds, 5-oz. each. Chill until firm. Serve on salad greens and garnish with additional orange sections, if desired. This is a refreshing salad to accompany broiled chicken, roast turkey or other fowl. Makes 8 servings.

Note: Cranberry Ice Cream Salads may also be served as a dessert salad. Omit the salad greens.

Ice Cream Brownie Torte

Tantalizing. That's the never-fail combination of brownies and ice cream. Particularly in this version in which refreshing peppermint stick ice cream forms alternate layers with the chocolatey brownies for a torte that could be the hit of a summer birthday party.

Besides its just plain lusciousness, the torte is a make-ahead dessert that will await your pleasure in the freezer.

ICE CREAM BROWNIE TORTE

- 1 package (about 1 lb. 6 oz.) brownie mix
- 2 eggs
- ⅓ cup water
- ⅓ cup chopped nuts
- 1 quart peppermint stick ice cream

Line 3 round, 8-inch cake pans with foil. In a bowl combine brownie mix, eggs, water and nuts. Blend with a spoon. Divide evenly into pans. Bake in preheated 350° oven, 15-20 minutes. (Do not overbake.) Cool in pans on wire racks 5 minutes. Remove to racks to cool completely; carefully remove foil. About 2 to 3 hours before serving, divide ice cream into thirds. Spread one-third on each brownie layer; stack. Freeze until serving time. Remove from freezer; top with chocolate sauce and serve. Makes 10-12 servings.

Get to Know Cheese

Here Are Helpful Pointers for You On Buying, Storing and Cooking With This Favorite

Making natural cheese is an art centuries old — and one which "immigrated" to the United States with happy results. It consists of separating most of the milk solids from the milk by coagulating with rennet or a bacterial culture or both, and separating the curd from the whey by heating, draining and pressing. Most cheeses in this country are made from whole milk. (But both milk and cream are used for certain types of cheese; and, for other types, skim milk, whey and mixtures of all these are used.)

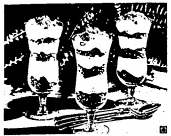
Summer Dessert Perfection



The French word parfait means perfect, and that's just what you'll call these Vanilla Cream Parfaits — a perfect summertime dessert. Vanilla pudding combined with whipped cream is layered with butterscotch-flavored oats crunch. The nut-like flavor of quick or old fashioned oats in the rich, golden crunchy layer complements the creamy pudding perfectly. Treat your family to this bit of cool, creamy dessert perfection soon.

VANILLA CREAM PARFAITS

Makes 4 servings

One 3-¼-oz. pkg. vanilla pudding and pie filling mix
1-½ cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ pint whipping cream, whipped
1-¼ cups quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
⅓ cup melted butter or margarine

For pudding, combine pudding mix and milk in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until pudding comes to a full rolling boil. Remove from heat; stir in vanilla. Pour into bowl, cover with waxed paper and refrigerate 1 hour or until cold. Fold in whipped cream. Refrigerate until ready to assemble.

While pudding is chilling, prepare oats crunch. Combine oats, brown sugar and butter, mixing until crumbly. Place in a shallow baking pan. Heat in preheated moderate oven (350°F.) about 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool 15 minutes, then toss lightly with fork to form crumbs.

Just before serving, layer pudding and crunch in parfait glasses. Serve immediately.

To Please the Men

Where men and food are concerned, you can't go wrong with steak — and the ladies like it, too. Keep it within a patio party budget by rolling cube steaks around Cheddar sticks and pickles for a conversation-piece main course to please everybody. Start the party with South of the Border flair: Guacamole to dip from avocado shells. Potato salad and relishes make good companions for the steak. For dessert, serve ah-inspiring strawberry shortcake, topped a fresh way — with whipped dairy sour cream.

GUACAMOLE

2 avocados, halved and pitted
1-2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tomato, diced
¼ cup finely chopped onion
1½-2 teaspoons chili powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups large curd cottage cheese, drained if necessary

Scoop out avocados, reserve shells. Cut avocado meat into ¼-inch cubes and sprinkle with lemon juice. Add tomato to avocado; chill. Meanwhile, mix onion, chili powder and salt into cottage cheese. Just before serving, drain avocado and tomato mixture; fold into cottage cheese mixture. Spoon into avocado shells. Serve as appetizer with dipper-size corn chips.

STEAK ROLL-UPS

8 cube steaks, 3½ x 5 inches (about 2½ lbs.)
Water
1 teaspoon seasoned instant meat tenderizer
8 Cheddar cheese sticks, 4 x ½ inch
8 dill pickles
Melted butter

Moisten both sides of meat with water and sprinkle tenderizer evenly over entire surface. Place a cheese stick and pickle on each steak. Roll and fasten with metal skewers. Place on grill, skewered side down, 4-5 inches from coals. Brushing occasionally with butter, grill 4-5 minutes; turn and grill 4-5 additional minutes or until desired degree of doneness. Makes 8 servings.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

1 quart fresh strawberries
½ cup sugar
2 cups regular all-purpose flour
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
1¼ cup dairy sour cream
Water
Butter, melted
2 tablespoons butter, softened

Wash, hull and slice strawberries; add ½ cup sugar and set aside in refrigerator. Into a bowl sift together flour, ¼ cup sugar, salt, baking powder and baking soda. Add sour cream all at once; stir until mixture clings together. On lightly floured board knead about 12 times. Turn into 9-inch round cake pan and pat to fit pan; brush top with water. Bake 30-35 minutes in preheated 375° oven; remove from oven and brush top with melted butter. Split into two layers; spread cut surfaces with softened butter. Place bottom layer of cake on serving plate; spread with ½ of the strawberries. Cover with top layer of cake and remaining strawberries. To serve, cut into wedges and top with Whipped Sour Cream Topping. Makes 8-10 servings.

WHIPPED SOUR CREAM TOPPING

½ teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons confectioners sugar

In chilled bowl whip sour cream until double in bulk; add vanilla and sugar and continue beating until well blended.

Note: Sour cream will thin out during the early part of the whipping, but with continued whipping (5 minutes) it will thicken and double in volume. However, it will never become as thick as whipped cream.

An Editorial:

Milk Is Relevant

Has milk become such an accepted product that no one really pays attention to it anymore? Is it something like the weather which everyone talks about but no one does anything about it?

And yet, milk is relevant. It fits today's "life style" as one of nature's best products. Then why hasn't per capita consumption of milk kept pace with population growth?

Can it be that people turn off products when they turn into habits? Or when they become blase about anything? For example, a market survey in Chicago following the intensive 13-day coverage of the Apollo 15 flight to the moon found that only 1.6 percent of the people polled could recall the names of astronauts Worden, Irwin and Scott.

What should be done with a strait-laced product like milk that's tied tightly with social mores, conventions and institutions? Buttress this fact with the "drink your milk" command of generations of mothers and the industry faces a "goody goody gumshoes" problem harder to sell than fizz or fun or sin.

Is "being good for you" the worst thing that can be said about a product?

And milk and milk products are good for people. In fact, they're necessary for the maintenance of a proper diet. It's difficult to ingest the proper amounts of vitamins and minerals without consuming dairy foods.

Is milk in the same pew with the churches, the family units and other institutions such as "family meals" which are considered "not relevant" and are changing or fading from the American scene?

Not on your life! Milk products do belong in our society. Note the lines for bread and milk when people revert to "basics" during a snow storm. If man buys milk to fill his basic need then, how do we get him to use dairy products during a materialistic bonanza of competing products?

Simply by motivating him to use milk because he'll be a better man for it, if he does. After all, as American Dairy Association's "New You" campaign says: If you're losing three billion cells a minute, you certainly want to replace them with new, energetic cells. And that means milk. And that's why milk is relevant now, and tomorrow, too!

- A good traveler, easy to serve, satisfying, nutritious — that's cheese. Wrapped for protection from moisture, it takes nicely to ice refrigeration. Useable to the last bite, too.

Devilish Sandwich Snacks Give Crew Energy to Burn

Racing sailors need lots of high-power fuel if they're to make a good showing in the regatta. Food should be made at home and taken aboard so busy sailors spend as little time as possible in the galley.

In addition to hot and hearty main dishes that can be heated up at mealtime, you'll want to send plenty of quick and nourishing snacks.

To give those sailors between-meal energy to burn, pack a plastic refrigerator storage container full of Sea Devils, a two-layer sandwich that's a savory mixture of deviled ham, pickle relish, Worcestershire sauce and dairy sour cream on white bread topped with egg salad, lettuce and another slice of bread.

Ravenous racing sailors will appreciate these quick and easy-to-eat sandwiches. And you'll win compliments for their devilishly good flavor.

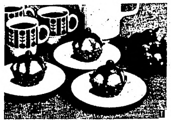
Since boating and fishing are obvious mates, a good shipboard cook is always ready with new ways to serve the daily catch. And even if the luck runs out and the daily catch is picked up at the nearest marina, this recipe for Piquant Pick-A-Dilly can make it taste fresh. Pick-A-Dilly is a zesty sauce of dairy sour cream, condensed cream of mushroom soup, chopped dill pickle, green pepper, green onions and parsley, seasoned with the complimentary flavors of lemon juice, dry mustard and leaf basil.

The convenient canned soup and dairy sour cream right from the carton make this seafood sauce easy to prepare ahead and refrigerate. At mealtime heat and serve warm over your favorite fish fillets that have been dredged in seasoned cornmeal and flour and pan fried in butter.

Complete this fish supper with fresh corn-on-the-cob drenched in butter and sliced tomatoes. Angel food cake topped with fresh fruit and a dollop of sour cream makes a quick and easy on-deck dessert.

Why Buy A Boat?

A recent survey showed 48.5 percent of the people questioned purchased a boat for water skiing, 44 percent for fishing, 37.2 percent for cruising and 35.8 percent for hunting.



The expression "I scream, you scream, we all scream for ice cream" is hardly a "scoop." It would be a mistake, however, to say that it cuts no ice—especially when it's dished out in Caramel Ice Cream Baskets.

The baskets are made of chow mein noodles . . . ideal for the homemaker who wants to use her own "noodle" in serving this frozen asset. Guests, who'll each have a ball, will be carried away by the caramel flavor.

CARAMEL ICE CREAM BASKETS

7/8 cup (2 bars — regular size) coarsely chopped Peter Paul Power House bars
2 teaspoons milk
1 can (3 oz.) chow mein noodles
Ice Cream

Combine candy bars and milk in glass measuring cup or small saucepan. Heat in pan of hot water until candy is completely melted. Stir frequently. Combine melted candy with chow mein noodles. Mix until noodles are evenly coated.

Spoon noodle mixture into 6 (6 oz.) buttered custard cups. Keeping the fingers well buttered, press the noodles into the bottom and about half way up the sides of the cups to form a basket.

Let stand at room temperature 1-2 hours until hardened. Remove from custard cups by running a knife around the edge. Fill centers with ice cream. Serve immediately.

°Yield: 6 servings.

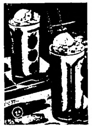
Ice Cream and Fruit Cooler

Fruit flavors, ice cream and milk get together in this summer sipper. It might do double duty as beverage and dessert for a quick sandwich meal. Keep it in mind, too, for any time "something good" is called for.

STRAWBERRY PINEAPPLE COOLER

In a mixer or blender, combine 2 cups milk, 2½ cups (1 lb., 4½ oz. can) chilled crushed pineapple, and ½ pint vanilla ice cream until just blended. Pour into tall glasses and top with scoop of strawberry ice cream. Garnish with mint, if desired. Yield: 6 servings.



Strawberry Pineapple Cooler can be beverage or dessert.

For Any Day

Sumptuous Sundae Sauces

Americans invented the sundae. And Yankee ingenuity is still at work devising luscious ways to top ice cream. Three tempting examples are Praline Sauce—rich as the famed Southern candy, fluffy Marshmallow Sauce, and that old smoothie, peanut butter in a saucy new guise.

Stir one up next time you serve ice cream.

Praline Sauce: In a 1-quart saucepan melt ¼ cup (½ stick) butter; add ¾ cup broken pecans and sauté until lightly toasted. Add ⅓ cup firmly packed light brown sugar and 2 tablespoons light corn syrup; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and sugar is melted. Gradually add ½ cup evaporated milk. Remove from heat; blend in ½ teaspoon vanilla. Yield: 1¼ cups.

Marshmallow Sauce: In 1½-quart saucepan combine ½ cup sugar, ¼ cup water and ¼ cup light corn syrup. Bring to boil; reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes. Remove from heat; add 1 cup miniature marshmallows and stir until melted. In small mixing bowl beat 2 egg whites until soft peaks form. Continue to beat while gradually adding hot syrup. Cover and chill. If sauce separates, mix until smooth. Yield: 2½ cups. For Marshmallow Mint Sauce: After adding syrup to egg whites, blend in ⅛ teaspoon peppermint extract and a few drops of green food coloring to tint pale green.

Peanut Butter Ice Cream Sauce: In 1-quart saucepan combine 1 cup sugar, ½ cup water and ⅓ cup light corn syrup; bring to boil and cook over low heat until 220° F. on candy thermometer. Remove from heat; cool without stirring to 100° F. on candy thermometer. Place ¼ cup peanut butter in small mixing bowl; gradually add syrup while beating at medium speed. If sauce is refrigerated, warm to room temperature before serving. Yield: 1½ cups.

Moo-ving Story

Milk is on the move—traveling more miles than ever to reach dinner tables. At times a Florida family may pour fresh milk that came from Minnesota, or a Southerner may sip Midwest milk, says the Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Bulk tank trucks move milk more easily to processing plants than milk cans. Improved highways and advances in refrigerated transportation have made long trips for fresh milk possible.

What does it all mean to housewives? That they can count on a steady supply of fresh milk, even if there's not a cow for miles around.

Production and Income To Rise

Milk production in 1972 will probably exceed the 118.6 billion pounds of 1971. Basically the same conditions that increased production in 1971 still exist — a plentiful supply of herd replacements, the eased labor situation, and high milk prices. In addition, grain and concentrate prices have dropped.

According to A. G. Mathis of the United States Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service, "herd replacements on hand at the beginning of 1972 were 32.1 per 100 cows, up from last year's good supply. Even with relatively high prices for slaughter cows, the decline in milk cow numbers likely will continue at a slow rate. The 1 percent decline during 1971 was the least since 1954. The prospect of another small drop strongly indicates a gain in milk output this year, since milk output per cow has been rising about 2 percent in recent years."

The high level of national unemployment, running between 5 1/2 and 6 percent, has made labor available for dairying. This easier labor supply will help to slow the decline in the numbers of dairy farms and milk cows.

Farmers' milk prices have been high since 1965, increasing nearly 40 percent in the intervening years. Though less milk was sold from farms in 1971 than in 1965, farmers grossed about 35 percent more income from dairying in 1971. Net returns were limited by increased production costs.

It is expected that the net income for dairying will be maintained in 1972 with current lower feed costs and price restrictions on many imports.

Prices and Income

Gross dairy income for 1972 may reach $7 billion. In 1971, higher prices and larger farm marketings caused farm gross income from dairying to climb about 4 percent to $6.8 billion.

Farmers received an average of $5.86 per 100 pounds of milk this past year, some 3 percent more than in 1970. Mr. Mathis notes that little rise from a year earlier is likely after March 1972, assuming no change in dairy price-support levels and purchase prices or in Federal order pricing. In the first quarter, prices averaged about 3 percent over last year's $5.90 per 100 pounds.

Supply-demand conditions indicate that manufacturing grade milk prices (adjusted to the average annual fat test) will likely hold close to support levels during most of 1972.

"In 1972," states Mr. Mathis, "prices for milk used in bottling (Class 1) will continue to depend on policies established in Federal order markets, which price about two-thirds of Grade A milk, and on the ability of fluid milk cooperatives to maintain premium prices above Class I minimum in Federal order markets."

Utilization of Dairy Foods

Dairy sales in 1971 were 109 billion pounds milk equivalent, slightly below the 109.2 billion in 1970. This decline may be attributed to rising retail prices, relatively high unemployment, and competition from other foods for homemakers' dollars. Competition from milk substitutes diminished and sales of cheese and lowfat fluid milk rose, but not enough to overcome declines in sales of butter, whole milk, cream and evaporated milk.

In 1971, domestic per capita civilian consumption of milk in all dairy products was 557 pounds, down slightly from the 562 pounds in 1970. A similar small loss in per capita consumption may be expected in 1972.

Larger farm marketings of milk in 1971 forced USDA to remove larger quantities of dairy products from the market, through the price support and related programs. Removals were equivalent to 7.3 billion pounds of milk, up from 5.8 billion pounds in 1970. If production increases in 1972 and commercial disappearance of dairy products remains stable, surplus removals from the market will increase.

Imports and Exports

In 1971, imports of dairy products were equivalent (fat solids basis) to 1.3 billion pounds of milk, about a fourth less than in 1970. The drop was due to new dairy import quotas in 1971 and to reduced world supplies of dairy products.

Dairy exports in 1971 were equivalent to 2 1/2 billion pounds of milk, up from a half billion pounds in 1970. This increase was due to sales of 128 million pounds of butter for export. Export sales of butter in 1972, plus deferred shipment of 1971 sales, will keep export levels high.

Dairymen Spend 11 Minutes A Day With Each Cow

Dairymen rank near the top in efficiency among American farmers. Milk output per man-hour has doubled since 1960. In 1970, dairy farmers spent an average of 11 minutes a day to care for each milk cow (excluding the time spent in raising feed and caring for herd replacements). Ten years ago, these farmers used over 20 minutes per cow in direct labor.

Good luck indeed for a potluck supper gathering is Ham and Cheese Casserole. Onion and celery seed add flavor; green pepper and pimiento add color to the meat-macaroni-cheese dish.

Perfect for Potlucks

Good Go-Along Main Dish

This summer, it's picnics and family reunions. Other times, it's likely to be a church supper or a PTA meeting. One thing's for sure — the potluck supper is never out of season.

Ham and Cheese Casserole is a good recipe to keep in mind for such occasions. It features Cheddar and cottage cheese with chunks of ham and tender macaroni. Mix and refrigerate at home, keep it cold for the brief trip to the dinner site and bake it there, if convenient — it takes just half an hour in the oven, and serves 8-10.

Hearty and flavorful, it's likely to get you more potluck invitations than ever!

HAM AND CHEESE SUPPER CASSEROLE

1 package (7 oz.) elbow macaroni
¼ cup (½ stick) butter
½ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped celery
⅓ cup chopped onion
3 tablespoons regular all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons celery seed
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups milk
2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
2 cups diced cooked ham (about 8 oz.)
1 cup cottage cheese
2 eggs, slightly beaten
¼ cup chopped pimiento
Cheddar cheese slices

Cook macaroni according to package directions; drain. In a second pan, melt butter; sauté green pepper, celery and onion 2-3 minutes. Blend in flour, celery seed, salt and pepper. Remove from heat; gradually stir in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cook 2 additional minutes. In a large bowl combine macaroni, Cheddar cheese, ham, cottage cheese, eggs, pimiento and white sauce; blend well. Turn into a buttered 2-quart casserole and bake in a preheated 350° oven 30 minutes. Remove from oven; garnish top with cheese slices. Allow to stand a few minutes before serving.

Royal Way with Melon a la Mode

To crown dinner with a regal touch that's refreshing as well, remember this easy idea — a pleasure to look at and to eat.

Bring cantaloupe and ice cream to the table in the shape of fanciful little crowns. Halve the melons scallop-style. Fill with strawberry ice cream. "Jewel" with melon balls — fresh berries, too, if you like. Voila! Dessert fit for a king.

CANTALOUPE A LA MODE

2 medium cantaloupes
1 pint strawberry ice cream
Strawberries, optional

Halve cantaloupes in "scalloped" fashion; remove seeds. Scoop out several melon balls. Fill each half with a large scoop of ice cream; garnish with melon balls and strawberries, if desired. Yield: 4 servings.

Farmer Income To Be Higher In 1972

Easy Eating Goes with Dairy Month

Suppose milk were a seasonal specialty like corn-on-the-cob or peaches.

Not so long ago, something very like that was actually the case. In point of fact, that's the reason June is Dairy Month, instead of November or February.

Oh, yes, milk was available year 'round but, as summer approached, cows, under the benevolent influence of balmier air and more plentiful grazing, increased their milk production to its yearly peak.

Not only was the milk supply more lavish, so were the other dairy-fresh foods made from milk — including cottage cheese, butter, sour cream. The Milk Season was deliciously on!

That's why, in 1937, when National Milk Month made its bow, its sponsors chose to hold it from June 12 to July 10. By 1939, it had become June Dairy Month, celebrated on a calendar month basis with a national campaign to promote greater use of the dairy products in such plentiful supply.

Today, even though fashions inspired by those of the '30's are back in milady's wardrobe, dairy farming has come a long way from the '30's. New knowledge and techniques have affected everything from Bossy's housing to her dinner bucket, making it possible to achieve favorable conditions and high milk production all year long.

Still, June remains Dairy Month. It's traditional — and it's logical.

The coming of summer, after all, signals a change in life-style for most of us. Along with bulky overcoats, we shed a lot of the formality that goes with the "indoor" season. Clothing and living pace become a bit more casual — and so does eating.

The backyard barbecue replaces dining room suppers while the weather smiles. Cooks — who may want time to indulge their swimming or golfing interests — look for easy ways to keep the family well-fed and well-pleased.

That's where dairy foods come in. They're quick and convenient, ready to serve as is — or great ingredients. Their own fresh taste complements other foods, adds meal-appeal and nutrition.

June is a good time to call to mind how handily dairy foods fit into a tote-along meal, a fabulous dessert with make-ahead charm, a new specialty for the backyard barbecue — all kinds of carefree cookery. This section is full of just those kinds of delicious ideas.

Happy Dairy Month!

Kinds Of Milk

Milk appears on the market in many forms to meet the many needs of consumers. A wide variety of products has been developed to improve keeping quality, facilitate distribution and storage, make maximum use of by-products and preserve surplus. According to the National Dairy Council's booklet, Newer Knowledge of Milk, "the processing involved in producing each form of milk is designed and controlled to protect the health of the consumer. Some forms of milk are available in all communities, others may be found in only a few communities.

"Standards of composition are generally established by state and local governments for all fluid milk products. Federal standards of identity have been established only on evaporated, condensed and nonfat dry milk."

Whole Fresh Fluid Milk — Many states define whole milk as milk that contains not less than 3.25 percent milk fat and not less than 8.25 percent milk solids-non-fat. Most of the whole fluid milk marketed in this country is pasteurized and homogenized.

Raw Milk — Milk that receives no heat treatment.

Certified Milk—Originated in 1893 in response to a need for safe milk. Its certification on the container means that the conditions under which it was produced and distributed conform with the high standards for cleanliness set forth by the American Association of Medical Milk Commissions. Where certified milk is available, it may either be raw or pasteurized. It may also be homogenized and fortified with vitamin D.

Fortified Milks — Contain added amounts of one or more of the essential nutrients normally present in milk.

Concentrated Milks — May be fresh, frozen, evaporated, condensed or dried. Milks are concentrated by removal of varying amounts of water under carefully controlled conditions of heat and vacuum.

All may be reconstituted by the addition of appropriate quantities of water.

Skim Milk — Milk from which fat has been removed by centrifugation to reduce its milk fat content to less than that of whole milk. In the skim milk ordinarily available, the fat content is 0.1 percent, although it may be lower or higher. Various states have established standards ranging from 8.0 to 9.25 percent as the minimum for the total solids in skim milk. The product is pasteurized.

Two Percent Milk — As its name implies, two percent milk contains two percent milk fat. Made from fresh whole and skim milk, two percent milk is pasteurized and homogenized. It may be enriched by adding milk solids-non-fat and various vitamin and mineral preparations.

Cultured Milks — Cultured milks are prepared from pasteurized (or sterilized) milk. Certain desirable bacterial cultures, whose growth under controlled conditions of sanitation, inoculation, and temperature yield a variety of milks, have been added. Buttermilk is the best known cultured milk product.

Flavored Milk and Milk Drinks—A flavored milk is whole milk with syrup or powder containing a wholesome flavoring agent and sugar added.

Enjoy Good Eating in Your Own Backyard

Grand way to treat chicken for enjoyable summer eating puts the rotisserie basket to work over the grill, adds flavor via an orange sauce. Team the chicken with corn-on-the-cob, spread with onion-parsley butter. Add salad, rolls, butter and milk to complete the meal.

It's June Dairy Month

June has been celebrated as dairy month since its inception in 1937. Then, June, as a peak production month for milk, was selected as a fitting time for a nationwide salute to the dairy industry. Today, scientific progress has made every month as productive as June. So the month now serves a timely reminder to the housewife to serve nutritious dairy foods to her family all year long.

June Dairy Month is celebrated at consumers' tables, in supermarkets and restaurants, and wherever dairy foods are sold or consumed. It is a time to honor the multi-billion dollar dairy industry which plays such a vital role in the health and welfare of the nation.

During the month, dairy nights at ballparks throughout the country are the scene for milking contests with political and sport celebrities. June Dairy Month is the industry's annual effort to tell its story and to urge greater use of dairy products.

Specialties for the Grill —

For Family Enjoyment Outdoors

Butter sauce-ry is the secret ingredient of this pair of menus, which the outdoor chef will welcome for the chance to try his hand at something different.

A sweet-sour chicken treatment, for instance, gives him the opportunity to perform with the grill rotisserie. The easy sauce makes all the flavor difference.

Good partner for the chicken is grill-cooked corn-on-the-cob with parsley, onion, butter and seasonings.

ORANGE BARBECUED CHICKEN

½ cup (1 stick) butter
1 small seedless orange, ground (about ½ cup)
½ cup orange juice
¼ cup dark corn syrup
2 tablespoons vinegar
½ teaspoon ground ginger
2 broiler-fryer chickens (2½-3 lbs. each), cut up
Salt and pepper

In small saucepan melt butter; add orange, orange juice, corn syrup, vinegar and ginger. Simmer 10 minutes. Meanwhile, season chicken with salt and pepper; place in rotisserie basket. Allow to rotate over slow coals, basting every 10-15 minutes with sauce. Cook for about 1 hour or until chicken is tender. Pass sauce. 6-8 servings.

CORN-ON-THE-COB WITH ONION-PARSLEY BUTTER

6 ears corn, husked
¼ cup (½ stick) butter
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon coarsely ground pepper
¼ teaspoon dry mustard

Soak corn in cold water for 15 minutes. Meanwhile, in a small mixing bowl cream butter; gradually add parsley, onion and Worcestershire sauce. Blend in salt, pepper and mustard. Yield: ⅓ cup butter spread. Place each ear of corn on double thick square of aluminum foil; spread each ear with approximately 1 tablespoon butter spread. Fold foil down onto corn in tight double fold; fold ends over and over up close to corn. Cook on grill about 30 minutes; turn often.

GRILLED LIVER

Place liver on broiler pan brushed with butter or on grill. Brush or drizzle liver with melted butter. Place under preheated broiler or over hot coals. Watch carefully as liver cooks very quickly (3-4 minutes per side). Serve with choice of Butter Bacon Sauce or Tomato Bacon Sauce, spooned over the grilled meat.

BUTTER BACON SAUCE: In skillet fry 4 slices bacon until crisp; remove bacon and chop. In skillet with bacon fat, melt ¼ cup (½ stick) butter. Stir in 1 tablespoon chopped chives or green onions; simmer. Return chopped bacon to pan. Serve warm over liver. Makes: ½ cup.

TOMATO BACON SAUCE: In skillet fry 4 slices bacon until crisp; remove bacon and chop. Return to skillet with 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce and heat. Serve warm spooned over liver, hamburgers, hot dogs or chicken. Makes: about 1 cup.

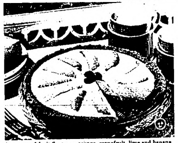
Dessert Dazzlers

If you're the kind of hostess who plans a meal backwards, starting with a star-quality dessert, these recipes are for you: An airy torte shell, piled with fresh berries, their flavor enhanced by a sour cream topping . . . chocolate milk, your old school chum, keeping company with whipped cream in an elegant frozen mousse . . . and a whole basketful of sunny fruit flavors, chilled in a pie with the smooth touch of whipped cottage cheese. They're dazzlers, one and all. And each is one of those wonderful make-aheads, leaving you time to make the rest of the menu — and yourself — dazzling, too!

WINNING A TRIP to the World Dairy Cattle Expo at Madison, Wis., at the 1971 Northwest Dairy Day show was Jerry Katzenmeyer, 18, of Lake Itasca. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Kotzenmeyer, he has shown at Dairy Day for 10 years. His animal was champion Ayshire of the show and third place purebred, but qualified Jerry for the trip when the first and second place purebred winners had won trips previously.



A quartet of fruit flavors — orange, grapefruit, lime and banana — harmonizes with smooth-whipped cottage cheese. They make beautiful after-dinner music together in Tropical Cheese Pie.

Ault Sells Red Owl, Operates New Store

Sale of the Red Owl supermarket in Thief River Falls was announced today by Ev Ault who has sold his business to Adolph Oseid and Ed Hites of Roseau. Ault will lease and operate the new Northland Foods market on high way 59 when it opens in the first part of July. Sale of the Red Owl store is effective this Saturday and the store will open under the new ownership on Monday.

Adolph Oseid will manage the Red Owl store here while his partner will continue operation of the Red Owl store in Roseau. He purchased an interest in the Roseau store from Bill Buran a year and one-half ago after 14 years of managing grocery chain stores.

The Oseid family, which includes Adolph's wife Doris and their five children—Kirk, 13; Jeff, 11; Jack and Jean, 9; and Kristian, 2—will be moving to Thief River Falls in the near future. Adolph has been active in the Boy Scout program as a Webelos leader and troop committeeman, member of the church board and merchants committee of the Roseau Chamber of Commerce. Hites has been active in operation of the Roseau store for many years.

Northland Foods

Ault has formed Ault Marketing, Inc., which he serves as president and which will lease the Northland Foods building from L. B. Hartz Wholesale, Inc. He has operated the Red Owl store here for two years, purchasing the business from Otto Stenberg after previously operating an L. B. Hartz supermarket with his brother in Cavalier, N.D.

L. B. Hartz wholesale will be the principal supplier of the new store which is located east of highway 59 in the southeast portion of the city. Hartz private label products will be handled in addition to national brands accepted in this area, Ault said. The store has 17,000 square feet of space with approximately 80 per cent utilized for merchandising area and the remainder for office, storage and food item preparation.

Store hours are initially planned to be from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Saturday and the store will also be open on Sunday. Large supermarket shopping carts are being provided and the store will have

Hanson, Iverson Named Delegates To Boys State

Markoe Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hanson of Thief River Falls, and Harlan Iverson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Iverson of Goodridge, has been selected to attend the American Legion Boys state which will open Sunday on the campus of St. John's university at Collegeville.

Alternates are Tom Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeMarr Hanson of Thief River Falls, and Terry Wiseth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wiseth of Goodridge.

Boys state is a week-long practical training session in city, county and state government for 436 boys between their junior and senior years in high school.

Legion Boys state is a functional practice of activities, illustrating the principles of our representative form of government and attempts to arouse an enduring interest in governmental affairs of the community and the state. With instruction furnished by competent men in selected fields, citizens of Boys state will apply acquired knowledge in the establishment and functioning of a mythical 51st state. The youthful citizens will choose their own officials in accordance with regular election procedures, organize and operate their own city, county and state governments. Justice will be administered by their own law enforcement agencies and courts. Their legislature will introduce, argue and pass their own bills. Each Boys state citizen has the opportunity to learn that his government is just what he, as an individual, makes it and that participation is open to all citizens. The Constitution and the statutes of the State of Minnesota are the patterns from which the fundamental laws and procedures of Boys state have been developed.

Council Acts On Two Ordinances

Thief River Falls city council last night passed an amendment to the city ordinance which prohibited having intoxicating liquors on the premises where non-intoxicating liquors are sold. The new ordinance removes that prohibition in establishments where 75 per cent or more of the gross revenue is from the sale of food.

The second reading was approved of an ordinance prohibiting motorcycle and snowmobile traffic on LaBree avenue adjacent to Northwestern hospital. The wording was changed to include a prohibition against such traffic on the dam.

Chief of Police Roland Waller had requested to appear before the council and was heard. He presented several items for discussion including a request for another patrol car for the police department. A decision on this was deferred until the 1973 models are available.

The police chief also recommended that another sergeant position be established to provide a third supervisor in the department who could be available during hours when Chief Waller and his deputy chief are not on duty.

Waller also requested a raise for the deputy chief on the grounds that if the proposed police pay scale is approved there will only be one dollar difference between the pay of a qualified patrolman and the deputy chief. Waller stated that he would also like a raise for himself.

Bob Carlson, council president, said that there has been a recent request to permit the TRFinettes to practice marching in the streets regularly. The hazards were discussed briefly and a dicision was not made, pending a meeting with someone representing the TRFinettes.

The council passed a resolution

School Settles On Salaries For All Employees

Ratification of salaries for 1972-73 and 1973-74 was given by custodial-mechanical employees, cafeteria personnel, secretaries and clerks and bus drivers at meetings held with Frank Phillips, business representative for Teamsters Local 664 of the Municipal Drivers and Helpers union.

Terms of the salary proposal had been worked out by Phillips with the board of education at a negotiating session Monday evening. It is expected that the board will ratify the agreement at its meeting on Monday.

Dr. William Corliss, superintendent, said the agreement is within the 4.5 and 5.2 percentages of gross increase which the faculty received in its earlier negotiations with the board. With expected ratification by the board Monday, all salary questions in the local district for the next two years will have been settled.

Christmas Seal X-ray Unit Will Be Here June 22

Christmas Seal mobile X-ray unit, operated by the Minnesota Respiratory Health association, will be in Thief River Falls June 22. Chest x-rays will be taken in front of the court house from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. and from noon to 3 p.m.

The association particularly wants to x-ray reactors to the tuberculin test, people in jobs involving close public contact including barbers, beauticians, food and beverage handlers and persons 55 or older.

The chest x-ray determines whether or not the tuberculosis germs in the body of a person who reacted to the tuberculin test are harming the lungs. It can also show other chest abnormalities including tumors, enlarged heart, emphysema, and pneumonia.

There is a dollar charge for each x-ray to help meet program costs.

Kinsman Named To Council For MSC Proposal

Robert Kinsman of Thief River Falls has been named to a regional advisory council to establish a community service clearinghouse at MSC. The clearinghouse will facilitate development of the community service potential of the state college and make its resources more accessible for community problem-solving efforts throughout western Minnesota.

Dr. Byron L. Schmid, assistant professor of political science at MSC, will serve as director.

The community service clearinghouse will have four basic functions:

Communication between MSC and community groups concerning community service needs and programs; coordination of the college's community service program activities; design and development of new community service programs; and sponsorship of selected community service programs and activities.

The specific activities of the clearinghouse are still being developed. However, it is expected that activities will include public affairs workshops and conferences, community survey and research activities, technical consultation on community problems and development.

23rd NW Dairy Day Has 184 Dairy Entries

Highlighted by a visit from Gayle Krogstad, American Dairy Princess, the 23rd annual Northwest Dairy Day will be held Tuesday, June 13 in Thief River Falls. All activities will take place at the Pennington county fairgrounds on the west edge of the city.

Miss Krogstad, the Ada dairy farm girl who carried her Northwest Dairy princess title into Princess Kay competition and emerged as Minnesota's Princess Kay, won the national title in Chicago last year. She will return to the place where she won her first dairy princess title in visiting Northwest Dairy Day, the original Dairy Day which has been copied in various forms throughout the nation.

Stuart McLeod, president of the sponsoring Northwest Dairy Improvement association since its inception 23 years ago, announced that 184 entries have been received for the annual dairy show. Participants will be entered from Beltrami, Clearwater, East Polk, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Red Lake, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Roseau and West Polk counties.

Coronation of a new Northwest Dairy Princess will take place during the afternoon program scheduled for 4 p.m., immediately following the awards presentations. Crowning her successor will be Barbara Winter of Waubun, 1971 Northwest Dairy Princess. Assisting will be the American Dairy Princess and Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Mary Ann Glawe of Detroit Lakes.

Harold Rosendahl of Norman county will serve as show supervisor with Walter Schon of Fosston handling the public address system for the day. Events will open with a showmanship demonstration at 10 a.m., conducted by Steve Filipi of Angus, winner of the showmanship contest at Dairy Day in 1971.

Judges for the dairy show which gets underway immediately following the showmanship contest will be Marty Carrico of Selkirk, Man., and Arnold Sandager of the University of Minnesota.

Receiving the purebred calf to be awarded this year to last year's showman of the champion grade animal will be Dave Dahlgren of Roseau.

Other awards to be presented at the afternoon program will be for showmanship, best uddered cow of the show, grand champion grade, grand champion purebred, overall show champion, individual herd, county herd and participation for seven to 11 years at the annual Dairy

PHOTOS AND CLIPPINGS from her many experiences as county, regional, state and national dairy princess are contained in the many albums and scrapbooks compiled by Gayle Krogstad of Ada, American Dairy princess. She is shown with some of the books which will provide a lasting record of her experiences in promoting the nation's dairy industry. Gayle, who was crowned Northwest Dairy princess here in 1970 at Northwest Dairy day, will be an honor guest here this year.

Chicago, Ill. . . . Buffalo, N.Y. . . . Harrisburg, Pa. . . . Jefferson City, Mo. . . . Atlanta, Ga. . . . Bismarck, N.D. . . . Boston, Mass. . . . Thief River Falls, Minn. . . .

Appearances by Gayle Krogstad, American Dairy princess, are being made at a number of major cities during her reign as the nation's ambassadress of the dairy industry. The Ada farm girl who won the Northwest Dairy princess title here in 1970 will return to Northwest Dairy day on Tuesday as a special guest of honor.

A health major at Moorhead state college, Gayle has two quarters of school remaining to graduate. She was able to attend college fulltime this year while still attending to her duties as American Dairy princess. With her mother, Mrs. Earl Hovden, as chaperone, she has appeared at several major events to represent the dairymen of the United States.

"It's been cool," she says in the vernacular of today's younger set. "I had never really traveled anywhere before. In fact, the furthest I had been away from home was just about to the Montana border in North Dakota once. The national contest in Chicago was really something in itself."

It was in Chicago last June 30 that she received the American Dairy princess title among 29 state dairy princesses in competition at the Palmer House. The three-day event included luncheons, group photos, two personal interviews with judges, modeling, a swimming party and luau, answering questions about dairying and rehearsal of the coronation program. One judge was from Rochester, N.Y., another was manager of stewardess training for United airlines and the third was from LeMars, Ia.

"All the girls were so sophisticated that I knew I didn't have a chance of winning," Gayle commented regarding her competition in Chicago. "We even called Earl (her stepfather) who had planned to come down for the coronation ceremony and told him he might just as well save the money, so he wasn't there when I was crowned."

Have you ever wondered what a candidate says when advised on stage that she has been selected

Chamber Board Votes Support Of JC President

At the regular monthly meeting held Tuesday noon, the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce board of directors unanimously adopted a resolution in support of President Victor Charles of Northland state junior college.

The resolution has been forwarded to the chancellor of the state junior college system and all members of the state junior college board.

General Leisure To Move Offices To T. R. Falls

Corporate offices of General Leisure Products company of Omaha, Neb., will be established in Thief River Falls in the near future, according to John Penn, Arctic vice president.

Penn said that General Leisure president David Koentopf, along with other support groups such as marketing, engineering and finance, will move to Arctic corporate headquarters here during the next year. The manufacturing and related activities will remain in Omaha.

The company will continue to operate as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Arctic Enterprises. Koentopf cited the close availability of Arctic technology and total engineering resources as a major reason for the move to Thief River Falls.

"We believe that combining our engineering with Arctic corporate engineering activities will enable us to more rapidly achieve our objective of becoming a leader in the outdoor power equipment industry," Koentopf said.

Penn said the move will also benefit Arctic corporate operations through better utilization of the engineering staff and more efficient use of the recently constructed marketing and engineering facility in Thief River Falls.

Arctic acquired General Leisure on Feb. 1, 1971, and the company recently announced an agreement for use of the Wankel rotary combustion engine on power lawn mowers, beginning with introduction of the 1973 "Arctic" model line.

Jaycees To Fill Sandboxes Today

Jaycees will be filling sandboxes of persons who called for the service beginning about 7 p.m. tonight, according to Dan Carlson, project chairman. Proceeds from the project which sells sand delivered to sandboxes at the rate of $1 per wheelbarrow are used to finance Operation Christmas, the shopping tour for underprivileged children held in December.

"Hotline" Tuned To Help People

READY TO HELP with personal problems by providing a listening ear is the local NEED organization. The group of concerned volunteers, under sponsorship of the local Rotary club, offers a "Hot line" service for people to call when they have a problem. The "Hotline" is open from 8 p.m. to midnight Sunday through Thursday and 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. on Friday and Saturday. Persons with problems need only dial 681-2288 to find someone willing to listen as they talk about their problems.

"NEED; may I help you."

These are the first words a caller will receive when he or she dials 681-2288—the "Hotline" number for Thief River Falls. Giving the greeting will be someone willing to listen to personal problems and to give assistance if possible.

"Hotline" is a new volunteer service for the Thief River Falls community, although it is not new throughout the nation. Operating under the name NEED, the service was started at the suggestion of local young people through the youth committee of the Thief River Falls Rotary club.

Rotary underwrote the cost of initial promotion and materials and sponsors the cost of telephone service each month. Staffing the "Hotline" are concerned people of senior high school age or older who want to be of service to their fellow man.

It was on January 4 when the Rotary youth committee met to discuss what could be done for youth, particularly the youth of this community. At a subsequent meeting with young people from the junior college, vocational-technical school, Lincoln senior high school and some not in school, the "Hotline" idea was presented. The idea was developed with the interest of young people and the Rotary club and actual operation of the service began on March 17.

NEED is not a 24-hour program. The telephones are in operation from 8 p.m. to midnight on Sunday through Thursday and 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. Friday and Saturday. Most of the calls received come in after 10 p.m. Volunteers work in shifts from 8 to 10 and 10 to midnight on week nights and 8 to 11 and 11 to 2 a.m. on Friday and Saturday nights.

So far NEED has logged 59 legitimate calls. Most of the callers were not desperate but had problems that they wanted to talk about with someone. Among the problems have been boy-girl and girl-boy relationships, real or imagined pregnancies, drug and alcohol-related problems and child-parent conflicts. In nearly all cases the caller feels that he or she has no one else to come to with a problem.

While NEED is not a secret organization, a definite attempt is made to retain the anonymity of the volunteer workers. Persons who call need not identify themselves and the persons answering the phones at NEED usually do not identify themselves, insisting that identity isn't really important. What is relevant is the problem which the caller has.

The callers so far have ranged in age from about 13 years to middle age. Several calls have been related to alcoholism or excessive drinking and a high percentage of these have been made by adults. One young man was concerned about the amount

Christmas Seal mobile X-ray unit, operated by the Minnesota Respiratory Health association, will be in Thief River Falls June 22. Chest x-rays will be taken in front of the court house from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. and from noon to 3 p.m.

The association particularly wants to x-ray reactors to the tuberculin test, people in jobs involving close public contact including barbers, beauticians, food and beverage handlers and persons 55 or older.

The chest x-ray determines whether or not the tuberculosis germs in the body of a person who reacted to the tuberculin test are harming the lungs. It can also show other chest abnormalities including tumors, enlarged heart, emphysema, and pneumonia.

There is a dollar charge for each x-ray to help meet program costs.

Kinsman Named To Council For MSC Proposal

Robert Kinsman of Thief River Falls has been named to a regional advisory council to establish a community service clearinghouse at MSC. The clearinghouse will facilitiate development of the community service potential of the state college and make its resources more accessible for community problem-solving efforts throughout western Minnesota.

The community service clearinghouse will have four basic functions:

The specific activities of the clearinghouse are still being developed. However, it is expected that activities will include public affairs workshops and conferences, community survey and research activities, technical consultation on community problems and development.

23rd NW Dairy Day Has 184 Dairy Entries

Highlighted by a visit from Gayle Krogstad, American Dairy Princess, the 23rd annual Northwest Dairy Day will be held Tuesday, June 13, in Thief River Falls. All activities will take place at the Pennington county fairgrounds on the west edge of the city.

Miss Krogstad, the Ada dairy farm girl who carried her Northwest Dairy princess title into Princess Kay competition and emerged as Minnesota's Princess Kay, won the national title in Chicago last year. She will return to the place where she won her first dairy princess title in visiting Northwest Dairy Day, the original Dairy Day which has been copied in various forms throughout the nation.

Stuart McLeod, president of the sponsoring Northwest Dairy Improvement association since its inception 23 years ago, announced that 184 entries have been received for the annual dairy show. Participants will be entered from Beltrami, Clearwater, East Polk, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Red Lake, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Roseau and West Polk counties.

Coronation of a new Northwest Dairy Princess will take place during the afternoon program scheduled for 4 p.m., immediately following the awards presentations. Crowning her successor will be Barbara Winter of Waubun, 1971 Northwest Dairy Princess. Assisting will be the American Dairy Princess and Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Mary Ann Glawe of Detroit Lakes.

Harold Rosendahl of Norman county will serve as show supervisor with Walter Schon of Fosston handling the public address system for the day. Events will open with a showmanship demonstration at 10 a.m., conducted by Steve Filipi of Angus, winner of the showmanship contest at Dairy Day in 1971.

Judges for the dairy show which gets underway immediately following the showmanship contest will be Marty Carrico of Selkirk, Man., and Arnold Sandager of the University of Minnesota.

T.R.F. On Itinerary For Dairy Princess

by Marvin Lundin

Chicago, Ill. . . . Buffalo, N.Y. . . . Harrisburg, Pa. . . . Jefferson City, Mo. . . . Atlanta, Ga. . . . Bismarck, N.D. . . . Boston, Mass. . . . Thief River Falls, Minn. . . .

Appearances by Gayle Krogstad, American Dairy princess, are being made at a number of major cities during her reign as the nation's ambassadress of the dairy industry. The Ada farm girl who won the Northwest Dairy princess title here in 1970 will return to Northwest Dairy day on Tuesday as a special guest of honor.

A health major at Moorhead state college, Gayle has two quarters of school remaining to graduate. She was able to attend college fulltime this year while still attending to her duties as American Dairy princess. With her mother, Mrs. Earl Hovden, as chaperone, she has appeared at several major events to represent the dairymen of the United States.

"It's been cool," she says in the vernacular of today's younger set. "I had never really traveled anywhere before. In fact, the furthest I had been away from home was just about to the Montana border in North Dakota once. The national contest in Chicago was really something in itself."

It was in Chicago last June 30 that she received the American Dairy princess title among 29 state dairy princesses in competition at the Palmer House. The three-day event included luncheons, group photos, two personal interviews with judges, modeling, a swimming party and luau, answering questions about dairying and rehearsal of the coronation program. One judge was from Rochester, N.Y., another was manager of stewardess training for United airlines and the third was from LeMars, Ia.

"All the girls were so sophisticated that I knew I didn't have a chance of winning," Gayle commented regarding her competition in Chicago. "We even called 'Earl (her stepfather) who had planned to come down for the coronation ceremony and told him he might just as well save the money, so he wasn't there when I was crowned."

Have you ever wondered what a candidate says when advised on stage that she has been selected

General Leisure To Move Offices To T. R. Falls

Corporate offices of General Leisure Products company of Omaha, Neb., will be established in Thief River Falls in the near future, according to John Penn, Arctic vice president.

Penn said that General Leisure president David Koentopf, along with other support groups such as marketing, engineering and finance, will move to Arctic corporate headquarters here during the next year. The manufacturing and related activities will remain in Omaha.

The company will continue to operate as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Arctic Enterprises. Koentopf cited the close availability of Arctic technology and total engineering resources as a major reason for the move to Thief River Falls.

"We believe that combining our engineering with Arctic corporate engineering activities will enable us to more rapidly achieve our objective of becoming a leader in the outdoor power equipment industry," Koentopf said.

Penn said the move will also benefit Arctic corporate operations through better utilization of the engineering staff and more efficient use of the recently constructed marketing and engineering facility in Thief River Falls.

Arctic acquired General Leisure on Feb. 1, 1971, and the company recently announced an agreement for use of the Wankel rotary combustion engine on power lawn mowers, beginning with introduction of the 1973 "Arctic" model line.

Jaycees To Fill Sandboxes Today

Jaycees will be filling sandboxes of persons who called for the service beginning about 7 p.m. tonight, according to Dan Carlson, project chairman. Proceeds from the project—which sells sand delivered to sandboxes at the rate of $1 per wheelbarrow are used to finance Operation Christmas, the shopping tour for underprivileged children held in December.

"Hotline" Tuned To Help People

READY TO HELP with personal problems by providing a listening ear is the local NEED organization. The group of concerned volunteers, under sponsorship of the local Rotary club, offers a "Hot line" service for people to call when they have a problem. The "Hotline" is open from 8 p.m. to midnight Sunday through Thursday and 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. on Friday and Saturday. Persons with problems need only dial 681-2288 to find someone willing to listen as they talk about their problems.

"NEED; may I help you."

These are the first words a caller will receive when he or she dials 681-2288—the "Hotline" number for Thief River Falls. Giving the greeting will be someone willing to listen to personal problems and to give assistance if possible.

"Hotline" is a new volunteer service for the Thief River Falls community, although it is not new throughout the nation. Operating under the name NEED, the service was started at the suggestion of local young people through the youth committee of the Thief River Falls Rotary club.

Rotary underwrote the cost of initial promotion and materials and sponsors the cost of telephone service each month. Staffing the "Hotline" are concerned people of senior high school age or older who want to be of service to their fellow man.

It was on January 4 when the Rotary youth committee met to discuss what could be done for youth, particularly the youth of this community. At a subsequent meeting with young people from the junior college, vocational-technical school, Lincoln senior high school and some not in school, the "Hotline" idea was presented. The idea was developed with the interest of young people and the Rotary club and actual operation of the service began on March 17.

NEED is not a 24-hour program. The telephones are in operation from 8 p.m. to midnight on Sunday through Thursday and 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. Friday and Saturday. Most of the calls received come in after 10 p.m. Volunteers work in shifts from 8 to 10 and 10 to midnight on week nights and 8 to 11 and 11 to 2 a.m. on Friday and Saturday nights.

So far NEED has logged 59 legitimate calls. Most of the callers were not desperate but had problems that they wanted to talk about with someone. Among the problems have been boy-girl and girl-boy relationships, real or imagined pregnancies, drug and alcohol-related problems and child-parent conflicts. In nearly all cases the caller feels that he or she has no one else to come to with a problem.

While NEED is not a secret organization, a definite attempt is made to retain the anonymity of the volunteer workers. Persons who call need not identify themselves and the persons answering the phones at NEED usually do not identify themselves, insisting that identity isn't really important. What is relevant is the problem which the caller has.

The callers so far have ranged in age from about 13 years to middle age. Several calls have been related to alcoholism or excessive drinking and a high percentage of these have been made by adults. One young man was concerned about the amount of drinking being done by his 16-year-old girl friend. One caller was on a "bummer" from drug abuse and needed to be "talked down". Another caller was sure she was pregnant and didn't know where to go or who to talk to.

"Hotline" Tuned To Help People With Problems

"We can do a certain amount of referral," one of the NEED volunteers said, "although we try not to do any counseling or hand out much advice. Mostly we just listen and try to help the caller talk out his or her problem and maybe come to a logical conclusion."

Several medical doctors have permitted their names to be used in referral and will even accept appointments made by the NEED volunteers for the anonymous callers. Ministers in the community have also given their approval of the system by serving on a referral basis.

While the volunteers have been satisfied with the number of callers to date, they believe that others could be holding back because they don't think their problems are big enough to discuss. All persons of any age are urged to call any time they want someone to listen to a problem which has been bothering them.

The group would also like more volunteers to supplement the crew of about 20 which now handles the NEED program. The volunteers have been drawing about two shifts a week. They prefer to work in male-female teams so that they can better relate to the caller and can consult about a caller's problem. Present participation does not permit a two-person operation in most cases.

Volunteers need only be of at least senior high school age and have an interest in helping people. They will recieve training for three hours per night, one night a week for six weeks. The work schedule of volunteers is flexible and fitted to the individual worker.

This month a representative of NEED will attend the Third International Hotline conference to be held in Northfield and will bring information from that conference back to the local group.

For persons who want to call but can't remember the 681-2288 telephone number, it is possible to dial the operator and ask for either the "Hotline" or NEED number. Help may be just seven digits away.

American Dairy Princess Will Visit Here Tues.

the winner? The American Dairy princess explains it this way.

"They announced the runners-up and I thought to myself, 'Oh, shucks, I blew the whole thing.' Then Robert Turner of New York, the president of the American Dairy association, was to present a bouquet of two dozen roses to the winner. He went to several of the candidates and almost gave them the bouquet, then took it away. When he got to me and held out the flowers I just sat there and looked at him."

Then Gayle said the conversation went like this:

Turner—"Here you are, honey, you're the winner.

Gayle—"You've gotta be kidding!"

Turner (earnestly) — "No, you're the winner. You better stand up!"

On that dramatic note, Gayle was ushered into a year of memorable experiences which will come to a conclusion July 11 when she crowns her successor at the Arlington Park Towers in Chicago.

In September she flew with her mother to Buffalo, N. Y., for International Milk day. She met the queen of dairying from England, the national dairy princess from Canada, Diane Gunning, and the Ontario provincial dairy princess. She received a bracelet from the Buffalo Bills football team and a key to the city of Buffalo.

At the huge AMPI meeting in Chicago she was among the 35,000 dairymen and dairy representatives attending and spoke to the dairy wives at a special luncheon. She also had the opportunity to meet Mayor Daley of Chicago.

Two weeks later she was in Harrisburg, Pa., for the All-American dairy show and participated in the banquet and state princess contest.

Shortly before Christmas she rode in a Christmas parade at Jefferson City, Mo.

Also in December Gayle flew to Atlanta, Ga., where the Southern United Dairymen's association convention was held in 74-degree weather. She was seated by Gov. Carter at the banquet for 3,500 people and later was given a tour of the city and the capitol building with its all-gold dome.

She will return today from Boston, Mass., where she has been attending the Boston Commons festival for three days. Then it will be on to Thief River Falls for Northwest Dairy day, the granddaddy of dairy days across the nation.

Has a year of being national royalty changed Gayle Krogstad?

"I know I have learned a lot and realize how much more important the dairy industry is than most people realize. I've grown up a lot and had the chance to travel and see many areas of the country that I never expected to see. But every time Mom and I come back from a trip, we talk about how nice it is to be back home. I guess travel and seeing things makes you appreciate where you live and what you have a little more."

And if she should be tempted to yield to illusions of grandeur because of her lofty title, she is soon brought back to reality by her family at home. A dairy farm is no place for people who don't do their share.

Behind the American Dairy Princess banner or at the kitchen sink or in the dairy barn, Gayle does her share. That is probably why she won the contest she thought she could never win.

five modern supermarket check-out counters. Decor is designed to be colorful and pleasant, Ault said, and the parking lot will be surfaced and well lighted with entrance off highway 59. Customers will carry out their own groceries.

Ault said the store will have a complete line of groceries, meats and produce with goods stocked from wooden shelves in their own cases. Produce, meat and frozen foods will be merchandised in conventional refrigerated display cases.

"We expect that the most modern facilities for handling large grocery volume will permit us to have a most extensive selection of groceries at the lowest possible prices," Ault said.

The store will also include a bake shop offering fresh baked products such as bread, rolls and variety baked goods. Also planned is an extensive non-foods department for family-related, non-food items such as health and beauty aids, greeting cards, garden tools and supplies, toys, gift items and the like.

A grand opening of the store is being planned for early in August.

Vandalism And Accidents Noted In Police Report

Traffic accidents, vandalism and theft were the most significant cases handled by the Thief River Falls police department during the past week.

About 11 a.m. Saturday, Onalynn Markstrom of Thief River Falls was driving south on LaBree and collided with a truck driven by Duane Opdahl who was driving west on Eleventh street. Damage to the Markstrom vehicle was considered "total" but there was no damage to the truck. Both drivers received minor injuries.

A vehicle belonging to Frank Groshowski of Thief River Falls was parked on the north side of Third street in front of Ekeren Drug, about 6 p.m. Saturday, when a car driven by Lois Johnson of Middle River struck the open door of the Groshowski car as the Johnson vehicle passed, traveling west on Third street. Damage to the Grohshowski vehicle was estimated at $100 and $275 to the Johnson vehicle.

Betty Wold was driving west on Nora street about 7:30 p.m. Sunday when she stopped quickly to avoid hitting a child on a bicycle and was struck from the rear by a pickup driven by Wesley Skibicki of Thief River Falls. There was about $175 in damage to the car and none to the pickup. Wold complained of a sore neck after the accident but reportedly stated that she was already being treated for a neck injury sustained in a previous accident.

A large amount of vandalism was done Sunday night in the alley between St. Paul and Conley avenues. An estimate of the damage is not available but there were numerous reports of small damage to property including a dog house, a mail box and other items. Jacks were taken out from under a trailer, garbage cans were turned over and wood and other material was thrown around.

Jerry Wetch reported Monday that about $100 in tools had been taken from his house.

The new arena was the scene of vandalism and theft Monday night. Someone damaged all of the vending machines in an attempt to take the money in them. Several of them were forced open and the theives obtained between two and five dollars for their efforts. They also took a quantity of candy from the machines.

While they were in the arena the offenders also sprayed a dry chemical fire extinguisher around, making a mess to clean up.

Apparently the thieves walked to Brooks avenue and proceeded to the west trailer court where some of the candy was found thrown around. The police department would appreciate information from anyone who saw a person or persons in that area after 5 p.m. Monday evening who may have been acting suspiciously or throwing candy around in the trailer court.

An official estimate of the damage is not available at the present time but several people have said that the damage may be $100 to $150 or more. Except for cleaning the mess left in the arena, there was no damage to the building. According to Elton Cummings, police investigator, there was no apparent breakage to gain enterance to the building. In the future the doors will be chained as well as locked to deter a repeat of this incident.

Warn Of Defects Said Possible In Certain Cars

Owners of 1972 Ford Torinos and Rancheros and Mercury Montegos are currently receiving letters from the manufacturers of these vehicles warning them of a possible rear axle bearing deterioration.

Public safety commissioner W. R. Hoaglund urges the owners who receive these letters to heed them and check with their dealers. He also warns the owners of these vheicles who have not yet received the letters to be alert for any of the symptoms.

"The problem appears to be a combination of factors that can affect the bearing life," Hoaglund stated. "In most cases, when the rear axle bearing deteriorates, it emits an unusual noise loud enough to alert the driver. However, it is possible that the noise could go unnoticed, and continued driving could result in disengagement of the rear axle that could adversely affect vehicle control."

Although arrangements are being made to install larger diameter axle shafts and new bearings, it will be some time before they can be manufactured and installed. In the meantime, owners of these vehicles should contact their dealers for an inspection of the rear axle bearings. If repair is necessary, it can be done at the time of the inspection by installing an auxiliary retaining plate. This will help retain the axle and wheel in the event of bearing failure.

June 15 Deadline For Filing Of Estimated Tax

June 15 is a special red letter day for 269,595 taxpayers in Minnesota, according to George O. Lethert, Internal Revenue service district director for Minnesota. That is the deadline date for taxpayers filing estimated tax vouchers.

Many estimated tax filers may be unaware that they are paying more tax than is necessary due to recent changes in federal tax laws, Lethert went on to explain. Estimated tax filers can make the necessary changes in their tax liability by amending the June 15 voucher.

Space to compute an amended estimate is provided in the upper right hand corner of the estimated tax form (1040ES). All estimated tax filers are urged to make any necessary changes at this time and reduce their tax liability.

Any individuals needing help to determine their proper tax liability can receive additional assistance by contacting their local IRS office.

Bankers Ass'n. Joins Salute To State's Dairymen

Minnesota Bankers association has joined with the American Dairy association in a month-long salute to the Minnesota dairy industry during the 1972 June dairy month, according to G. A. Beito, president of Northern state bank in Thief River Falls.

Beito said his institution will add its weight to the month-long promotion, which calls attention to the economy and nutrition of dairy foods as well as the economic importance of dairying.

Banks throughout Minnesota and in other parts of the nation are presenting special lobby and window displays, serving dairy samples and making other special efforts as a salute to the dairy industry.

"Minnesota's 40,000 dairy farm families received over $476 million in gross income during 1971," Beito, said. "This money was spent for goods and services produced and provided by other Minnesotans. Most of the dairy industry's income comes from outside Minnesota since approximately 80 per cent of Minnesota's dairy products are sold out of the state.

"Dairying adds to the wealth and well-being of all who live in Minnesota," Beito said, "and our bank is pleased to join the Minnesota Bankers association in supporting June dairy month."

Taconite Hearing On Land Exch.

Department of Natural Resources has scheduled a public hearing for June 28 in Hibbing to consider an exchange of state and private lands to facilitate a new taconite project.

The hearing will be held in the court house starting at 1:30 p.m.

Under the proposal, the state would exchange 97 acres of state land, including the bottom of Little Rock Lake, for 56 acres of private land owned by Lake Forest Enterprises, Inc.

Some of the private lands lie along the Vermillion River. Department officials said acquisition of these lands would help preserve the shoreline of the river in its present wild and undeveloped condition.

Little Rock Lake is needed for use as a tailings basin for the new Hibbing Taconite Project. It is described in the land appraisal report as a bass-panfish type lake with a maximum depth of 20 feet.

Replace Frayed Electric Cords For Home Safety

Include inspection and replacement of electrical cords in your spring house cleaning program, the Minnesota department of public safety warns. It could save you a shock.

This is the advice of state fire marshal E. L. Weber. "Electrical cords do wear out, especially those on movable appliances," he pointed out. "When a cord becomes frayed it should be replaced, not just repaired with tape. Such repairs are inadequate, and the saving you hope to make by not replacing the cord has no relation to the risk you take.

"If you have any amount of makeshift wiring, such as cords strung along the wall on tacks or brackets, you'd better get rid of them because they are fire and shock hazards, too. Probably you should call in an electrician and have him install safe, convenient outlets."

Weber had a special warning for those who use cords on outdoor appliances. "If you use electricity for hedge trimmers, mowers or other outdoor tools, extra care must be taken. The danger of serious shock is multiplied here if the cord is not heavy enough for the load, if it is worn or frayed, or if it is not properly grounded. Outside appliances should never be used with cords that are not grounded."

James Burrell To Enter Med School In Fall

More than 90 per cent of this fall's entering class at the University of Minnesota medical school are state residents. Among them is James Burrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Burrell of Thief River Falls and 1972 graduate of the U of M.

Most of the rest, according to the director of admissions, have some tie to the state. They are former residents or they attended college in the state, for example.

Assistant Dean W. Albert Sullivan also pointed out that the 227 freshmen mark the third year in a row the university has been able to use special federal funds to increase enrollment from the usual class size of 160.

The 1,716 applicants were the largest number in the school's history and included 249 more Minnesotans than ever before. Dr. Sullivan pointed out there were eight applicants for every opening and stresses the continuously rising pressure to gain admission to the country's medical schools.

"There may be a relative shortage of physicians in this country but there is no shortage of applicants to medical school," he said.

The entering class—though the list cannot be final until classes begin in September—is expected to include more than 30 women and 16 students listed as "minority"—both new highs. Dr. Sullivan explained about 20 per cent of the women applicants were accepted compared to about 15 per cent of the male applicants.

There were more applications this year from minority students (Indians, blacks and Chicanos) than ever before, too. Dr. Sullivan noted the 120 applications reflected a national trend for more minority students to seek medical careers.

"These students meet the same qualifications as all other students," he said.

Research Shows Effectiveness Of Auto Seat Belts

A pioneer study of compartment collapse in automobile crashes shows that deaths in front-end collisions tend to be caused by ejection and impact of the bodies with interior parts of the vehicle rather than by collapse of the compartment itself.

The study, conducted by the University of Rochester school of medicine, concludes that none of the deaths in the 13 front-end collisions would have occurred if the victims had been wearing safety belts.

On the other hand, injury and death were more common in impacts on the same side as the occupant, and it is probable that the use of safety belt restraints would not have been 100 per cent effective.

"This study, along with many others conducted by research laboratories, again confirms the life and injury-saving features of the safety belt," says Minnesota public safety commissioner W. R. Hoaglund.

"Of the 16 highway fatalities that occurred over the Memorial day weekend in Minnesota, we estimate that at least six or seven of these would have survived had they been securely buckled up.

"The long summer is still before us, and we all will travel hundreds and thousands of miles on pleasure trips. Buckling up is still the best insurance we have against traffic injury or death."

Line Of Credit Lending Program Offered By SBA

Paul W. Jansen, district director of the Minneapolis Small Business administration office, announced today that a new revocable revolving line of credit lending program has been established by SBA.

Through this program SBA may guarantee up to $350,000 or 90 per cent of a line of credit, whichever is the lesser, to finance labor and materials for small business concerns engaged in the construction, Manufacturing and service industries. The amount of the line of credit cannot exceed a reasonable estimate of the business' current cash requirements needed to finance the work that it has the capacity to perform, and can reasonably be expected to generate under firm contracts.

Small business concerns in operation for the 12 canendar months preceding the date of application and who are unable to obtain a line of credit without the SBA guaranty can use this program; construction contractors including building construction general contractors; construction other than building construction general contractors, and special trade construction contractors. Any small business manufacturing a specific product or providing a specific service under an assignable contract is eligible.

Faulty Vehicle Exhaust Systems Linked To Deaths

Possiblity that more than 500 Americans die each year as a result of defective and faulty motor vehicle exhaust systems has been raised by a group of Maryland researchers working under grants from the national highway traffic safety administration and two nongovernmental agencies.

Their estimate is based upon review of the records of all motor vehicle deaths, attributed to asphyxiation in Maryland over a five-year period. The records involved 68 deaths in 54 vehicles, and did not include suicides or homicides. Some of the discoveries:

(1) The median age of the vehicles involved was 7.6 years, much older than the median age(4.4 years) of all motor vehicles registered in Maryland.

(2) In 16 vehicles a "point of entry" for exhaust fumes was found, usually through holes in the floor of the passenger compartment or in the trunk.

(3) Thirty-three of 66 victims tested had alcohol concentrations of .04 to .30 per cent, a condition which may have aggravated the effects of the carbon monixide poison.

(4) Heavy smoking also probably contributed to the carbon monoxide effects.

(5) Open windows proved no protection against carbon in seven cases. In one, the investigators concluded that the poisonous fumes actually entered by the open window.

(6) The study points to the possibility that doses which were less than fatal may be the cause of many highway accidnets.

The investigators concluded that rust was a major contributor to the carbon monoxide hazard, both through rusted out floor pans and rusted mufflers and tail pipes. They also warned that the growing prevalence of air-conditioned cars could be expected to increase the danger of carbon monoxide poisoning, which up to now has been largely a cold-weather danger.

Can we afford to ban pesticides? The World Health Organization (WHO) of the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization issued a new policy statement: "Tens of millions of persons would be faced with famine if there should be a worldwide ban on the use of DDT and other chlorinated hydrocarbon pesticides. All of the magic of biological programs, including the sterile male insect campaigns, and the costlier and more toxic chemical alternatives to DDT, are not adequate for the present world agricultural situation."

Goodridge 6th Graders Report On Class Trip

May 10, 11, and 12 was the climax of the Social Studies unit on Minn. for 25 sixth graders from Goodridge. The students, Mr. Duane McFarland (teacher), Gordon Henrickson (principal), Mrs. Jack Scheef (mother) and Justin Dahlen (bus driver) made the trip to Minneapolis-St. Paul.

The following articles are about the various places visited by the group.

Jonathan Paddleford

We waited awhile for the Jonathon Paddleford, a sternwheeler boat, to come back from a previous cruise up the Mississippi river to Fort Snelling. This was a two decked boat and we sat on the top, front deck. The bottom deck contained the dining area. The captain blew a sharp, loud, whistle as it neared the drawbridge to warn of its approach. We saw caves along the bank of the Miss. where mushrooms were growing. Pike's Island was located in the middle of the river near Fort Snelling. There were many river barges loading grain from elevators located on the river. This cruise lasted 3 hours.

Como Park

The conservatory had plants of many different sizes, shapes, and colors. There were many kinds of animals on the park grounds and in the animal house. There were bears, lions that were sleeping, tigers staring at us, and seals that kept swimming in a pool. There was an 18 ft. snake curled up in a corner. We saw huge turtles that children under 5 yrs. could ride on. We saw many kinds of birds: peacocks, owls, bald eagles, swans and ducks. There were many rides that we all enjoyed. There was cotton candy and other food.

Metropolitan Stadium

At the Metropolitan Stadium we watched the Twins play the Yankees. The Yankees really played hard, but the Twins won 2-0. Harmon Killebrew hit a home run and Thompson hit Tovar home. They flashed "Welcome Goodridge" on the scoreboard.

—by Loren Holen

Andrews Hotel

We checked into the hotel at 11:30 p.m. The hotel was a brick building with many windows. The lounge had beautiful chandeliers. Everyone was tired from sightseeing. We went up to third floor in an elevator. The wake-up service called us to get up in the morning. We stayed there two nights.

—by Lynette Kukla

Science Museum-St. Paul

In the Science Museum we used earphones. When you go to a showcase containing fossils, mummies, etc., you are told all about them. There were prehistoric animals and many fish too. A young man had a live snake that he told us about. We saw a manikin light up various body organs and tell us their functions.

—by Grant Hanson

Capitol

The capitol was extremely big and beautiful. The materials used for building the capitol came from all over the world. We saw the House of Representatives, and the Supreme Court. We also got to go up to see the "Golden Horses".

—by Dee Ann Nelson and Craig Race

Planetarium

We went into the planetarium and were confronted by a large machine called the "star machine." We were escorted to our seat, then the lights winked off and we were on a trip through time. Our first view was how the night of May 10th looked in Mpls.-St. Paul. Then our programmer had the machine show us how it looked out in the open where there was no pollution to veil the city. We were shown where the planets are and the constellations.

—by Craig Nelsen

Foshay Tower and Shopping

We went to the Foshay Tower which is a 32 story building. Everyone had to chew gum when we went up in the elevator or else their ears would pop. From the top you could see all over Mpls. and part of St. Paul. Next to the Foshay Tower is the I.D.S. building which is a lot higher; but not ready for completion until later this year. We saw some men cleaning windows on a scaffold of the new building. We went shopping at Donaldson's. There were escalators and elevators that you could take to the 8th floor. Some of the kids bought Mother's Day presents here.

—by Theresa Hanson

Airport

The movie we saw was "Airport". It was a new beautiful theater. Actually there were three theaters in one, called Cinema I, II, and III. The theater interior had white walls, with narrow strips of red, red carpeting, white seats with red cushions. The movie was very exciting. It had funny and dangerous parts in it.

—by Julie Wayne

Minnehaha Falls

It was Friday morning when we stopped at Minnehaha Falls. We ran down the stairs on the one side, crossed a bridge at the bottom and came up steps on the other side. When you look at the falls from one of the look out areas, water sprays in your face. That would feel good on a hot day.

—by Grant Hanson

Mille Lacs Lake Museum

We had Indian guides take us on tour here. We saw how the Indians built different teepees for different seasons. There were many displays of Sioux and Chippewa weapons, beadwork, musical instruments, tools, etc.

—by Craig Race

Camp Ripley

We had a little trouble getting in because of the riot of the University of Minnesota. The guide got on our bus and as we drove around the camp he told us about different things. We walked through the painting and repair shop. We saw some army tanks.

—by Shelly Wiseth

Lake Itasca

Here we saw the headwaters of the Mississippi River. We tried to cross the rocks but the water was too deep to go all the way. Some boys took off their shoes and stockings and were able to go across.

—by Betty Srnsky

We returned to Goodridge at 9 p.m. Friday night after an exciting three days.

Insect Pest Will Spread in Minnesota This Summer

Alfalfa weevil, potentially devastating to alfalfa, is expected to continue to spread this summer from the southeast corner of the state towards the north and west.

This year, alfalfa weevil is expected to spread as far west as Murray and Lyon counties and as far north as southern Mille Lacs County, according to University of Minnesota entomologists, Edward Radcliffe and Huai Chiang.

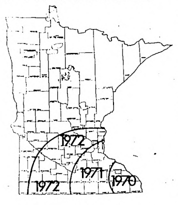
The weevil was first discovered in Minnesota in 1970 in the five southeastern-most counties. Last year the weevil spread as far west as Mankato and north to the Twin Cities.

While alfalfa weevil hasn't been found in Minnesota in numbers high enough to be economically damaging, the entomologists warn that the insect could become a serious pest within a year or two.

A typical pattern of infestation is that for two or three years following detection, there is no loss. But beyond these initial years, population densities can cause heavy losses, they said.

This pattern occurs because no natural insect enemies of the alfalfa weevil exist in Minnesota and it may take several years before they too become established and suppress weevil populations.

However, in most states where the weevil has been established for many years, the problem tends to diminish, the entomologists said.



Year-to-year weevil spread in state

The entomologists are currently studying alfalfa weevil to develop an "integrated management" program in which pesticides, biological controls such as natural insect enemies, and other practices might control the weevil with minimum costs to the farmer and to the environment.

Natural enemies of the weevil such as parasitic wasps, along with pesticides can control them. By timing insecticide treatment so natural enemies of alfalfa weevil are not killed, both chemical and biological controls can be combined for the greatest effect, they said.

Losses to alfalfa weevil in the United States for 1966 were estimated at $56,000,000 with an additional $14,000,000 spent on chemical control. In some eastern and southern states, large reductions in alfalfa acreages have been caused by establishment of the weevil, the entomologists said.

Toll Free Number Is Listed For Dep't. Of Labor

Starting June 1, the public is able to telephone toll free from anyplace in Minnesota and receive information about the wage and hour laws administered by the U.S. department of labor.

The toll free number, which can be used anytime, day or night, is 800-552-1221, according to Phillip A. Granquist, area director of the labor department's wage and hour division.

Wage and hour division enforces the fair labor standards act, which requires payment of minimum wage of $1.60 an hour and overtime rates of time and one-half an employee's regular rate of pay after 40 hours per week.

The fair labor standards act also contains the federal child labor regulations.

In addition, the division enforces a number of other laws, including the equal pay act, which requires that men and women doing the same work at the same place receive the same wages; the age discrimination in employment act; wage garnishment protections under the consumer credit protection act, and wage hour and child labor requirements of the Walsh Healey public contracts act, among others.

Anyone with questions concerning these laws should call the toll free number to receive answers starting June 1, Granquist said.

From 5 p.m. until 8:30 a.m. a recording device will take the caller's name and telephone number. A compliance officer will call back the next day, or at a time convenient for the caller.

"This new service is designed to help both employers and employees understand the laws we administer so that violations will be eliminated. It is part of our continuing effort to bring about the fullest possible voluntary complaince with these laws."

Granquist's office is in Room 296 of the federal court house and office building, 110 South Fourth Street, Minneapolis. He and his compliance officers can also be reached in the Twin Cities free dialing area by phoning 725-2594.

Planting Bee Is Held On Monday

Farmers from the Thief River Falls area got together Monday for a planting bee at the Palmer Bevolden farm.

Bevolden is in the Crookston hospital recovering from a kidney operation which he had Thursday and is not expected to be able to work for about three months. Knowing that a farmer's income depends on his crops, many of his neighbors gathered Monday to work and plant about 120 acres. Most of them brought equipment while others helped in any way they could.

Everett Yonke helped to organize the planting operation. Other people supplying equipment or helping with the work were Maynard Molskness, Rick Yonke, Marvin Mehrkens, Vernon Anderson, Ed Timm, Alan Koop, Vern Cleven, Kevin Bruggeman, Marvin Koop, Herb Swenson, Marv Mehrkens, Roy Mehrkens, Leland Nelson, Don Dyrdal, Alvin Nelson, Leroy Eliason, Al Kimble and Vincent Shannon.

Fuel was contributed by the Farmers Union station in Thief River Falls.

Lunch was provided by the Sanders Homemakers club. Members serving the food were Mrs. Rudy Martinson, Mrs. Herb Swenson, Mrs. Don Bruggeman, Mrs. Vernon Anderson and Mrs. Marvin Mehrkens.

Men and equipment arrived at various times and started work about 8 a.m. At 9 p.m. they were finishing plowing, disking, harrowing and planting the 120 acres.

Mrs. Bevolden expressed gratitude and some surprise at the turnout, remarking that she and her husband only moved to the Thief River Falls area in September and she was still not familiar with some of the people who were helping.

Everett Yonke stated that it may be necessary for some of the farmers to help occasionally with other operations until Bevolden is able to handle the work.

Senior Citizens May Be Eligible For Tax Credit

There are many low income senior citizens who are eligible for a substantial tax refund, but do not receive it. They either are unaware of it, or mistakenly feel that they are not eligible. The state has made many attempts to reach these people through news stories, mailings and educational campaigns by senior citizen groups, according to Gov. Wendell Anderson.

Although the April 17 income tax filing deadline has passed, the deadline for claiming the senior citizens tax credit is June 30.

If you are a senior citizen, and have not filed a claim, I urge you to submit a claim to the state tax department.

The requirements are these:

(1) Any senior citizen whose household income is less than $5,000 is eligible for a cash tax refund from the state. This refund is a refund of part of the property tax for a homeowner, or part of the rent for a renter. The refund for homeowners ranges from five per cent to 90 per cent, depending on the size of the homeowner's property tax bill and his income. Comparable credits are allowed renters.

(2) A senior citizen need not pay state income tax to receive the credit.

(3) A senior citizen who receives public relief or lives in subsidized housing is eligible.

(4) The credit must be applied for by June 30, 1972.

(5) The forms can be obtained from the State Tax Department, Centennial Building, St. Paul, Minnesota, 55101. Ask for Form M1-SC.

notes from the governor

Legislative reapportionment, historically, has proven to be one of the most controversial tasks our state legislature is called upon to fulfill.

The reasons for this are readily apparent.

First, great precision is required in the definition of districts throughout the state that are equal in population and which also observe other criteria, such as respect for the existing county, municipal or ward boundaries.

Secondly, the responsibility for reapportionment rests with the legislators themselves; in other words, with the very persons whose futures as elected public officials are directly involved.

Minnesota's latest experience with the legislative reapportionment process, in my judgment, dramatizes the need for fundamental reform in this area.

Last November I vetoed one plan approved by the legislature, finding it faulty on several grounds. A three-judge federal court panel subsequently approved another plan, one providing for a sharp reduction in the size of the House and Senate. This the United States Supreme Court found unconstitutional in a decision handed down only last month.

Another plan, one which appears to meet all constitutional requirements, was revealed by the federal court judges on Friday.

It is now June of 1972. Filings for legislative offices will open in but a few weeks. We have all lived through months of uncertainty and confusion concerning this most vital matter.

In a special message to the legislature last spring I stated my belief that "it is undesirable for the legislature to reform itself for the same reason that it is unwise for a doctor to operate on himself. . .a fresh and objective viewpoint is required—one that respects tradition, but does not worship it."

Our two-party political process works best at the statehouse level when a maximum number of legislative districts are "open" districts; that is, districts where neither one party nor the other is assured perennial dominance. This openness is not enhanced when legislators themselves decide their own political futures. An independent commission should do the job.

Storm's Distance

You can tell how far away a thunderstorm is by watching the jagged streak of lightning, then counting off seconds until the thunder noise reaches you. Thunder travels one mile in five seconds. If it takes 15 seconds for the noise to reach you, you know the storm is three miles away.

If your children are pills about taking pills, a bit of butter on the tablet can make the whole thing easier to swallow.

by Dr. RUDY SKOGERBOE

"Welfarism gone wild." This is the title of an article written by Mr. Henry Hazlitt in "The Freeman" May, 1972. I will quote some of the facts he has gleaned from congressional records. I think the time has come for a new look at the entire welfare system and as Mr. Nixon has urged, the congress should get with it instead of playing politics until after another election.

"In 1936, the federal government was contributing only 3 per cent of the total cost of direct relief, but in 1971 it is giving 53 per cent of this relief."

"In 1968 Congressman William Roth, Jr. and his staff were able to identify 1,571 programs, including 478 in the Department of HEW alone. He concluded that no one, anywhere knows exactly how many federal programs there are."

This is a real threatening growth of bureaucracy at its worst. As those who are appointed to run each program tries to "sell" its particular give away program, the idea seems to be a race for the most recipients. Another reality is that although the original sum given to a program might be relatively small, as it gets going and as people start to use the program, it simply grows and the expense with it. Often to justify their jobs, the directors of a new plan make the requirements very lenient as they advise "potential clients" of their "legal right" to get the benefits.

With this type of attitude, it is no wonder that abuse is not rare. Each time abuse of a welfare program is turned up, those who are in real need suffer. The AFDC is especially vulnerable to abuse and laws with teeth in them should make it virtually impossible for a man with a family to simply run out and leave the taxpayer to pay for support. One of the welfare reforms stalled in a most inefficient and political congress is this very abuse. It is not even a secret in many areas that the head of the house who deserts, just stays out of sight for a while so the welfare payments can be arranged. Now this is the fastest growing relief program. In the ten years from 1960 to 1970 the number of people aided by this program increased from three million to nine and one half million.

It is obvious this must change. The need for adequate eligibility checks must be realized. A strict means test is taken for granted when any taxpayer goes to a bank for a loan. It would only seem reasonable that the same standards should apply to those who are not working and are not paying taxes and who will not pay this money back. If this is not done, those who really need help may find themselves crying out to a bankrupt system that is able to give them nothing. Even if the resources of federal funds were unlimited, the present system is wrong. Compassion for the poor is fine, but the maze of programs and projects we have now is not compassion, but plain foolishness. The best way to let your congressman know is to write him, and if he doesn't respond, there are still free elections every two years.

minnesota discovery series

Department of Economic Development

Unique among the state parks, recreational areas, waysides and monuments comprising Minnesota's state park system, Tower-Soudan state park affords tourists the opportunity to travel 2,400 feet beneath the earth's surface, 1,400 feet below sea level, and be transported through an underground mine.

The park is located on a 982-acre site on the beautiful shores of Lake Vermilion, two miles north of Tower, and a half-mile north of Soudan, on highway 169.

Visitors, accompanied by guides, are lowered by a "skip" or elevator, to the 27th level of the oldest and deepest underground mine in Minnesota. After the three minute descent, tourists ride by rail through a 3,000-feet tunnel carved from solid rock to a circular stairway. This leads to a large area called a stope, where ore was mined by the famed underground mines of the Vermilion range.

There also is a surface tour that offers a view of the open pits and their wondrous depths, visits to the engine house, crusher building, drill shop and a spacious visitors' center.

The park also features a picnic area in a setting of beautiful pines and there is a boat access to Lake Vermilion. Campgrounds are in nearby Bear Head Lake state park, eight miles off highway 169 between Soudan and Ely.

The historic Soudan mine was discovered in 1863 but did not become an underground mine until 1890. From 1882 until 1890 it was an open-pit operation.

When it closed in 1962, the Oliver Mining company—at the request of the Tower-Soudan development council—donated the entire mine operation to the state of Minnesota.

Minnesota division of parks and recreation immediately put men to work in the mine and the surrounding area, painting buildings, revamping facilities and making the mine safe, appealing and attractive for visitors.

Tower-Soudan state park, with its underground mine, is truly unique among Minnesota's fine state parks, and attraction not to be missed when you are in the Arrowhead country.

LHS Enters Ten In State Meets

Ten Lincoln high school athletes in three different sports will represent Thief River Falls in state meets this weekend in Minneapolis, including seven members of the Prowler track squad, two golfers and a tennis player.

Competing in the state track meet at Macalester college Friday and Saturday will be Markoe Hanson, Rande Smith, Mike Fitzgerald, Steve Beich, Jon Markstrom, Kent Smith and Don Reierson. Taking part in the state golf meet Friday on the University of Minnesota golf course will be Jay Moum and Lee Sorensen, while Mark Liden participates in the state tennis meet Friday and Saturday on the University of Minnesota courts.

This will mark the fourth consecutive year that Moum has advanced into the state golf meet, while Sorensen will be making his second appearance, having played in the state meet two years ago. Moum placed second, one stroke back, in last week's region eight meet at Bemidji after winning medalist honors in the district 31 meet a week earlier on the Thief River Falls course. Both golfers have been near the top in all the tournaments the Prowlers played in this spring, with Sorensen winning the Fosston invitational crown. Moum and Sorensen are both seniors.

Liden will be making his second straight state tennis meet appearance this year after earning runner-up honors in each of the last two region eight meets. Liden has lost only ten matches in three years of varsity competition for the Prowlers while winning three straight district 31 singles titles. Liden has lost just twice this spring, both losses at the hands of Crookston's Brent Reichert in the Northwest Conference and region eight meets.

Three individuals and two relay teams will be taking part in the state track meet with Hanson running in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, Fitzgerald in the 440 and Rande Smith in the discus competition. The relay teams will consist of Beich, Markstrom, Kent Smith and Hanson in the 880 squad, and Reierson, Kent Smith, Fitzgerald and Rande Smith in the mile unit.

Hanson and Fitzgerald will both be making their second straight state meet appearances in the 100 and 440-yard dashes respectively. Reierson and Fitzgerald return from last year's state meet mile relay squad, while Kent Smith is the only newcomer on last year's region winning 880 team.

Minnesota Boat Licenses Top 350,000 For 1972

More than 350,000 boats, canoes, sailboats and kayaks are currently licensed for use in Minnesota, the department of natural resurces reported today.

Included in the total are 27,400 canoes, sailboats and kayaks. This is the first year that canoes and sailboats have required licenses and, although kayaks legally required licenses since 1959, indications are that many persons failed to register them before this year.

Officials estimate that there are approximately 40,000 watercraft of the canoe, sailboat or kayak type that have yet to be registered by their owners.

Failure to license a watercraft is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine not to exceed $300. The license fee for most watercraft is $5 for a three year period.

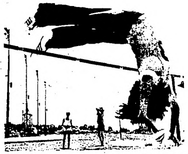
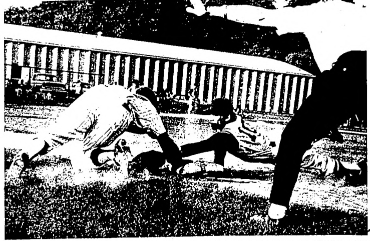
DIFFERENT STYLES were employed by the high jumpers in Wednesday's annual Thief River Falls elementary school track meet on the Prowler track. Carrie Sollom (above) won the girls event as she used the "scissors" style, while an unidentified boy (below) found his own method of clearing the bar. Knox won the meet with 36 points, followed by Northrop with 30, Mark Twain 24 and Washington 6.





UMPIRE Swede Lund gives the safe sign as Bemidji first baseman Earl Sargent reaches out to tag Crookston's Dale Normandin after the Pirate baserunner overslid the bag on a pick-off attempt in Tuesday's region eight title game at Red Lake Falls. Bemidji won the game 2-0 for its fifth straight region championship. The Lumberjacks advanced into the championship tilt with a 10-0 blanking of Halstad, while Crookston stopped Warroad 6-3 in its first round contest.

Lumberjacks Claim Region Eight Baseball Title 2-0 Over Pirates

Bemidji's Gary Sargent tossed a nifty two-hit shutout Tuesday night to lead the Lumberjacks to their fifth straight region eight baseball title with a 2-0 triumph over Crookston on the Red Lake Falls diamond.

The stellar Sargent limited the stifled Crookston offense to singles in the first and seventh innings while striking out nine and walking four.

Chuck Grillo's Lumberjacks scored the only run they needed for the win in the second inning when hard-hitting first baseman Earl Sargent slamed a solid single through short stop Dale Normandin's legs, went to second on a sacrifice bunt, moved to third on a fielder's choice and scored on John Buckanaga's clean single through the left side of the infield.

The Lumberjacks scored an insurance run in the fourth inning off starter and loser Kyle Pearson.

Rightfielder Charlie Meyers opened the fourth with a hard-hit single over second, and the Lumberjacks once again operated the sacrifice bunt to perfection to advance Meyers to second. Stan Drew followed with a line shot to third that was knocked down by Scott Youngquist, but found all hands safe.

The Pirates managed to cut down Meyers at third on a fielder's choice, but the ninth man in the Lumberjack batting order, sophomore Jim Conway, reached out and poped a single behind second to score Drew.

Sargent displayed near-perfect control of his pitches throughout most of the ball game as he struck out the side on nothing but strikes in the third and fifth innings. But occassional lapses of concentration led to the four walks. However, Sargent didn't permit a Crookston baserunner past second.

The hard throwing Pearson suffered the setback for the Pirates as the veteran Lumberjack club forced the Crookston senior right hander to throw a lot of pitches. Pearson gave up five hits, struck out two and didn't walk a batter in going the distance.

Drew, a sophomore leftfielder, was the only Lumberjack to collect a pair of hits off Pearson.

The Pirates staged a mini rally in the last of the seventh after the first two batters were retired. An excited Bemidji club, sensing a state tournament berth, was caught off guard by light-hitting Roger Johnson's soft line drive just past the outstretched glove of Buckanaga at short—the only hit by the Pirates since a game-opening single by Scott Wheelhouse.

Sophomore pinch hitter Glen Radi drew a walk from Sargent to put men on first and second, but the Pirates' newly generated excitement was stopped short when Mike Davis' fly ball to right was easily caught by Meyers for the final out.

The state baseball tournament will be played June 14, 15 and 16 at Midway stadium in St. Paul.

PROJECTING SIGN which can be read from both east and west has been incorporated into the design for remodeling of First Federal Savings and Loan association in Thief River Falls. Original drawings for the building showed a recessed sign which would not have been as visible from up and down Third street. The time and temperature sign has become a focal point over the years, according to Milton Reierson, president of the association, and public interest in positioning of the sign has been high. He said that work is progressing on schedule on the building with nearly all of the interior and exterior Kasota stone now in place. No date for installation of the new sign has been announced.

Soviet Union Is Workshop Topic

Timely facts concerning the Soviet Union plus a study of its history and literature will be the theme of a Bemidji state college workshop June 12 to June 23.

This workshop, "The Soviet Union: Yesterday and Today", is planned to give the student an over-all picture of life in the Soviet Union by touching on the history literature, geography and political systems of the country.

Dr. Arthur Charvat, BSC professor of history, says that the material covered in the two weeks should be interesting to people who are not regular college students as well as teachers and undergraduates.

For more information write to Prof. Irvin Rotto, Box 49, Classroom building, Bemidji state college, Bemidji, Minn. 56601.

Otter Tail Has 5th Award For Annual Report

For the fifth consecutive year, Otter Tail Power company's annual report to the stockholders was judged a winner in the international Reddy Kilowatt annual report competition.

Receiving the special commemorative certificate during the Edison Electric institute annual convention in San Diego, Calif., on June 5 was Albert V. Hartl, president of Otter Tail.

Otter Tail's report was one of 29 electric companies receiving awards in all categories of the competition, the purpose of which is to encourage investor-owned electric and combination utilities throughout the world to simplify, dramatize and humanize their annual reports.

Production of Otter Tail's annual report, under the supervision of the president, is the responsibility of Ralph Johnson, director of public relations.

Tree Defoliation Expected From Insect Pests

Minnesotans were alerted today by agriculture commissioner Jon Wefald to prepare for a new season of tree defoliation and damage by two chewing insect pests, the large aspen tortrix and the forest tent caterpillar.

Evidence of initial damage by the most destructive of the two, the forest tent caterpillar, is expected to appear the first week in June. Surveys conducted by Gerald Beach, forest entomologist for the Minnesota department of agriculture, revealed first hatching of this insect pest began May 11.

This will be the ninth consecutive year for forest tent caterpillar problems in Koochiching and adjacent areas of Lake of the Woods, Beltrami, Itasca and St. Louis counties. In past years the insects have defoliated 60 to 100 per cent of the trees on 250,000 to 400,000 acres in that area. Also repeat targets are smaller wooded resort areas in Otter Tail and Douglas counties.

Beach said municipalities in those areas and in the northern half of Minnesota can look for forest tent caterpillar damage in parks, boulevards and apple trees. The insect's favorite trees are aspens growing in the north and apple trees anywhere.

Often misidentified as "army worms" because they migrate by the millions the forest tent caterpillar grows to a length of two inches. June is the damage season. In late June the caterpillars spin cocoons, emerging in early July as buff colored adult moths to lay egg masses for the following year's leaf chewers.

Heavy infestations may require approved control measures in resort or recreation areas. Recommendations may be obtained from local foresters, county agents, or the plant industry division of the Minnesota department of agriculture (phone 612-296-3347).

Beach said that control is rarely required for the large aspen tortrix. It is a tiny, barely visible caterpillar now feeding on curled leaves of aspen trees only. These will feed until they grow to about an inch in length with a black head and a greenish body. These then go into a cocoon or pupal stage to emerge as small greyish-brown moths in late June or early July. The moths then repeat the life cycle by laying egg masses for next year's hatch. Aspen trees usually recover lost foliage due to this insect within two weeks.

Happiness Is The Times

Road Contracts In State Well Under Last Year

While highway construction contracts awarded during the first quarter of 1972 were up $600 million nationally to a total of $1.3 billion, awards in Minnesota amounted to only $26 million, as compared to $35 million last year.

Although the ultimate effect of this cut-back on Minnesota's flagging economy cannot be fully assessed at this time, the immediate result is fewer jobs. According to the latest manpower services report, unemployment is up 100 over a year ago, and the seasonal increase in construction employment is the lowest in 10 years.

Last year the state highway department awarded road construction contracts worth $118 million. During that year an average of 8,483 Minnesotans were employed by the road building industry. Discounting the relatively small volume of road construction done by municipalities and counties without federal or state aid, this means that it takes an investment of $13,900 in highway construction awards for every job created.

Using this rule of thumb, the cut-back in first quarter highway construction means 650 fewer jobs in Minnesota this year. The full impact will not be felt all at once, because work does not necessarily begin in the same quarter that contracts are awarded. The full import of the cut-back, extending in ever widening circles to contractors' suppliers, manufacturers, their employees, and beyond cannot be accurately gauged until economic indicators for the entire year are available for comparison.

Public works, particularly highway construction, have long been used as a relatively fast-working remedy for an ailing economy, creating almost 'instant' employment. Dependent largely upon federal money, highway construction has had its ups and downs in recent years as successive administrations in Washington have alternately frozen and thawed the federal highway trust fund in efforts to stem inflation and stimulate the economy. About 66 per cent of the money for highway construction contracts awarded during the first quarter of this year was federal aid.

As an example of how highway construction affects the economy, as compared to conventional investments, Forest Lake's new warehouse facility affords a convenient comparison. Financed by a $350,000 municipal revenue bond issue, the warehouse for a snowmobile distributor will provide long-term employment for 15 persons. The same amount invested in highway construction would provide more immediate but relatively short-term employment for 25 persons.

All told, there have been 21 such municipal revenue bond issues made by Minnesota communities in the past year, totaling $25.4 million. The state economic development department estimates this investment will eventually create 2,411 new jobs. The comparable $26 million first quarter investment in highway construction will create 'instant' employment for about 1,900 Minnesotans, according to rule-of-thumb projections.

Both types of investment are needed in Minnesota, and each has its own advantages. While the relatively 'instant' employment generated by highway investments creates short-term employment, the economy responds swiftly to the transfusion of money, and most of that money comes from Washington. As to the long-term benefit of highway investments, Forest Lake's achievement provides yet another example.

Had it not been for the community's proximity to the new interstate highway system, on which the snowmobile distributor can reach the greater part of this national market by overnight truck, it is doubtful that he would have considered Forest Lake as a site for his warehousing facilities at all.

One Driver In 11 Involved In Mishaps In 1971

One Minnesota driver in 11 was involved in a reportable traffic accident during 1971. One in 48 was involved in a personal injury crash, and one in 1,600 was involved in a fatal crash.

These are some of the facts revealed in the 1971 accident summary prepared by the department of public safety. Some other facts:

Sunday was the lightest day for accidents, with 11 per cent of the total; however, Sunday was next to the worst day for fatal accidents, with 19 per cent compared with 22 per cent on Saturday.

The worst hours of the week for fatal crashes were from 10 p.m. Friday to 2 a.m. Saturday, when 71 fatal accidents occurred. On a daily basis, however, the worst four hours were from 4 to 8 p.m. with 214 fatal accidents.

The greatest single contributing factor in all accidents was illegal or unsafe speed. Failure to yield right of way was second.

EPA Announces Approval Of Most Clean Air Plans

U.S. Environmental Protection agency has announced approval of most parts of state air cleanup programs in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Ohio.

The cleanup plans were submitted by the states on Jan. 31, 1972 as required by the clean air act. The plans outline steps to be taken by each state in achieving health (primary) and welfare (secondary) levels on emissions of carbon monoxide, hydrocarbons, nitrogen oxides, photochemical oxidents, particulates and sulfur dioxide by 1975.

The approval of portions of plans for the midwestern states was part of a national announcement of EPA approval by administrator William Ruckelshaus of all or part of plans submitted by 55 states or jurisdictions.

To achieve the clean air objectives, all states submitted implementation plans which outline procedures and regulations for reducing emissions from most major sources of air pollution throughout the nation. EPA's approval of these plans today, makes these regulations enforceable by the federal government as well as by the states.

Region V administrator Francis T. Mayo complimented state pollution control agencies in the midwest, "for coming up with overall good plans in the brief amount of time allowed and which hopefully will go a long way toward improving the health of the 40 million Americans in Region V.

Mayo said that states in Region V are continuing to work on regulations to carry out their plans for implementing the national standards and that some of the deficiencies EPA has identified could well be remedied by state action before EPA is required to promulgate its own regulations by July 31, 1972."

Under the clean air act, EPA was required to approve or disapprove the plans by May 31, 1972. Objective of the plans is to allow States to achieve by mid-1975 standards to protect the public health, and levels protective of public welfare (secondary standards) within a "reasonable time."

In a "preamble" to the federal register publication of the approved and disapproved sections of the state plans, it was stated that a shortage of low sulfur oxide fuels may affect the meeting of secondary standards in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin and Ohio.

In the section dealing with new sources and modifications, the definition of "new" and "existing" sources are inadequate. Also, the requirements are not met since there is no procedure which provides that approval of any construction or modification should not affect the responsibility of the sources to comply with pertinent emission regulations.

Mexican President to Visit U. S. in Mid-June

President Luis Echeverria Alvarez of Mexico will come to the United States on a state visit starting June 15th. He is scheduled to meet with President Nixon in Washington and his itinerary will include stopovers in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Antonio.

The Mexican President will state his country's position on a number of key issues of concern to both Mexico and the United States—namely the salinity problem of the Colorado River, technology exchanges, the situation of migratory workers, and foreign trade. Sources close to President Echeverria indicated that another topic of discussion would be Mexico's view that the industrialized nations of the world should play a larger role in the development and progress of poor nations.

President Echeverria is scheduled to return to Mexico on June 22nd.

NW Community Action Group Plans Election

Northwest Community Action, Inc. board of directors at Badger, recently announced election dates and established new terms of office for representatives of the low income and private sector groups.

Previously, all representatives were elected on a yearly basis, and, in some instances, there was an abnormal turnover. Because the board felt there should be continuity of experience, they have instituted a rotating system of selection effective in 1972. The goal is to phase into three year terms.

Election of the low income representatives is being emphasized at this time. Terms of office will be one year for Kittson and Marshall counties, two years for Roseau county, and three years for Lake of the Woods county.

Elections will be held in each of the four counties Friday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Middle River fire hall, Gatzke school gymnasium and Grace Lutheran church kitchen in Grygla.

To vote in this election a person must be a resident of the county in which he or she is voting, be of legal voting age (19) and meet Office of Economic Opportunity income guidelines.

12 Legislators Ask Re-Opening Of Crop Sign-Up

Twelve mid-western legislators Friday urged agriculture secretary Earl Butz to re-open the sign-up period under wheat and feed grain programs in large areas of Minnesota and North and South Dakota where serious delays in planting have been caused by unusually wet field conditions.

In a letter to the secretary, initiated by Rep. Bob Bergland, Butz was also asked to grant farmers permission to graze livestock in unharvested corn fields until July 1 and make these fields eligible for set-aside program benefits.

To justify such action by the secretary, Rep. Bergland, spokesman for the legislators, noted that the department of agriculture had established the goal of diverting 38 million acres to set aside programs this year. During the regular sign-up period, actual diversion was 600,000 acres short of that objective.

By re-opening the program in an area where 20 instead of the normal 80 per cent of crops have been planted and by allowing farmers to modify their set aside agreements to the fullest extent permitted by law, Bergland said that Butz would be providing essential aid to both farmers and local merchants who are suffering serious losses from the weather conditions of last fall and this spring.

Joining Bergland in the bipartisan action were U.S. Senators Burdick (D-ND), Humphrey (D-Minn.), McGovern (D-SD), Mondale (D-Minn), and Young (R-ND); and U.S. Reps. Abourezk (D-SD), Andrews (R-ND), Denholm (D-SD), Link (D-ND), Nelson (R-Minn) and Zwach (R-Minn).

Bergland advised farmers who have been unable to complete their planting to protect their wheat and feed grain histories by contacting their county ASCS committee.

Urges Congress To Review All Tax Exemptions

U.S. Rep. Bob Bergland this week introduced legislation requiring Congress to review all tax exemptions now in effect and calling for the review of all future exemptions every two years. This bill is part of a comprehensive effort, begun earlier this year by Rep. Bergland and several of his colleagues, to restructure and make more equitable the taxing policies of the federal government.

"The purpose of this latest bill," Bergland explained, "is a simple one. While Congress must review and approve, each year, even the smallest federal expenditure, we have totally ignored the validity of tax exemptions which provide loopholes amounting to tens of billions of dollars annually. These loopholes are, in fact, a form of federal appropriation and should come under the same close scrutiny we give other expenditures," he said.

"Our earlier studies have indicated that $16 billion slips through the most blatant tax loopholes. We have no idea how much could be gained by correcting lesser known flaws in the maze of tax regulations. At the same time, the amount we allow for personal exemptions has not kept up with the true cost of living and raising a family.

"To provide fair treatment to all taxpayers," Bergland concluded, "the least Congress can do is to review, every two years, all tax exemptions."

The Past, the Present, and GOD

Especially on Independence Day, we tend to regard our problems as unique, don't we? And in the bustling, troubled world of today we think of the past as pleasant and serene.

This "rush-hour" scene of 1900 seems miniature when compared with the urban traffic jams of today. But it illustrates that the "olden" days were not entirely rosy. Indeed, sanitation was poor, infant mortality prevalent, roads unpaved and one-room schoolhouses common.

Yet our ancestors, with an optimistic spirit based on faith in God, met and solved these problems, and we are indebted to them.

Today we face a different set of problems, and there's another big difference: the impact of the Church on our lives has waned. YET TODAY WE NEED THE CHURCH MORE THAN EVER—to provide us with a voice of hope and understanding.

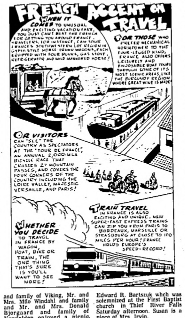
FRENCH ACCENT ON TRAVEL



When it comes to unusual and exciting vacation fare, you just can't beat the French for getting you around France. Travelers, for instance, can tour France's southwestern Lot region in gypsy-style horse-drawn wagons, each equipped with four bunks, gas stove, refrigerator and mild-mannered horse!

For those who prefer mechanical horsepower to the four-legged kind, France also offers leisurely and enjoyable boat tours through some of its most scenic areas, like the Burgundy region where great wine is made!

Or visitors can "see" the country as spectators at the "Tour de France," an annual 2,000-mile bicycle race that crosses 27 mountain passes, and covers the four corners of the country including the Loire Valley, majestic Versaille, and Paris!

Train travel in France is also exciting and unique. New super-fast express trains can zip you from Paris to Bordeaux, Marseille or Strasbourg at close to 100 miles per hour! France holds Europe's speed-record!

Whether you decide to travel in France by wagon, boat, bike or train, the one thing that's sure is you'll want to see more!

Dairy Month Again

A dairy farm girl named Kay
Talks dairying the Milky Way;
She says those who can take it
Have a good chance to make it,
And what they are making ain't hay.

This crudely poetic introduction is to call attention to the fact that June dairy month is with us once again and dairying is in the spotlight. In Thief River Falls the spotlight will fall on the 23rd annual Northwest Dairy day on June 13.

At a time when farming is an awesome struggle for survival, many dairy farmers are doing quite well. Be thankful that they are, for without their perseverance and willingness to devote full time to their farms we would be deprived of the nutritious fluid which their industry provides.

Minnesota ranks nationally as first in milk production, first in butter production, second in American cheese production and fourth in total milk production with 9,636,000,000 pounds.

Pennington county alone produces 32 million pounds of milk a year. Production in Marshall county is 38 million, Polk county 75 million, Red Lake county 28 million and Roseau county 54 million. At an average price of $5 per hundredweight, those millions of pounds add up to a lot of dollars in value.

It is impossible to place a value on experience for the young people who will be in Thief River Falls for Northwest Dairy day Tuesday, but the event will have lasting significance for many of them. Our support of this activity shows our pride in them as they demonstrate their own pride in their animals and their industry.

There is probably no more sincere spokesman for the dairymen of this nation than the American Dairy Princess, Gayle Krogstad of Ada. When she talks about the nutritional value of dairy products and the economic value of milk production, she isn't reciting a preconceived set of ideas. She believes in what she says and she doesn't hesitate saying it when she thinks it need to be said.

Without Northwest Dairy day, there would have been no opportunity for Miss Krogstad to become Northwest Dairy princess or Princess Kay of the Milky Way or American Dairy princess. She would have missed out on a valuable experience and the dairy industry would have missed the opportunity to have her as an influential spokesman for the past year. This area of Northwest Dairy day should be extremely proud of producing the national title winner, and may be assured that the selection was a wise one by the national judges.

It is good for America's dairymen to have spokesmen like Gayle. We don't hear too much from the dairymen themselves; they stick pretty close to home and tend to the business of caring for their cattle and putting milk in the bulk tank. About the only time we see them is when they come to town to spend the money which their effort provides, and we wonder if their economic contribution to the community is appreciated enough. At least during June dairy month we ought to think about it at least a little bit.

A good way to show that we appreciate dairying in our area would be to take in part of the Northwest Dairy day activities on Tuesday. The youngsters showing their cattle would appreciate a good crowd and the experience would be beneficial to them. See you at Dairy day.

Do Times Change?

Women's liberation is a term used freely in the news today and implies that some sort of bondage is being imposed upon the female portion of today's society.

One wonders how much times do change with reading an item from a Minneapolis newspaper of Sept. 29, 1919. The paper was the front one of many pasted together on a wall in a house being torn down by Harold Wangsnes of Thief Rief River Falls.

Above a photo of Antoinette Funk was the headline: "Suffraget Stump Speaker Is Pinched and a $5 Fine Levied".

The news article stated: "Chicago, Sept. 28—Mrs. Antoinette Funk, prominent Illinois suffragist, was arrested at Minot, N.D., and fined $5 for 'disorderly conduct' because she made a suffrage address on a street corner, according to a telegram received today by Mrs. Medill McCormick, chairman of the congressional committee of the National American Woman Suffrage association.

Mrs. Funk is campaigning in North Dakota for the suffrage movement to be voted on in that state in November. She wired headquarters here that she will appeal her case to the circuit court."

Immediately below that article was a portion of one headed, "Return To Piety Of Fathers Urged: Minister Declares Church Must Be Stripped Of Its Tinsel." That story started:

"A return to 'the piety that mother used to teach' was pleaded for by Rev. R. E. Freeman this morning in an address, 'The Church's Opportunity Time', made before the Interdenominational Ministers' meeting at the U.W.C.A. this morning.

"Back to simple faith, to old fashioned preaching, to the teachings of yesterday we all must go if we are to save the church from the enemies of indifference, materialism and commercialism which are assailing its very foundations,' said Dr. Freeman. "We have tried to combat these enemies with our own weapons, but we have failed.' "

The remainder of the article was ripped away, but the object lesson remains. There were problems of unrest and indifference in 1914 just as there are today. Some problems have been solved over the years, but new ones have arisen in their place and perhaps even multiplied. So it will be with today's problems tomorrow; some will be solved and others will arise.

Those naive enough to think a Utopia can be created by the solution of today's problems are sadly mistaken. Man will always have more problems than he does solutions.

In Case I Die . . .

Following is from the Dallas Morning News:

Shortly after he arrived for a tour of duty in Vietnam, Army 1st Lt. Bruce King wrote a note to his parents to be delivered to them in the event he was killed. The note, written in a booklet, was given to one of his close friends in his infantry unit, who promised that he would bring it to King's parents should the lieutenant die. The note, printed below, was brought to Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas King of Dallas, a few weeks after their son's death on April 9, 1969:

If I should die during my tour in Vietnam I want my parents to read and understand the following:

1. I came here by choice. I joined the Army by choice. I chose to become an infantry officer. It was my destiny to become a professional soldier. It (fighting for my country—right or wrong) is a job that must be done. It is a job that I feel I am best at.

2. The American people too often forget what the Flag stands for—I am a Patriot. I believe in our country and I believe in our system of government—I feel that my country is worth fighting for and if need be—dying for. The country we have today was not built by the weak and the disbelievers—It was built with the blood of men who felt they had something worth dying for. I think it is the duty, the right and privilege of every American to fight for his country. It has to be this way, and Thank God there are still men left who believe. The people in the streets who protest our country and its policies have that right to protest only because men believed enough in the system to give their lives for it. There are still men with dreams and ideals that they feel are worth fighting for. This is what I also believe in.

If I die it was for a reason, my life bought something, it was not wasted, I believe this otherwise I would not be here.

I am a believer, a dreamer, a patriot and most of all a professional soldier in the United States Army from the bottoms of my boots to the top of my steel pot. I feel proud and honored to serve for my country and with men who believe.

My Life Was Not Wasted.

Your Loving Son,
Bruce

Thank You For Everything.

Wallace Stands Firm

Gov. George Wallace, still hospitalized and facing possible paralysis as a result of a May 15 assassination attempt, sees no reason in the attack for changing his stance on gun control.

Joseph Asbell, Wallace's public relations director, reports Gov. Wallace as having said, "Federal laws will keep guns out of the hands of law-abiding citizens, but those who break the law will have them anyway." Mr. Asbell said, "That was what the governor said on the issue earlier. His position has changed not one bit."

Mr. Asbell pointed out that in Maryland, where the shooting took place, there already exists one of the toughest concealed weapons laws in the nation. He also remarked that Bremer had previously been arrested on a gun violation in his home state of Wisconsin so that, had it not been for apparent failure in the judicial process, Bremer would have been in jail in Wisconsin at the time of the shooting.

Mr. Asbell said that Gov. Wallace had stood firm on this issue in the past and would not change his mind simply because he himself was hurt.

Raisin Energy Days Are Now

National Raisin Energy Days are being celebrated now to mark the start of the warm weather sports season. Naturally sweet raisins are a wholesome source of energy for the more strenuous activities of summer. Snack packs of California raisins are so convenient to take along for all outdoor sports and expeditions. At home, keep raisins out in a jar, handy for healthful between-meal snacks for the youngsters. Kids love raisins. And everyone loves raisin cookies. Fudgy Raisin Honey Chocolate Drops have tempting tangy-sweet flavor that's great with a glass of milk or a sherbet float. The recipe is quick and easy.

RAISIN HONEY CHOCOLATE DROPS

1½ cups honey
2 eggs, well beaten
2 (1-ounce) squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1½ cups uncooked quick cooking oats
2½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1½ cups California seedless raisins
½ cup chopped nuts (optional)

Blend together shortening and honey. Blend in eggs. Stir in melted chocolate and oats. Mix in flour resifted with baking powder, soda, salt and cinnamon. Blend in raisins and nuts. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheets about 1½ inches apart. Bake in moderately slow oven (325 degrees F.) about 20 minutes. Remove to wire racks to cool. Makes about 6 dozen 2-inch cookies.
